USSR SEEKS CONTROL OF ALL TRANSPORT TO BERLIN

Presidential Hopefuls Take Issue On Inflation, Power

REDS POST NOTICE OF PLANS TO USE LANES FOR FLIGHT

Formation Flying Will Be Practiced Across Air Corridor Soon

SEE NO RUSSIAN PLANES OVER AREA AFTER NOTES

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Russians posted notice today they would hold maneuvers across the western airlift lanes but U. S. fliers on the aerial supply highway said they failed to spot any Soviet planes.

The Russians said this morning formation flying would be practiced in an area extending from Perleberg to Finsterwalde. This would cross all the American-British-French air corridors to blockaded Berlin. They did not say when the flights would occur. Usually little advance notice is given.

Capt. Vincent Gookin, U. S. air safety officer, said at the end of the day that no such maneuvers were reported by fliers who carried another 3,725 tons of supplies in clear, splendid flying weather.

Yesterday the Russians held anti-aircraft practice fire in one of the air corridors but caused only a slight diversion in the lift and no incidents.

American officials were puzzled over today's action but one suggested it might be part of a "war of nerves."

Lt. Col. B. E. Steadman of the American military government's armed forces division, said "perhaps they are really conducting maneuvers and maybe they are just trying to harass the air lift with nerve war tactics. At any rate, we're not worried

PERON TIGHTENS CABINET POWERS

Argentine President Accepts Resignation Of Navy Minister, Advisors

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 25.—(AP)—President Juan Peron moved to strengthen his cabinet today 24 hours after police had announced uncovering of a plot to assassinate him and his wife and overthrow the government.

The president accepted the resignation of the navy minister, Rear Adm. Fidel Anadon, one of his top-ranking advisors. In the absence of Foreign Minister Juan Bramuglia at the U. N. assembly in Paris, Anadon also has been acting foreign minister.

In his place, Peron appointed Enrique Garcia, 56, only full admiral in the Argentine navy.

Although sources close to the retiring navy minister said the resignation was the result of a misunderstanding with the president, Anadon publicly denied the incident was connected with the investigation of the alleged assassination plot. He reiterated friendship for the president and support of his government.

Informed sources said Anadon may have stepped down in order to avoid embarrassment over the fact that two of the 17 persons arrested in Argen-

Dewey Delivers Prescription For Cure Of High Prices, Truman Rips Into Republicans Over Electricity

(By Associated Press)

Governor Dewey delivered his prescription against inflation Saturday, while President Truman ripped into the Republicans on the public power issue.

The Republican and Democratic presidential nominees had a few things in common at the end of a week's cross-country barnstorming: Souvenir sombreros, an intimate acquaintance with trainside dust and cinders, and an urgent desire to sit in the White House the next four years.

Otherwise, they were as far apart as their campaign trains—Dewey's in California and the president's special in Texas.

Dewey's anti-inflation speech at San Francisco last (Saturday) night was billed as a major effort. Its keynote was "a great upsurge of production."

The New Yorker charged that the Democratic administration for years had been "deliberately discouraging production and trying to raise prices."

Dewey's recommendations included a courageous administration, elimination of unnecessary government spending, reduction of the national debt, and support of "the American system of free opportunity."

"A large part of the answer to inflation is to produce more and more of the things our people want and need," he declared.

Mr. Truman traveled through parts of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas yesterday, heading eastward after his visit to California. He brought up the public power issue in a speech at El Paso, Texas.

He quoted Representative Dondero (R-Mich.), as having written in a magazine that Republican candidates are ready to join a move to cut down on the sale of low-cost power through public agencies. Dondero is chairman of the house committee on public works.

Mr. Truman himself has called for an expansion of public power facilities. Dondero could not be reached immediately for comment.

At Lordsburg, N. M., the president had lambasted the 80th congress once again, declaring it "tried to cut the throat of the west." He said that anybody who wants to turn the clock back should vote the Republican ticket, but invited others to go "forward in this atomic energy age" with him.

The president accepted an invitation to Sunday breakfast with former Vice-President John N. Garner of Uvalde, Texas, before proceeding toward Oklahoma City where he will deliver a major speech Tuesday. In it, he is expected to reply to Dewey's statements that Communist influences have seeped into the administration.

With his current arduous trip little more than half way over, Mr. Truman is laying plans for another one in October which will take him through New England and other parts of the east.

Dewey had no speechmaking scheduled for today. His campaign train

Premier Pleads With Workers To Stay On Jobs Until Improvements Made

PARIS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Communists and rightist followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle tangled in fist fights tonight while Premier Henri Queuille broadcast an appeal against strikes periling his wobbly cabinet.

The premier asked workers to stay on jobs despite their distress over wages and high prices. Communist labor leaders had just called for more strikes to enforce demands for wage increases of 36 per cent and, eventually, a new government.

At least 40 persons were injured in the pitched battle between Communists and De Gaullists. The Communists broke into a meeting hall where Jacques Soustelle, a leading De Gaulle aid, was to speak.

They fought the rightists with broken bottles, smashed furniture, fists, wooden clubs and iron bars. Nearly 1,000 police came to restore order and chase the Communists. The meeting proceeded among the wreckage while ambulances took away about ten of the most badly hurt.

Queuille said "all stoppage of production can have dangerous results and lead to unemployment." He asked

MADISON FARMERS SHORT ON PICKERS

Three-Fourths Of 22,000-Bale Cotton Crop Still In Fields In Parish

TALLULAH, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—Madison parish has a bumper cotton crop this season of approximately 22,000 bales of which one fourth has been harvested. The crop is exceptionally good and most of the cotton has opened.

There is a critical shortage of pickers although eight mechanical cotton pickers are being operated with good results according to Max MacDonald, parish agriculture agent.

One effort being made to harvest the cotton crop here is the transportation of cotton pickers from the town of Tallulah to the surrounding plantations by trucks. G. A. Brown of the employment office states that an average of 1,500 pickers are being sent to the fields daily.

The importation of Mexican laborers is another method used for harvesting the immense crop. By special arrangement between the United States government and the Mexican government these "Mexican Nationals" as they are called are being sent to the cotton producing areas. The Mexican government has agreed to furnish 1,000 men per day, each county to get only 20 per cent of its quota at a time.

FIND BODY OF GIRL WITH 3 DEAD CATS

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The body of an 18-year-old girl, lying beside three decapitated cats, was found in the back yard of a suburban residence here yesterday.

The girl, Mabel Persons, had been killed by a shotgun charge through the heart.

Associate State Toxicologist Nelson E. Grubbs said the girl's body was found by a 13-year-old brother when he returned from school.

Grubbs said a shotgun was close at hand and that a long note, "written in good hand but without continuity," was found.

The cats had been killed at an improvised chopping block about 30 feet from where the girl's body lay, Grubbs added. The heads of the cats had been placed back in proper position.

The girl had been alone at the house. Her parents were at a self-service laundry which they operate, the toxicologist said.

"She was a good, solid outdoor type," he commented. "We are making a very careful investigation of her death."

Raises 'Ban' Cry On Atomic Bomb

Western Power Delegates Tag Speech 'Old Stuff'; Singles Out Secretary Forrestal For 'Warmongering' Blast In U. N.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Russia's fiery Andrei Y. Vishinsky today urged the five great powers to scrap a third of their land, sea and air forces and demanded a ban on the atomic bomb.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister told the United Nations general assembly in a rapid-fire, 50-minute speech that a group of leaders in the western bloc are mapping an atomic war against Russia. He blasted the United States as leading a "wild armaments race" and seeking to dominate the world.

Western power delegates, particularly those of the United States, tagged his speech "old stuff." British Minister of State Hector McNeill called it "warmed-over hash."

For the second straight year the former Soviet prosecutor singled out defense Secretary James V. Forrestal in his vehement attack against the west. He said Forrestal is a leader in the group of men laying "flashy colored plans" for using the atomic bomb to destroy such Soviet cities as Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev, Kharkov and Odessa.

The general feeling of delegates, as expressed to newsmen, was that Vishinsky's policy speech to the 58-nation assembly was merely a warmed-over version of the arms limitation demand put forward in the 1946 assembly by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Vishinsky's own attack of last year on what he called warmongers.

"We feel keen disappointment that Vishinsky failed to meet Secretary of State Marshall's calm, conciliatory address of last Thursday," an American official said. "His address was essentially an attack on the U. N. program

A Monroe physician, early the other evening received a phone call from Sterlington.

"This is John Smith," the man at the other end announced, "I want to know what you will charge to make a trip out here to Sterlington to see me."

The physician responded, naming a rather modest sum, and he was asked to come immediately to make the call.

A short time later, the physician drove up to the home of John Smith and was about to pick up his medicine case preparatory to going within. But at this instant, Smith appeared and motioned the physician not to get out of the car. Thereupon the supposed patient entered the auto and quickly forked over the sum that he

VETERAN, WIFE, 7 CHILDREN FACED WITH EARLY EVICTION

There was desperation and distress in a little two-room cement block diminutive house at 810 Cypress street, West Monroe, Saturday for the occupants, a hard working, industrious carpenter, a former GI, was ordered 12 days ago to vacate the place despite the fact that he is not in arrears for rent.

He does have an "impediment"—he and his wife have seven small children, making a total of nine persons.

The landlord objects to so many kiddies on the premises.

"It looks like we are to be put out into the street by Monday," stated B. G. Dover, 32, the head of the family. "I have worked every day as carpenter with the exception of a day I spent looking for a house to rent to no avail. A day's work lost also means much to us for here's what we have to pay:

"Groceries cost us $45 a week; we pay $15 a week for these little rooms; then my wife, a prospective mother again, is ill and has needed $7 to $8 in medicine from time to time. All this leaves us nothing for clothes and winter is near.

"I went to the rent control office. I was told that I could be legally ejected. The Red Cross also is powerless to aid, but the Salvation Army was kindly and they are now trying to aid me to find a house in which to live.

"Four of my children are in school over at Millsaps," Dover said, and he explained that he and his wife are parents of twin girls, 10 years of age; and of twin boys, six years of age, then there are three younger.

Mrs. Dover, mother of this brood, is but 25 years of age.

The little house in which they all reside is barely more than 10 by 12 feet. The front room has a full-sized bed and a single bed. Dover and one girl sleep on the hard floor, while the others occupy the bed. There is no other furniture in the front room but a chair and the beds. The kitchen is a tiny little place and modern sanitation is an unknown element.

"I do not drink or smoke, try to do what is right and we go to the Baptist Church each Sunday as we were raised" Dover said. "I can sleep on the floor.

"Overseas in the war I had to sleep in a fox hole, but I do need and must have a place where we can live. But it must be soon.

"By Monday we may be in the street. It is almost life or death with us. If anyone can aid us we shall be deeply grateful. We are not asking for money. Just for a place in which to live. Surely in the Twin Cities there is a place if only we can be directed to it.

TRUMAN BACKERS STILL NOT HAPPY OVER BALLOT LAW

Party Leaders Planning To Run State Nominees Under Both Tickets

ADMINISTRATION SLATES NO FURTHER CHANGES NOW

By Edmond le Breton

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Some supporters of President Truman washed their hands today of the Louisiana legislature's plan for restoring the president to the state ballot without designation as a Democrat.

But Mr. Truman was in no danger of being left off.

Louisiana Democratic party leaders, interested in avoiding any chance that Republicans might capitalize on the party's division to elect secondary candidates, already were planning to nominate the president under the new law.

One of the Democratic candidates with Republican opposition is senatorial nominee Russell Long, nephew of Gov. Earl K. Long and son of the late Sen. Huey P. Long.

The legislature is scheduled to enact into law tomorrow night a bill permitting 100 voters by petition to place the names of the president, Vice Presidential Candidate Alben Barkley and elector candidates for them on the November ballot.

Spokesmen for Governor Long's administration said they knew of no hitches in the program, nor of any plans further to change the much amended bill. In its present form, it would reserve the Democratic name and emblem for use by the States' Rights Democratic candidates, Govs. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Fielding Wright of Mississippi.

The Democratic state central committee two weeks ago made them the Louisiana party's candidates.

REPEAL OF CIVIL SERVICE DELAYED

Committee Amendments Make Outcome Uncertain; Sections Changed

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Only repeal of state civil service seemed to be in any possible doubt as the legislature prepared to conclude the business of its special session tomorrow.

Th senate, after some argument today, approved committee amendments of the bill that would wipe out the six year old civil service system for state employes.

Sen. Lessley Gardiner of Opelousas, administration floor leader, argued against adopting the amendments, pointing out that if the senate changed the bill it would have to go back to the house for concurrence and the house probably will not have a full membership present for the rest of the session. Civil service changes require a two-thirds vote of the elected membership.

But Gardiner finally withdrew his objection and the senate accepted the amendments, though some senators said that the bill might be restored to its original terms by floor amendments tomorrow. This procedure would make it unnecessary for the house to act again.

The amendments in question affect the city civil service system of New Orleans, which is not abolished by the bill. As originally written, the measure would have enabled the governor to appoint two of the three New Orleans city civil service commissioners. The amendment allows him to appoint one and the city employes to elect the other.

Sen. Charles E. Tooke, Jr., of Shreveport, argued for the amendment, saying it was "not a healthy situation" for the governor to name

ARMY PLANS VOLUME ON MEDAL WINNERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The army is publishing, for the first time, a single volume containing the names and deeds of the 2,116 army winners of the medal of honor since the days of 1861.

The volume, to be issued about October 15, will contain a foreword by President Truman. It will describe the evolution of the medal, beginning with a resolution signed by President Lincoln.

The book will show the name, rank and organization, place of birth, the action for which the medal was awarded. Photographs of most of the World War II medal of honor men will be included.

States Stand Upon Vital Reich Issues

Contend That Western Power Decision To Introduce Reformed Currency Caused Blockade On Berlin Transportation

LONDON, Sunday, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Russia demanded today in a statement broadcast from Moscow, control by the Soviet command of all transport from Berlin to the western zones of Germany.

The radio account was a dispatch from the official news agency Tass, which said the statement was authorized. The Russians contended the United States, Britain and France had violated the Potsdam decisions by introducing a reformed currency into western Berlin.

This, the Tass statement said, forced Russia to blockade Berlin in late June "to safeguard the interests of the German population and protect the economic life of the Soviet zone." The Russians contended the western powers were attempting to secure control of all Germany, including the eastern zone Russia occupies.

Russia contended the three main differences in negotiations in July and August in the Kremlin and in Berlin over the blockade were over the blockade itself, currency and trade.

The Tass statement, the first official statement apparently on the Berlin crisis since the negotiations began, said the Soviet government position on the issues followed this line:

On the blockade:

"The Soviet government insists on the establishment of control by the Soviet command over transportation of commercial cargoes and passengers by air between Berlin and the western zones, similarly to transportation by rail, water and highway. Air routes cannot remain outside of the control, since the four governments reached an understanding that an agreement should envisage establishment of appropriate control over money circulation in Berlin and trade between the Berlin and western zones."

On currency:

"The Soviet government believes it is necessary strictly to adhere to the agreement reached by the four governments in Moscow concerning a quadripartite financial commission and its functions with regard to the financial measures connected with the introduction of a single currency in Berlin. The Soviet government cannot agree to such extensions of the functions of a financial commission as would result in the latter's intervention into the regulation of money circulation in the Soviet zone as a whole."

On trade:

"The Soviet government expressed consent to the wishes of the governments of the United States, Great Britain and France concerning the establishment of quadripartite control over Berlin's trade with the western zones and third countries, including the issuing of appropriate licenses, thus removing the difference which existed on this issue.

"All above said clearly shows the real attitude of the Soviet government on the subject of regulation of the situation in Berlin on a mutually acceptable basis. In these conditions it depends on the governments of the United States, Britain and France whether negotiations on the above subject will be disrupted or whether a satisfactory agreement will be reached by the U. S. S. R., the United States, Britain and France."

The Russians blockaded Berlin late in June after the western powers introduced their own currency in western Berlin to combat inflation and the black market.

When Russia insisted that only Russian-sponsored currency be allowed to circulate in Berlin, the allies refused and the Soviets blocked the land routes to the city—which lies deep in the Russian zone. The western powers have been supplying the city by air since.

Western diplomats have been con-

860-MILE SPEEDS CLOCKED IN PLANE

Air Force Secretary Gives Hint Of Terrific Acceleration Of Craft

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—An official inkling was given by the United States today that its X-1 rocket driven research plane apparently has hurtled through the air between 860 and 1,000 miles an hour.

JUSTICE, OBSCURE GUARD ARE TOPS AS PIGSKIN RULE OPENS

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—An obscure guard and a famed halfback grabbed the headlines today as college football burst into the sports picture alongside the torrid baseball races.

The obscure guard is Steve Oracko of Notre Dame, whose angling 23-yard field goal after missing three conversion attempts gave the Irish a 28 to 27 victory over upstart Purdue.

The famed halfback is Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice of North Carolina, whose teammates toyed with Texas, 34 to 7. The Tar Heels scored three of the first four times they got the ball.

Right beside those two players in the headline department came such team accomplishments as Yale's 28 to 13 conquest of Brown; Michigan;s tight squeeze before defeating Michigan State, 13 to 7; Georgia Tech's 13 to 0 triumph over Vanderbilt; Indiana's easy time with Wisconsin, 35 to 7; and of Tulane's upset of Alabama, 21 to 14.

Purdue lived up to every bit of the claim that they would be the toughest team on the Notre Dame schedule. The Boilermakers piled up 13 first downs to 10 for the Irish; gained 294 yards to 223 for the winnerss.

After his heart beat returned to normal Coach Frank Leahy said, "I never saw a better game in my life."

In administering Texas one of its worst defeats, Justice passed for two touchdowns and scored two himself.

Yale defeated Brown despite a line that Coach Herman Hickman calls his "seven dwarfs." Holy Cross, this year tutored by Bill Osmanski, walloped Georgetown, boasting the heaviest line in college football. Another first time coach to win was Clyde Smith of Indiana, whose Hoosiers moved right to the top of the Big Nine by pasting Wisconsin.

Michigan's Rose Bowl remnants had to pull all stops to down Michigan State before the largest crowd ever to see a game at East Lansing. The fray marked the dedication of the Spartans' remodeled stadium.

On the intersectional front, Minnesota shook off its shackles for three touchdowns in the final period to down Washington, 20 to 0. Southern Methodist convinced Pittsburgh that all that had been written about Doak Walker was true, 33 to 14; and California eased past Navy, 21 to 7.

SISTERS' FINE NEW HOME WILL BE FORMALLY OPENED TUESDAY

The culmination of expansion efforts at St. Francis Sanitarium, extending over a year, will be achieved here when the improvements will be thrown open to the public next Tuesday. At a construction cost of $168,000, the most modern private laundry will be viewed by the public in addition to various improvements to the receiving department of the main building and last but most important of all, the handsome three-story modern brick home for the sisters will be inspected and Bishop Charles P. Greco of the Alexandria Diocese, will be here to bless the opening of the fine new home.

This building will have open house during Tuesday afternoon and at 4 p.m. will be formally blessed. There will be a benediction service held in the sanitarium chapel at 6 p.m. The public will be invited to make inspection of the improvements and to attend the services.

Almost a year ago, a contract was signed with Frank Masling & Son for the construction which comprised the carrying out of plans drawn by King Stubbs, Monroe architect. There has been some delay in completing the work because of delays in obtaining material.

Most important item in the expansion has been the erection of the new sisters' home, as they gave up their rooms in the main building when these became needed for the care of patients. They have been quartered in crowded quarters in the old frame building which stands immediately west of the new home. This building will now be torn down and the grounds will be landscaped and beautified. A picture of the new building could not be taken to do justice to it as it is now crowded against the old frame building but with its removal, the property will show up to good advantage.

A Morning World reporter was taken through the buildings yesterday by S. E. Burgoyne, the sanitarium's business director, who explained in detail the various equipment. The ambulance entrance on Wood street has been overhauled and a broad cemented driveway constructed, a small office is located on the right at the basement level.

MERIDIAN, Miss., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Hani Hannibal, the Junior Chamber of Commerce membership campaign goat, is traveling fast around Meridian.

The goat is given to a member and the latter must keep Hannibal until he obtains a new member. As a result, 20 new members have been listed.

Some members use the goat for lawn mowers—the goat keeping the lawn grass eaten down. The only persons wanting the goat are the children of the members.

FIND BODY OF GIRL WITH 3 DEAD CATS

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The body of an 18-year-old girl, lying beside three decapitated cats, was found in the back yard of a suburban residence here yesterday.

The girl, Mabel Persons, had been killed by a shotgun charge through the heart.

Associate State Toxicologist Nelson E. Grubbs said the girl's body was found by a 13-year-old brother when he returned from school.

Grubbs said a shotgun was close at hand and that a long note, "written in good hand but without continuity," was found.

The cats had been killed at an improvised chopping block about 30 feet from where the girl's body lay, Grubbs added. The heads of the cats had been placed back in proper position.

The girl had been alone at the house. Her parents were at a self-service laundry which they operate, the toxicologist said.

"She was a good, solid outdoor type," he commented. "We are making a very careful investigation of her death."

SISTERS' FINE NEW HOME WILL BE FORMALLY OPENED TUESDAY

The culmination of expansion efforts at St. Francis Sanitarium, extending over a year, will be achieved here when the improvements will be thrown open to the public next Tuesday. At a construction cost of $168,000, the most modern private laundry will be viewed by the public in addition to various improvements to the receiving department of the main building and last but most important of all, the handsome three-story modern brick home for the sisters will be inspected and Bishop Charles P. Greco of the Alexandria Diocese, will be here to bless the opening of the fine new home.

This building will have open house during Tuesday afternoon and at 4 p.m. will be formally blessed. There will be a benediction service held in the sanitarium chapel at 6 p.m. The public will be invited to make inspection of the improvements and to attend the services.

Almost a year ago, a contract was signed with Frank Masling & Son for the construction which comprised the carrying out of plans drawn by King Stubbs, Monroe architect. There has been some delay in completing the work because of delays in obtaining material.

Most important item in the expansion has been the erection of the new sisters' home, as they gave up their rooms in the main building when these became needed for the care of patients. They have been quartered in crowded quarters in the old frame building which stands immediately west of the new home. This building will now be torn down and the grounds will be landscaped and beautified. A picture of the new building could not be taken to do justice to it as it is now crowded against the old frame building but with its removal, the property will show up to good advantage.

A Morning World reporter was taken through the buildings yesterday by S. E. Burgoyne, the sanitarium's business director, who explained in detail the various equipment. The ambulance entrance on Wood street has been overhauled and a broad cemented driveway constructed, a small office is located on the right at the basement level.

Raises 'Ban' Cry On Atomic Bomb

Western Power Delegates Tag Speech 'Old Stuff'; Singles Out Secretary Forrestal For 'Warmongering' Blast In U. N.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Russia's fiery Andrei Y. Vishinsky today urged the five great powers to scrap a third of their land, sea and air forces and demanded a ban on the atomic bomb.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister told the United Nations general assembly in a rapid-fire, 50-minute speech that a group of leaders in the western bloc are mapping an atomic war against Russia. He blasted the United States as leading a "wild armaments race" and seeking to dominate the world.

Western power delegates, particularly those of the United States, tagged his speech "old stuff." British Minister of State Hector McNeill called it "warmed-over hash."

For the second straight year the former Soviet prosecutor singled out defense Secretary James V. Forrestal in his vehement attack against the west. He said Forrestal is a leader in the group of men laying "flashy colored plans" for using the atomic bomb to destroy such Soviet cities as Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev, Kharkov and Odessa.

The general feeling of delegates, as expressed to newsmen, was that Vishinsky's policy speech to the 58-nation assembly was merely a warmed-over version of the arms limitation demand put forward in the 1946 assembly by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Vishinsky's own attack of last year on what he called warmongers.

"We feel keen disappointment that Vishinsky failed to meet Secretary of State Marshall's calm, conciliatory address of last Thursday," an American official said. "His address was essentially an attack on the U. N. program

Jes' Ramblin'

A Monroe physician, early the other evening received a phone call from Sterlington.

"This is John Smith," the man at the other end announced, "I want to know what you will charge to make a trip out here to Sterlington to see me."

The physician responded, naming a rather modest sum, and he was asked to come immediately to make the call.

A short time later, the physician drove up to the home of John Smith and was about to pick up his medicine case preparatory to going within. But at this instant, Smith appeared and motioned the physician not to get out of the car. Thereupon the supposed patient entered the auto and quickly forked over the sum that he

There was desperation and distress in a little two-room cement block diminutive house at 810 Cypress street, West Monroe, Saturday for the occupants, a hard working, industrious carpenter, a former GI, was ordered 12 days ago to vacate the place despite the fact that he is not in arrears for rent.

He does have an "impediment"—he and his wife have seven small children, making a total of nine persons.

The landlord objects to so many kiddies on the premises.

"It looks like we are to be put out into the street by Monday," stated B. G. Dover, 32, the head of the family. "I have worked every day as carpenter with the exception of a day I spent looking for a house to rent to no avail. A day's work lost also means much to us for here's what we have to pay:

"Groceries cost us $45 a week; we pay $15 a week for these little rooms; then my wife, a prospective mother again, is ill and has needed $7 to $8 in medicine from time to time. All this leaves us nothing for clothes and winter is near.

"I went to the rent control office. I was told that I could be legally ejected. The Red Cross also is powerless to aid, but the Salvation Army was kindly and they are now trying to aid me to find a house in which to live.

"Four of my children are in school over at Millsaps," Dover said, and he explained that he and his wife are parents of twin girls, 10 years of age; and of twin boys, six years of age, then there are three younger.

Mrs. Dover, mother of this brood, is but 25 years of age.

The little house in which they all reside is barely more than 10 by 12 feet. The front room has a full-sized bed and a single bed. Dover and one girl sleep on the hard floor, while the others occupy the bed. There is no other furniture in the front room but a chair and the beds. The kitchen is a tiny little place and modern sanitation is an unknown element.

"I do not drink or smoke, try to do what is right and we go to the Baptist Church each Sunday as we were raised" Dover said. "I can sleep on the floor.

"Overseas in the war I had to sleep in a fox hole, but I do need and must have a place where we can live. But it must be soon.

"By Monday we may be in the street. It is almost life or death with us. If anyone can aid us we shall be deeply grateful. We are not asking for money. Just for a place in which to live. Surely in the Twin Cities there is a place if only we can be directed to it.

TRUMAN BACKERS STILL NOT HAPPY OVER BALLOT LAW

Party Leaders Planning To Run State Nominees Under Both Tickets

ADMINISTRATION SLATES NO FURTHER CHANGES NOW

By Edmond le Breton

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Some supporters of President Truman washed their hands today of the Louisiana legislature's plan for restoring the president to the state ballot without designation as a Democrat.

But Mr. Truman was in no danger of being left off.

Louisiana Democratic party leaders, interested in avoiding any chance that Republicans might capitalize on the party's division to elect secondary candidates, already were planning to nominate the president under the new law.

One of the Democratic candidates with Republican opposition is senatorial nominee Russell Long, nephew of Gov. Earl K. Long and son of the late Sen. Huey P. Long.

The legislature is scheduled to enact into law tomorrow night a bill permitting 100 voters by petition to place the names of the president, Vice Presidential Candidate Alben Barkley and elector candidates for them on the November ballot.

Spokesmen for Governor Long's administration said they knew of no hitches in the program, nor of any plans further to change the much amended bill. In its present form, it would reserve the Democratic name and emblem for use by the States' Rights Democratic candidates, Govs. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Fielding Wright of Mississippi.

The Democratic state central committee two weeks ago made them the Louisiana party's candidates.

REPEAL OF CIVIL SERVICE DELAYED

Committee Amendments Make Outcome Uncertain; Sections Changed

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Only repeal of state civil service seemed to be in any possible doubt as the legislature prepared to conclude the business of its special session tomorrow.

Th senate, after some argument today, approved committee amendments of the bill that would wipe out the six year old civil service system for state employes.

Sen. Lessley Gardiner of Opelousas, administration floor leader, argued against adopting the amendments, pointing out that if the senate changed the bill it would have to go back to the house for concurrence and the house probably will not have a full membership present for the rest of the session. Civil service changes require a two-thirds vote of the elected membership.

But Gardiner finally withdrew his objection and the senate accepted the amendments, though some senators said that the bill might be restored to its original terms by floor amendments tomorrow. This procedure would make it unnecessary for the house to act again.

The amendments in question affect the city civil service system of New Orleans, which is not abolished by the bill. As originally written, the measure would have enabled the governor to appoint two of the three New Orleans city civil service commissioners. The amendment allows him to appoint one and the city employes to elect the other.

Sen. Charles E. Tooke, Jr., of Shreveport, argued for the amendment, saying it was "not a healthy situation" for the governor to name

ARMY PLANS VOLUME ON MEDAL WINNERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The army is publishing, for the first time, a single volume containing the names and deeds of the 2,116 army winners of the medal of honor since the days of 1861.

The volume, to be issued about October 15, will contain a foreword by President Truman. It will describe the evolution of the medal, beginning with a resolution signed by President Lincoln.

The book will show the name, rank and organization, place of birth, the action for which the medal was awarded. Photographs of most of the World War II medal of honor men will be included.

States Stand Upon Vital Reich Issues

Contend That Western Power Decision To Introduce Reformed Currency Caused Blockade On Berlin Transportation

LONDON, Sunday, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Russia demanded today in a statement broadcast from Moscow, control by the Soviet command of all transport from Berlin to the western zones of Germany.

The radio account was a dispatch from the official news agency Tass, which said the statement was authorized. The Russians contended the United States, Britain and France had violated the Potsdam decisions by introducing a reformed currency into western Berlin.

This, the Tass statement said, forced Russia to blockade Berlin in late June "to safeguard the interests of the German population and protect the economic life of the Soviet zone." The Russians contended the western powers were attempting to secure control of all Germany, including the eastern zone Russia occupies.

Russia contended the three main differences in negotiations in July and August in the Kremlin and in Berlin over the blockade were over the blockade itself, currency and trade.

The Tass statement, the first official statement apparently on the Berlin crisis since the negotiations began, said the Soviet government position on the issues followed this line:

On the blockade:

"The Soviet government insists on the establishment of control by the Soviet command over transportation of commercial cargoes and passengers by air between Berlin and the western zones, similarly to transportation by rail, water and highway. Air routes cannot remain outside of the control, since the four governments reached an understanding that an agreement should envisage establishment of appropriate control over money circulation in Berlin and trade between the Berlin and western zones."

On currency:

"The Soviet government believes it is necessary strictly to adhere to the agreement reached by the four governments in Moscow concerning a quadripartite financial commission and its functions with regard to the financial measures connected with the introduction of a single currency in Berlin. The Soviet government cannot agree to such extensions of the functions of a financial commission as would result in the latter's intervention into the regulation of money circulation in the Soviet zone as a whole."

On trade:

"The Soviet government expressed consent to the wishes of the governments of the United States, Great Britain and France concerning the establishment of quadripartite control over Berlin's trade with the western zones and third countries, including the issuing of appropriate licenses, thus removing the difference which existed on this issue.

"All above said clearly shows the real attitude of the Soviet government on the subject of regulation of the situation in Berlin on a mutually acceptable basis. In these conditions it depends on the governments of the United States, Britain and France whether negotiations on the above subject will be disrupted or whether a satisfactory agreement will be reached by the U. S. S. R., the United States, Britain and France."

The Russians blockaded Berlin late in June after the western powers introduced their own currency in western Berlin to combat inflation and the black market.

When Russia insisted that only Russian-sponsored currency be allowed to circulate in Berlin, the allies refused and the Soviets blocked the land routes to the city—which lies deep in the Russian zone. The western powers have been supplying the city by air since.

Western diplomats have been con-

Air Force Secretary Gives Hint Of Terrific Acceleration Of Craft

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—An official inkling was given by the United States today that its X-1 rocket driven research plane apparently has hurtled through the air between 860 and 1,000 miles an hour.

Air Secretary Symington gave a hint of the speed attained by the knife-winged little plane in an Air Force Association speech.

Enumerating achievements by the air force during the last year, he mentioned laconically, "an airplane flying hundreds of miles faster than

JUSTICE, OBSCURE GUARD ARE TOPS AS PIGSKIN RULE OPENS

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—An obscure guard and a famed halfback grabbed the headlines today as college football burst into the sports picture alongside the torrid baseball races.

The obscure guard is Steve Oracko of Notre Dame, whose angling 23-yard field goal after missing three conversion attempts gave the Irish a 28 to 27 victory over upstart Purdue.

The famed halfback is Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice of North Carolina, whose teammates toyed with Texas, 34 to 7. The Tar Heels scored three of the first four times they got the ball.

Right beside those two players in the headline department came such team accomplishments as Yale's 28 to 13 conquest of Brown; Michigan;s tight squeeze before defeating Michigan State, 13 to 7; Georgia Tech's 13 to 0 triumph over Vanderbilt; Indiana's easy time with Wisconsin, 35 to 7; and of Tulane's upset of Alabama, 21 to 14.

Purdue lived up to every bit of the claim that they would be the toughest team on the Notre Dame schedule. The Boilermakers piled up 13 first downs to 10 for the Irish; gained 294 yards to 223 for the winnerss.

After his heart beat returned to normal Coach Frank Leahy said, "I never saw a better game in my life."

In administering Texas one of its worst defeats, Justice passed for two touchdowns and scored two himself.

Yale defeated Brown despite a line that Coach Herman Hickman calls his "seven dwarfs." Holy Cross, this year tutored by Bill Osmanski, walloped Georgetown, boasting the heaviest line in college football. Another first time coach to win was Clyde Smith of Indiana, whose Hoosiers moved right to the top of the Big Nine by pasting Wisconsin.

Michigan's Rose Bowl remnants had to pull all stops to down Michigan State before the largest crowd ever to see a game at East Lansing. The fray marked the dedication of the Spartans' remodeled stadium.

On the intersectional front, Minnesota shook off its shackles for three touchdowns in the final period to down Washington, 20 to 0. Southern Methodist convinced Pittsburgh that all that had been written about Doak Walker was true, 33 to 14; and California eased past Navy, 21 to 7.

CIVIC WORKSHOP DISCUSSED HERE

National Representative Tells Jewish Women How To Render Aid

A two-day workshop for the benefit of the Monroe Section of Council of Jewish Women was conducted September 23 and 24 by Mrs. Julius Zander, of Nashville, Tenn., national representative of the organization from section service.

An instructive session for officers and committee chairman was held in the Temple B' Nai Israel annex Thursday morning, at which time Mrs. Zander outlined plans and procedures for a more effective program planning within the local group. During the afternoon session, which was a continuation of the morning program, Mrs. Zander brought to the attention of the Monroe section the most effective ways in which council could best aid Monroe community as a whole. Primary purpose of the organization is to promote community-wide civil work on a non-sectarian basis.

Between the morning and afternoon sessions, Mrs. Zander was guest of honor of the Monroe section at a luncheon held at the La Casa.

On Friday morning Mrs. Zander met individually with the numerous chairmen in clinical consultations, advising and recommending procedures of organization for the benefit of the Monroe group.

Plans now being made will bring before the council during the October meeting a number of community projects, from which the group will choose the one it will sponsor.

Local officers are: President, Mrs. Dave Aron; first vice-president, Mrs. Joe Marx, Jr.; second vice-president, Mrs. Harry Silverstein; treasurer, Mrs. I. W. Jaffe; recording secretary, Mrs. I. S. Marx; auditor, Mrs. C. M. Strauss; board members, Mrs. William Mintz, Mrs. Meyer Glazer and Mrs. S. K. Heninger.

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE SESSION CALLED IN GA.

ATLANTA, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Gov. M. E. Thompson today called a special session of the Georgia legislature for Monday to clarify general election laws.

The legislature was asked to change Georgia law so that the names of candidates for president would be required on the ballot, along with candidates for electors of each political party.

Thompson said it had been rumored the Georgia Democratic executive committee would offer elector candidates under the Democratic emblem who would not support President Truman in the electoral college.

He asked the legislature to require that candidates for electoral posts declare in advance the presidential candidate they expect to vote for and to bind electors lagally to vote for the candidate they claim to support.

The governor also asked for repeal of the state law requiring a petition of five per cent of the registered voters to get a new party or an independent candidate's name on the ballot.

Herman Talmadge, who won the Democratic nomination for governor earlier this month, said he favored asking the legislature to settle the electoral vote dispute. Talmadge campaigned against President Truman's civil rights program.

MAGICIAN IS FREED AFTER DEMONSTRATION

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Luckily for Everett A. Drummond, Superior Judge Ben Rosenthal is a legerdemain fan.

Drummond, a one-time stage magician, appeared before His Honor yesterday on a charge of possessing a blackjack.

The ex-magician explained the eight-inch redwood stick he carried was in reality a rolling pin—and so harmless it wouldn't even break an egg.

By way of demonstration, Drummond brought forth a black velvet bag and an egg. He placed the egg in the bag and rolled over it with the stick. Opening the bag, he disclosed the egg—still intact. He broke it in a dish, to prove it was real.

The judge dismissed the case.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula, which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastri digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Wisner And Baskin To Vote On Bond Issues For Betterment Of Structures

WINNSBORO, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—According to W. B. Glover, Franklin parish superintendent of education, buildings are needed in practically every community in Franklin parish to take care of increased enrollments due to the twelve grade program and to build lunch rooms to serve children hot lunches.

Wisner and Baskin communities will vote next Tuesday on bond issues to build buildings to take care of their needs. The needs of the Wisner community are as follows:

1. Extra rooms to take care of crowded conditions that will result from the twelve grade program that will go into effect during the 1949-1950 session.

2. To build a lunch room large enough to serve hot lunches to all children.

3. To build an agriculture building to take care of needs of the agriculture students.

4. To make repairs in the present buildings to meet the needs of the increased enrollment.

If the increased tax proposal is voted into effect Tuesday, it will enable Wisner community to take care of the necessary building program and enrich the curriculum in the Wisner school to take care of some of the individual differences of the children.

The tax necessary to retire the bonds, if the bond issue is voted, will be less than the amount of taxes the Wisner community has been paying for the buildings for the past 20 years.

In the Baskin community the following improvements are needed:

1. A building large enough to serve hot lunches to all children.

2. An agriculture building.

3. Extra class rooms for the twelve year grade program.

4. To make repairs on the old buildings to meet the needs of an increased enrollment.

If the tax is voted in, it will make possible the necessary repairs and supply the increased school needs.

As in the case of the Wisner, the tax will be less than rent paid for Baskin buildings in the last 20 years.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

A crude sign was found the other day pinned on the garden door of No. 10 Downing street, famous residence of many generations of British prime ministers and now occupied by Clement Attlee. The notice advised him:

"Moscow is bluffing."

The seer who made that sign wasn't the only one who has a notion the Russians are staging an enormous bluff. You hear the remark frequently, generally by folk who hold that the "bluff" should be called by a display of force.

That is a terribly foolish and dangerous assumption. True, there undoubtedly are times when the Muscovites do bluff, and I dare say the same is true of the western democracies. Diplomatic strategy has worked that way on occasions.

However, the world revolution for the spread of communism is no bluff. It is the greatest menace mankind has faced.

There was no bluff in the rape of Czechoslovakia, or in the conquest of the rest of eastern Europe. The United States has just called the turn in blunt terms on Belshevist operations in Bulgaria.

American Minister Donald R. Heath has delivered to Bulgarian Foreign Minister Kolarov a note which accuses the Communist government of Bulgaria with ruthlessly smashing democratic freedom in that country. The communication charges that the Communists there have resorted to the use of "involuntary servitude, banishment, concentration camps, imprisonment, torture and execution."

The occasion for this note was a speech by Kolarov in parliament, blaming the United States for Bulgaria's failure to gain membership in the United Nations. He declared his nation had met its peace treaty obligations scrupulously. The American note said it simply isn't true that Bulgaria has met its treaty obligations.

There is no bluff in the great offensive which the Communists are waging throughout southeast Asia. British Foreign Secretary Bevin declared the other day that the Communists aimed at seizing that great theater. He said this was "part and parcel of the clash between the two philosophies which will keep on breaking out everywhere it can." He announced that Britain intended to fight communism at every turn. Simultaneously the U. S. state department has broadcast a sharp counter-attack against the Red "drive for power" in southeast Asia.

If America and Britain thought Moscow was bluffing they wouldn't be engaged in such sweeping rearmament programs. British Defense Minister A. V. Alexander startled the house of commons a couple of days ago with the statement that Britain's rearmament program was moving so fast he had no figures on its cost. Simultaneously the navy, marines and air corps announced urgent campaigns to build up strong reserves in readiness for any war emergency. All men and women who served in Britain's wartime armies are subject to recall.

These preparations don't mean that America and Britain think war is just around the corner. Sir Stafford Cripps, British chancellor of the exchequer, expresses the belief that there is not much possibility of a war soon, though "accidents can always happen."

But the democracies aren't treating the Bolshevist threat as a bluff which can be handled by appeasement.

SPINACH MEETS ITS REAL RIVAL

Mustard Declared Fully As Healthful As Table 'Greens'

All are familiar with the feats of Popeye, the sailor man. The general impression is that his strength comes from eating spinach. Spinach has a rival. It is mustard. It is fully as healthful and nourishing as spinach. The green leaves are used as a salad or boiled like spinach and served as "greens." Farmers receive more income from mustard than any other green-type vegetable.

Mrs. Mildred Swift, assistant home demonstration agent, has the following to say in this connection:

"Another vegetable which most of us like but can seldom get is the radish. Radishes are a table delicacy of real worth and are also valuable for garnishing. The radish is one of the quickest crops to be enjoyed from your garden.

"Plant Florida Broad Leaved or Tendergreen mustard. The Florida Broad Leaved is best for you who like a medium, light-green leaf with a broad pale green midrib. Tendergreen has the advantage of being about 10 days earlier than Florida Broad Leaved, and it is also slower to run to seed. Tendergreen is ready for use about 21 to 25 days after planting.

"The Scarlet Globe, an excellent round, red radish, is ready for eating about four to five weeks after planting.

"White Icicle, with its long, white, brittle roots and mild, inviting flavor will be ready about one week after Scarlet Globe.

"The cultural requirements for mustard and radishes are the same.

"Select a rich plot of soil high in organic matter and prepare it well. The amount of fertilizer required will depend on the land. Well-rotted barnyard manure is very good. You can use a ton per acre, or more. You can profitably apply 4-12-4 fertilizer at the rate of 300 to 600 pounds per acre, depending on the soil. This fertilizer will not be wasted. A spring crop following your radishes or mustard will take advantage of any of the fertilizer that has not been used.

"The four to five foot rows that are commonly used by growers are recommended for radishes and mustard. About two weeks after preparing the soil, sow your seed broadcast on the moisture firmed rows. If necessary, thin the radishes and mustard to prevent crowding.

"Control asphids, worms, vegetable weevils and beetles with Rotenone dust."

DRAFT BOARD TOTALS 1,622 IN FRANKLIN

WINNSBORO, Sept. 25.—(Special)—One thousand, six hundred and twenty-two men, in the 18 to 26 draft-age group have registered with the Franklin parish selective service board, according to Walter A. Chachere, chairman of the board.

The local draft board office, located in the American Legion hall at Winnsboro will be open from 8 a.m. until 12 noon Monday through Saturday. Youths reaching the age of 18 must register with the board on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter.

Classification questionnaires are now being mailed out to the men first to register, the 25 and 24-year-olds, who will be the first to be drafted into the armed forces, starting in November. Registrants are being given ten days in which to fill out and return these questionnaires which the local board will then study carefully to determine each registrant's availability for induction.

CIVIC WORKSHOP DISCUSSED HERE

National Representative Tells Jewish Women How To Render Aid

A two-day workshop for the benefit of the Monroe Section of Council of Jewish Women was conducted September 23 and 24 by Mrs. Julius Zander, of Nashville, Tenn., national representative of the organization from section service.

An instructive session for officers and committee chairman was held in the Temple B' Nai Israel annex Thursday morning, at which time Mrs. Zander outlined plans and procedures for a more effective program planning within the local group. During the afternoon session, which was a continuation of the morning program, Mrs. Zander brought to the attention of the Monroe section the most effective ways in which council could best aid Monroe community as a whole. Primary purpose of the organization is to promote community-wide civil work on a non-sectarian basis.

Between the morning and afternoon sessions, Mrs. Zander was guest of honor of the Monroe section at a luncheon held at the La Casa.

On Friday morning Mrs. Zander met individually with the numerous chairmen in clinical consultations, advising and recommending procedures of organization for the benefit of the Monroe group.

Plans now being made will bring before the council during the October meeting a number of community projects, from which the group will choose the one it will sponsor.

Local officers are: President, Mrs. Dave Aron; first vice-president, Mrs. Joe Marx, Jr.; second vice-president, Mrs. Harry Silverstein; treasurer, Mrs. I. W. Jaffe; recording secretary, Mrs. I. S. Marx; auditor, Mrs. C. M. Strauss; board members, Mrs. William Mintz, Mrs. Meyer Glazer and Mrs. S. K. Heninger.

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE SESSION CALLED IN GA.

ATLANTA, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Gov. M. E. Thompson today called a special session of the Georgia legislature for Monday to clarify general election laws.

The legislature was asked to change Georgia law so that the names of candidates for president would be required on the ballot, along with candidates for electors of each political party.

Thompson said it had been rumored the Georgia Democratic executive committee would offer elector candidates under the Democratic emblem who would not support President Truman in the electoral college.

He asked the legislature to require that candidates for electoral posts declare in advance the presidential candidate they expect to vote for and to bind electors lagally to vote for the candidate they claim to support.

The governor also asked for repeal of the state law requiring a petition of five per cent of the registered voters to get a new party or an independent candidate's name on the ballot.

Herman Talmadge, who won the Democratic nomination for governor earlier this month, said he favored asking the legislature to settle the electoral vote dispute. Talmadge campaigned against President Truman's civil rights program.

MAGICIAN IS FREED AFTER DEMONSTRATION

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Luckily for Everett A. Drummond, Superior Judge Ben Rosenthal is a legerdemain fan.

Drummond, a one-time stage magician, appeared before His Honor yesterday on a charge of possessing a blackjack.

The ex-magician explained the eight-inch redwood stick he carried was in reality a rolling pin—and so harmless it wouldn't even break an egg.

By way of demonstration, Drummond brought forth a black velvet bag and an egg. He placed the egg in the bag and rolled over it with the stick. Opening the bag, he disclosed the egg—still intact. He broke it in a dish, to prove it was real.

The judge dismissed the case.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastri digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Wisner And Baskin To Vote On Bond Issues For Betterment Of Structures

WINNSBORO, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—According to W. B. Glover, Franklin parish superintendent of education, buildings are needed in practically every community in Franklin parish to take care of increased enrollments due to the twelve grade program and to build lunch rooms to serve children hot lunches.

Wisner and Baskin communities will vote next Tuesday on bond issues to build buildings to take care of their needs. The needs of the Wisner community are as follows:

1. Extra rooms to take care of crowded conditions that will result from the twelve grade program that will go into effect during the 1949-1950 session.
2. To build a lunch room large enough to serve hot lunches to all children.
3. To build an agriculture building to take care of needs of the agriculture students.
4. To make repairs in the present buildings to meet the needs of the increased enrollment.

If the increased tax proposal is voted into effect Tuesday, it will enable Wisner community to take care of the necessary building program and enrich the curriculum in the Wisner school to take care of some of the individual differences of the children.

The tax necessary to retire the bonds, if the bond issue is voted, will be less than the amount of taxes the Wisner community has been paying for the buildings for the past 20 years.

In the Baskin community the following improvements are needed:

1. A building large enough to serve hot lunches to all children.
2. An agriculture building.
3. Extra class rooms for the twelve year grade program.
4. To make repairs on the old buildings to meet the needs of an increased enrollment.

If the tax is voted in, it will make possible the necessary repairs and supply the increased school needs.

As in the case of the Wisner, the tax will be less than rent paid for Baskin buildings in the last 20 years.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

A crude sign was found the other day pinned on the garden door of No. 10 Downing street, famous residence of many generations of British prime ministers and now occupied by Clement Attlee. The notice advised him:

"Moscow is bluffing."

The seer who made that sign wasn't the only one who has a notion the Russians are staging an enormous bluff. You hear the remark frequently, generally by folk who hold that the "bluff" should be called by a display of force.

That is a terribly foolish and dangerous assumption. True, there undoubtedly are times when the Muscovites do bluff, and I dare say the same is true of the western democracies. Diplomatic strategy has worked that way on occasions.

However, the world revolution for the spread of communism is no bluff. It is the greatest menace mankind has faced.

There was no bluff in the rape of Czechoslovakia, or in the conquest of the rest of eastern Europe. The United States has just called the turn in blunt terms on Belshevist operations in Bulgaria.

American Minister Donald R. Heath has delivered to Bulgarian Foreign Minister Kolarov a note which accuses the Communist government of Bulgaria with ruthlessly smashing democratic freedom in that country. The communication charges that the Communists there have resorted to the use of "involuntary servitude, banishment, concentration camps, imprisonment, torture and execution."

The occasion for this note was a speech by Kolarov in parliament, blaming the United States for Bulgaria's failure to gain membership in the United Nations. He declared his nation had met its peace treaty obligations scrupulously. The American note said it simply isn't true that Bulgaria has met its treaty obligations.

There is no bluff in the great offensive which the Communists are waging throughout southeast Asia. British Foreign Secretary Bevin declared the other day that the Communists aimed at seizing that great theater. He said this was "part and parcel of the clash between the two philosophies which will keep on breaking out everywhere it can." He announced that Britain intended to fight communism at every turn. Simultaneously the U. S. state department has broadcast a sharp counter-attack against the Red "drive for power" in southeast Asia.

If America and Britain thought Moscow was bluffing they wouldn't be engaged in such sweeping rearmament programs. British Defense Minister A. V. Alexander startled the house of commons a couple of days ago with the statement that Britain's rearmament program was moving so fast he had no figures on its cost. Simultaneously the navy, marines and air corps announced urgent campaigns to build up strong reserves in readiness for any war emergency. All men and women who served in Britain's wartime armies are subject to recall.

These preparations don't mean that America and Britain think war is just around the corner. Sir Stafford Cripps, British chancellor of the exchequer, expresses the belief that there is not much possibility of a war soon, though "accidents can always happen."

But the democracies aren't treating the Bolshevist threat as a bluff which can be handled by appeasement.

To save frosting a butter cake, sprinkle the batter with finely chopped filberts before baking; do not use on sponge-type cakes since the batter is not heavy enough to hold the nuts and they will sink to the bottom.

SPINACH MEETS ITS REAL RIVAL

Mustard Declared Fully As Healthful As Table 'Greens'

All are familiar with the feats of Popeye, the sailor man. The general impression is that his strength comes from eating spinach. Spinach has a rival. It is mustard. It is fully as healthful and nourishing as spinach. The green leaves are used as a salad or boiled like spinach and served as "greens." Farmers receive more income from mustard than any other green-type vegetable.

Mrs. Mildred Swift, assistant home demonstration agent, has the following to say in this connection:

"Another vegetable which most of us like but can seldom get is the radish. Radishes are a table delicacy of real worth and are also valuable for garnishing. The radish is one of the quickest crops to be enjoyed from your garden.

"Plant Florida Broad Leaved or Tendergreen mustard. The Florida Broad Leaved is best for you who like a medium, light-green leaf with a broad pale green midrib. Tendergreen has the advantage of being about 10 days earlier than Florida Broad Leaved, and it is also slower to run to seed. Tendergreen is ready for use about 21 to 25 days after planting.

"The Scarlet Globe, an excellent round, red radish, is ready for eating about four to five weeks after planting.

"White Icicle, with its long, white, brittle roots and mild, inviting flavor will be ready about one week after Scarlet Globe.

"The cultural requirements for mustard and radishes are the same.

"Select a rich plot of soil high in organic matter and prepare it well. The amount of fertilizer required will depend on the land. Well-rotted barnyard manure is very good. You can use a ton per acre, or more. You can profitably apply 4-12-4 fertilizer at the rate of 300 to 600 pounds per acre, depending on the soil. This fertilizer will not be wasted. A spring crop following your radishes or mustard will take advantage of any of the fertilizer that has not been used.

"The four to five foot rows that are commonly used by growers are recommended for radishes and mustard. About two weeks after preparing the soil, sow your seed broadcast on the moisture firmed rows. If necessary, thin the radishes and mustard to prevent crowding.

"Control asphids, worms, vegetable weevils and beetles with Rotenone dust."

DRAFT BOARD TOTALS 1,622 IN FRANKLIN

WINNSBORO, Sept. 25.—(Special)—One thousand, six hundred and twenty-two men, in the 18 to 26 draft-age group have registered with the Franklin parish selective service board, according to Walter A. Chachere, chairman of the board.

The local draft board office, located in the American Legion hall at Winnsboro will be open from 8 a.m. until 12 noon Monday through Saturday. Youths reaching the age of 18 must register with the board on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter.

Classification questionnaires are now being mailed out to the men first to register, the 25 and 24-year-olds, who will be the first to be drafted into the armed forces, starting in November. Registrants are being given ten days in which to fill out and return these questionnaires which the local board will then study carefully to determine each registrant's availability for induction.

OPTIMIST CLUB BACKING SHOW

Expect Horse Exhibition To Outclass Any Previous Showing Here

The Optimist Club of Greater Monroe announces that plans are now practically complete for the opening of the Twin Cities third annual Horse Show to be held on October 19 and 20 at Gentry's rodeo arena in West Monroe. Hundreds of entry blanks were mailed to exhibitors in Louisiana, Texas, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Arkansas and to date their response has been very gratifying. Entries are being received in each mail and assures the sponsors and the public that this will be the greatest Horse Show to be held in Monroe thus far. Champions, winners of many blue ribbons will compete in the various classes and the judges are expected to have a difficult time in awarding the many cash awards and ribbons.

The chief executives and other officials of Louisiana and nearby states have been extended personal invitations to attend, and to date there have been no refusals which is hoped to mean that there will be at the show the largest number of public officials ever to attend a local event.

An exciting program has been planned for both nights. Music will be furnished by Neville and Ouachita Parish High School bands. Clowns, without which no show is a success, will be on hand to delight the youngsters as well as adults with their antics.

To add to the many exciting acts and thrills, there will be awarded to some lucky persons, two thoroughbred colts, both subject to registration. Necessary papers will be furnished the winners. The colts are donated by the Southern Sewing Machine Exchange and I. B. Haynes, well known breeder of Tennessee walking horses.

Plans for special buses are being made and as soon as completed, their schedules will be published.

Those desiring reserved and box seat are urged to order their tickets as soon as the advance sale begins to be sure of obtaining the location they desire. The date of the advance sale will be published at an early date.

Anyone desirous of entering a horse, either thoroughbred or pleasure, and who has not received an official entry blank, please write to Raleigh Poulos, Box 167, Monroe, and blanks will be sent by return mail.

Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Inspiration, says Ferde Grofe, is like a little bird:

"If you don't grab him when you can, he flies right out the window."

So Grofe, a master of modern American musical composition, does not allow the little bird to take wing.

He carries a musical scratch pad with him wherever he goes and scribbles down tune phrases as they come to him—at home, on trains, in taxicabs. In this way he carries out the function he best likes—to be a tonal reporter of his own land.

And the short, roly-poly composer is busy as ever, adding steadily to the total of nearly 200 finished compositions.

Grofe is a kind of musical jack-of-all-trades who became a top hand, one of the first composers to marry modern jazz rhythms with traditional symphonic forms.

But he has done about as well with other people's work as with his own. His arrangement of "Whispering," when he was beating the piano for Paul Whiteman, helped sell 1,500,000 records. His arrangement of "Rhapsody In Blue" brought fame to himself as well as the late George Gershwin.

Grofe is about the least genius-looking genius in the genius market.

"I work best when I am under pressure and when I am inspired," he laughed. "But I inspire easily."

He is still full of gusto and tunes. One class of listeners likes him for his popular songs, such as "Wonderful One." To others he is best known for his semi-long-hair creations like the "Grand Canyon Suite," "Mississippi Suite" and "Symphony In Steel."

It took him three years to compose the "Grand Canyon Suite," one movement of which came to him as he sat under a tree on the Hackensack, N. J., golf course. It takes a symphony orchestra 34 minutes to play it.

On the other hand he turned out "Serenade To Ruth," a six-minute piece, in 23 hours flat. He stood on his feet all night, jotting down notes on a piano top, to finish it.

He is prolific to an extent he doesn't seem quite to realize himself. He has written so many tunes he has forgotten how some of them go, and has to be reminded of their names.

Before he began composing what his cello-playing grandfather disdainfully dismissed as "shoo-fly music," Grofe ran away from home at the age of 14. He ushered in a theater, drove a truck and worked in a book bindery and an iron foundry until he returned to the family profession in 1909 as a violinist with the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra.

These experiences Grofe remembered later when he began the task of "describing America in music."

Today his chief interest is composing band music, a field he feels has been neglected.

"There are more than 125,000 school bands in America. They want new music."

And Ferde can compose it. Like William Shakespeare or Mr. Samuel Johnson he is a business man as well as an artist.

"It's a gold mine," he said, his gray-blue eyes twinkling in a plump buddha face.

In composing his well known "March For Americans," Grofe said he put down a hundred fragmentary tunes before he felt he had what he wanted.

"Took me a whole week," he complained mildly.

Steel Set-Asides

WASHINGTON—Government-sponsored steel set-asides for designated "essential industries" have a lot of other industries—including autos—worried about being left out in the cold.

Steel was short even before the set-aside programs got under way recently, and the programs are now taking 10 per cent of production.

Some of the outsiders are attempting to have set-asides set up for them too. Ice-box makers will talk to the commerce department about it this coming week.

And the short, roly-poly composer is busy as ever, adding steadily to the total of nearly 200 finished compositions.

Grofe is a kind of musical jack-of-all-trades who became a top hand, one of the first composers to marry modern jazz rhythms with traditional symphonic forms.

But he has done about as well with other people's work as with his own. His arrangement of "Whispering," when he was beating the piano for Paul Whiteman, helped sell 1,500,000 records. His arrangement of "Rhapsody In Blue" brought fame to himself as well as the late George Gershwin.

Grofe is about the least genius-looking genius in the genius market.

"I work best when I am under pressure and when I am inspired," he laughed. "But I inspire easily."

He is still full of gusto and tunes. One class of listeners likes him for his popular songs, such as "Wonderful One." To others he is best known for his semi-long-hair creations like the "Grand Canyon Suite," "Mississippi Suite" and "Symphony In Steel."

It took him three years to compose the "Grand Canyon Suite," one movement of which came to him as he sat under a tree on the Hackensack, N. J., golf course. It takes a symphony orchestra 34 minutes to play it.

On the other hand he turned out "Serenade To Ruth," a six-minute piece, in 23 hours flat. He stood on his feet all night, jotting down notes on a piano top, to finish it.

He is prolific to an extent he doesn't seem quite to realize himself. He has written so many tunes he has forgotten how some of them go, and has to be reminded of their names.

Before he began composing what his cello-playing grandfather disdainfully dismissed as "shoo-fly music," Grofe ran away from home at the age of 14. He ushered in a theater, drove a truck and worked in a book bindery and an iron foundry until he returned to the family profession in 1909 as a violinist with the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra.

These experiences Grofe remembered later when he began the task of "describing America in music."

Today his chief interest is composing band music, a field he feels has been neglected.

"There are more than 125,000 school bands in America. They want new music."

And Ferde can compose it. Like William Shakespeare or Mr. Samuel Johnson he is a business man as well as an artist.

"It's a gold mine," he said, his gray-blue eyes twinkling in a plump buddha face.

In composing his well known "March For Americans," Grofe said he put down a hundred fragmentary tunes before he felt he had what he wanted.

"Took me a whole week," he complained mildly.

Steel Set-Asides

WASHINGTON—Government-sponsored steel set-asides for designated "essential industries" have a lot of other industries—including autos—worried about being left out in the cold.

Steel was short even before the set-aside programs got under way recently, and the programs are now taking 10 per cent of production.

Some of the outsiders are attempting to have set-asides set up for them too. Ice-box makers will talk to the commerce department about it this coming week.

Need For Forceful U. N. Action

Since its positive decision on partition nearly a year ago, the U. N. general assembly has dealt with the Palestine problem in a state of political and moral paralysis. Perhaps the tragic circumstances under which the assembly received Count Folke Bernadotte's last report will now help to cure that affliction and promote action.

Almost all the steps that Count Bernadotte recommended could have been foreseen from the time that partition was voted and the Arab governments answered with defiance and threat of war. "Peace must be restored in Palestine by any means possible," the Bernadotte report stated. That was as true last December as it is today.

It was also quickly and abundantly clear that "a Jewish state called Israel exists in Palestine and there are no sound reasons for assuming it will not continue to do so." Likewise it was evident that so long as voluntary Arab-Jewish agreement seemed impossible, the U. N. would have to implement its decisions, even to the extent of using force.

This is not second-guessing. Many of the participants in the Palestine decision and countless spectators saw what was necessary and expressed themselves. But no forceful action followed.

So Count Bernadotte was sent into Palestine to arrange a truce and seek some common ground for an eventual settlement. He was sent in without even a corporal's guard from U. N. member governments to protect him. He did a good, if not perfect job. And he did it under threat of the death that finally came to him.

That death could have been avoided if the new Israeli government as well as the general assembly had done what the situation clearly demanded. The Israelis finally did for punishment what they should have done for precaution: they rounded up the terrorists in their midst who have opposed Israel's policies and seriously damaged Israel's position and prestige.

But the policies of the British government, and to a lesser extent of our own, cannot be held blameless in the chain of events that led to Count Bernadotte's assassination. By reneging on its pro-partition vote the American delegation lent moral strength to the Arab nations. Britain, at the same time, lent armed strength in a devious and cynical disregard of the general assembly's majority decision.

The insane action of the Stern gang—assuming that the killers belonged to this anarchistic group—is indefensible. Yet if Britain and the United States had not contributed to the hesitancy of the U. N. since the partition vote, the muddled brains of the terrorists might not have been provoked into ordering the death of the man who, to them, represented that hesitant policy.

Now the assembly must atone for its mediator's death with wisdom, unity and adequate strength. It is tragic that he had to give his life to underline a necessity for action that already was clear. It would be doubly tragic if that sacrifice is repaid by more half measures.

GROUP UNDERSTANDING

Homely philosophy of a sort easily understandable by the layman marked the closing session of the centenary meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Its dispenser, a distinguished biochemist, Prof. Roger J. Williams of the University of Texas, told his fellow scientists that the chief menace to civilization is not the atom bomb, or any other new weapon of destruction, but man, the human atom.

When things go wrong, it is man, not his inventions, that are to blame, Dr. Williams maintained. His remedy for that was for scientists to begin to explore "the human frontier" in a combined endeavor to "understand people."

A major trouble with human beings as they develop, in this scientist's opinion, has for its core the utterly fallacious presumption that there is such a thing as the average man and the attempt to make him conform to a definite mold. No two are exactly alike from standpoints of anatomy, physiology, psychology and social reactions.

Since this is true, runs the thesis, science should study these differences, teachers should be made aware of them and have latitude in allowing for them, and ultimately there should come group awareness of the differences in the individuals that are its component parts.

That does not mean, of course, that every phase of everybody's background and tendencies has to be blazoned to the world. But the sort of understanding that Dr. Williams pleads for should make for such adjustment that the individual can find a place in economic and social life that is reasonably satisfying to himself and does not injure his associates.

Is it too much to hope that a concerted attack by science on this "human frontier" can accomplish that much over the years? This is no super-Freudian idea of Professor Williams. Rather it seems the application of common sense in a workaday world. If it is operable in the relationships of individuals in groups, its application to the field of international affairs does not transcend possibility.

SMART COMMIE

Ben Gold, head of the New York Fur and Leather Union, is a refreshing change from the dozens of suspected Communists who have hidden behind the constitution when congressional committees have questioned their political affiliations. Mr. Gold came right out and said he'd been a Commie for 25 years.

Mr. Gold used the constitution smartly. Since it still isn't a crime to be a Communist, he won't be cited for contempt of congress. He has probably incriminated himself less than as if he had clammed up like the others. We don't admire Mr. Gold or his politics. But we don't think he's so dumb.

Reading the copy dished out by certain press agents, I often wonder if I actually live in Hollywood. If so, I must be blind. In today's mail, for instance, is a piece about James Mason being mobbed by a crowd of over-eager autograph hunters when he entered a boulevard cafe for lunch. I eat lunch in Hollywood cafes, too—but it's been years since I've seen any movie star "mobbed" by autograph hunters. In fact, since the war, it's been an uncommon sight to see a star get more than one or two autograph requests in the course of a cafe visit. No, the more I think about that bit of publicity, the more I'm convinced that his press agent is exaggerating. I'd like to make a small wager that Mason, any day this week, can stroll the entire length of Hollywood boulevard and never have a single occasion to sign a fan's album. I doubt that one fan in ten would so much as recognize him.

One of my column-writing confreres, having seen Adolph Spreckels, Jr., and his wife, Kay Williams, "holding hands" in a Beverly Hills cafe, concludes that their estrangement must be ended, and that they are again enjoying romantic bliss. It seems to me that the columnist, in this case, is jumping to an unwarranted conclusion. In view of the assault and battery charges that they've hurled at one another in the past, it could be that Mr. and Mrs. Spreckles are just playing safe when they hold hands.

If one aspect of the Robert Mitchum sensation has shocked me more than another, it is the great campaign being waged by several Hollywood writers to represent marijuana as a "comparitively harmless, non-habit-forming drug." I challenge those Hollywood apologists to talk with qualified medical men and with police ofifcers who have had extensive experience with marijuana smokers. They'll find that while "reefers," admittedly aren't as habit-forming as cocaine, heroin or opium, they bring out vicious tendencies in the average user and are responsible for a considerable percentage of today's crime. The columnist who goes out of his or her way to gloss over the smoking of marijuana is assuming a rick that I would hate to incur. It appears to me that they're being much more loyal to Bob Mitchum than they are to the public interest.

DISHONEST DOLLARS.

Dollars are the creatures of men—honest dollars of honest men; dishonest dollars of dishonest men.

Whether we realize it or not, we are operating with dishonest dollars in this country at the present time. When our government went off the gold standard in 1933, it violated sanctity of contract and repudiated its pledged word to the people. The gold content of the dollar was reduced to 59.06 percent of its former amount. The people were robbed of 40.94 percent of the value of their money.

In going off the gold standard, our government took the step that is always first taken by a dictatorship or by a totalitarian government when it comes into power—it was seizing control of the currency, it was establishing a managed currency—and this trend toward centralization of government will continue so long as this condition exists, regardless of which political party is in power.

An honest dollar is a dollar because it has a dollar's worth of tangible value back of it, fixed by law and for which it may be exchanged at any time. This was true of our dollar prior to the time dishonest men began tampering with our currency. The owner of a dollar could at any time demand the amount of gold or silver which the law said represented the value of the dollar.

The dollar we now have is a dollar only because the government says it is a dollar. The owner of the dollar can now demand nothing in exchange for it—except another dollar. Since 1933—just as is the case in Russia, by the way—a citizen of this country has not been permitted to own gold. The people have accordingly lost control over their supply of money.

And yet it was the people's money, not the government's money, that was thus manipulated; the government does not have any money that is not first provided by the people. The fact that the people did not revolt when this robbery was perpetrated upon them was undoubtedly due to the fact that the people in general did not understand what was happening to them. Otherwise, the government at the time—in this nation where the government only exists "with the consent of the governed"—would have been replaced with a government that would honor its pledged word.

Yet this business of printing pieces of paper that cannot be exchanged at the treasury for anything other than other pieces of paper—and calling them dollars—is exciting and exhilarating business. When it is once started, it is like taking dope—it is insidious, it is seductive, it gives a false sense of prosperity. The disease of "easy money" cannot be cured without something of a jolt, and those who "count politically" will not accept the responsibility of administering the jolt.

So our inflation continues by common consent, and the piece of paper we call a dollar continues to buy less and less in the marketplace. It is this same road that has led to disaster all that have traveled it before. It will lead us to disaster if we do not before long renew our allegiance to the fundamental principles which made this nation the most prosperous and the most powerful on the face of the earth, if we do not replace dishonest dollars with honest dollars.

The mainstay of our society—the great middle class—who have always been the people who save for retirement, for the rainy day, for family security, have been rewarded for their thrift during these past fifteen years with steadily depreciating dollars. The $100 which this citizen now receives for the government bond he was urged to buy ten years ago will buy less than the $75 he paid for it at the time—and this was the inevitable result under the measures adopted by the government that did the urging. How many bonds would have been bought if the people had realized this at the time?

This is a dangerous life we are living—dangerous to the future welfare and stability, even to the very existence, of this nation—and if we don't wake up and reform our ways before long, not even the "Keeley cure" will help us!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Sixty-six books in one—39 in the Old Testament and 27 in the New—that is the collection of books that we call "The Bible."

In many editions and translations it is familiar to most of us in the so-called "Authorized Version," dating from 1611, and "authorized by King James I of England, who commissioned the translation. Discovery of early manuscripts, that were not known in 1611, have led to minor changes in revised versions and clarification of certain passages. But the main teaching concerning God, and the way of life and salvation, has not been affected by any of these changes.

A few simple facts ought to be borne in mind by anyone who would read the Bible intelligently, both for enjoyment and for spiritual guidance and profit. The failure to observe such simple facts has led to a great deal of futile controversy, and often to a missing of the Bible's deepest message.

First of all is the fact that the Bible is an eastern book and is marked by imagery and figurative language. The greatest and deepest truths may be expressed in parables, or figuratively. To read the Bible with crude, western literalism is often to miss its inner and essential truth.

The great volumes of controversy over the early chapters of Genesis would never have been written if it had been borne in mind that many portions of the Bible express truth in eastern forms of poetry and imagery.

The Bible, too, is a translated book. That does not mean that we, who can read only English, cannot know its truth. But it does mean that it is wise and profitable to compare different translations, and that it is unwise to base controversies and speculations upon the English words in individual passages. These ought to be read, and understood, in the light of the whole context.

The Bible itself tells us that it is a progressive revelation. We cannot know its highest truth by taking proof texts at random, from any part, as of equal value in revealing God's truth and God's will. Jesus said there was a higher truth and way of love. An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth were better than blind vengeance that took a life for an eye or a tooth. But mercy and forgiveness were better still.

Each book and each part must be read in the light of its time and experience, and in the light of the full revelation in Jesus. As the author of the Book of Hebrews says: "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son." The purpose of the Bible is to make God known, and Jesus said, "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father also."

NEWSPRINT STARVATION

The British, while short of newsprint, are long on idle facilities to manufacture newsprint. These facilities are not being used because the British do not choose to expend their dollars to import wood pulp. That is their choice and has nothing to do with us, except as they use American dollars, obtained through E. R. P. (now called E. C. A.) which means that the American taxpayer provides the British with the wherewithal to purchase newsprint in competition with American newspapers which do not receive money from their own government as a gift but have to earn it.

Arthur Sulzberger, publisher of "The New York Times," had this to say on the subject:

"In my judgment, a loss of freedom in Britain would all too quickly be reflected here by comparable curtailment of liberty. We will stand or fall together, and of course it's 'stand' that we intend to do.

"To assist in that purpose, if the British government will allocate the dollars and the supply of newsprint remains short, we on 'The New York Times' are prepared to give up a percentage of our raw material for British use if other American publishers will do the same."

Cranston Williams of the American Newspaper Publishers Association replied to Mr. Sulzberger's proposal as follows:

"Whenever the British government wants to authorize use of dollars required by Canada and Newfoundland it is my understanding that newsprint for Britain is available upon receipt of that hard money to care for contracts already existing.

"Further, when the British government sees fit to authorize use of hard money there is pulpwood in Newfoundland available for manufacturing newsprint in Britain."

Mrs. Sulzberger was undoubtedly responsive to some of the British criticism of the huge daily and Sunday editions of "The New York Times" while they suffer from newsprint starvation. The fact is that the British press does not need to suffer this starvation of their Socialist government will permit them to buy what they wish. The reason that Mr. Sulzberger's proposal was not accepted enthusiastically in London is obvious: Great Britain were reluctant to establish an army there that would include Russian soldiers. But, whatever may have been the motives for doing nothing, the bald fact is that nothing has been done by the U. N. in respect to dealing with the persistent disorders that have continued in Palestine."

Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch (Ind.-Dem.): "The Stern gang is commonly believed to be Communist-led and Communist-inspired, and to be acting as an agency of Soviet Russia in Palestine, where it has been stirring up all possible trouble and discord. The murder of Bernadotte would fit perfectly into such a pattern . . It is a blow to an already troubled world that he has been shot down by cowardly assassins, apparently doing the dirty work of Soviet Russia."

St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times (Ind.): "It does not matter greatly whether Count Bernadotte was slain by irresponsible and hot-headed Israeli, by members of the outlawed Sternists disguised as soldiers of the Jewish army, or by Arabs likewise so disguised. What does matter is that United Nations now must either prove itself an effective force for peace in the world or be relegated to the same anonymous dust of history where lies the unmourned body of the League of Nations."

Philadelphia (Pa.) Inquirer (Ind.-Rep.): "The assassination . . . has tragically highlighted the faults and weaknesses of the United Nations . . . the insidious play of power politics from which so many failures and crises have stemmed. In spite of its apparent disabilities the United Nations constitutes an accumulation of power and authority, if properly disposed and exerted, for which there is no parallel in history. . . . The Bernadotte murder has sharpened the agitation for creation of a United Nations armed force . . ."

Cleveland (Ohio) Plain Dealer (Ind.-Dem.): "The understandable consternation among U. N. officials and delegates . . . will mean nothing unless Bernadotte's death spurs them to take effective action to preserve the peace in the near east. This is possible only if more consideration than heretofore is given to human interests involved and less to the interests of oil and strategy—which would be taken care of anyway were equity employed in the settlement."

Newark (N. J.) Star-Ledger (Ind.): "What next in Palestine? . . . The truce achieved by Bernadotte has been hanging by a thread. It is entirely possible that the assassination may prove to be the signal for a new flare-up of the war in Palestine. But it is also possible that it may serve to shock both sides into a desire for reasonableness."

What Others Say
Editors' Roundtable

BERNADOTTE, PALESTINE AND UN

Majority editorial opinion is undecided whether the assassination of UN Palestine Mediator Count Bernadotte will improve, worsen or not materially affect chances for peace in Palestine. A large minority, however, considers it more probable that the shock of the mad murder and blow at UN authority will result in more effective UN action in Palestine and better response of Jews and Arabs to such action.—Rather general is the belief that investigation will prove the Stern gang of outlawed Jewish terrorists responsible for the assassination; some editors fear possible Russian intrigue.

Lincoln (Neb.) Star (Ind.): "Count Bernadotte was in Palestine for the United Nations to avert the strife between Jew and Arab. His shooting then is a direct challenge to it and any premature attempt to assess the inevitable repercussions would be not only dangerous speculation but valueless. We are living in the age of little discipline where discipline is so vital; an age where provocation of any incident could provoke a world-shattering explosion."

Wilmington (Del.) Journal-Every Evening (Ind.): "Sometime a man of manifest integrity, unselfishness, ability and charm—among other qualities—can accomplish what formal diplomacy cannot. The truces Bernadotte secured may not have been peace, but they were offering hope of peace. Perhaps a real peace in Palestine can still grow out of a new stability and agreement among the five powers in the UN security council. Russia, after all, did approve the appointment of Bernadotte along with the other nations."

Savannah (Ga.) Morning News (Ind.): "The difficulty confronting the United Nations—to be exact, the problem the security council faces—is that in Palestine, within the framework of the U. N., but nothing ever came of it. For one thing, the United States and

Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

Quite some columns back, I cited the case of a gangster who raised pigeons as a hobby, and who, when forced to get rid of his flock, strangled 400 birds because he was afraid another owner might mistreat them.

Billy Rose

My favorite story of punks and their pets, however, concerns a prominent Man of Extinction who shall hereafter be referred to as Mr. G., inasmuch as he is alive and allergic to publicity.

Back in the days when gin plus caramel coloring equaled Scotch, Mr. G. was one of our high priests of homicide, and the way I heard it, he had attained this eminence by the simple expedient of marrying the boss's daughter and then machine-gunning the boss.

Mr. G., like many a moneyed mobster, had pretentions to respectability, and shortly after his marriage, he bought a 10-acre estate outside Peekskill and settled down to live the good life. He planted the customary number of petunias, and on Saturday afternoons he and his lady would attend the local ball park and root politely for the home team. On the one occasion when his spouse forgot herself and hollered, "Kill the umpire!" he frowned and cautioned her to use more temperate language.

As a young bum, Mr. G. had been a pigeon fancier, but when he became a country squire, he shifted his interest to turkeys. Not ordinary turkeys, but white ones which had been hatched from pedigreed eggs and gobbled with a New England accent. And his love for the birds was no affectation—he fed them himself, clipped their toenails, and never retired to his Chippendale bed without first inspecting the coops to make sure his pets were warm and comfy.

Naturally enough, the birds returned his affection, and at the sound of his footfall, a great gobbledegook would go up, and the air would be filled with fluttering white shapes hurrying to meet their benefactor. This, of course, warmed the cockles of Mr. G.'s peanut-sized heart.

Everything went along fine until Thanksgiving. Then, on the night before the festive board was scheduled to groan, Mrs. G. handed her husband a shiny ax and said, "Pick out a plump one and we'll have it for dinner tomorrow."

"Ya mean kill one a my own boids?" asked the murder mogul.

"A turkey is a turkey," said Mrs. G. rationally.

"How could I do setcha t'ing?" said the gang chief.

"With this ax," said his wife.

"I godda bedda idea," said the man who had made several undertakers rich. "I'll use chloroform—id'll be more humane. Get da cook an' meet me at da coops."

It was all over in a few minutes. As the trio entered the enclosure, one of Mr. G.'s prize turkeys ran toward him. The cook, a heavyset Hannah with no feeling for fowl, grabbed it and held on while Mr. G. wrapped a chloroform-soaked handkerchief around the bird's beak. There was a feeble fluttering of feathers, a last throaty gobble, and the betrayed bird went limp. The cook quickly plucked it and put it in the meat and poultry compartment of the four-door Frigidaire.

Spine-chilling shrieks, as they say in the thrillers, awoke Mr. G. the next morning. Rushing downstairs, he found his wife in the kitchen trying to revive the cook. This poor lady, it appeared, had received the shock of her life. All set to dress the bird, she had approached the Frigidaire. But no sooner had she opened the door when the nude turkey made a stately and dignified entrance into the room. The chloroform had worn off, and the cold had apparently revived the gobbler. Finding the back door open, the turkey had tottered out into the yard.

Following his wife's finger, Mr. G. went outside. Hearing his step, the abused bird came running toward him, flapping its pitiful stumps of wings. Mr. G. took a frightened step back. In his long career of wholesale violence, this was the nearest thing to a ghost he had ever encountered.

Then great tears welled in Mr. G.'s eyes. In no time at all, the turkey was ensconced in an invalid's bed, and a hastily summoned veterinary was feeling its pulse and heartbeat.

But the strain had been too much. As the family and hired help made a morners' circle around the bedside, the unfrocked fowl gave up the ghost—this time for good. Mr. G. sadly drew a sheet over the body.

His wife, however, was more practical. "We'll have it for dinner," she said.

"I wouldn't advise eating this bird," said the vet. "It died of double pneumonia. . . ."

Only one incident remains to be told in this tragic tale. In our society, we kill thousands of animals in the stockyards daily, but let a college boy swallow one live goldfish and the S. P. C. A. is in a tizzy. Reason: The goldfish is a pet. Well, it seems that the tender treatment accorded the turkey had raised it to the pet status, and when the vet reported the strange events leading to its demise, a great hue and cry was raised among the fiercer members of the local S. P. C. A. One of them swore out a warrant for Mr. G.'s arrest, and for the first time in a long and dishonorable career, the gangster's name appeared on a police blotter.

"I oney got what wuz comin' ta me," he told his wife after he had paid his $10 fine. "A guy who kills hiz own toikey ain't fitta associate wit' decent people."

PUBLIC DOESN'T LIKE BLASTING AT PROGRAMS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Always ready with an opinion, the radio-listening public is happy to let the federal communications commission know what it thinks about give-away programs.

The FCC, which is trying to throttle some of the get-rich-quick stunts, gets large bundles of these opinions in every mail. Samples:

A woman—"Curb this present madness!"

A postcard protestor—"If congress can give Europe 5 billion dollars, why can't a fellow-American give another fellow-American a few thousands if he has the right answer."

One irate taxpayer advised President Truman he could cut the cost of living "by stopping the giving away over the radio of washing machines, refrigerators, automobiles, etc."

And a woman wrote that she and her husband listen to all the quiz shows, but never try to participate. In these days of inflation, they are content, she said, with the thrill of hearing somebody, somewhere, win a house paint job or a trip to Bermuda for free.

About 1,200 gross of pencils can be made from the average tree.

Need For Forceful U. N. Action

Since its positive decision on partition nearly a year ago, the U. N. general assembly has dealt with the Palestine problem in a state of political and moral paralysis. Perhaps the tragic circumstances under which the assembly received Count Folke Bernadotte's last report will now help to cure that affliction and promote action.

Almost all the steps that Count Bernadotte recommended could have been foreseen from the time that partition was voted and the Arab governments answered with defiance and threat of war. "Peace must be restored in Palestine by any means possible," the Bernadotte report stated. That was as true last December as it is today.

It was also quickly and abundantly clear that "a Jewish state called Israel exists in Palestine and there are no sound reasons for assuming it will not continue to do so." Likewise it was evident that so long as voluntary Arab-Jewish agreement seemed impossible, the U. N. would have to implement its decisions, even to the extent of using force.

This is not second-guessing. Many of the participants in the Palestine decision and countless spectators saw what was necessary and expressed themselves. But no forceful action followed.

So Count Bernadotte was sent into Palestine to arrange a truce and seek some common ground for an eventual settlement. He was sent in without even a corporal's guard from U. N. member governments to protect him. He did a good, if not perfect job. And he did it under threat of the death that finally came to him.

That death could have been avoided if the new Israeli government as well as the general assembly had done what the situation clearly demanded. The Israelis finally did for punishment what they should have done for precaution: they rounded up the terrorists in their midst who have opposed Israel's policies and seriously damaged Israel's position and prestige.

But the policies of the British government, and to a lesser extent of our own, cannot be held blameless in the chain of events that led to Count Bernadotte's assassination. By reneging on its pro-partition vote the American delegation lent moral strength to the Arab nations. Britain, at the same time, lent armed strength in a devious and cynical disregard of the general assembly's majority decision.

The insane action of the Stern gang—assuming that the killers belonged to this anarchistic group—is indefensible. Yet if Britain and the United States had not contributed to the hesitancy of the U. N. since the partition vote, the muddled brains of the terrorists might not have been provoked into ordering the death of the man who, to them, represented that hesitant policy.

Now the assembly must atone for its mediator's death with wisdom, unity and adequate strength. It is tragic that he had to give his life to underline a necessity for action that already was clear. It would be doubly tragic if that sacrifice is repaid by more half measures.

GROUP UNDERSTANDING

Homely philosophy of a sort easily understandable by the layman marked the closing session of the centenary meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Its dispenser, a distinguished biochemist, Prof. Roger J. Williams of the University of Texas, told his fellow scientists that the chief menace to civilization is not the atom bomb, or any other new weapon of destruction, but man, the human atom.

When things go wrong, it is man, not his inventions, that are to blame, Dr. Williams maintained. His remedy for that was for scientists to begin to explore "the human frontier" in a combined endeavor to "understand people."

A major trouble with human beings as they develop, in this scientist's opinion, has for its core the utterly fallacious presumption that there is such a thing as the average man and the attempt to make him conform to a definite mold. No two are exactly alike from standpoints of anatomy, physiology, psychology and social reactions.

Since this is true, runs the thesis, science should study these differences, teachers should be made aware of them and have latitude in allowing for them, and ultimately there should come group awareness of the differences in the individuals that are its component parts.

That does not mean, of course, that every phase of everybody's background and tendencies has to be blazoned to the world. But the sort of understanding that Dr. Williams pleads for should make for such adjustment that the individual can find a place in economic and social life that is reasonably satisfying to himself and does not injure his associates.

Is it too much to hope that a concerted attack by science on this "human frontier" can accomplish that much over the years? This is no super-Freudian idea of Professor Williams. Rather it seems the application of common sense in a workaday world. If it is operable in the relationships of individuals in groups, its application to the field of international affairs does not transcend possibility.

SMART COMMIE

Ben Gold, head of the New York Fur and Leather Union, is a refreshing change from the dozens of suspected Communists who have hidden behind the constitution when congressional committees have questioned their political affiliations. Mr. Gold came right out and said he'd been a Commie for 25 years.

Mr. Gold used the constitution smartly. Since it still isn't a crime to be a Communist, he won't be cited for contempt of congress. He has probably incriminated himself less than as if he had clammed up like the others. We don't admire Mr. Gold or his politics. But we don't think he's so dumb.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25.—Wallace Beery is burning because of another delay in the court airing of the paternity case filed against him. He says he's sure of complete vindication and he wants to get the whole thing over with, pronto. . . . I hear that Van Heflin will play the top role in M.-G.-M.'s "Lost Boundaries," the story of a Negro lawyer who "crossed the color line." . . . Romantic: Barbara Lawrence and Barry Kroeger. . . . Despite his release from the hospital, the condition of Warner William is still critical. He's suffering now from a hard-to-cure blood disorder.

Tyrone Power's pals are offering odds that he will never altar-trek with Linda Christian. . . . Don't those gossips who have rumored serious new romances for Jerry Lewis, the night club star, know he's married and the father of three springoffs? . . . Screen Comic Alan Carney and his wife, who reconciled after a spat some months ago, have separated again and are talking divorce. . . . Ha! Mickey Rooney, who's just been granted a pilot's license, is up against a mandate from his studio bosses; they've stipulated that he can fly nothing but twin-motored planes, and if he complies with their orders, he'll have to pay about $65,000 for a ship.

Richard (Frank's cousin) Sinatra will make his screen debut in "Knock On Any Door." . . . Reconciled: The John Irelands. . . . Bonita Granville is mourning the loss, somewhere between Texas and Hollywood, of a $1,250 charm bracelet given her by Hubby Jack Wrather. . . . Altar-bound: Actress Jacqueline White and Bruce Anderson, L. A. oil man.

Preview nights: Pic of the week: United Artists' "An Innocent Affair" (Fred MacMurray-Madeleine Carroll-Charles "Buddy" Rogers). Excellent exercise for the laugh muscles and a picture destined to give theater turnstiles a vigorous workout. . . . Recommended: Republic's "Moonrise" (Dane Clark-Gail Russell-Ethel Barrymore). Sensitive, thought-provoking drama that will be welcomed by adult audiences. . . . 20th Century-Fox's "Jungle Patrol" (Kristine Miller-Arthur Franz-Richard Jaeckel). An air war drama, inexpensively produced, that offers Tiffany entertainment values. . . . Fair: United Artists' "The Girl From Manhattan" (Dorothy Lamour-George Montgomery-Charles Laughton). A strong cast in a weak plot. . . . Warner Brothers' "Smart Girls Don't Talk" (Virginia Mayo-Bruce Bennett--Robert Hutton). Class "B" melodama—and strictly class conscious. . . . Best performance: Dane Clark in "Moonrise."

Reading the copy dished out by certain press agents, I often wonder if I actually live in Hollywood. If so, I must be blind. In today's mail, for instance, is a piece about James Mason being mobbed by a crowd of over-eager autograph hunters when he entered a boulevard cafe for lunch. I eat lunch in Hollywood cafes, too—but it's been years since I've seen any movie star "mobbed" by autograph hunters. In fact, since the war, it's been an uncommon sight to see a star get more than one or two autograph requests in the course of a cafe visit. No, the more I think about that bit of publicity, the more I'm convinced that his press agent is exaggerating. I'd like to make a small wager that Mason, any day this week, can stroll the entire length of Hollywood boulevard and never have a single occasion to sign a fan's album. I doubt that one fan in ten would so much as recognize him.

One of my column-writing confreres, having seen Adolph Spreckels, Jr., and his wife, Kay Williams, "holding hands" in a Beverly Hills cafe, concludes that their estrangement must be ended, and that they are again enjoying romantic bliss. It seems to me that the columnist, in this case, is jumping to an unwarranted conclusion. In view of the assault and battery charges that they've hurled at one another in the past, it could be that Mr. and Mrs. Spreckles are just playing safe when they hold hands.

If one aspect of the Robert Mitchum sensation has shocked me more than another, it is the great campaign being waged by several Hollywood writers to represent marijuana as a "comparitively harmless, non-habit-forming drug." I challenge those Hollywood apologists to talk with qualified medical men and with police ofifcers who have had extensive experience with marijuana smokers. They'll find that while "reefers," admittedly aren't as habit-forming as cocaine, heroin or opium, they bring out vicious tendencies in the average user and are responsible for a considerable percentage of today's crime. The columnist who goes out of his or her way to gloss over the smoking of marijuana is assuming a risk that I would hate to incur. It appears to me that they're being much more loyal to Bob Mitchum than they are to the public interest.

Pitching Horseshoes
By Billy Rose

Billy Rose

Quite some columns back, I cited the case of a gangster who raised pigeons as a hobby, and who, when forced to get rid of his flock, strangled 400 birds because he was afraid another owner might mistreat them.

My favorite story of punks and their pets, however, concerns a prominent Man of Extinction who shall hereafter be referred to as Mr. G., inasmuch as he is alive and allergic to publicity.

Back in the days when gin plus caramel coloring equaled Scotch, Mr. G. was one of our high priests of homicide, and the way I heard it, he had attained this eminence by the simple expedient of marrying the boss's daughter and then machine-gunning the boss.

Mr. G., like many a moneyed mobster, had pretentions to respectability, and shortly after his marriage, he bought a 10-acre estate outside Peekskill and settled down to live the good life. He planted the customary number of petunias, and on Saturday afternoons he and his lady would attend the local ball park and root politely for the home team. On the one occasion when his spouse forgot herself and hollered, "Kill the umpire!" he frowned and cautioned her to use more temperate language.

As a young bum, Mr. G. had been a pigeon fancier, but when he became a country squire, he shifted his interest to turkeys. Not ordinary turkeys, but white ones which had been hatched from pedigreed eggs and gobbled with a New England accent. And his love for the birds was no affectation—he fed them himself, clipped their toenails, and never retired to his Chippendale bed without first inspecting the coops to make sure his pets were warm and comfy.

Naturally enough, the birds returned his affection, and at the sound of his footfall, a great gobbledegook would go up, and the air would be filled with fluttering white shapes hurrying to meet their benefactor. This, of course, warmed the cockles of Mr. G.'s peanut-sized heart.

Everything went along fine until Thanksgiving. Then, on the night before the festive board was scheduled to groan, Mrs. G. handed her husband a shiny ax and said, "Pick out a plump one and we'll have it for dinner tomorrow."

"Ya mean kill one a my own boids?" asked the murder mogul.

"A turkey is a turkey," said Mrs. G. rationally.

"How could I do setcha t'ing?" said the gang chief.

"With this ax," said his wife.

"I godda bedda idea," said the man who had made several undertakers rich. "I'll use chloroform—id'll be more humane. Get da cook an' meet me at da coops."

It was all over in a few minutes. As the trio entered the enclosure, one of Mr. G.'s prize turkeys ran toward him. The cook, a heavyset Hannah with no feeling for fowl, grabbed it and held on while Mr. G. wrapped a chloroform-soaked handkerchief around the bird's beak. There was a feeble fluttering of feathers, a last throaty gobble, and the betrayed bird went limp. The cook quickly plucked it and put it in the meat and poultry compartment of the four-door Frigidaire.

Spine-chilling shrieks, as they say in the thrillers, awoke Mr. G. the next morning. Rushing downstairs, he found his wife in the kitchen trying to revive the cook. This poor lady, it appeared, had received the shock of her life. All set to dress the bird, she had approached the Frigidaire. But no sooner had she opened the door when the nude turkey made a stately and dignified entrance into the room. The chloroform had worn off, and the cold had apparently revived the gobbler. Finding the back door open, the turkey had tottered out into the yard.

Following his wife's finger, Mr. G. went outside. Hearing his step, the abused bird came running toward him, flapping its pitiful stumps of wings. Mr. G. took a frightened step back. In his long career of wholesale violence, this was the nearest thing to a ghost he had ever encountered.

Then great tears welled in Mr. G.'s eyes. In no time at all, the turkey was ensconced in an invalid's bed, and a hastily summoned veterinary was feeling its pulse and heartbeat.

But the strain had been too much. As the family and hired help made a mourners' circle around the bedside, the unfrocked fowl gave up the ghost—this time for good. Mr. G. sadly drew a sheet over the body.

His wife, however, was more practical. "We'll have it for dinner," she said.

"I wouldn't advise eating this bird," said the vet. "It died of double pneumonia. . . ."

Only one incident remains to be told in this tragic tale. In our society, we kill thousands of animals in the stockyards daily, but let a college boy swallow one live goldfish and the S. P. C. A. is in a tizzy. Reason: The goldfish is a pet. Well, it seems that the tender treatment accorded the turkey had raised it to the pet status, and when the vet reported the strange events leading to its demise, a great hue and cry was raised among the fiercer members of the local S. P. C. A. One of them swore out a warrant for Mr. G.'s arrest, and for the first time in a long and dishonorable career, the gangster's name appeared on a police blotter.

"I oney got what wuz comin' ta me," he told his wife after he had paid his $10 fine. "A guy who kills hiz own toikey ain't fitta associate wit' decent people."

DISHONEST DOLLARS.

Dollars are the creatures of men—honest dollars of honest men; dishonest dollars of dishonest men.

Whether we realize it or not, we are operating with dishonest dollars in this country at the present time. When our government went off the gold standard in 1933, it violated sanctity of contract and repudiated its pledged word to the people. The gold content of the dollar was reduced to 59.06 percent of its former amount. The people were robbed of 40.94 percent of the value of their money.

In going off the gold standard, our government took the step that is always first taken by a dictatorship or by a totalitarian government when it comes into power—it was seizing control of the currency, it was establishing a managed currency—and this trend toward centralization of government will continue so long as this condition exists, regardless of which political party is in power.

An honest dollar is a dollar because it has a dollar's worth of tangible value back of it, fixed by law and for which it may be exchanged at any time. This was true of our dollar prior to the time dishonest men began tampering with our currency. The owner of a dollar could at any time demand the amount of gold or silver which the law said represented the value of the dollar.

The dollar we now have is a dollar only because the government says it is a dollar. The owner of the dollar can now demand nothing in exchange for it—except another dollar. Since 1933—just as is the case in Russia, by the way—a citizen of this country has not been permitted to own gold. The people have accordingly lost control over their supply of money.

And yet it was the people's money, not the government's money, that was thus manipulated; the government does not have any money that is not first provided by the people. The fact that the people did not revolt when this robbery was perpetrated upon them was undoubtedly due to the fact that the people in general did not understand what was happening to them. Otherwise, the government at the time—in this nation where the government only exists "with the consent of the governed"—would have been replaced with a government that would honor its pledged word.

Yet this business of printing pieces of paper that cannot be exchanged at the treasury for anything other than other pieces of paper—and calling them dollars—is exciting and exhilarating business. When it is once started, it is like taking dope—it is insidious, it is seductive, it gives a false sense of prosperity. The disease of "easy money" cannot be cured without something of a jolt, and those who "count politically" will not accept the responsibility of administering the jolt.

So our inflation continues by common consent, and the piece of paper we call a dollar continues to buy less and less in the marketplace. It is this same road that has led to disaster all that have traveled it before. It will lead us to disaster if we do not before long renew our allegiance to the fundamental principles which made this nation the most prosperous and the most powerful on the face of the earth, if we do not replace dishonest dollars with honest dollars.

The mainstay of our society—the great middle class—who have always been the people who save for retirement, for the rainy day, for family security, have been rewarded for their thrift during these past fifteen years with steadily depreciating dollars. The $100 which this citizen now receives for the government bond he was urged to buy ten years ago will buy less than the $75 he paid for it at the time—and this was the inevitable result under the measures adopted by the government that did the urging. How many bonds would have been bought if the people had realized this at the time?

This is a dangerous life we are living—dangerous to the future welfare and stability, even to the very existence, of this nation—and if we don't wake up and reform our ways before long, not even the "Keeley cure" will help us!

These Days
By George E. Sokolsky

NEWSPRINT STARVATION

The British, while short of newsprint, are long on idle facilities to manufacture newsprint. These facilities are not being used because the British do not choose to expend their dollars to import wood pulp. That is their choice and has nothing to do with us, except as they use American dollars, obtained through E. R. P. (now called E. C. A.) which means that the American taxpayer provides the British with the wherewithal to purchase newsprint in competition with American newspapers which do not receive money from their own government as a gift but have to earn it.

Arthur Sulzberger, publisher of "The New York Times," had this to say on the subject:

"In my judgment, a loss of freedom in Britain would all too quickly be reflected here by comparable curtailment of liberty. We will stand or fall together, and of course it's 'stand' that we intend to do.

"To assist in that purpose, if the British government will allocate the dollars and the supply of newsprint remains short, we on 'The New York Times' are prepared to give up a percentage of our raw material for British use if other American publishers will do the same."

Cranston Williams of the American Newspaper Publishers Association replied to Mr. Sulzberger's proposal as follows:

"Whenever the British government wants to authorize use of dollars required by Canada and Newfoundland it is my understanding that newsprint for Britain is available upon receipt of that hard money to care for contracts already existing.

"Further, when the British government sees fit to authorize use of hard money there is pulpwood in Newfoundland available for manufacturing newsprint in Britain."

Mrs. Sulzberger was undoubtedly responsive to some of the British criticism of the huge daily and Sunday editions of "The New York Times" while they suffer from newsprint starvation. The fact is that the British press does not need to suffer thi starvation of their Socialist government will permit them to buy what they wish. The reason that Mr. Sulzberger's proposal was not accepted enthusiastically in London is obvious: the British would still have to purchase the relinquished newsprint. They are willing to take from E. R. P. or E. C. A., but they are unwilling to pay in U. S. or Canadian dollars. The American publisher does not want his taxes to compete against him in the purchase of Canadian newsprint which is already at a fabulous price.

In 1941, "The New York Times" consumed approximately 90,000 tons of newsprint. It is estimated that this year they will use about 144,000 tons, a rise of about 60 per cent. The average rise for all American newspapers is about 20 per cent. Maybe the British publishers find these figures hard to take in view of their own shortages, but our newspapers pay their own way and so ought the British newspapers. All this talk about maintaining freedom of the press by a handout of newsprint is unsound, because no handout ever won freedom for anybody. Mr. Sulzberger's proposal is charitable but it will not solve Great Britain's newsprint problem any more than the original British loan solved her problem of productivity. Socialism needs to re-learn the lesson that the prosperity of a nation depends upon its ability to produce goods and services, not upon its propagandistic ability to create an attitude favorable to granting loans.

Freedom of the press has existed only in countries where the press has been entirely self-supporting. It has not existed in countries where the government owned or subsidized the press or where its publishers were dependent upon subsidies from political parties. As a matter of fact, as long as the British press is dependent upon its own government or ours for its newsprint, it will not be free. Even British newspapers which own their own forests or mills in Canada may no' use them to provide British newspapers because of the policy of their government to restrict their operations.

Mr. Sulzberger seems to hold somewhat to this view, for he added:

". . . If there is blame, let it rest squarely on government which does not seem to recognize the full importance of information, or, as some suggest, is prone to look the other way because too frequently it dislikes the news that is published."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Sixty-six books in one—39 in the Old Testament and 27 in the New—that is the collection of books that we call "The Bible."

In many editions and translations it is familiar to most of us in the so-called "Authorized Version," dating from 1611, and "authorized by King James I of England, who commissioned the translation. Discovery of early manuscripts, that were not known in 1611, have led to minor changes in revised versions and clarification of certain passages. But the main teaching concerning God, and the way of life and salvation, has not been affected by any of these changes.

A few simple facts ought to be borne in mind by anyone who would read the Bible intelligently, both for enjoyment and for spiritual guidance and profit. The failure to observe such simple facts has led to a great deal of futile controversy, and often to a missing of the Bible's deepest message.

First of all is the fact that the Bible is an eastern book and is marked by imagery and figurative language. The greatest and deepest truths may be expressed in parables, or figuratively. To read the Bible with crude, western literalism is often to miss its inner and essential truth.

The great volumes of controversy over the early chapters of Genesis would never have been written if it had been borne in mind that many portions of the Bible express truth in eastern forms of poetry and imagery.

The Bible, too, is a translated book. That does not mean that we, who can read only English, cannot know its truth. But it does mean that it is wise and profitable to compare different translations, and that it is unwise to base controversies and speculations upon the English words in individual passages. These ought to be read, and understood, in the light of the whole context.

The Bible itself tells us that it is a progressive revelation. We cannot know its highest truth by taking proof texts at random, from any part, as of equal value in revealing God's truth and God's will. Jesus said there was a higher truth and way of love. An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth were better than blind vengeance that took a life for an eye or a tooth. But mercy and forgiveness were better still.

Each book and each part must be read in the light of its time and experience, and in the light of the full revelation in Jesus. As the author of the Book of Hebrews says: "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son." The purpose of the Bible is to make God known, and Jesus said, "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father also."

What Others Say

BERNADOTTE, PALESTINE AND UN

Majority editorial opinion is undecided whether the assassination of UN Palestine Mediator Count Bernadotte will improve, worsen or not materially affect chances for peace in Palestine. A large minority, however, considers it more probable that the shock of the mad murder and blow at UN authority will result in more effective UN action in Palestine and better response of Jews and Arabs to such action.—Rather general is the belief that investigation will prove the Stern gang of outlawed Jewish terrorists responsible for the assassination; some editors fear possible Russian intrigue.

Lincoln (Neb.) Star (Ind.): "Count Bernadotte was in Palestine for the United Nations to avert the strife between Jew and Arab. His shooting then is a direct challenge to it and any premature attempt to assess the inevitable repercussions would be not only dangerous speculation but valueless. We are living in the age of little discipline where discipline is so vital; an age where provocation of any incident could provoke a world-shattering explosion."

Wilmington (Del.) Journal-Every Evening (Ind.): "Sometime a man of manifest integrity, unselfishness, ability and charm—among other qualities—can accomplish what formal diplomacy cannot. The truces Bernadotte secured may not have been peace, but they were offering hope of peace. Perhaps a real peace in Palestine can still grow out of a new stability and agreement among the five powers in the UN security council. Russia, after all, did approve the appointment of Bernadotte along with the other nations."

Savannah (Ga.) Morning News (Ind.): "The difficulty confronting the United Nations—to be exact, the problem the security council faces—is that in Palestine, within the framework of the U. N., but nothing ever came of it. For one thing, the United States and Great Britain were reluctant to establish an army there that would include Russian soldiers. But, whatever may have been the motives for doing nothing, the bald fact is that nothing has been done by the U. N. in respect to dealing with the persistent disorders that have continued in Palestine."

Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch (Ind.-Dem.): "The Stern gang is commonly believed to be Communist-led and Communist-inspired, and to be acting as an agency of Soviet Russia in Palestine, where it has been stirring up all possible trouble and discord. The murder of Bernadotte would fit perfectly into such a pattern . . . It is a blow to an already troubled world that he has been shot down by cowardly assassins, apparently doing the dirty work of Soviet Russia."

St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times (Ind.): "It does not matter greatly whether Count Bernadotte was slain by irresponsible and hot-headed Israeli, by members of the outlawed Sternists disguised as soldiers of the Jewish army, or by Arabs likewise so disguised. What does matter is that United Nations now must either prove itself an effective force for peace in the world or be relegated to the same anonymous dust of history where lies the unmourned body of the League of Nations."

Philadelphia (Pa.) Inquirer (Ind.-Rep.): "The assassination . . . has tragically highlighted the faults and weaknesses of the United Nations . . . the insidious play of power politics from which so many failures and crises have stemmed. In spite of its apparent disabilities the United Nations constitutes an accumulation of power and authority, if properly disposed and exerted, for which there is no parallel in history. . . . The Bernadotte murder has sharpened the agitation for creation of a United Nations armed force . . ."

Cleveland (Ohio) Plain Dealer (Ind.-Dem.): "The understandable consternation among U. N. officials and delegates . . . will mean nothing unless Bernadotte's death spurs them to take effective action to preserve the peace in the near east. This is possible only if more consideration than heretofore is given to human interests involved and less to the interests of oil and strategy—which would be taken care of anyway were equity employed in the settlement."

Newark (N. J.) Star-Ledger (Ind.): "What next in Palestine? . . . The truce achieved by Bernadotte has been hanging by a thread. It is entirely possible that the assassination may prove to be the signal for a new flare-up of the war in Palestine. But it is also possible that it may serve to shock both sides into a desire for reasonableness."

PUBLIC DOESN'T LIKE BLASTING AT PROGRAMS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Always ready with an opinion, the radio-listening public is happy to let the federal communications commission know what it thinks about give-away programs.

The FCC, which is trying to throttle some of the get-rich-quick stunts, gets large bundles of these opinions in every mail. Samples:

A woman—"Curb this present madness!"

A postcard protestor—"If congress can give Europe 5 billion dollars, why can't a fellow-American give another fellow-American a few thousands if he has the right answer."

One irate taxpayer advised President Truman he could cut the cost of living "by stopping the giving away over the radio of washing machines, refrigerators, automobiles, etc."

And a woman wrote that she and her husband listen to all the quiz shows, but never try to participate. In these days of inflation, they are content, she said, with the thrill of hearing somebody, somewhere, win a house paint job or a trip to Bermuda for free.

About 1,200 gross of pencils can be made from the average tree.

HERBIE HAS BIG TIME WHILE POLICE SEARCH FOR MOTHER

Three-Months-Old Baby Stays In Hospital After Found With Two Men

OTTAWA, Kas., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Little Herbie is having the time of his life here while police are looking for his mother.

He is three months old and nurses at Ransom Memorial Hospital haven't bothered much about his last name because they are not sure what it is.

Herbie's plight came to light last Tuesday. Upon investigating a minor traffic accident, police found Herbie traveling with two elderly men. One, who gave his name as Russell R. Stark, Canton, Minn., said he was taking the child to join its mother in Bartlesville, Okla. He said he didn't know the mother's name.

Herbie was placed in the hospital by the county welfare office. The local Knights of Columbus have collected a fund for Herbie's welfare. Yesterday Mayor J. R. Cheney and Fire Chief Harry Gilliland made him a member of the fire department. They presented him with a scaled down fire helmet.

Police said Stark told them that he, the mother and the baby had started for Bartlesville by car. However, Herbie became ill at Osceola, Ia., and was placed in a hospital. They said Stark related that while there the baby's mother left by bus for Bartlesville, leaving Smith and a hitchhiker to continues by car when the child recovered.

Police quoted Stark as saying the mother was on the way to Bartlesville to visit her own mother who was ill.

So far police have been unable to locate the woman. Stark and the other passenger in the car who said his name was William Smith, were allowed to continue to Bartlesville.

VATICAN IS READY TO RENEW USSR RELATIONS

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano said today the Catholic Church, "despite everything," would gladly renew diplomatic relations with Russia.

The paper, in its front page column of comment, said the church was willing to do this "as soon as the possibility was given her (the church)," and asserted that relations that existed between the church and Russia "certainly were not broken by the holy see."

Osservatore made this declaration in denying a charge by Communist Ambrogio Donini—once Italian ambassador to Poland—that the church's orders today aim at "the destruction of communism, the destruction of the U. S. R. R."

URGES U. N. TO ADOPT HUMAN RIGHTS SECTION

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The United States hopes the U. N. assembly will adopt a "declaration of human rights," says Secretary of State Marshall.

The secretary's statement was prepared for delivery tonight on a new U. N. radio program, "Memo From Lake Success," over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Marshall said the United States is interested in developing and protecting anywhere in the world such human liberties as freedom of expression and the right to choose a government.

"The tangible evidence of that development, I hope, will be the adoption of a declaration of human rights," he said.

VERBAL FLACK USED IN AIRMEN'S MEET

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A thick verbal flack was being tossed up here today on subjects that ranged from night bombing to "what have you been doing since the war?"

Some 17,500 airmen, here for the national convention of the Air Force Association, were doing what they liked best next to flying—talking about it.

They jammed into big meeting rooms of the Hotel Commodore, a mixed fraternity of privates, generals and veterans of both world wars.

The climax of the convention—now in its second and last day—comes tonight with a "grand reunion" at Madison Square Garden.

A battery of high-ranking air force officers, other dignitaries and 45 Hollywood celebrities will be on hand for the occasion—"operation wingding." Bob Hope is master of ceremonies.

At a luncheon today honoring the air staff of the U. S. air force, some 2,000 officers and other notables are to hear addresses from Secretary of Air W. Stuart Symington and Mayor William O. Dwyer.

Those participating in the reunion tonight are Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia University; Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air force chief of staff; Gen. George S. Kenney, head of the University of the Air at Maxwell Field, Ala.; Gen. Carl Spaatz, Bernard Baruch and others.

Yesterday, convention leaders began laying groundwork for a drive to bring navy aircraft under control of the air force.

Association President Thomas C. Lanphier, Jr., said the convention votes today on pushing such a merger through congress.

Lanphier said the two separate air arms were an unnecessary duplication.

CONDUCTOR DISLOCATES SPINE WITH MOVEMENTS

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Conductor Sir Thomas Beecham returned by flying boat from South Africa today with his spine displaced. His wife said the trouble arose from the vigor with which he directs orchestras.

Sir Thomas was helped ashore and taken by wheel chair to the airport hospital.

"As a result of his conducting his spine has been pushed out of place and pressure on a nerve gives him intense agony at times," his wife explained to newsmen.

She said he expects to have the trouble corrected in time to accompany the royal philharmonic on tour next week.

Looking Ahead In Washington

By the World Staff of the Associated Press

WASHINGTON—There's a feeling among some state department experts that Russia may agree to lift the Berlin blockade rather than have the issues surrounding the city brought into the United Nations assembly at Paris.

As they see it, Moscow can jump only one of two ways:

1. It can agree to lift the blockade. We might agree then to using the Russian mark in all Berlin—if all four occupying powers had a say-so on control of it.

2. Or it can refuse to lift the blockade, whereupon Berlin's troubles would be turned over to the United Nations.

Moscow has shown dislike of world criticism. And this U. N. session seems stacked for just that. Not a single Russian got elected to chairmanship of a major U. N. committee—the first time this has happened in U. N. history.

John L. And The G. O. P.

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis probably won't make a public declaration in behalf of Republican Candidate Thomas E. Dewey, unless it looks like a G. O. P. landslide by the time the miners hold their convention in Cincinnati beginning October 5. Lewis is bitterly anti-Truman, but his union, the United Mine Workers, also is out to beat senators and representatives who voted for the Taft-Hartley act, which he also hates, and that means the coal diggers will be trying to defeat many Republicans.

Lewis' retirement as president of the U. M. W. could come at this convention, but it's hardly likely. He permitted himself to be renominated, and there's at least one more major objective he'd like to accomplish before he hangs up the gloves: to give the federal mine inspectors power to enforce their safety recommendations. Congressional action would be required for that.

It's The Nuts!

WASHINGTON—Some government lumber experts say home builders are overlooking a good bet in pecan wood flooring. They report pecan is a relatively good buy today but that most Americans won't consider it over the conventional oak.

The resulting slack demand for pecan has led the commerce department to remove it from export control, except to Europe. All shipments to Europe are restricted so as to control exports to the Russian bloc.

Super Carrier

WASHINGTON—Look for the navy to disclose soon some details and an artist's conception of its 65,000-ton super carrier. Also a two-engine jet all-weather or night fighter.

Jap Rice Crop

WASHINGTON—The Japanese rice harvest soon to be brought in is expected to run about 675,000,000 bushels; compared to 555 000,000 for 1947. This means a reduction in the food Americans will have to send to Japan.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ASKS UNITED NATIONS AID

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today urged Americans to "prevent the colossal tragedy of a new atomic war" by supporting the United Nations.

Mrs. Roosevelt's appeal was in a letter sent by the American Association for the U. N. to 65,000 persons. She is now attending the U. N. general assembly meeting in Paris as an American delegate.

Writing that "every American is faced by the challenge of impending war," Mrs. Roosevelt said: "Russians have made grave mistakes in the United Nations and so have we. But no mistake made by any nation can justify resort to any other process save that of conciliation."

Mrs. Roosevelt added: "We must never descend to contemplation of measures outside the (U.N.) charter, which is becoming the all-too-simple view of foreign affairs held by many among us. That way lies national bankruptcy and world suicide."

LANDLADY WIPES OUT INDEBTEDNESS IN WILL

PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 25—(AP)—Miss Olive Mariam Brown, 60, was a good samaritan landlady.

Miss Brown, found dead 11 days ago, bequeathed $2,000 each to two of her tenants and wiped out indebtedness totaling $14,700 on three homes being bought from her.

Her will disclosed yesterday that she has bequeathed $2,000 each to tenants R. E. Brisbin and Maurice T. Garry, both of Pasadena.

She cancelled $5,700 owed on a house purchased by Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Sargenitch, San Pedro; $4,800 owed by Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pickett, Altadena, and $4,200 owed by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Long, Altadena.

WALLACE WORKERS ARE FORCED OUT

Seven Party Members Taken From Georgia Town At Pistol Point

ATLANTA, Sept. 25. —(AP)— Seven workers for the Henry A. Wallace Progressive party claimed today they were abducted and forced to leave Columbus, Ga., at pistol point.

Paul Endicott of Detroit, Mich., one of the seven, said the abduction was carried out last night by nine men who represented themselves as Columbus detectives.

The seven, said Endicott, were driven to a point near Hamilton, Ga., where they were placed in a car driven by one of their own party, Tom Baker of Washington, D. C., and ordered to drive to Atlanta and not return to Columbus.

At Columbus, Desk Sgt. H. T. Whitley said, "the whole thing's still screwy to us. We don't know whether they were abducted or not. We do know they met some people and left with them."

"We contacted them ourselves yesterday," Sergeant Whitley continued. "They were contacting a lot of Negroes and agitating and we advised them against it."

Party headquarters in Atlanta claimed the seven were arrested by police and held for three hours.

Mrs. Branson Price, party manager for Georgia, said telegrams of protest had been sent to Attorney General Tom Clark and to Gov. M. E. Thompson.

The Progressive party has been circulating petitions in Georgia to be placed on the general election ballot in November.

Mrs. Price identified those in the abducted party, besides Endicott and Baker, as Milton Presnell and Joe Skolnick, both of Philadelphia; Mrs. Leah Loung of Atlanta, Miss Judy Elman of Queens, Long Island, N. Y., and Miss Dorothy Arnett of Greensboro, N. C.

Most adults cannot remember things that happened before they were four or five.

LITTLE THEATRE CURTAIN CALL

It will be the first call to the stage this afternoon, when Little Theatre members and newcomers gather at Georgia Tucker auditorium at 2:30 p. m. for the initial "try-outs" for the first play of the new season, "The Night of January 16th." Mrs. Blanche Oliver, has given her enthusiastic approval of this mystery drama, which will be presented at the courthouse the latter part of October. It is Mrs. Oliver's wish to be able to choose the cast of characters this afternoon. Four women and eight men will unfold the story of Karen Andre on trial for her life.

Getting around among the Little Theatre people, we find that last year's award winner for the best actress, June Shultz, is back with us, teaching down at Ouachita. Welcome to June and we are looking forward to having her direct on the plays for the year . . . Wandering muse: "Wouldn't it be nice to see Mary Louise O'Donnell Seamon and Kitty Hanna McNeil again on the local board . . . Our bouquet for the day goes to Mrs. Irene Simms Reid, a busy executive who has found time to extend the hand of good fellowship to Little Theatre. She leaves by plane tonight for New York City where she will be guest of the Food Industry in convention there next week.

How about that season ticket? The time is growing short.

LITTLE THEATRE SKETCH

Mrs. Blanche Oliver, beloved dramatist and author whose truly wonderful personality is known in the parish and city schools. "Miss Blanche" began her teaching career at Sterlington when it was a one-room classroom and she taught all eight grades and music as well. Wife and mother of two fine sons, both of whom saw active service in World War II, she not only acts, but writes extremely well. In the field of literature she has already had much praise and encouragement. Little Theatre is proud to present her as the first director this year because she belongs to that group of actresses, we term intuitive, who can no more help interpretating a character than they can help breathing. So great is her talent that it has often been expressed by those who know her best, had she turned her back on wifehood and motherhood and made the stage her career, she would have been a very great and widely known actress. She is an excellent cook and an entertaining hostess. We salute Blanche Oliver as a truly great lady.

MISS PABST TO HOLD INSTITUTE

National Finance Secretary Of Women's League To Visit In State

The national finance secretary of the League of Women Voters, Miss Bertha Pabst, of Washington, D. C., is to be in the state for a two-day institute September 27 and 28. She will be in Shreveport, home of the state finance secretary, Mrs. Madge O'Sullivan.

Finance chairmen of all local leagues in Louisiana are to meet with them in connection with a nation-wide, simultaneous finance campaign, and Mrs. John Fox, Monroe league finance chairman, who expects to attend the parley.

During her 14 years on the national staff, Miss Pabst has seen league finance change from uncertain fund-raising by local, state and national groups to an integrated financial structure. In her preparation of forms, budgets and sound financial procedures, and in her work with local and state finance committees, Miss Pabst has been instrumental in bringing about this change, the local finance chairman pointed out.

The national staff secretary has done legal work in the departments of the treasury and interior in Washington, D. C., and has served the Young Women's Christian Association in a national capacity. The League of Women Voters' finance chairmen in Louisiana are to become acquainted with the latest financial methods. Those who will attend this meeting with Mrs. Fox so that they may continue and complete the Monroe league's financial drive for the current year, are: Mesdames Harry Roberts, A. D. Tisdale, J. R. Roark and R. D. Whitecotton.

It will be the first call to the stage this afternoon, when Little Theatre members and newcomers gather at Georgia Tucker auditorium at 2:30 p. m. for the initial "try-outs" for the first play of the new season, "The Night of January 16th." Mrs. Blanche Oliver, has given her enthusiastic approval of this mystery drama, which will be presented at the courthouse the latter part of October. It is Mrs. Oliver's wish to be able to choose the cast of characters this afternoon. Four women and eight men will unfold the story of Karen Andre on trial for her life.

Getting around among the Little Theatre people, we find that last year's award winner for the best actress, June Shultz, is back with us, teaching down at Ouachita. Welcome to June and we are looking forward to having her direct on the plays for the year . . . Wandering muse: "Wouldn't it be nice to see Mary Louise O'Donnell Seamon and Kitty Hanna McNeil again on the local board . . . Our bouquet for the day goes to Mrs. Irene Simms Reid, a busy executive who has found time to extend the hand of good fellowship to Little Theatre. She leaves by plane tonight for New York City where she will be guest of the Food Industry in convention there next week.

How about that season ticket? The time is growing short.

LITTLE THEATRE SKETCH

Mrs. Blanche Oliver, beloved dramatist and author whose truly wonderful personality is known in the parish and city schools. "Miss Blanche" began her teaching career at Sterlington when it was a one-room classroom and she taught all eight grades and music as well. Wife and mother of two fine sons, both of whom saw active service in World War II, she not only acts, but writes extremely well. In the field of literature she has already had much praise and encouragement. Little Theatre is proud to present her as the first director this year because she belongs to that group of actresses, we term intuitive, who can no more help interpretating a character than they can help breathing. So great is her talent that it has often been expressed by those who know her best, had she turned her back on wifehood and motherhood and made the stage her career, she would have been a very great and widely known actress. She is an excellent cook and an entertaining hostess. We salute Blanche Oliver as a truly great lady.

MISS PABST TO HOLD INSTITUTE

National Finance Secretary Of Women's League To Visit In State

The national finance secretary of the League of Women Voters, Miss Bertha Pabst, of Washington, D. C., is to be in the state for a two-day institute September 27 and 28. She will be in Shreveport, home of the state finance secretary, Mrs. Madge O'Sullivan.

Finance chairmen of all local leagues in Louisiana are to meet with them in connection with a nation-wide, simultaneous finance campaign, and Mrs. John Fox, Monroe league finance chairman, who expects to attend the parley.

During her 14 years on the national staff, Miss Pabst has seen league finance change from uncertain fund-raising by local, state and national groups to an integrated financial structure. In her preparation of forms, budgets and sound financial procedures, and in her work with local and state finance committees, Miss Pabst has been instrumental in bringing about this change, the local finance chairman pointed out.

The national staff secretary has done legal work in the departments of the treasury and interior in Washington, D. C., and has served the Young Women's Christian Association in a national capacity. The League of Women Voters' finance chairmen in Louisiana are to become acquainted with the latest financial methods. Those who will attend this meeting with Mrs. Fox so that they may continue and complete the Monroe league's financial drive for the current year, are: Mesdames Harry Roberts, A. D. Tisdale, J. R. Roark and R. D. Whitecotton.

FIVE ARE RESCUED AFTER LONG HUNT

Men Taken From Plane After Being Lost 12 Days; Lived On Wild Game

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Five men taken from a U. S. naval plane lost 12 days in the desolate Canadian northlands said tonight they had considered their chances of rescue very slim.

The four Americans and a Briton were found last night in northern Saskatchewan. Encountering bad weather, they had set down their plane on a flight from the Churchill Defense post to The Pas. All were pronounced well and fit. They were tired but happy to have been saved in one of the continent's most ambitious air hunts.

Capt. Ben Scott Custer, naval attache of the U. S. embassy at Ottawa, was spokesman for the five at a news conference. He said Chief Petty Officer Jack M. Kastner made a perfect landing with the Beechcraft plane near a lake.

"We held a council and estimated our chances of rescue were very slim," Custer said. "We steeled ourselves to a long wait or trek to get out. Because of God and the RCAF five people were saved."

Custer said the weather forecast on leaving Churchill was for clearing conditions after 100 miles of flight. Those aboard decided to continue the flight in hope of good weather.

The naval officer said considerable ice and snow were encountered and the plane went far off its course because weather affected the magnetic compass.

Custer said the five men shot plenty of game and that grouse was their main food after emergency supplies gave out.

Capt. Sir Robert Stirling-Hamilton, naval adviser of the British high commissioner's office in Ottawa, said main decisions were decided by a vote but "at all times we were relying on the leadership of Captain Custer."

Others aboard were Lt. Charles Wilcox, assistant to Custer, and Sgt. J. Scalise, 50, of the U. S. army, returning from Churchill for his discharge.

DEATHS

JACOB REXINGER

EUDORA, Ark., Sept. 25.—(Special)—Funeral services for Jacob Rexinger, 82, of Eudora, Ark., will be held Sunday at 1:30 p. m., at the Catron-Gay Funeral Chapel of Eudora. Rabbi Wax, of Memphis, Tenn., will officate.

Interment wil follow in the Mt. Carmel Cemetery near Eudora, where Masonic rites will be held.

Rexinger died yesterday at 8:45 a. m. at his home in Eudora. He is a twenty-five year member of the Eudora Masonic Lodge and has been active in social work in his community for many years. He formerly operated the Hotel Rex in Eudora.

He is survived by one son, Albert Rexinger, of Natchez, Miss.; one daughter, Miss Lena Rexinger of Eudora; three nephews, Ludwig and Edwin Rhein, both of Little Rock, Ark., and Sol Rhein of Winnsboro; one niece, Mrs. Edward Strauss; and two grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Dean Wilcoxon, Marshall Chandler, Clarence Wilson, T. L. Lipe, Travis Harris, C. S. Meyer, Rev. R. O. Beck and Tom Bogot.

MAJ. B. B. LEWIS, JR.

Funeral services for Maj. B. B. Lewis, Jr., who died Sept. 17 in the Oliver General Hospital in Augusta, Ga., were held Tuesday in the Gawler Funeral Home, in Arlington, Va. Interment followed in the Arlington National Cemetery.

Major Lewis died following an attack of polio. He was taken to Augusta for treatment following a sudden attack of polio at Maxwell Field, Ala.

He was held prisoner of the Germans after being shot down over Germany during the war. His decorations included the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, a Presidential Citation and an Officer's Commendation Ribbon.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two small children; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Lewis, Sr., of Monroe and one brother, Cpl. James B. Lewis.

PVT. WILLIE HERRING

RAYVILLE, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—Funeral services for Pvt. Willie Herring, who was killed in the Pacific theater during the war, will be held Monday at 2:30 p. m. at the Memorial Park Cemetery, in Monroe, with the Rev. I. S. Deal officiating. Interment, in the Memorial Park Cemetery, will follow under the direction of the Mulhearn Funeral Home.

Herring's body arrived in Rayville Wednesday. A short service was held in the chapel of Mulhearn's Funeral Home of Rayville.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Herring, of Holly Ridge; five brothers, Woodrow Herring, of Maine; Roy Herring, of Mansfield; Floyd Herring, Jr., of Monroe; Claudie Lee Herring, with the navy in California and Richard Herring, of Winnfield; four sisters, Mrs. Esta Knott, of Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Clara Mills, of Monroe; Miss Ruth Herring and Miss Betty Herring, both of Holly Ridge.

SGT. SAM STINSON

RAYVILLE, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—The body of Sgt. Sam Stinson, who was killed in the Southwest Pacific theater December 21, 1944, will arrive in Rayville Tuesday by rail.

Funeral service will be held at the Midway Church, near Warden, La., with the Rev. Buckley, of Epps, officiating. The time has not been set for the service. Interment will be in the Midway Cemetery under the direction of the Mulhearn Funeral Home of Delhi.

Survivors are his mother, Mrs. Betty Stinson, of Epps; two brothers, Claude Monroe and William Jim Stinson, both of Dunn, La.; four sisters, Mrs. Onnie Mae Rubb, Mrs. Willie Orla McKen, both of Jackson, Miss.; Mrs. Lee Orla Stinson Burch, of Epps and Miss Alma Stinson, of Jackson, Miss.

PRESIDENTIAL

was scheduled to leave the San Francisco bay area in mid-afternoon for the Pacific northwest, with his next major effort in Portland, Ore.

The week end's political activities swirled over all the nation.

J. Strom Thurmond, the states' rights Democratic presidential nominee, declared at Madisonville, Ky., yesterday that "the radicals, the subversives and the Reds" are in complete control of the machinery of the national Democratic party. Thurmond, who is governor of South Carolina, also told his audience that "I'd rather be right than president" in "this age of political expediency."

Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive party's candidate, flew to St. Louis for another speech yesterday after assailing both the old-line parties bitterly at Youngstown, Ohio.

"The old parties give you your choice of bankers," he told an estimated 1,300 listeners at Youngstown. "If you want Chase National, vote Republican. If you want Dillon Read, vote Democrat. If you want peace and security, vote Progressive!"

Vice-presidential candidates were active, too. Senator Alben W. Barkley of the Democrats accepted an invitation to address an A. F. of L. meeting and the Democratic state convention at Worcester, Mass., last night. Republican Earl Warren was featured at an evening rally at Buffalo, N. Y. Sen. Glen Taylor of Idaho, Wallace's running mate, continued his tour of Pennsylvania, speaking at Canonsburg.

All three of those campaigners have been active through the week.

Barkley declared at Atlantic City that the National Association of Manufacturers had spent $3,000,000 for advertising "to break down the strength of labor organizations and destroy controls on the cost of living."

Warren told Detroiters that President Truman and the Democratic members of congress have been "at loggerheads" on labor legislation. He noted that while Mr. Truman vetoed the Taft-Hartley bill, a majority of the Democratic lawmakers voted for it. He asked whether it is possible that the president's advocacy of repealing the law might be a "red herring."

Taylor, speaking at Bethlehem, Pa., Friday night, called the Marshall plan "the biggest fake and the biggest steal in history."

The candidates themselves had no monopoly on the making of speeches and the issuing of political statements.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Republican speaker of the house of representatives, called on an audience at Toledo, Ohio, to join in "a national crusade to redeem America from bungling bureaucrats." He praised the record of the Republican dominated congress, and said that next year the members would like to do something about cutting excise taxes.

In Washington, D. C., Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio, chairman of the Democratic national congressional committee, handed out a statement declaring that "the Republicans are deliberately trying to keep the vote down" in November because they "want a minority election like that of 1946."

Republican National Chairman Hugh D. Scott declared at Boston that President Truman should "set the record straight" on whether he approved a Communist endorsement in the 1944 campaign. Scott said such an endorsement was printed in the Daily Worker, Communist party organ, and that the newspaper claimed it endorsed Mr. Truman "in full agreement with the candidate."

In another of the increasing flood of statements directed toward the election, Jack Kroll, director of the C. I. O. political action committee, charged that Governor Dewey plans to "sell out the secrets of atomic power" to "big business, to be exploited for private profit." Kroll's advice: Keep Dewey out of the White House.

Meanwhile the turmoil in the south over whether the Truman-Barkley or the Thurmond-Wright electors should appear on the November ballots appeared to be settling down. In several states the decision was: Let both appear.

In Georgia Gov. M. E. Thompson called a special session of the legislature to clarify the election laws. The Louisiana legislature speeded action on a bill which was designed to give Mr. Truman a place on the ballot, as well as Thurmond. Both sets of Democrats have qualified in Arkansas. In the end, it appeared that Alabama might be the only state in Dixie denying Mr. Truman a place on the ballot.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, States' Rights Democratic candidate for president, said today he had telegraphed President Truman, suggesting that he discuss six subjects in his campaign trip through Texas.

Thurmond's telegram said "I sincerely trust that you will not duck any of these issues while in the south."

The telegram, made public by the States' Rights national headquarters here, follows:

Respectfully request that during your tour of Texas you discuss for the benefit of Texas Democrats, the following subjects:

First—The Philadelphia platform, including the plank calling for a new FEPC.

Second—Whether or not the prominent Texas Congressman Wright Patman was correct when he stated at the Texas Democratic convention, that he would guarantee the FEPC bill would not pass if a Democratic congress and president were elected. If you and a Democratic congress are elected, will the FEPC become law or not?

Third—Your executive orders of July 26th, 1948 ending segregation in government jobs and breaking down the segregation pattern in the armed forces against the advice and judgment of military leaders who have the responsibility for the morale of the armed forces, and the safety of the nation.

Fourth—Your whole so-called "civil rights" program calling for the end of segregation in the schools and the forced mingling of the races in public facilities.

Fifth—The amazing parallel between the ideology and administrative provisions of the proposed FEPC bill which you support, and the communistic Russian all races law promulgated by Stalin.

Sixth—Your veto of the act of congress confirming the title of the states, including Texas, to their submerged coastal lands, including oil lands of the Texas coast which belong to the school children of Texas.

You are quoted as saying in Los Angeles, "I do not believe anybody is going to win this fight by running away from the record, or ducking issues." I sincerely trust that you will not duck any of these issues while in the south.

TRUMAN

without party designation or under a new party name.

Governor Long has suggested that organized labor would take the initiative in circulating nominating petitions for the president.

But Emile Borg, secretary of the State Federation of Labor (AFL), said that organization would "have no part of any plan to put the president's name on the ballot except as the Democratic candidate."

CIO spokesmen said the state board of their organization would wait until the law was enacted and could be studied before determining the CIO course.

However, a political source close to the state administration said a petition signed by 100 persons "who can be identified at a glance as registered voters" would be prepared and held in reserve in case no other nominating papers for President Truman had been approved by the October 5 deadline.

To take care of Democratic nominees for positions other than presidential elector, the new ballot bill provides that they may be listed both in the Truman-Barkley and in the Thurmond-Wright column, any voter who stamps the single square for the whole column in either case will be voting for the other Democratic candidates as well as for the presidential ticket of his choice.

Russell Long is opposed by Clem S. Clarke and Congressional Candidate E. E. Willis, a supporter of the state administration, is opposed by Republican J. Paulin Duhe in Louisiana's Acadian third congressional district.

In the special session of the legislature now nearing the end of its work, Governor Long demonstrated once again that a decisive majority of the law makers are on his side. An attempt to reopen the question of taxes—increased more than 50 per ent since the governor took office in May — was overwhelmingly voted down.

STATES STAND

ferring for weeks in Moscow with Foreign Minister Molotov and, twice with Premier Stalin, about the blockade. The talks shifted to Berlin last month where the four military governors failed to reach an agreement.

Russia replied yesterday to notes from the western powers, dispatched earlier this week, asking whether there could be an agreement, covering the currency dispute and the blockade. The contents of the reply have not been divulged.

The agency asserted the Berlin situation was "brought about by separate actions of the western powers" and means that the three governments are "not content with their absolute rule in the western zones of Germany but desire to rule monetary matter in the Soviet zone."

The statement contended this would "disorganize the economy of the eastern zone and eventually dislodge the U. S. S. R. from there."

The Russians during the blockade have spoken of Berlin as a Soviet zone rather than a four power, city. It was on this contention that they insisted that only Russian sponsored marks be allowed to circulate there.

Tass, blaming the western power currency plan for the Berlin blockade, said in its statement:

"This compelled the Soviet command to take steps for restricting transport communication between Berlin and the western zones of Germany in order to safeguard the interests of the German population and protect the economic life of the Soviet zone against disorganization."

The Tass statement said that as a result of August negotiations in the Kremlin, Russia, the United States, Britain and France reached an understanding that the following measures be carried out, provided the four military governors in Berlin agreed:

First, recently introduced restrictions in transport and trade between Berlin and the western zones, as well as the movement of freight to and from the Soviet zone would be lifted.

"Secondly, simultaneously with this, the German mark of the Soviet zone would be introduced as the only currency for Berlin while the western "B" mark would be withdrawn.

"At the same time, agreement was reached to the effect that introduction of the German mark of the Soviet zone as the only currency for Berlin, and a number of functions in regard to subsequent regulation of currency circulation in Berlin, be under quadripartite control."

PERON

tina in connection with the alleged plot are navy chaplains.

Buenos Aires was quiet today after hearing Peron personally denounce John Griffith, former U. S. cultural attache at the U. S. embassy, as instigator of the assassination plot allegedly set for next Columbus Day, Oct. 12.

The president's denunciation was made before thousands of workers gathered before the presidential palace last night in a mass demonstration of loyalty. The pro-Peron General Confederation of Labor had called a 14-hour general strike to permit workers to attend the demonstration.

Seventy-five persons were injured in the tumultous demonstration in which crowds shouted anti-American slogans before the U. S. embassy.

The Communist newspaper Lahora joined the government press in blaming the alleged plot on "Yankee imperialists." All those arrested are Argentines, most of them members of the once-strong labor party which formerly supported Peron.

Police Chief Arturo Bertollo flew to Montevideo last night to confer with Uruguayan President Batlle Berres, it was disclosed. But official sources said no request for the extradition of Griffith had been made. Griffith has been living in Uruguay since he was expelled from Argentina last April on a charge of helping foment a bank strike. He has declared the plot charge "fantastic."

Uruguayan police posted guards in front of his residence. The guards accompanied him when he left his home this morning.

More arrests were predicted. Police Inspector Luis Serrao said detectives had found proof the plotters intended to seize police headquarters, the waterworks and other public utilities and take advantage of the death of the president to seize the government.

860-MILE

the speed of sound, which is 760 miles per hour at sea level."

This is all he had to say on that matter, but it constituted the first official suggestion of the speeds being reached by the "flying research laboratory."

The original design called for the A-1 to reach a speed of 1,107 miles an hour at 40,000 feet altitude and 1,700 miles an hour at 80,000 feet.

Hitched beneath a B-29, the X-1 is carried aloft and then released when 25,000 feet or higher up.

The pilot has about enough fuel for two and one half minutes at top speed, then glides down between 300 and 400 miles and hour and lands at a speed of 160 miles an hour.

So far as its known, there are only two X-1 type planes in operation by the government, one by the air force and the other by the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

In the first two planes a substitute fuel system is used which the designers estimated would produce a top speed of about 1,000 miles an hour. Five other X-1 models are on order and a new and drastically different design, the X-4 is awaiting trial flight.

While it is probable that a turbine pump fuel system will appear in some of the planes yet to be delivered, the present operating models are using equipment which limits them to a top speed of around 1,000 miles an hour.

In flying "hundreds of miles" faster than sound, the X-1 probably has been at very high altitudes. The air force has said that the X-1 has attained altitudes "higher than any other airplane." At the high altitudes —from about 35,000 feet up—the speed of sound is 660 miles an hour. Assuming that at least 200 miles more than sound speed was reached, the X-1 has been hitting above 860 miles.

Various changes were made in the X-1 even before the first super-sonic flight was made last October. Among them was installation of a windshield of special heat-presistant material. The designers estimated that as the speed of sound was approached heat from the friction of the air would increase until a temperature sufficient to melt ordinary glass was developed.

All flights of the X-1 apparently have started with the plane being dropped from a B-29 bomber. The high rate of fuel consumption precludes a normal take-off from the ground and climb to altitude. With the present fuel system, the X-1 can fly for only about the two and one half minutes, if it uses a full thrust from its rockets of 6,000 pounds. Even with the proposed improved system, the duration of power is expected to be not more than 4.2 minutes.

Symington also recalled in his summary of air force feats the recent world speed record set by an F-86 jet standard jet fighter, carrying regular equipment of six machine guns and a full load of ammunition. The fighter, flying a measured course at Muroc, Calif., flew 670 miles an hour.

Although this speed at high altitude would be faster than sound, it was not the height flown for the speed test. The F-86, in four passes over the course, flew between 75 and 125 feet to meet requirements for an international record. Sound speed at that altitude would be 760 miles an hour.

STRANGE HOOKUP GIVES ISOLATED POINT TELEPHONE

Takes World War And Atomic Age But Fishing Village Gets Own Line

By NEA Service

STUMPY POINT, N. C.—(NEA)—Although it took a world war and the atomic age to do it, the fisherman of Stumpy Point finally has a voice heard around the world.

The eavesdropping wireless wire telephone has come to this age-old fishing village set out 30 miles in fish-filled Albemarle Sound on the Dare peninsula. It's just another dial phone on the desks of local fishermen's business-living quarters, but it uses the ether waves from Stumpy Point to the high-tension power lines, travels with the 60-cycle current into Englehard, jumps back to the ether—and is gathered, docile and unhampered, on the exchange there.

George Wise, dean of local fish buyers, estimates that he has spent $20,000 in travel to reach a phone and for long-distance phone calls. The day after the phones came to Stumpy Point, George, with shrimp to sell, made enough profit via his new phone to pay his bill for two months.

Stumpy Pointers have been after telephones for years—they raised money for a cable over to Manteo across Croatan Sound, and they dickered for radio telephones. Then the late war came along, took all the youngsters around over the globe, and one of them, Russell Nixon, Jr., came back with all the wire ends neatly wrapped in radio waves.

Linking his post-war job with a telephone company and his Stumpy Point home life, Nixon got up a unanimous petition among Dare County mainlanders at Stumpy Point and Mann's Harbor, tipped off community leaders as to technical possibilities, including a hook-up with the local power lines. It's complicated, politically, economically, and technically—but it works . . . and sells fish while they're still fresh.

Technically, the new phone is a system developed to provide telephone service over power lines at the same time those power lines are used to transmit electrical current.

And there's no eavesdropping. If a third party picks up the phone the sounds are garbled.

The 1948 nine-game exhibition game schedule of the All-America pro football Conference is the most ambitious yet tackled by the three-year-old loop.

Chicago is the only team in the All-America pro football Conference which carded no exhibition games for 1948.

MEMORIAL FAIR SET IN FRANKLIN

Final Plans For Big Parish Show Are Announced By Allen Price

WINNSBORO, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—A. L. Price, president of the Franklin Parish War Memorial Fair, Inc., has announced that final plans have been laid for the staging of a bigger and better fair this year. The fair will be open for four days, beginning Wednesday, October 13, and closing Saturday, October 16.

The board of directors have been active with their regular monthly meetings in planning the livestock and agricultural program which will be the hub of the 1948 fair.

The Franklin Parish War Memorial fair grounds was officially opened last year. It is equipped with a modern ball park and grandstand.

Presiding as board of directors are A. L. Price, president; H. W. Gilbert, vice-president; L. R. Westerburg, secretary-manager; other members of the board are as follows: L. M. Calhoun, J. B. Etheridge, S. R. Walters, C. W. Kennedy, George M. Baskin, Ben Pardue, C. J. Grayson, D. K. Mayer, B. S. Landis, Jr., F. A. Massony, B. I. Berry, C. R. Adams, C. H. Foster, Jr., and Dr. M. C. Greer.

Between each grandstand performance a feature titled "J. C. Michael's Big City Grandstand Circus," will be shown. Local talent will participate in the feature under the direction of Sheriff Hiram B. Waller.

Wednesday night will feature an old time fidler's contest under the direction of Sheriff Waller.

Friday night will be "free day" for schol children, who will see the football game between Winnsboro and Ferriday. The football game will be played immediately after the regular grandstand performance. All children of school age will be admitted free at the gate.

Southern Valley Shows will furnish a gladway of side-shows and many types of mechanical rides. It is in discussion as to whether or not the strip tease portion of the show will be permitted.

Franklin parish extends a warm welcome to its bordering parishes to visit the fair which will display some of Franklin parish's best products. Thanks is extended to persons outside the parish who bought ads in the premium catalog.

New York Day By Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Diary: Three weeks of drought and super-hot weather did notable damage to crops in New York and vicinity. I refer to the crops of table vegetables, raised in patches (called fields by the operators) within the city and its immediate environs.

When Grandma Peterson wanted to make a special Swedish chile sauce, such as they used to make in Sweden before Hitler and Stalin, my wife drove her up into mid-Westchester, where "farms" catering to motorists are numerous. They found that practically all the tomatoes in Westchester had been pre-cooked by the sun. Not one to be had. Irrigated tomatoes from New Jersey are available in the markets, however.

While the so-called pocket hurricane raged away down along the South Carolina coast, high tides and angry surf beat upon the beaches of New York and made bathing dangerous. Many accidents happened. Yet I heard a sweltering New York lady say, "It's too bad if the hurricane swarms in on North Carolina or even Maryland. But if it tears up some trees down there and gives us some sleeping weather, it's all right with me."

We got our cool winds when the hurricane reached the Virginia capes. We went to bed one night in sweltering midsummer, and woke up shivering in fall breezes that were bringing down the leaves in wagonloads. Now begins my battle to keep the gardeners (there's a family of them) from burning our leaves at the roots of our neighbors' trees. Or, to keep them from burning leaves.

A radio custom I'd like to see die a quick and painless death is that of introducing a master of ceremonies or some other showman by screaming his name in crescendo.

"And now here comes that jolly, good-natured, sweet-tempered . . ." (At this point the announcer is getting wound up, talking faster by the decible, and louder.)" . . . whaleman; that headman of our freedom show—Blitz KAMMERMEYER!"

For the very last word, as Blitz bows to the studio audience, the red-faced announcer, almost collapsing with simulated enthusiasm, gives his all in a rising scream.

The audience is dead tired of this form of monkey showmanship. No m. c. star is worth that sort of doodle-screeching, and it must humiliate any sensible man who is the subject of it.

Did Paderewski have his name screamed out that way? Then how does Bo Johnson or Smile Simpson rate it?

In fact introductions to most radio shows are like a wind that blows out of the sky by night, chilling and killing the interest of the audience. Solemn shows, devoted to making the audience weep, are introduced by the same old laugh-whistle-scream recording, which must have been made before the war. The gaiety has nothing to do with the program you are about to turn off. Why doesn't one of the super-brain surveys go into this death-defying introduction business, and let us know what can be done about it?

Recently I slept (?) in the same room with a snoring man. I have had this experience many times, but this particular snorer was the politest I have known. He did only plain snoring, without the arpeggios and appendectomies, and every hour or so he would declare a 16-minute recess, during which the customer might sleep. Recommended system.

'WORLD DIOCESE' IN AGED BUILDING

Global Center For 'Propagation Of Faith' Located In Ancient Palace

ROME—(NEA)—When Catholics in the United States contribute funds to the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, they are supporting a "world diocese."

That is the impression the visitor to Rome receives as he stands on the Piazza de Spagna—Spanish Square—and gazes at the solid old structure which bears the sign: "Collegium Urbanium De Propaganda Fide."

For here is the global center of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, located within the walls of a palace erected in 1620 by Pope Leo XI.

Pietro Cardinal Fumasoni-Biondi is the prefect of the Sacred Congregation "De Propaganda Fide." He was in other years Apostolic Delegate to the United States and China. This reporter was received by the cardinal, who explained some operations of the international missions agency of the Catholic Church.

We were introduced to Rev. Fr. G. J. Heinzmann, M. M., who is Superior of the Maryknoll Fathers in Rome and director of the Fides Service—public relations branch of the Congregation. Father Heinzmann comes from Union City, N. J., and at one time was secretary to the cardinal.

For more than an hour in the offices on the picturesque Spanish Square, Father Heinzmann outlined the procedure in administering the world misison program of the Roman Catholic Church.

Father Heinzmann showed maps of the world with China, Australia, Oceania, Finland, United States, Canada —almost any country you might think of—with boundary lines laid out like those in a city parish.

They were territorial limits of the mission fields that correspond in a rough way to Catholic activities in a big city where a mission is started and then later grows into a self-suporting parish.

The priest explained that in the wide mission fields a prefecture apostolic is first formed and then later it becomes a vicariate and finally, when of sufficient numbers and strength, a diocese is erected.

That makes the use of the term "world diocese" particularly effective in the case of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

Don't think for one moment that even the cardinal himself doesn't know what bishop, what archbishop or monsignor is in charge of mission work in remote spots of the globe.

That's because there is an unusual and thorough system of management. Pietro Cardinal Fumasoni-Biondi is the prefect, but he is assisted by a number of consultants—all cardinals.

The three American cardinals—Spellman, Stritch and Mooney—are consultants for the Society for the Propagation of the Faith. They receive reports and contribute advice in the deliberations here.

The key man in the organization here is Archbishop Celso Costantini, who is aided by an expert staff of specialists, familiar with misison problems in every country and island of the sea.

Then the congregation branches off into a wide variety of departments that permits the dispatch of the most minute reports from every field in the Catholic mission program. We saw reports from Japan, India, China and many other countries.

You talk about the organization of big city corporations—you should see the detail involved in the management of world missionary efforts.

Although the building occupied by the society dates back before the time when the United States was even dreamed of, you can hear the click of typewriters and hear the whir of mimeograph machines.

Pope Pius XII himself gets complete reports on the progress of Catholic missions because the cardinal calls on the Pontiff every two weeks and in the intervening week Archbishop Costantini calls at The Vatican.

AGED FARMER SIGNS SLAYING STATEMENT

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 25.—(AP)—J. D. McDonald, special marshal in the office of the state insurance commissioner, said late today that Leonard Seals of Poplarville has confessed he killed Game Warden Frank Stuart of Pearl River county last Tuesday.

The confession was given in the presence of McDonald and A. E. Crawford, private detective hired by the state game and fish comimssion, the marshal added.

Seals was quoted by McDonald as saying the Pearl River farmer believed he had the right to go hunting whenever he wanted to. Seals said that when he wanted a squirrel, he just went out and shot one, as he always had, McDonald further quoted the farmer.

Seals' statement included the assertion that he had asked the warden not to arrest him, and when the officer insisted on taking the huntsman into custody, the latter shot the warden twice and missed with a third blast.

Seals, who cannot write, was said to have made his mark on the statement that was drawn up for his signature after the questioning in the Hinds county jail here.

McDonald said Seals showed no emotion whatsoever in telling his story, declaring that he felt game birds and animals were placed on earth by a higher power, and that he was within his personal rights in hunting out of season.

FIVE ARE RESCUED AFTER LONG HUNT

Men Taken From Plane After Being Lost 12 Days; Lived On Wild Game

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Five men taken from a U. S. naval plane lost 12 days in the desolate Canadian northlands said tonight they had considered their chances of rescue very slim.

The four Americans and a Briton were found last night in northern Saskatchewan. Encountering bad weather, they had set down their plane on a flight from the Churchill Defense post to The Pas. All were pronounced well and fit. They were tired but happy to have been saved in one of the continent's most ambitious air hunts.

Capt. Ben Scott Custer, naval attache of the U. S. embassy at Ottawa, was spokesman for the five at a news conference. He said Chief Petty Officer Jack M. Kastner made a perfect landing with the Beechcraft plane near a lake.

"We held a council and estimated our chances of rescue were very slim," Custer said. "We steeled ourselves to a long wait or trek to get out. Because of God and the RCAF five people were saved."

Custer said the weather forecast on leaving Churchill was for clearing conditions after 100 miles of flight. Those aboard decided to continue the flight in hope of good weather.

The naval officer said considerable ice and snow were encountered and the plane went far off its course because weather affected the magnetic compass.

Custer said the five men shot plenty of game and that grouse was their main food after emergency supplies gave out.

Capt. Sir Robert Stirling-Hamilton, naval adviser of the British high commissioner's office in Ottawa, said main decisions were decided by a vote but "at all times we were relying on the leadership of Captain Custer."

Others aboard were Lt. Charles Wilcox, assistant to Custer, and Sgt. J. Scalise, 50, of the U. S. army, returning from Churchill for his discharge.

DEATHS

JACOB REXINGER

EUDORA, Ark., Sept. 25.—(Special)—Funeral services for Jacob Rexinger, 82, of Eudora, Ark., will be held Sunday at 1:30 p. m., at the Catron-Gay Funeral Chapel of Eudora. Rabbi Wax, of Memphis, Tenn., will officate.

Interment wil follow in the Mt. Carmel Cemetery near Eudora, where Masonic rites will be held.

Rexinger died yesterday at 8:45 a. m. at his home in Eudora. He is a twenty-five year member of the Eudora Masonic Lodge and has been active in social work in his community for many years. He formerly operated the Hotel Rex in Eudora.

He is survived by one son, Albert Rexinger, of Natchez, Miss.; one daughter, Miss Lena Rexinger of Eudora; three nephews, Ludwig and Edwin Rhein, both of Little Rock, Ark., and Sol Rhein of Winnsboro; one niece, Mrs. Edward Strauss; and two grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Dean Wilcoxon, Marshall Chandler, Clarence Wilson, T. L. Lipe, Travis Harris, C. S. Meyer, Rev. R. O. Beck and Tom Bogot.

MAJ. B. B. LEWIS, JR.

Funeral services for Maj. B. B. Lewis, Jr., who died Sept. 17 in the Oliver General Hospital in Augusta, Ga., were held Tuesday in the Gawler Funeral Home, in Arlington, Va. Interment followed in the Arlington National Cemetery.

Major Lewis died following an attack of polio. He was taken to Augusta for treatment following a sudden attack of polio at Maxwell Field, Ala.

He was held prisoner of the Germans after being shot down over Germany during the war. His decorations included the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, a Presidential Citation and an Officer's Commendation Ribbon.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two small children; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Lewis, Sr., of Monroe and one brother, Cpl. James B. Lewis.

PVT. WILLIE HERRING

RAYVILLE, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—Funeral services for Pvt. Willie Herring, who was killed in the Pacific theater during the war, will be held Monday at 2:30 p. m. at the Memorial Park Cemetery, in Monroe, with the Rev. I. S. Deal officiating. Interment, in the Memorial Park Cemetery, will follow under the direction of the Mulhearn Funeral Home.

Herring's body arrived in Rayville Wednesday. A short service was held in the chapel of Mulhearn's Funeral Home of Rayville.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Herring, of Holly Ridge; five brothers, Woodrow Herring, of Maine; Roy Herring, of Mansfield; Floyd Herring, Jr., of Monroe; Claudie Lee Herring, with the navy in California and Richard Herring, of Winnfield; four sisters, Mrs. Esta Knott, of Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Clara Mills, of Monroe; Miss Ruth Herring and Miss Betty Herring, both of Holly Ridge.

SGT. SAM STINSON

RAYVILLE, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—The body of Sgt. Sam Stinson, who was killed in the Southwest Pacific theater December 21, 1944, will arrive in Rayville Tuesday by rail.

Funeral service will be held at the Midway Church, near Warden, La., with the Rev. Buckley, of Epps, officiating. The time has not been set for the service. Interment will be in the Midway Cemetery under the direction of the Mulhearn Funeral Home of Delhi.

Survivors are his mother, Mrs. Betty Stinson, of Epps; two brothers, Claude Monroe and William Jim Stinson, both of Dunn, La.; four sisters, Mrs. Onnie Mae Rubb, Mrs. Willie Orla McKen, both of Jackson, Miss.; Mrs. Lee Orla Stinson Burch, of Epps and Miss Alma Stinson, of Jackson, Miss.

was scheduled to leave the San Francisco bay area in mid-afternoon for the Pacific northwest, with his next major effort in Portland, Ore.

The week end's political activities swirled over all the nation.

J. Strom Thurmond, the states' rights Democratic presidential nominee, declared at Madisonville, Ky., yesterday that "the radicals, the subversives and the Reds" are in complete control of the machinery of the national Democratic party. Thurmond, who is governor of South Carolina, also told his audience that "I'd rather be right than president" in "this age of political expediency."

Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive party's candidate, flew to St. Louis for another speech yesterday after assailing both the old-line parties bitterly at Youngstown, Ohio.

"The old parties give you your choice of bankers," he told an estimated 1,300 listeners at Youngstown. "If you want Chase National, vote Republican. If you want Dillon Read, vote Democrat. If you want peace and security, vote Progressive!"

Vice-presidential candidates were active, too. Senator Alben W. Barkley of the Democrats accepted an invitation to address an A. F. of L. meeting and the Democratic state convention at Worcester, Mass., last night. Republican Earl Warren was featured at an evening rally at Buffalo, N. Y. Sen. Glen Taylor of Idaho, Wallace's running mate, continued his tour of Pennsylvania, speaking at Canonsburg.

All three of those campaigners have been active through the week.

Barkley declared at Atlantic City that the National Association of Manufacturers had spent $3,000,000 for advertising "to break down the strength of labor organizations and destroy controls on the cost of living."

Warren told Detroiters that President Truman and the Democratic members of congress have been "at loggerheads" on labor legislation. He noted that while Mr. Truman vetoed the Taft-Hartley bill, a majority of the Democratic lawmakers voted for it. He asked whether it is possible that the president's advocacy of repealing the law might be a "red herring."

Taylor, speaking at Bethlehem, Pa., Friday night, called the Marshall plan "the biggest fake and the biggest steal in history."

The candidates themselves had no monopoly on the making of speeches and the issuing of political statements.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Republican speaker of the house of representatives, called on an audience at Toledo, Ohio, to join in "a national crusade to redeem America from bungling bureaucrats." He praised the record of the Republican dominated congress, and said that next year the members would like to do something about cutting excise taxes.

In Washington, D. C., Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio, chairman of the Democratic national congressional committee, handed out a statement declaring that "the Republicans are deliberately trying to keep the vote down" in November because they "want a minority election like that of 1946."

Republican National Chairman Hugh D. Scott declared at Boston that President Truman should "set the record straight" on whether he approved a Communist endorsement in the 1944 campaign. Scott said such an endorsement was printed in the Daily Worker, Communist party organ, and that the newspaper claimed it endorsed Mr. Truman "in full agreement with the candidate."

In another of the increasing flood of statements directed toward the election, Jack Kroll, director of the C. I. O. political action committee, charged that Governor Dewey plans to "sell out the secrets of atomic power" to "big business, to be exploited for private profit." Kroll's advice: Keep Dewey out of the White House.

Meanwhile the turmoil in the south over whether the Truman-Barkley or the Thurmond-Wright electors should appear on the November ballots appeared to be settling down. In several states the decision was: Let both appear.

In Georgia Gov. M. E. Thompson called a special session of the legislature to clarify the election laws. The Louisiana legislature speeded action on a bill which was designed to give Mr. Truman a place on the ballot, as well as Thurmond. Both sets of Democrats have qualified in Arkansas. In the end, it appeared that Alabama might be the only state in Dixie denying Mr. Truman a place on the ballot.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, States' Rights Democratic candidate for president, said today he had telegraphed President Truman, suggesting that he discuss six subjects in his campaign trip through Texas.

Thurmond's telegram said "I sincerely trust that you will not duck any of these issues while in the south."

The telegram, made public by the States' Rights national headquarters here, follows:

Respectfully request that during your tour of Texas you discuss for the benefit of Texas Democrats, the following subjects:

First—The Philadelphia platform, including the plank calling for a new FEPC.

Second—Whether or not the prominent Texas Congressman Wright Patman was correct when he stated at the Texas Democratic convention, that he would guarantee the FEPC bill would not pass if a Democratic congress and president were elected. If you and a Democratic congress are elected, will the FEPC become law or not?

Third—Your executive orders of July 26th, 1948 ending segregation in government jobs and breaking down the segregation pattern in the armed forces against the advice and judgment of military leaders who have the responsibility for the morale of the armed forces, and the safety of the nation.

Fourth—Your whole so-called "civil rights" program calling for the end of segregation in the schools and the forced mingling of the races in public facilities.

Fifth—The amazing parallel between the ideology and administratice provisions of the proposed FEPC bill which you support, and the communistic Russian all races law promulgated by Stalin.

Sixth—Your veto of the act of congress confirming the title of the states, including Texas, to their submerged coastal lands, including oil lands of the Texas coast which belong to the school children of Texas.

You are quoted as saying in Los Angeles, "I do not believe anybody is going to win this fight by running away from the record, or ducking issues." I sincerely trust that you will not duck any of these issues while in the south.

without party designation or under a new party name.

Governor Long has suggested that organized labor would take the initiative in circulating nominating petitions for the president.

But Emile Borg, secretary of the State Federation of Labor (AFL), said that organization would "have no part of any plan to put the president's name on the ballot except as the Democratic candidate."

CIO spokesmen said the state board of their organization would wait until the law was enacted and could be studied before determining the CIO course.

However, a political source close to the state administration said a petition signed by 100 persons "who can be identified at a glance as registered voters" would be prepared and held in reserve in case no other nominating papers for President Truman had been approved by the October 5 deadline.

To take care of Democratic nominees for positions other than presidential elector, the new ballot bill provides that they may be listed both in the Truman-Barkley and in the Thurmond-Wright column, any voter who stamps the single square for the whole column in either case will be voting for the other Democratic candidates as well as for the presidential ticket of his choice.

Russell Long is opposed by Clem S. Clarke and Congressional Candidate E. E. Willis, a supporter of the state administration, is opposed by Republican J. Paulin Duhe in Louisiana's Acadian third congressional district.

In the special session of the legislature now nearing the end of its work, Governor Long demonstrated once again that a decisive majority of the law makers are on his side. An attempt to reopen the question of taxes—increased more than 50 per ent since the governor took office in May — was overwhelmingly voted down.

STATES STAND

ferring for weeks in Moscow with Foreign Minister Molotov and, twice with Premier Stalin, about the blockade. The talks shifted to Berlin last month where the four military governors failed to reach an agreement.

Russia replied yesterday to notes from the western powers, dispatched earlier this week, asking whether there could be an agreement, covering the currency dispute and the blockade. The contents of the reply have not been divulged.

The agency asserted the Berlin situation was "brought about by separate actions of the western powers" and means that the three governments are "not content with their absolute rule in the western zones of Germany but desire to rule monetary matter in the Soviet zone."

The statement contended this would "disorganize the economy of the eastern zone and eventually dislodge the U. S. S. R. from there."

The Russians during the blockade have spoken of Berlin as a Soviet zone rather than a four power, city. It was on this contention that they insisted that only Russian sponsored marks be allowed to circulate there.

Tass, blaming the western power currency plan for the Berlin blockade, said in its statement:

"This compelled the Soviet command to take steps for restricting transport communication between Berlin and the western zones of Germany in order to safeguard the interests of the German population and protect the economic life of the Soviet zone against disorganization."

The Tass statement said that as a result of August negotiations in the Kremlin, Russia, the United States, Britain and France reached an understanding that the following measures be carried out, provided the four military governors in Berlin agreed:

First, recently introduced restrictions in transport and trade between Berlin and the western zones, as well as the movement of freight to and from the Soviet zone would be lifted.

"Secondly, simultaneously with this, the German mark of the Soviet zone would be introduced as the only currency for Berlin while the western "B" mark would be withdrawn.

"At the same time, agreement was reached to the effect that introduction of the German mark of the Soviet zone as the only currency for Berlin, and a number of functions in regard to subsequent regulation of currency circulation in Berlin, be under quadripartite control."

PERON

tina in connection with the alleged plot are navy chaplains.

Buenos Aires was quiet today after hearing Peron personally denounce John Griffith, former U. S. cultural attache at the U. S. embassy, as instigator of the assassination plot allegedly set for next Columbus Day, Oct. 12.

The president's denunciation was made before thousands of workers gathered before the presidential palace last night in a mass demonstration of loyalty. The pro-Peron General Confederation of Labor had called a 14-hour general strike to permit workers to attend the demonstration.

Seventy-five persons were injured in the tumultous demonstration in which crowds shouted anti-American slogans before the U. S. embassy.

The Communist newspaper Lahora joined the government press in blaming the alleged plot on "Yankee imperialists." All those arrested are Argentines, most of them members of the once-strong labor party which formerly supported Peron.

Police Chief Arturo Bertollo flew to Montevideo last night to confer with Uruguayan President Batlle Berres, it was disclosed. But official sources said no request for the extradition of Griffith had been made. Griffith has been living in Uruguay since he was expelled from Argentina last April on a charge of helping foment a bank strike. He has declared the plot charge "fantastic."

Uruguayan police posted guards in front of his residence. The guards accompanied him when he left his home this morning.

More arrests were predicted. Police Inspector Luis Serrao said detectives had found proof the plotters intended to seize police headquarters, the waterworks and other public utilities and take advantage of the death of the president to seize the government.

the speed of sound, which is 760 miles per hour at sea level."

This is all he had to say on that matter, but it constituted the first official suggestion of the speeds being reached by the "flying research laboratory."

The original design called for the A-1 to reach a speed of 1,107 miles an hour at 40,000 feet altitude and 1,700 miles an hour at 80,000 feet.

Hitched beneath a B-29, the X-1 is carried aloft and then released when 25,000 feet or higher up.

The pilot has about enough fuel for two and one half minutes at top speed, then glides down between 300 and 400 miles and hour and lands at a speed of 160 miles an hour.

So far as its known, there are only two X-1 type planes in operation by the government, one by the air force and the other by the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

In the first two planes a substitute fuel system is used which the designers estimated would produce a top speed of about 1,000 miles an hour. Five other X-1 models are on order and a new and drastically different design, the X-4 is awaiting trial flight.

While it is probable that a turbine pump fuel system will appear in some of the planes yet to be delivered, the present operating models are using equipment which limits them to a top speed of around 1,000 miles an hour.

In flying "hundreds of miles" faster than sound, the X-1 probably has been at very high altitudes. The air force has said that the X-1 has attained altitudes "higher than any other airplane." At the high altitudes—from about 35,000 feet up—the speed of sound is 660 miles an hour. Assuming that at least 200 miles more than sound speed was reached, the X-1 has been hitting above 860 miles.

Various changes were made in the X-1 even before the first super-sonic flight was made last October. Among them was installation of a windshield of special heat-presistant material. The designers estimated that as the speed of sound was approached heat from the friction of the air would increase until a temperature sufficient to melt ordinary glass was developed.

All flights of the X-1 apparently have started with the plane being dropped from a B-29 bomber. The high rate of fuel consumption precludes a normal take-off from the ground and climb to altitude. With the present fuel system, the X-1 can fly for only about the two and one half minutes, if it uses a full thrust from its rockets of 6,000 pounds. Even with the proposed improved system, the duration of power is expected to be not more than 4.2 minutes.

Symington also recalled in his summary of air force feats the recent world speed record set by an F-86 jet standard jet fighter, carrying regular equipment of six machine guns and a full load of ammunition. The fighter, flying a measured course at Muroc, Calif., flew 670 miles an hour.

Although this speed at high altitude would be faster than sound, it was not the height flown for the speed test. The F-86, in four passes over the course, flew between 75 and 125 feet to meet requirements for an international record. Sound speed at that altitude would be 760 miles an hour.

STRANGE HOOKUP GIVES ISOLATED POINT TELEPHONE

Takes World War And Atomic Age But Fishing Village Gets Own Line

By NEA Service

STUMPY POINT, N. C.—(NEA)—Although it took a world war and the atomic age to do it, the fisherman of Stumpy Point finally has a voice heard around the world.

The eavesdropping wireless wire telephone has come to this age-old fishing village set out 30 miles in fish-filled Albemarle Sound on the Dare peninsula. It's just another dial phone on the desks of local fishermen's business-living quarters, but it uses the ether waves from Stumpy Point to the high-tension power lines, travels with the 60-cycle current into Englehard, jumps back to the ether—and is gathered, docile and unhampered, on the exchange there.

George Wise, dean of local fish buyers, estimates that he has spent $20,000 in travel to reach a phone and for long-distance phone calls. The day after the phones came to Stumpy Point, George, with shrimp to sell, made enough profit via his new phone to pay his bill for two months.

Stumpy Pointers have been after telephones for years—they raised money for a cable over to Manteo across Croatan Sound, and they dickered for radio telephones. Then the late war came along, took all the youngsters around over the globe, and one of them, Russell Nixon, Jr., came back with all the wire ends neatly wrapped in radio waves.

Linking his post-war job with a telephone company and his Stumpy Point home life, Nixon got up a unanimous petition among Dare County mainlanders at Stumpy Point and Manu's Harbor, tipped off community leaders as to technical possibilities, including a hook-up with the local power lines. It's complicated, politically, economically, and technically—but it works . . . and sells fish while they're still fresh.

Technically, the new phone is a system developed to provide telephone service over power lines at the same time those power lines are used to transmit electrical current.

And there's no eavesdropping. If a third party picks up the phone the sounds are garbled.

Final Plans For Big Parish Show Are Announced By Allen Price

WINNSBORO, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—A. L. Price, president of the Franklin Parish War Memorial Fair, Inc., has announced that final plans have been laid for the staging of a bigger and better fair this year. The fair will be open for four days, beginning Wednesday, October 13, and closing Saturday, October 16.

The board of directors have been active with their regular monthly meetings in planning the livestock and agricultural program which will be the hub of the 1948 fair.

The Franklin Parish War Memorial fair grounds was officially opened last year. It is equipped with a modern ball park and grandstand.

Presiding as board of directors are A. L. Price, president; H. W. Gilbert, vice-president; L. R. Westerburg, secretary-manager; other members of the board are as follows: L. M. Calhoun, J. B. Etheridge, S. R. Walters, C. W. Kennedy, George M. Baskin, Ben Pardue, C. J. Grayson, D. K. Mayer, B. S. Landis, Jr., F. A. Massony, B. I. Berry, C. R. Adams, C. H. Foster, Jr., and Dr. M. C. Greer.

Between each grandstand performance a feature titled "J. C. Michael's Big City Grandstand Circus," will be shown. Local talent will participate in the feature under the direction of Sheriff Hiram B. Waller.

Wednesday night will feature an old time fidler's contest under the direction of Sheriff Waller.

Friday night will be "free day" for schol children, who will see the football game between Winnsboro and Ferrjday. The football game will be played immediately after the regular grandstand performance. All children of school age will be admitted free at the gate.

Southern Valley Shows will furnish a gladway of side-shows and many types of mechanical rides. It is in discussion as to whether or not the strip tease portion of the show will be permitted.

Franklin parish extends a warm welcome to its bordering parishes to visit the fair which will display some of Franklin parish's best products. Thanks is extended to persons outside the parish who bought ads in the premium catalog.

New York Day By Day

By CHARLES B DRISCOLL

Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Diary: Three weeks of drought and super-hot weather did notable damage to crops in New York and vicinity. I refer to the crops of table vegetables, raised in patches (called fields by the operators) within the city and its immediate environs.

When Grandma Peterson wanted to make a special Swedish chile sauce, such as they used to make in Sweden before Hitler and Stalin, my wife drove her up into mid-Westchester, where "farms" catering to motorists are numerous. They found that practically all the tomatoes in Westchester had been pre-cooked by the sun. Not one to be had. Irrigated tomatoes from New Jersey are available in the markets, however.

While the so-called pocket hurricane raged away down along the South Carolina coast, high tides and angry surf beat upon the beaches of New York and made bathing dangerous. Many accidents happened. Yet I heard a sweltering New York lady say, "It's too bad if the hurricane swarms in on North Carolina or even Maryland. But if it tears up some trees down there and gives us some sleeping weather, it's all right with me."

We got our cool winds when the hurricane reached the Virginia capes. We went to bed one night in sweltering midsummer, and woke up shivering in fall breezes that were bringing down the leaves in wagonloads. Now begins my battle to keep the gardeners (there's a family of them) from burning our leaves at the roots of our neighbors' trees. Or, to keep them from burning leaves.

A radio custom I'd like to see die a quick and painless death is that of introducing a master of ceremonies or some other showman by screaming his name in crescendo.

"And now here comes that jolly, good-natured, sweet-tempered . . ." (At this point the announcer is getting wound up, talking faster by the decible, and louder.)" . . . wnaleman; that headman of our freedom show—Blitz KAMMERMEYER!"

For the very last word, as Blitz bows to the studio audience, the red-faced announcer, almost collapsing with simulated enthusiasm, gives his all in a rising scream.

The audience is dead tired of this form of monkey showmanship. No m. c. star is worth that sort of doodle-screeching, and it must humiliate any sensible man who is the subject of it.

Did Paderewski have his name screamed out that way? Then how does Bo Johnson or Smile Simpson rate it?

In fact introductions to most radio shows are like a wind that blows out of the sky by night, chilling and killing the interest of the audience. Solemn shows, devoted to making the audience weep, are introduced by the same old laugh-whistle-scream recording, which must have been made before the war. The gaiety has nothing to do with the program you are about to turn off. Why doesn't one of the super-brain surveys go into this death-defying introduction business, and let us know what can be done about it?

Recently I slept (?) in the same room with a snoring man. I have had this experience many times, but this particular snorer was the politest I have known. He did only plain snoring, without the arpeggios and appendectomies, and every hour or so he would declare a 16-minute recess, during which the customer might sleep. Recommended system.

For here is the global center of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, located within the walls of a palace erected in 1620 by Pope Leo XI.

Pietro Cardinal Fumasoni-Biondi is the prefect of the Sacred Congregation "De Propaganda Fide." He was in other years Apostolic Delegate to the United States and China. This reporter was received by the cardinal, who explained some operations of the international missions agency of the Catholic Church.

We were introduced to Rev. Fr. G. J. Heinzmann, M. M., who is Superior of the Maryknoll Fathers in Rome and director of the Fides Service—public relations branch of the Congregation. Father Heinzmann comes from Union City, N. J., and at one time was secretary to the cardinal.

For more than an hour in the offices on the picturesque Spanish Square, Father Heinzmann outlined the procedure in administering the world mission program of the Roman Catholic Church.

Father Heinzmann showed maps of the world with China, Australia, Oceania, Finland, United States, Canada—almost any country you might think of—with boundary lines laid out like those in a city parish.

They were territorial limits of the mission fields that correspond in a rough way to Catholic activities in a big city where a mission is started and then later grows into a self-suporting parish.

The priest explained that in the wide mission fields a prefecture apostolic is first formed and then later it becomes a vicariate and finally, when of sufficient numbers and strength, a diocese is erected.

That makes the use of the term "world diocese" particularly effective in the case of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

Don't think for one moment that even the cardinal himself doesn't know what bishop, what archbishop or monsignor is in charge of mission work in remote spots of the globe.

That's because there is an unusual and thorough system of management. Pietro Cardinal Fumasoni-Biondi is the prefect, but he is assisted by a number of consultants—all cardinals.

The three American cardinals—Spellman, Stritch and Mooney—are consultants for the Society for the Propagation of the Faith. They receive reports and contribute advice in the deliberations here.

The key man in the organization here is Archbishop Celso Costantini, who is aided by an expert staff of specialists, familiar with misison problems in every country and island of the sea.

Then the congregation branches off into a wide variety of departments that permits the dispatch of the most minute reports from every field in the Catholic mission program. We saw reports from Japan, India, China and many other countries.

You talk about the organization of big city corporations—you should see the detail involved in the management of world missionary efforts.

Although the building occupied by the society dates back before the time when the United States was even dreamed of, you can hear the click of typewriters and hear the whir of mimeograph machines.

Pope Pius XII himself gets complete reports on the progress of Catholic missions because the cardinal calls on the Pontiff every two weeks and in the intervening week Archbishop Costantini calls at The Vatican.

AGED FARMER SIGNS SLAYING STATEMENT

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 25.—(AP)—J. D. McDonald, special marshal in the office of the state insurance commissioner, said late today that Leonard Seals of Poplarville has confessed he killed Game Warden Frank Stuart of Pearl River county last Tuesday.

The confession was given in the presence of McDonald and A. E. Crawford, private detective hired by the state game and fish comimssion, the marshal added.

Seals was quoted by McDonald as saying the Pearl River farmer believed he had the right to go hunting whenever he wanted to. Seals said that when he wanted a squirrel, he just went out and shot one, as he always had, McDonald further quoted the farmer.

Seals' statement included the assertion that he had asked the warden not to arrest him, and when the officer insisted on taking the huntsman into custody, the latter shot the warden twice and missed with a third blast.

Seals, who cannot write, was said to have made his mark on the statement that was drawn up for his signature after the questioning in the Hinds county jail here.

McDonald said Seals showed no emotion whatsoever in telling his story, declaring that he felt game birds and animals were placed on earth by a higher power, and that he was within his personal rights in hunting out of season.

N.J.C. INDIANS POINT FOR KILGORE CONTEST

TRIBESMEN GET READY FOR FIRST BATTLE ON ROAD

Rangers Favored To Win Seventh In Series At Texas City Next Saturday

The Northeast Junior College Indians, who make only two trips away from home in nine football games this year, take their first out-of-town trip next weekend when they invade Kilgore, Tex., for their eighth meeting with the Kilgore Junior College Rangers, only team to hold any consistent victory edge over the Redskins.

Kilgore, favored by one national grid expert to vie with Compton J. C. for the national junior college championship has been beaten only once by Coach Jim Malone's boys and they have engaged in one tie contest. No matter how the Redmen perform the rest of the season, Coach Malone would like nothing better than to see his charges upset the Rangers this trip, and the Indians can be expected to unveil everything they've got against the Texans.

The battle is scheduled for next Saturday night at Kilgore.

The 1937 N. J. C. team, which ranked as one of the highest scoring elevens in the country and boasted an undefeated season, was the only Malone machine to trounce Kilgore, doing a convincing 41-6 job.

All games since, however, have been hard fought scraps with never more than two touchdowns difference in the scoring. The Rangers first won in 1938, 14-12, and the two elevens battled to a 7-7 deadlock in 1940. It was 14-0 for Kilgore in '41, and 7-0 in '42 before the war disrupted the series.

Resuming their rivalry in 1946, Kilgore won again, 13-0, and the Rangers took last year's game, 14-7.

The Indians looked better Friday night tying Eastern Oklahoma A. and M., 0-0, that they did the week before scoring a 12-6 victory over a Northwest Mississippi team that didn't seem to have the power the Oklahoma eleven presented. Fans who saw both N. J. C. games noted considerable improvement in the Redskin brand of play and began to hold hopes that additional high polish this week, particularly in offensive blocking, might get the Redskins past the highly favored Kilgore team.

In fact, the rumor is circulating without verification from Malone, that the Indian war chief has been pointing for the Kilgore team all along and holding his club back to keep from showing too much to Kilgore scouts

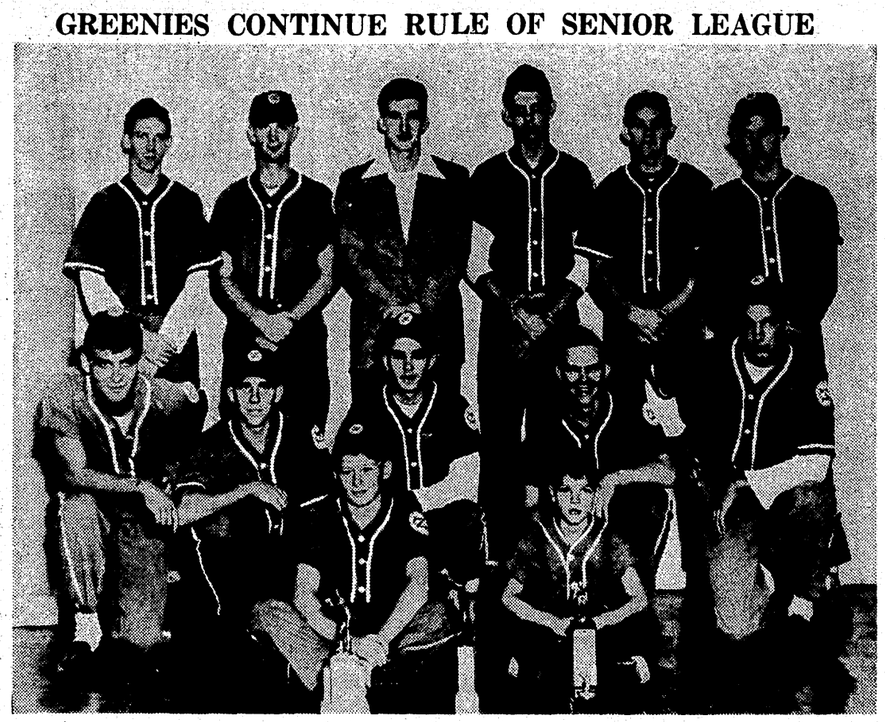
Rayville Club Next On Schedule For Neville Tigers

GREENIES CONTINUE RULE OF SENIOR LEAGUE



The Exchange Club Greenies, pictured above, hold the Senior Softball League championship for the third successive year although the same group of boys first won the crown under the name of Sears, Roebuck. They have played for Exchange the last two seasons. Members of the club, left to right, are: Top row, Milton Smith, "Sonny" Webb, Manager Cecil Johnson, Jimmy George, Dewey Mobley, and James McKay; kneeling, Danny Sullivan, Bobby Burch, Joe Perdue, Jimmy Pettit, and Ralph McKay; and batboys, Guy Gannaway and "Dub" McKay. Absent players are Jerry Autrey, Jeff Dollar, Ben Sittason, Sammy Britton, and Frank Buckley.

LIONS LAUNCH TICKET SALES FOR GRID GAME

The North Monroe Lions Club, sponsoring the October 8 meeting here between football elevens of Northeast Junior College and Copiah-Lincoln, has launched its advanced ticket sales for the game.

Joe Haddad, ticket committee chairman, yesterday said pasteboards have already been distributed among members of the North Monroe Lions Club and that a great many have already been sold.

To make the selling of the tickets more interesting to the members, Lion Fran Brennan has donated a trophy to the club for presentation to the member selling the most tickets.

Chairman Haddad requested that any football fans desiring tickets for the game should contact him or any member of the club.

COLUMBIA STOPS HORNETS, 12 TO 7

Crimson Tide Takes To Air To Come From Behind In Last Eight Minutes

COLUMBIA, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—The Columbia High School Crimson Tide had to come from behind to defeat the Rayville High School Hornets Friday night, 12 to 7.

The heavier Hornet aggregation completely outclassed the Tide in the first quarter and half a 7-0 lead at the end of the period. Columbia took command in the second period but couldn't score and went into the second half still trailing.

But early in the third quarter Columbia recovered a Rayville fumble and the took to the air lanes with a pass, Hopper to Fore, putting the ball in scoring position. Hopper plunged through the line to score, but the try for the point failed.

Then in the last eight minutes of play the Tide got loose on two running plays to set up a touchdown pass, Hopper to Hall, that won the game for the Crimsons.

Coach Woodrow Turner's Tidemen will be idle next week end, but his "B" team, which lost 7-0 to Jonesboro-Hodge "B" today, will play the Rayville "B" outfit here Wednesday night.

Meredith, a guard; Fore and Valentine, ends; and Lively, tackle, stood out in the Columbia line against Rayville, while Hopper, Smith, Hall, and Farrellson looked good in the backfield.

ISTROUMA VICTIM OF EASTON UPSET

(By Associated Press)

A 28-21 upset victory for Warren Easton of New Orleans over Istrouma of Baton Rouge featured Friday night's program of Louisiana Class AA prep football.

It was the first defeat of a southeast district team this season.

Les Kennedy's passing sparked Easton and brought three of the Eagle touchdowns.

The defending champion Bogalusa Lumberjacks continued winning about as expected, and chopped down the Jennings Bulldogs 33-0. Otis Statham's passing was Bogalusa's principal weapon.

The Bolton Bears engineered an upset, squeezing out a 20-18 win over a favored Fair Park eleven.

The Lake Charles Wildcats completed a generally favorable evening for the southwest district by beating Bishop Byrne High of Port Arthur, Tex., 19-6. Charles Oakley set up one touchdown and scored the other two for Lake Charles.

Ouachita High of Monroe lost their high-scoring star, Mark Boatright in the first period, but went on to overpower the Ruston Bearcats, defending champions in Class A, 20-0. Harold Phillips, E. J. Sievers and Billy Joe Milstead scored the touchdowns, Sievers with a 60-yard runback of an interception.

The Peters Wildcats of New Orleans ended a 13-game losing streak and licked Ponchatoula, 19-0. Johnny "Brother" Kippers made all the touchdowns.

But Redemptorist of New Orleans lost a one-sided contest to St. Stanislaus of Bay St. Louis, Miss., 44-14. A 51-yard touchdown pass from C. Ladner to Crovetto started the winners' on their way.

Byrd High of Shreveport beat Class A Bastrop 27-12, but Haynesville could get only a scoreless tie with Bossier City of Class A.

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—Early-era Ole Miss practice story: "The University football team has been reorganized and will soon begin its daily sprints, when they will be ready to test bone and muscle with any team in the South." From the Oxford Eagle for Sept. 20, 1894.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton, jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Hold your hats, folks, thar's a storm a-comin'. . . . Reason for this statement is a news item buried among the bigger stories about the Indians-Red Sox-Yankees three-legged race for the American League pennant. . . . It says the Cubs are planning to drop eight of their 18 farm clubs because it costs too much to operate them. Other chain operators also have indicated they will drop a few costly franchises. . . . Obviously a loss of $25,000 or more a season is too much for a class "D" club but if one club in a league blows that much, the others have to follow suit. . . . And as things stand now, independent owners can't keep up with the chain operators who are threatening to drop out. . . . Incidentally, the bonus rule doesn't help minor league gate receipts when kids who might be real crowd-pleasers in the minors have to move up and become major league benchwarmers.

Weight And Wait

Last spring a 275-pound kid named John Papa turned out for football practice at Boston University. . . . Seeing that he couldn't move fast enough, Coach Buff Donelli told him: "If you intend to play for us, come back weighing around 220." . . . When Papa turned up this fall weighing a near 218, Donelli was delighted with such determination. . . . Then he looked up the records and found that Papa hadn't entered the university until February and thus was eligible only for freshman ball.

Sports Before Your Eyes

Before the tenth round of the Ike Williams-Jesse Flores fight the other night, one of Flores' seconds told him: "You're not doing anything. How do you expect to win the lightweight championship if you don't go out and punch, punch?" . . . You know what happened. . . . Up to that time it was just a standoff—but he didn't stand off far enough. . . . As for Ray Robinson, he proved he's a great artist by winning easily from Kid Gavilan but doing it in such a way that it must have looked like a terrific battle to the folks in upper stands. . . . A Detroit business man and a couple of Hollywood notables are showing interest in a pro football franchise for Memphis, Tenn. . . . Somebody should tell them pro football isn't always profitable.

Thirty-four members of the Oklahoma University football squad that faces Santa Clara today were high school football captains. . . . Minnesota's "Golden Gophers" are wearing maroon and white uniforms this year. . . . Ted Schroeder, who was unimpressed by Pancho Segura a year ago, now describes Pancho's service as "poetry in motion, like Cornelius Warmerdam's vaulting." . . . Tear duct department: "Stagg still fears C. C. N. Y.," reports a City College handout. Must be a lot of fear with two Staggs coaching at Susquehanna. . . . And Carl Snavely tabs his North Carolina Tar Heels as "the most overrated team that ever stepped on a football field."

NEWELLTON COMES FROM BEHIND TO DEFEAT 'CATS

NEWELLTON, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—Outplayed throughout the first half, the Newellton High School Bears came back strong in the last two periods to come from behind and defeat the Winnsboro Wildcats, 14 to 12, here last night.

The Bruins spotted the Class A 'Cats two touchdowns in the first half and then the district Class B contenders came storming back for two of their own in the last half and made their conversions good to decide the battle.

Score by quarters:

Winnsboro	6	6	0	0	—12
Newellton	0	0	7	7	—14

HORNET ELEVEN WILL BE HOST TO BENGALS FRIDAY

Pass Defense, Blocking Due For Attention Following Homer Scrap

The Rayville High School Hornets, an old rival of Monroe elevens, is next on the schedule of the Neville High School Tigers who invade the Richland parish town next Friday afternoon for their only day contest of the season. The game is scheduled for 1:30 o'clock.

The Bengals came out of their scrap with Homer here Friday night in good condition and only a few of the usual battle bruises, and Coach Bill Ruple expects to have his squad at full strength for the Rayville invasion.

However, the Tiger coach didn't appear to be too well satisfied with the showing against Homer although the Bengals stopped the Pelicans, 12 to 7.

"Our timing was off and we weren't getting enough blocking," Ruple declared. "Pass defense was poor, and we have lots of work to do on our blocking and pass defense before we tackle Rayville."

Actually, the Tigers should have beaten Homer worse than they did, but had to be satisfied with a five-point margin on the strength of touchdown runs by Sam Shepard and Jerry Brooks.

Shepard, formerly an end but converted to a back, scored the first Tiger touchdown after Homer had jumped into a 7-0 lead. He is developing into an all around tailback and should be valuable in Neville's offensive setup this season.

Brooks, who has been scrapping to keep W. T. Brown from taking over his starting fullback assignment, came through with the clinching touchdown with a 40-yard run through the entire Pelican eleven. Brooks got off several good runs and shows promise of keeping Brown off his heels for a while.

Outstanding defensively was Neville's end, David Kahn. The left wing was rough on Homer's offense all night, and the Tigers are counting heavily on Kahn to stop strong side plays as the class of competition steps up.

LOUISIANA COLLEGE WINS FIRST GULF LOOP SCRAP

HAMMOND, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Wildcats of Louisiana College have gained the honor of winning the first football game ever played in the new Gulf States Conference.

The 'Cats defeated the Lions of Southeastern Louisiana College 14-8 on the Lions' home field last night. The winners scored on a 40-yard runback of an interception and a 38-yard drive following a fumble recovery.

It was a heartbreaking loss for Southeastern. The Lions gained 297 yards to 175 for Louisiana College. Three times the losers drove deep into Wildcat territory, to be stopped by penalties.

The Lions lost 110 yards by official punishment.

HATS OFF

CROWVILLE'S BULLDOGS TROUNCE SICILY ISLAND

SICILY ISLAND, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—The Crowville High School Bulldogs were masters all the way as they marched to a 33-0 victory over Sicily Island here last night in the first football game ever played by Sicily Island.

The Bulldogs took the opening kickoff and marched straight to pay dirt, scoring on five plays with Womack going over from the five-yard line. Womack tallied one other touchdown in the game.

Billy Bradley, a substitute halfback, scored two touchdowns, and R. Lewis made one. Lewis also ran over one extra point, French kicked for one conversion, and Devonne Cupit ran for another extra point.

Cupit, 170-pound fullback, suffered a back injury during the contest, and Coach Leo Kay, Crowville, said before leaving Sicily Island that the injury might take Cupit from his lineup for the season.

Sicily Island will be playing Jena next week while Crowville will be invading Newellton.

Score by quarters:

Crowville	14	7	0	12	—33

DELHI BEARS TROUNCE MANGHAM ELEVEN, 52-0

MANGHAM, Sept. 25.—(Special)—A strong Delhi eleven trounced the Mangham Dragons, 52 to 0, here last night. Led by the backfield men, Hopkins and Bates, the smooth-working Bears scored two touchdowns in the first quarter and were never headed. The work of Fullback Baskin Swanner and Capt. James Etier, right end, stood out for the fighting but out-classed Mangham team.

PRO GRID TACKLE DIES FOLLOWING CARD-EAGLE TILT

'Stan' Mauldin, Chicago Star, Collapses In Dressing Room

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Stanley H. (Stan) Mauldin, 27-year-old star tackle for the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League, died early today, two hours after he had played in the Cardinals-Philadelphia Eagles game.

The 6 foot, two-inch, 225-pound star of the league champions collapsed in the dressing room at Comiskey Park after he had walked from the playing field and had taken a shower.

Dr. Sidney Portis, heart specialist summoned to the park, said Mauldin died of "either a hemorrhage of the base of the skull or a massive coronary attack.

Fire and police inhalator squads worked unsuccessfully for about two hours in attempts to revive him. Three physicians also had been summoned. He died without regaining consciousness.

Mauldin, former star in football, track and basketball at the University of Texas, was playing his third season for the Cardinals and was ranked as one of the league's leading tackles.

In last night's game, which the Cardinals won 21 to 14, Mauldin had played most of the first half. However, he did not start the second half, having complained of not feeling well. Later, however, he expressed a willingness to re-enter the game and played the last two minutes.

Mauldin, who was born in Amarillo, Tex., had been living in suburban Mundelein with his wife, Helen, and their son Daniel, 5. Mrs. Mauldin was at his side when he died.

The May 6, 1892 baseball game between the Cincinnati Reds and Boston was called on account of sun. After 14 scoreless innings the sun assumed an angle that blinded pitchers and hitters.

NEWELLTON COMES FROM BEHIND TO DEFEAT 'CATS

NEWELLTON, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—Outplayed throughout the first half, the Newellton High School Bears came back strong in the last two periods to come from behind and defeat the Winnsboro Wildcats, 14 to 12, here last night.

The Bruins spotted the Class A 'Cats two touchdowns in the first half and then the district Class B contenders came storming back for two of their own in the last half and made their conversions good to decide the battle.

HORNET ELEVEN WILL BE HOST TO BENGALS FRIDAY

Pass Defense, Blocking Due For Attention Following Homer Scrap

The Rayville High School Hornets, an old rival of Monroe elevens, is next on the schedule of the Neville High School Tigers who invade the Richland parish town next Friday afternoon for their only day contest of the season. The game is scheduled for 1:30 o'clock.

The Bengals came out of their scrap with Homer here Friday night in good condition and only a few of the usual battle bruises, and Coach Bill Ruple expects to have his squad at full strength for the Rayville invasion.

However, the Tiger coach didn't appear to be too well satisfied with the showing against Homer although the Bengals stopped the Pelicans, 12 to 7.

"Our timing was off and we weren't getting enough blocking," Ruple declared. "Pass defense was poor, and we have lots of work to do on our blocking and pass defense before we tackle Rayville."

Actually, the Tigers should have beaten Homer worse than they did, but had to be satisfied with a five-point margin on the strength of touchdown runs by Sam Shepard and Jerry Brooks.

Shepard, formerly an end but converted to a back, scored the first Tiger touchdown after Homer had jumped into a 7-0 lead. He is developing into an all around tailback and should be valuable in Neville's offen ive setup this season.

Brooks, who has been scrapping to keep W. T. Brown from taking over his starting fullback assignment, came through with the clinching touchdown with a 40-yard run through the entire Pelican eleven. Brooks got off several good runs and shows promise of keeping Brown off his heels for a while.

Outstanding defensively was Neville's end, David Kahn. The left wing was rough on Homer's offense all night, and the Tigers are counting heavily on Kahn to stop strong side plays as the class of competition steps up.

LOUISIANA COLLEGE WINS FIRST GULF LOOP SCRAP

HAMMOND, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Wildcats of Louisiana College have gained the honor of winning the first football game ever played in the new Gulf States Conference.

The 'Cats defeated the Lions of Southeastern Louisiana College 14-8 on the Lions' home field last night. The winners scored on a 40-yard runback of an interception and a 38-yard drive following a fumble recovery.

It was a heartbreaking loss for Southeastern. The Lions gained 297 yards to 175 for Louisiana College. Three times the losers drove deep into Wildcat territory, to be stopped by penalties.

The Lions lost 110 yards by official punishment.

CROWVILLE'S BULLDOGS TROUNCE SICILY ISLAND

SICILY ISLAND, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—The Crowville High School Bulldogs were masters all the way as they marched to a 33-0 victory over Sicily Island here last night in the first football game ever played by Sicily Island.

The Bulldogs took the opening kickoff and marched straight to pay dirt, scoring on five plays with Womack going over from the five-yard line. Womack tallied one other touchdown in the game.

Billy Bradley, a substitute halfback, scored two touchdowns, and R. Lewis made one. Lewis also ran over one extra point, French kicked for one conversion, and Devonne Cupit ran for another extra point.

Cupit, 170-pound fullback, suffered a back injury during the contest, and Coach Leo Kay, Crowville, said before leaving Sicily Island that the injury might take Cupit from his lineup for the season.

Sicily Island will be playing Jena next week while Crowville will be invading Newellton.

Score by quarters:

DELHI BEARS TROUNCE MANGHAM ELEVEN, 52-0

MANGHAM, Sept. 25.—(Special)—A strong Delhi eleven trounced the Mangham Dragons, 52 to 0, here last night. Led by the backfield men, Hopkins and Bates, the smooth-working Bears scored two touchdowns in the first quarter and were never headed. The work of Fullback Baskin Swanner and Capt. James Etier, right end, stood out for the fighting but out-classed Mangham team.

PRO GRID TACKLE DIES FOLLOWING CARD-EAGLE TILT

'Stan' Mauldin, Chicago Star, Collapses In Dressing Room

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Stanley H. (Stan) Mauldin, 27-year-old star tackle for the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League, died early today, two hours after he had played in the Cardinals-Philadelphia Eagles game.

The 6 foot, two-inch, 225-pound star of the league champions collapsed in the dressing room at Comiskey Park after he had walked from the playing field and had taken a shower.

Dr. Sidney Portis, heart specialist summoned to the park, said Mauldin died of "either a hemorrhage of the base of the skull or a massive coronary attack.

Fire and police inhalator squads worked unsuccessfully for about two hours in attempts to revive him. Three physicians also had been summoned. He died without regaining consciousness.

Mauldin, former star in football, track and basketball at the University of Texas, was playing his third season for the Cardinals and was ranked as one of the league's leading tackles.

In last night's game, which the Cardinals won 21 to 14, Mauldin had played most of the first half. However, he did not start the second half, having complained of not feeling well. Later, however, he expressed a willingness to re-enter the game and played the last two minutes.

Mauldin, who was born in Amarillo, Tex., had been living in suburban Mundelein with his wife, Helen, and their son Daniel, 5. Mrs. Mauldin was at his side when he died.

The May 6, 1892 baseball game between the Cincinnati Reds and Boston was called on account of sun. After 14 scoreless innings the sun assumed an angle that blinded pitchers and hitters.

LEAGUE LEADERS TUMBLE BEFORE NEW YORK, 3 TO 2

Cardinals Also Beaten; Tribe Needs One More Win To Clinch Flag

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The New York Giants spoiled Boston's chances of clinching the National League flag by defeating the Braves 3-2 before 15,377 fans.

However, the St. Louis Cardinals also lost so the Braves are better off than they were before the game. One more victory and the Tribe can win its first pennant since 1914. The Braves and Cards both have seven games left to play.

The Braves wasted scoring opportunities and errors preceded the scoring of the second and third Giant runs. Johnny Sain, making his 10th start in 33 days, suffered his 15th defeat. He has won 22 games.

WASHINGTON, D. C. —(AP)— The Washington Redskins are the only team in the Eastern division of the National Football League to hold a decided advantage over western members. Since they joined the loop in 1937, the Redskins have beaten western teams 23 times and lost only 10 times. The next best eastern team is New York, with 16 victories, 13 losses and four ties in intersectional play.

TAG TEAM SCRAMBLE HEADS TUESDAY MAT PROGRAM HERE

Jack Curtis Paired With Carter Against Flash Clifford And Austiro

"Flag" Clifford, unable to lift the light heavyweight wrestling crown from Jack Curtis here last week, comes back with the champion for an appearance in a tag team feature at Gus Kallio's Arena here Tuesday night.

Clifford, Atlanta, Ga., villain, will be paired with Angelo Austiro, rowdy Greek from Clifton, N. J., and Curtis has named Jack Carter, New Zeland light-heavy kingpin, as his partner.

Promoter Kallio last night said Clifford had challenged Curtis to arrange for the tag match, offering to let the champ select his own partner and battle it out on a winner-take-all basis.

But when Curtis finally agreed to the match, naming Carter as the other man in his own corner, the Vicksburg flash refused to risk the entire wrestlers' share of the gate, declaring they would follow the usual terms of 40-60 for losers and winners.

Then Curtis surprised everybody by requesting that Pat Cronin, Jackson, Miss., be named as referee for the match.

Promoter Kallio was so surprised at the request that he doubted his hearing and asked the champ to repeat himself. But Curtis was talking straight.

It was Cronin who refereed a recent non-title scrap between Curtis and Clifford, and the referee got the blame from the fans and Curtis for the champ's defeat by Clifford. The result was a fistic challenge which Cronin accepted, and the ex-boxer of Jackson met Curtis with the gloves here two weeks ago. Curtis delivered a fourth round knockout.

"I want to have him as referee just to see if that little whipping has done him any good. He should be O. K. now," Curtis said.

TRIBESMEN

Linemen claimed most of the glory in the East Oklahoma contest with the opposing forward walls definitely defense-conscious.

Claude Brawner, veteran N. J. C. guard, who played outstanding ball all night, stopped the Oklahomans most serious threat in the second quarter when he caught Glenn Kite, Mountaineer back, from behind after a 37-yard run, stopping him on the Indian 19. A moment later Brawner covered a Mountaineer fumble, and the visitors never got another chance to score.

Dan Neville, a freshman from Baton Rouge, turned in a fancy line-backing job, but the Indian center went out of the game with an injury that gave Harrell Causey, Ruston, an opportunity to work at the position, and Causey, too, came through with a heads-up defensive game.

Hard-fighting "Bud" Cain, who holds down the guard opposite Brawner, was a rugged force against the visitors, and one Mountaineer after the game was over walked up to Cain, slapped him on the shoulder and said: "Buddy, you played a bang-up game. Without you we would have won."

Also working in the Redskin line were Ends Thomas Moncrief, "Terrapin" Bell, Don Vinning, Dean Corbell, and George Luffey; Tackles James Rains, Glenn Gossett, Bob Lively, and Charles Dillon; and Guard Jay Broussard. They showed no lack of defensive ability and stacked up evenly with the Mountaineers offensively, but a little more offensive punch might have told a different story.

Malone worked almost three entire backfields in an effort to get in a ball handler who could shake loose to pay dirt, but the Mountaineer defense was equal to the occasion. Once, however, Ernie Murphee broke loose late in the game for the longest run of the night, a 40-yard jaunt to the Oklahoma 37. The run had the Tribe in position to score and they pitched two incomplete passes, made one running play to the 35 and had one down more to make it first when the game ended.

Sharing the backfield duties were Dick Ochoa, Tom Danks, Harrell Brawner, Reggie Spencer, Arnie Armstrong, Joe Glenn Gibson, Doyle Penton, Al Carter, E. O. Ballard, and Billy Sanford, the latter a recent addition to the squad.

It was undecided yesterday whether or not Neville would be able to play against Kilgore. The classy center turned out for a morning workout yesterday, but he couldn't take part in any serious work and spent the time in light togs.

The backs, ends, and centers got most of the heavy work yesterday.

Malone, commenting on the Eastern Oklahoma scrap, declared. "Good defensive play enabled the line backers to make most of the tackles, a job which Dan Neville did exceptionally well for us. Fundamentally, my boys made no mistakes, and I'm satisfied."

The University of Texas goes against representatives of five conferences in the opening five weeks of its 1948 football campaign. In order, they are the Southeast (L. S. U.), Southern (North Carolina), Border (New Mexico), Big Seven (Oklahoma) and its own Southwest (Arkansas).

BOLTON OFFERS FIRST TASTE OF 'AA' OPPOSITION

Boatright Remains On Doubtful List After Injury In Ruston Skirmish

The "supreme test," final effort for the Ouachita Parish High School Lions before they plunge into their Class AA conference campaign, comes up for Coach Jim Hodgins' O. P. H. S. eleven next Friday night when the Lions meet the Bolton Bears of Alexandria, a club of their own caliber.

The Bolton game takes on added significance since the Bruins pulled a surprise 20-18 upset Friday night over the Fair Park Indians og Shreveport, a club that is expected to be Cuachita's chief contender for district Class AA honors.

The battle at Alexandria won't count against the Lions in the championship race since both are campaigning in different districts, but it would boost Lion prestige to considerable heights if they could knock off the Bruins.

Ouachita completed its tour of Class A rivals Friday night by defeating Ruston, defending state Class A champions, 20 to 0, but the victory could be a costly one since it left Mark Boatright, ace halfback, on the doubtful list.

Boatright went out of the game in the first quarter with a leg injury, and Coach Hodgins will get a chance to see how Boatright responds to workouts tomorrow to know whether or not he will be available against Bolton. The classy left halfback sustained a bruised muscle just above the knee and doubtless will be slowed in his work.

If Boatright is used at all, it may be sparingly, thus giving Bob Carter, who missed the first three games because of an arm fracture, to move into the Boatright slot.

Following the scrap at Alexandria, the Lions will take an open date to spend two weeks getting ready for their conference opener against the Haynesville Golden Tornado here October 8. Already the Tornado tussle is looming as a toss-up since Haynesville also beat Ruston, 19-0, just one point shy of the total for Ouachita over the same eleven.

West Monroe Rebs Visit Point; Nip And Tuck Continues With Downsville

Nip and Tuck was back in the Little Eight Baseball League's title picture in a big way yesterday with a 9-3 victory over Downsville that tied up their playoff for fourth place at a game each. The playoff will continue this afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Commercial Solvents diamond at Sterlington, with the winner moving into the league's semi-final playoff with the West Monroe Volunteers.

Point's Red Sox, defending champions who finished second in this year's regular schedule race, and the West Monroe Rebels, third place team open their half of the semi-final playoff this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Point.

The title playoffs have been delayed while Nip and Tuck fights it out with Downsville for the No. 4 slot after the two clubs had finished the regular slate in a tie for the position. The Volunteers, league leaders, will continue idle today while awaiting an opponent.

Otho Nolan or L. Hinton will start on the mound for Point today, while "Skipper" Roberts has been named to open as the Rebels' hurler.

Batteries in yesterday's game at Downsville were Dumas and Wallace, Nip and Tuck; Lindsey and Golden, Downsville.

W. O. W. PLAYOFF CONTINUES TODAY

The Woodmen of the World Baseball League's championship series between Red Shield Club of Monroe and W. O. W. of West Monroe will be resumed this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Neville High School diamond.

The W. O. W. club won the series opener last Sunday, 7 to 6, and need only one more triumph to take the league crown. Red Shield finished on top after regular season play and entered the playoffs favored to win.

Probable batteries for this afternoon have been announced as Hendricks and Young for W. O. W., and Fluitt and Jones for Red Shield.

PANTHERS BLAST ST. ALOYSIUS, 32-0

Lake Providence Follows Clements To Second One-Sided Victory Of Season

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—A snarling pack of Lake Providence High School Panthers journeyed to Vicksburg last night and ripped through the St. Aloysius High Flashes to the tune of 32-0, gaining revenge for their 26-14 defeat of the 1947 season.

It was the second one-sided victory for the Panthers in as many contests, the Felines having overpowered Winnsboro in their opener here last Friday night, 39-0.

Husky Lloyd Clement, Lake Providence's 190-pound All-State fullback candidate, again led his mates by scoring three touchdowns and an extra point to boost his total points to 43 for two games.

The initial score came early in the opening period when Charles Denny climaxed a drive from the Panther 36 by ramming over from the six-yard line. In the closing minutes of the same quarter, St. Aloysius Back McCormack faded from the Lake Providence 23 to toss a pass. Jack Brown, Panther captain and candidate for honors at the end position, rushed McCormack, who got rid of the ball quickly. Clement intercepted and raced 77 yards to paydirt.

Midway of the second quarter Fred Phillips, George Trieschmann and Clement moved the ball down to the three-yard stripe, from where Phillips went over right tackle to score.

A sustained drive from their own 35 yards line, featured by a slick 24-yard run by Clement, brought the Panthers their fourth marker with Clement going over the goal line. A pass from Trieschmann to Clement accounted for the extra point, first of the night.

In the fourth quarter, Denny and Trieschmann sparked an advance which took the pigskin to the St. Aloysius 41. Trieschmann then tossed an aerial to Clement, who snared the ball on the 10-yard line and raced the remaining distance to score. Trieschmann passed to Phillips for the extra point.

The powerful Panthers will play host next Friday night to Eudora, Ark. High School.

MAROONS FOLLOW M'WILLIAMS PAST VOLUNTEERS, 21-6

Mississippi State Has To Come From Behind To Tame Rival Tennessee

By Escar Thompson

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Tom (Shorty) McWilliams, a brilliant passing, kicking and running halfback, performed all three masterly today to lead Mississippi State to a smashing 21 to 6 victory over Tennessee.

A crowd of 35,000 persons saw the Maroons come from behind for touchdowns in the second, third and fourth quarters after Tennessee had marched 67 yards for its lone score in the first period.

The Vols went into the game touting a passing attack, but the Maroons took the spotlight away from them even on this score. The statistics tell the story. Mississippi State tried 30 aerials and completed 14 for one touchdown and 125 yards; Tennessee attempted 31, completed 11 for 74 yards.

And when the Maroon's passing attack failed, which was seldom, McWilliams and his running mate, Harper Davis, ran over, around and through the Vols for constant gains.

The Maroons' first touchdown climaxed a 43-yard drive, Truitt Smith sneaking over from the two-yard stripe. McWilliams connected for three passes in this march, nailing H. Davis twice and Murry Alexander once.

McWilliams again passed and ran the Maroons to their second score, the payoff coming on a one-yard heave to Alexander. Shorty started this drive, a 51-yarder, by flipping an 18-yard pass to Kenneth Davis, and then followed it up with an 11-yard gallop.

Mississippi State's final score came in the fading moments of the game. Harper Davis grabbed a desperation Tennessee pass and ran 30 yards untouched across the double stripes.

The Vols marched 67 yards midway the opening stanza for their score, which was made possible by a pass interference play on State's two-yard stripe. Fullback George Balitzaris plunged over after an official ruled McWilliams interfered with End Jim Powell.

The statistics clearly show the Maroons' superiority. They picked up 17

HAVE INDIANS SIGN

WASHINGTON, D. C. —(AP)— The Washington Redskins are the only team in the Eastern division of the National Football League to hold a decided advantage over western members. Since they joined the loop in 1937, the Redskins have beaten western teams 23 times and lost only 10 times. The next best eastern team is New York, with 16 victories, 13 losses and four ties in intersectional play.

Ouachita Lions To Meet Bolton Test At Alexandria

TAG TEAM SCRAMBLE HEADS TUESDAY MAT PROGRAM HERE

Jack Curtis Paired With Carter Against Flash Clifford And Austiro

"Flag" Clifford, unable to lift the light heavyweight wrestling crown from Jack Curtis here last week, comes back with the champion for an appearance in a tag team feature at Gus Kallio's Arena here Tuesday night.

Clifford, Atlanta, Ga., villain, will be paired with Angelo Austiro, rowdy Greek from Clifton, N. J., and Curtis has named Jack Carter, New Zeland light-heavy kingpin, as his partner.

Promoter Kallio last night said Clifford had challenged Curtis to arrange for the tag match, offering to let the champ select his own partner and battle it out on a winner-take-all basis.

But when Curtis finally agreed to the match, naming Carter as the other man in his own corner, the Vicksburg flash refused to risk the entire wrestlers' share of the gate, declaring they would follow the usual terms of 40-60 for losers and winners.

Then Curtis surprised everybody by requesting that Pat Cronin, Jackson, Miss., be named as referee for the match.

Promoter Kallio was so surprised at the request that he doubted his hearing and asked the champ to repeat himself. But Curtis was talking straight.

It was Cronin who refereed a recent non-title scrap between Curtis and Clifford, and the referee got the blame from the fans and Curtis for the champ's defeat by Clifford. The result was a fistic challenge which Cronin accepted, and the ex-boxer of Jackson met Curtis with the gloves here two weeks ago. Curtis delivered a fourth round knockout.

"I want to have him as referee just to see if that little whipping has done him any good. He should be O. K. now," Curtis said.

Linemen claimed most of the glory in the East Oklahoma contest with the opposing forward walls definitely defense-conscious.

Claude Brawner, veteran N. J. C. guard, who played outstanding ball all night, stopped the Oklahomans most serious threat in the second quarter when he caught Glenn Kite, Mountaineer back, from behind after a 37-yard run, stopping him on the Indian 19. A moment later Brawner covered a Mountaineer fumble, and the visitors never got another chance to score.

Dan Neville, a freshman from Baton Rouge, turned in a fancy line-backing job, but the Indian center went out of the game with an injury that gave Harrell Causey, Ruston, an opportunity to work at the position, and Causey, too, came through with a heads-up defensive game.

Hard-fighting "Bud" Cain, who holds down the guard opposite Brawner, was a rugged force against the visitors, and one Mountaineer after the game was over walked up to Cain, slapped him on the shoulder and said: "Buddy, you played a bang-up game. Without you we would have won."

Also working in the Redskin line were Ends Thomas Moncrief, "Terrapin" Bell, Don Vinning, Dean Corbell, and George Luffey; Tackles James Rains, Glenn Gossett, Bob Lively, and Charles Dillon; and Guard Jay Broussard. They showed no lack of defensive ability and stacked up evenly with the Mountaineers offensively, but a little more offensive punch might have told a different story.

Malone worked almost three entire backfields in an effort to get in a ball handler who could shake loose to pay dirt, but the Mountaineer defense was equal to the occasion. Once, however, Ernie Murphee broke loose late in the game for the longest run of the night, a 40-yard jaunt to the Oklahoma 37. The run had the Tribe in position to score and they pitched two incomplete passes, made one running play to the 35 and had one down more to make it first when the game ended.

Sharing the backfield duties were Dick Ochoa, Tom Danks, Harrell Brawner, Reggie Spencer, Arnie Armstrong, Joe Glenn Gibson, Doyle Penton, Al Carter, E. O. Ballard, and Billy Sanford, the latter a recent addition to the squad.

It was undecided yesterday whether or not Neville would be able to play against Kilgore. The classy center turned out for a morning workout yesterday, but he couldn't take part in any serious work and spent the time in light togs.

The backs, ends, and centers got most of the heavy work yesterday.

Malone, commenting on the Eastern Oklahoma scrap, declared. "Good defensive play enabled the line backers to make most of the tackles, a job which Dan Neville did exceptionally well for us. Fundamentally, my boys made no mistakes, and I'm satisfied."

The University of Texas goes against representatives of five conferences in the opening five weeks of its 1948 football campaign. In order, they are the Southeast (L. S. U.), Southern (North Carolina), Border (New Mexico), Big Seven (Oklahoma) and its own Southwest (Arkansas).

BOLTON OFFERS FIRST TASTE OF 'AA' OPPOSITION

Boatright Remains On Doubtful List After Injury In Ruston Skirmish

The "supreme test," final effort for the Ouachita Parish High School Lions before they plunge into their Class AA conference campaign, comes up for Coach Jim Hodgins' O. P. H. S. eleven next Friday night when the Lions meet the Bolton Bears of Alexandria, a club of their own caliber.

The Bolton game takes on added significance since the Bruins pulled a surprise 20-18 upset Friday night over the Fair Park Indians og Shreveport, a club that is expected to be Ouachita's chief contender for district Class AA honors.

The battle at Alexandria won't count against the Lions in the championship race since both are campaigning in different districts, but it would boost Lion prestige to considerable heights if they could knock off the Bruins.

Ouachita completed its tour of Class A rivals Friday night by defeating Ruston, defending state Class A champions, 20 to 0, but the victory could be a costly one since it left Mark Boatright, ace halfback, on the doubtful list.

Boatright went out of the game in the first quarter with a leg injury, and Coach Hodgins will get a chance to see how Boatright responds to workouts tomorrow to know whether or not he will be available against Bolton. The classy left halfback sustained a bruised muscle just above the knee and doubtless will be slowed in his work.

If Boatright is used at all, it may be sparingly, thus giving Bob Carter, who missed the first three games because of an arm fracture, to move into the Boatright slot.

Following the scrap at Alexandria, the Lions will take an open date to spend two weeks getting ready for their conference opener against the Haynesville Golden Tornado here October 8. Already the Tornado tussle is looming as a toss-up since Haynesville also beat Ruston, 19-0, just one point shy of the total for Ouachita over the same eleven.

LITTLE 8 ACTION PICKS UP TODAY

West Monroe Rebs Visit Point; Nip And Tuck Continues With Downsville

Nip and Tuck was back in the Little Eight Baseball League's title picture in a big way yesterday with a 9-3 victory over Downsville that tied up their playoff for fourth place at a game each. The playoff will continue this afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Commercial Solvents diamond at Sterlington, with the winner moving into the league's semi-final playoff with the West Monroe Volunteers.

Point's Red Sox, defending champions who finished second in this year's regular schedule race, and the West Monroe Rebels, third place team open their half of the semi-final playoff this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Point.

The title playoffs have been delayed while Nip and Tuck fights it out with Downsville for the No. 4 slot after the two clubs had finished the regular slate in a tie for the position. The Volunteers, league leaders, will continue idle today while awaiting an opponent.

Otho Nolan or L. Hinton will start on the mound for Point today, while "Skipper" Roberts has been named to open as the Rebels' hurler.

Batteries in yesterday's game at Downsville were Dumas and Wallace, Nip and Tuck; Lindsey and Golden, Downsville.

W. O. W. PLAYOFF CONTINUES TODAY

The Woodmen of the World Baseball League's championship series between Red Shield Club of Monroe and W. O. W. of West Monroe will be resumed this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Neville High School diamond.

The W. O. W. club won the series opener last Sunday, 7 to 6, and need only one more triumph to take the league crown. Red Shield finished on top after regular season play and entered the playoffs favored to win.

Probable batteries for this afternoon have been announced as Hendricks and Young for W. O. W., and Fluitt and Jones for Red Shield.

PANTHERS BLAST ST. ALOYSIUS, 32-0

Lake Providence Follows Clements To Second One-Sided Victory Of Season

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—A snarling pack of Lake Providence High School Panthers journeyed to Vicksburg last night and ripped through the St. Aloysius High Flashes to the tune of 32-0, gaining revenge for their 26-14 defeat of the 1947 season.

It was the second one-sided victory for the Panthers in as many contests, the Felines having overpowered Winnsboro in their opener here last Friday night, 39-0.

Husky Lloyd Clement, Lake Providence's 190-pound All-State fullback candidate, again led his mates by scoring three touchdowns and an extra point to boost his total points to 43 for two games.

The initial score came early in the opening period when Charles Denny climaxed a drive from the Panther 36 by ramming over from the six-yard line. In the closing minutes of the same quarter, St. Aloysius Back McCormack faded from the Lake Providence 23 to toss a pass. Jack Brown, Panther captain and candidate for honors at the end position, rushed McCormack, who got rid of the ball quickly. Clement intercepted and raced 77 yards to paydirt.

Midway of the second quarter Fred Phillips, George Trieschmann and Clement moved the ball down to the three-yard stripe, from where Phillips went over right tackle to score.

A sustained drive from their own 35 yards line, featured by a slick 24-yard run by Clement, brought the Panthers their fourth marker with Clement going over the goal line. A pass from Trieschmann to Clement accounted for the extra point, first of the night.

In the fourth quarter, Denny and Trieschmann sparked an advance which took the pigskin to the St. Aloysius 41. Trieschmann then tossed an aerial to Clement, who snared the ball on the 10-yard line and raced the remaining distance to score. Trieschmann passed to Phillips for the extra point.

The powerful Panthers will play host next Friday night to Eudora, Ark. High School.

MAROONS FOLLOW M'WILLIAMS PAST VOLUNTEERS, 21-6

Mississippi State Has To Come From Behind To Tame Rival Tennessee

By Escar Thompson

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Tom (Shorty) McWilliams, a brilliant passing, kicking and running halfback, performed all three masterly today to lead Mississippi State to a smashing 21 to 6 victory over Tennessee.

A crowd of 35,000 persons saw the Maroons come from behind for touchdowns in the second, third and fourth quarters after Tennessee had marched 67 yards for its lone score in the first period.

The Vols went into the game touting a passing attack, but the Maroons took the spotlight away from them even on this score. The statistics tell the story. Mississippi State tried 30 aerials and completed 14 for one touchdown and 125 yards; Tennessee attempted 31, completed 11 for 74 yards.

And when the Maroon's passing attack failed, which was seldom, McWilliams and his running mate, Harper Davis, ran over, around and through the Vols for constant gains.

The Maroons' first touchdown climaxed a 43-yard drive, Truitt Smith sneaking over from the two-yard stripe. McWilliams connected for three passes in this march, nailing H. Davis twice and Murry Alexander once.

McWilliams again passed and ran the Maroons to their second score, the payoff coming on a one-yard heave to Alexander. Shorty started this drive, a 51-yarder, by flipping an 18-yard pass to Kenneth Davis, and then followed it up with an 11-yard gallop.

Mississippi State's final score came in the fading moments of the game. Harper Davis grabbed a desperation Tennessee pass and ran 30 yards untouched across the double stripes.

The Vols marched 67 yards midway the opening stanza for their score, which was made possible by a pass interference play on State's two-yard stripe. Fullback George Balitsaris plunged over after an official ruled McWilliams interfered with End Jim Powell.

The statistics clearly show the Maroons' superiority. They picked up 17

Cleveland Beats Tigers, 9-3, To Hold First Place Tie With Crimson Hose

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Handsome Jack Kramer eased the first place traffic in the American League today when he elbowed New York out of a triple tie with a 7-2 victory that gave the Boston Red Sox half the leadership with Cleveland.

The 30-year-old righthander was in complete charge most of the way. Not a ball was hit to the outfield until the sixth and only seven ventured into that foreign territory during an afternoon of heartbreak for 65,607 Yankee customers.

MICHAEL BOOTS FIELD GOAL FOR VICTORY MARGIN

Aucoin Crashes Over For Touchdown That Puts Bulldogs Out In Front

RUSTON, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs nosed out the Bradley University Braves of Peoria, Ill., 17-14, here tonight in a hard-fought thriller played before about 6,500 fans. The Braves had a lead of 14-10 briefly in the third period.

Early in the first quarter Joe Michael, Tech quarterback, kicked a field goal from the 25-yard line for Tech's first three points.

In the second quarter a pass from Gibb Carl, Bradley quarterback, was intercepted by J. V. Bres, Tech back on the Braves' 40 and he ran from there to score a touchdown. Michael kicked the extra point.

The Braves forged ahead in the third when their Bob Flannigan returned a punt to the Bulldogs' 30. He and Billy Bushell advanced the ball to the seven from where Bushell plunged over. Peterson converted to make the score 14-10.

The Bulldogs regained the lead on a march starting on the Bradley 35. Jimmy Harfison, Shreveport, passed to Lenny Vogt on the 16. Harrison then swept around right end to the nine and plowed through to the one-yard marker. Lindsey Aucoin crashed across. Michael's kick from placement was again good.

Tech had the ball on Bradley's 40-yard line when the game ended.

Joe Aillet used practically his entire team in the victory.

VOLS BLAST BARONS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Birmingham fell apart in the fifth inning and the Nashville Vols scored six runs to whip the Barons, 11-2, tonight in the Southern Association final playoff series.

The win, witnessed by 13,123 fans, gave the Vols a 2-1 lead in the best four-out-of-seven series.

The game was delayed approximately 45 minutes in the fifth inning by showers of cushions. Relief Pitcher Don Carter and Catcher-Manager Fred Walters were ejected from protesting a called fourth ball by Umpire Red McCutcheon that forced in the sixth Nashville run of the frame.

That set off the fan display that threatened for a while to end the game at that point.

BASTROP BEATEN BY JACKETS, 27-13

Blocked Punts, Pass Interception Lead To Two Byrd Touchdowns

BASTROP, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—The Byrd High School Yellow Jackets capitalized on blocked punts and a pass interception to defeat the Bastrop High School Rams, 27 to 13, here last night before 2,000 spectators at Westside Stadium.

Byrd scored early in the first quarter after a 48-yard drive with Rachel going off tackle 13 yards for the opening touchdown. Worley kicked the punt.

Then in the second period the Jacket line surged in to block a Hindmon punt and Murray recovered for Byrd on the Ram 33. The Jackets advanced the oval to the six in five plays, and Rachal went over for his second touchdown. Worley again booted the point, and Byrd led at the half, 14 to 0.

Shortly after the second half opened, with Bastrop in possession on the Ram 30, Leon Johnston took a reverse around left end, picked up Savage and Lamb for interference, and galloped 70 yards to score for Bastrop. Hindmon's kick for the point failed.

A few minutes later, with Keene back to punt, the Byrd line again cracked through to block the kick, and the Jackets recovered on Bastrop's eight. Barr crashed over for the touchdown, and Worley's kick for the conversion was blocked. Then Paul Winder, 145-pound Byrd quarterback, intercepted a Keene pass on

We figure it this way. Fine worsteds—the only kind we'll ever show you—cost us an average of 50 cents a yard more. Fink's tailors draw more money, too. BUT—instead of boosting all our suit prices, we've decided to sit tight, get more business—and let bigger volume rub out a big chunk of our increased costs. Instead of selling a hundred suits, we'll hold the line, try to sell two hundred—and beat the rise that way.

The 30-year-old righthander was in complete charge most of the way. Not a ball was hit to the outfield until the sixth and only seven ventured into that foreign territory during an afternoon of heartbreak for 65,607 Yankee customers.

Jack Kramer

Kramer, an itinerant spaghetti salesman from New Orleans who, along with three other St. Louis Brownies, brought about $400,000 on the open market last winter, had his stuff enroute to his 17th win, Jack allowed only seven hits, struck out six and passed four as he picked his methodical way down the Yankee batting order.

INDIANS THUMP TIGERS

DETROIT, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians flayed five Detroit pitchers for 14 hits to whip the Tigers 9-3 today and remain in a first place tie with Boston. The Red Sox kept pace with the Indians, knocking off the Yankees 7-2 in New York to drop the Bronxites out of the three-way tie into third place, a game behind the leaders.

MICHAEL BOOTS FIELD GOAL FOR VICTORY MARGIN

Aucoin Crashes Over For Touchdown That Puts Bulldogs Out In Front

RUSTON, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs nosed out the Bradley University Braves of Peoria, Ill., 17-14, here tonight in a hard-fought thriller played before about 6,500 fans. The Braves had a lead of 14-10 briefly in the third period.

Early in the first quarter Joe Michael, Tech quarterback, kicked a field goal from the 25-yard line for Tech's first three points.

In the second quarter a pass from Gibb Carl, Bradley quarterback, was intercepted by J. V. Bres, Tech back on the Braves' 40 and he ran from there to score a touchdown. Michael kicked the extra point.

The Braves forged ahead in the third when their Bob Flannigan returned a punt to the Bulldogs' 30. He and Billy Bushell advanced the ball to the seven from where Bushell plunged over. Peterson converted to make the score 14-10.

The Bulldogs regained the lead on a march starting on the Bradley 35. Jimmy Harrison, Shreveport, passed to Lenny Vogt on the 16. Harrison then swept around right end to the nine and plowed through to the one-yard marker. Lindsey Aucoin crashed across. Michael's kick from placement was again good.

Tech had the ball on Bradley's 40-yard line when the game ended.

Joe Aillet used practically his entire team in the victory.

VOLS BLAST BARONS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Birmingham fell apart in the fifth inning and the Nashville Vols scored six runs to whip the Barons, 11-2, tonight in the Southern Association final playoff series.

The win, witnessed by 13,123 fans, gave the Vols a 2-1 lead in the best four-out-of-seven series.

The game was delayed approximately 45 minutes in the fifth inning by showers of cushions. Relief Pitcher Don Carter and Catcher-Manager Fred Walters were ejected from protesting a called fourth ball by Umpire Red McCutcheon that forced in the sixth Nashville run of the frame.

That set off the fan display that threatened for a while to end the game at that point.

BASTROP BEATEN BY JACKETS, 27-13

Blocked Punts, Pass Interception Lead To Two Byrd Touchdowns

BASTROP, La., Sept. 25.—(Special)—The Byrd High School Yellow Jackets capitalized on blocked punts and a pass interception to defeat the Bastrop High School Rams, 27 to 13, here last night before 2,000 spectators at Westside Stadium.

Byrd scored early in the first quarter after a 48-yard drive with Rachel going off tackle 13 yards for the opening touchdown. Worley kicked the punt.

Then in the second period the Jacket line surged in to block a Hindmon punt and Murray recovered for Byrd on the Ram 33. The Jackets advanced the oval to the six in five plays, and Rachal went over for his second touchdown. Worley again booted the point, and Byrd led at the half, 14 to 0.

Shortly after the second half opened, with Bastrop in possession on the Ram 30, Leon Johnston took a reverse around left end, picked up Savage and Lamb for interference, and gallopped 70 yards to score for Bastrop. Hindmon's kick for the point failed.

A few minutes later, with Keene back to punt, the Byrd line again cracked through to block the kick, and the Jackets recovered on Bastrop's eight. Barr crashed over for the touchdown, and Worley's kick for the conversion was blocked. Then Paul Winder, 145-pound Byrd quarterback, intercepted a Keene pass on

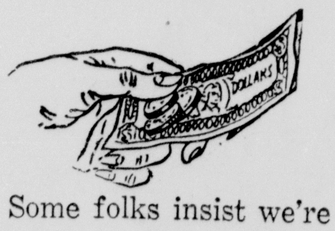
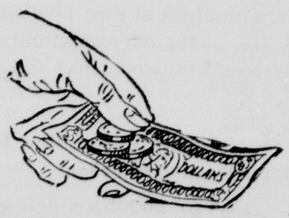
Confidentially, Mr. Phipps, It Shrinks:

It takes nerve! But we've proved again and again that it works swell for everyone. You get a break—and so do we!

. . . and how it shrinks! Butter on the gold standard. Beefsteak a dollar a bite. No, the old green buck ain't what it used to be. That is, until you walk into Fink's. And right there, you'll start singing a happier tune!



Some folks insist we're whacky. They'll tell you that when costs go up, the public must pay. We say "nuts to that."



We figure it this way. Fine worsteds—the only kind we'll ever show you—cost us an average of 50 cents a yard more. Fink's tailors draw more money, too. BUT—instead of boosting all our suit prices, we've decided to sit tight, get more business—and let bigger volume rub out a big chunk of our increased costs. Instead of selling a hundred suits, we'll hold the line, try to sell two hundred—and beat the rise that way.

"North Louisiana's No. 1 Outfitter to Men!"

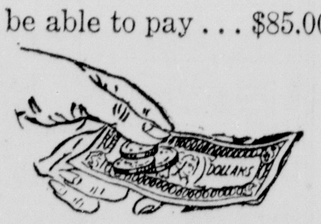
fink's

A Fine Old Name

Step into Fink's store, ask to see cloth on the bolt. Fink's tailor-made suits are the same price as spring, 1948—same fine needlework—and the same fine woolens as we used in 1940 before the war.

Set your sights on Fink's tailor-made quality, and you'll find America's topflight cloth ready to be handsomely tailored—600 different patterns to choose from—at one low price you paid last spring . . . $65.00.

If you decide you want the luxury and fine hand-detailing of our imported woolen cloth made in England, Italy or Australia—we have a large selection at prices you will be able to pay . . . $85.00 and up.



That's "the Fink way," Mr. Phipps! The way North Louisiana's largest outfitter to men again puts new life into your rapidly shrinking greenbacks. We think you'll agree that it makes sense!

TULANE'S WAVE UPSETS ALABAMA, 21 TO 14

ERNST'S PASSES, BREAKS OF GAME BOOST GREENIES

Fumbles Set Up Tally For Each Team; 'Bama Drives Stopped By Miscues

By Kris Kreeger

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Tulane's Green Wave upset Alabama's Crimson Tide 21-14 here today, thanks mainly to the passing of Quarterback Joe Ernst and most of the breaks of the game.

An estimated 60,000 spectators watched the old Southeastern Conference rivals open their 1948 campaigns in hot, clear weather.

Ernst, a New Orleans boy seldom used in two previous seasons on the squad, pitched for one Tulane touchdown and most of the yardage needed for the other two.

A fumble recovery set up one score for each team. A poor Alabama punt started Tulane to one touchdown. And two fumbles halted Alabama drives deep in Tulane territory.

Alabama seems sorely to miss Hurling Harry Gilmer in the first half, when Ed Salem's passes fell generally incomplete. Salem and Ed White began throwing strikes in the later stages, but by then it was too late.

Tulane scored all its points before Alabama got one.

Tulane drove 78 yards in nine plays for the opening touchdown in the second period. Boby Jones, sophomore left half from Houston, Texas, started the march with a 17-yard end run and wound it up with a seven-yard off tackle slice. Ernst's passes gained most of the intervening yardage.

A fumble recovery on the Alabama 32 gave Tulane its next chance in the third period. Ed Price circled left end for the last four yards. A few minutes later Tulane got the ball on Bama's 37 through a bad punt, and after four plays Ernst tossed 20 yards to End Dick Sheffield on the goal line.

Euel Davis, sixth string tackle, booted the Tulane extra points.

Alabama came back with a 68-yard scoring march, sparked by White's passes and climaxed by Tom Calvin's four-yard touchdown plunge through the middle. Minutes later Alabama recovered a fumble on Tulane's 23. Salem passed to Charley Davis on the nine and then went off right tackle for a touchdown.

Salem kicked Alabama's extra points.

Alabama outrushed Tulane 213 net yards to 100, and led 15 to 9 in first downs. Tulane completed six out of 18 passes for 89 yards, and Alabama made seven out of 17 good for 76 yards.

Several of Ernst's passes were dropped by receivers.

Lineups:

Tulane: Ends—Bailey, O'Brien, Sheffield, Partridge, Riggs, Watkins. Tackles—Druen, Rogas, Bounds, Joyce. Guards—Brown, Doyle, Franz, Ramke. Centers—Dedeaux, Maddox, Kotteman. Backs—Hickman, Jones, Davis, Hahn, Keeton, Bonar, Ernst, Dick, Waller, Sikora, Glisson, Bienz, Price.

Score by quarters:

Alabama	0	0	7	7	—14
Tulane	0	7	14	0	—21

Alabama scoring: Touchdowns—Calvin, Salem. Points after touchdowns: Salem 2 (placements).

Tulane scoring: Touchdowns—Jones, Price, Sheffield. Points after touchdowns—Davis 3, (placements).

Irish Luck Puts Notre Dame Past Fighting Purdue

BOILERMAKERS DROP THRILLER BY 28-27 SCORE

Big Nine's Bid For Rose Bowl Triumph On Strength Of Early Power

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The luck 'o the Irish worked overtime today as desperately pressed Notre Dame outlasted Purdue's Boilermakers 28-27. It was a classic football season opener which had a record 59,343 crowd hysterical from start to finish.

The Boilermakers, boomed as the Big Nine's next Rose Bowl candidate, battled the Irish all over the turf and had the defending national champions behind 13-12, in the third period.

That was the first time Notre Dame had trailed anybody since its last defeat, 19 games ago, when the Irish lost to Great Lakes 39-7.

The Irish dissipated a 12-0 lead which they fashioned early in the second period and it took some story book antics to squelch a splendid Purdue team after that, including:

1. A bolt-out-of-the-blue 70-yard touchdown return of a punt by sturdy Johnny Panelli, Morristown, N. J., senior, in the third period when Notre Dame was trailing.

2. A 23-yard field goal from a difficult angle by Steven Oracko of Lansford, Pa.—whose place kicking name was mud up until that moment—for a 21-13 Irish lead.

3. A seven yard pay-off scamper by fighting Irishman named Al Zmijewski, an unknown reserve tackle from Newark, N. J., with an interception of a Bob DeMoss pass in the fourth quarter, after Purdue had slashed Notre Dame's lead to 21-20.

And 4. Oracko's upright splitting placement try following Zmijewski's touchdown. Bootin' Steve had missed his point tries after Notre Dame's first three touchdowns.

OLE MISS BLANKS FLORIDA 'GATORS BY 14 TO 0 SCORE

Farley Salmon, As New T-Machine General, Leads Mississippi To Victory

By F. T. MacFeely

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Mississippi pulled the curtains to reveal scrappy little Farley Salmon as a T-formation quarterback tonight and he led the Rebels to a 14-0 victory over Florida.

Salmon's generalship, his running and passing led Ole Miss to victory in its first bid to repeat as Southeastern Conference football champion.

It was the first time Florida had been blanked since the last game of the 1946 season.

Mississippi capitalized on a first-quarter Florida fumble to set up its first touchdown.

Hal Griffin bobbled on his own 42 and Hank Campbell grabbed the loose ball. Salmon ran and passed the Rebels to the Florida six, from where Fullback Red Jenkins went over. Bobby Oswalt converted with a placekick.

A Florida drive backfired to give Ole Miss its second score half a minute before the first half ended. Bobby Wilson intercepted Doug Belden's pass on the Mississippi two-yard line, picked up a crowd of blockers and went down the sidelines 98 yards for the touchdown. Oswalt again converted.

Howell, who returned the opening kickoff to midfield, broke away to the Gator 30. Florida's line stiffened and the Gators took the ball on their own 26. Griffin, who made a first down on the 38, fumbled and Ole Miss recovered on Florida's 41. A penalty set the Rebels back 15 but they got going and drove to the Gator six. On the second try Jenkins took it over. Oswalt kicked the extra point, giving Mississippi a seven point lead. The two teams exchanged punts and the quarter ended.

After sparring with punts for a few minutes, Mississippi moved to the Florida four but Wilson kicked out of danger. Brown recovered Jenkins' fumble on the Gator 37, but when the Florida passing game failed the Gators kicked to the Rebel four.

Wilson punted and Florida took over on Ole Miss 25. Belden's pass was intercepted on the two by Wilson who raced down the sidelines for a second touchdown. Oswalt again added the point. Ole Miss recovered a Florida fumble as the half ended.

Taking the half kickoff, Ole Miss with Salmon, Jenkins and Howell carrying the ball moved to the Florida 10 where the Gators held. Florida picked up two first downs. Montsdeoca punted 61 yards over the Rebel Goal and Ole Miss took over on their 20. Another Rebel drive was stopped deep in Florida territory. The Gators pushed it back to the Ole Miss 48 as the quarter ended.

The Florida drive continued to the Rebel 26. Wilson punted 69 to Griffin who fumbled and was downed on the Gator three. Florida bucked it out to the 20 where Montsdecoa kicked to the Reebl 32. An Ole Miss drive was broken up when Salmon steped out of bounds before passing and an illegal formation cost the Rebels 15. Florida took Wilson's quick kick on the Gator 46 and drove to the Mississippi 26. Michael picked up a first down on the Rebel 17 for the Gators after Groves recovered Jenkins' fumble on the Ole Miss 32. The Rebels took over and were hitting the line with time killing plays as the game ended.

The lineups:

Mississippi: Ends—B. Poole, Jo Stribling, Odom, Taylor, Fletcher, J. Poole. Tackles—Dale, Hamley, Clark, Pearson. Guards—Campbell, Crawford, Fuerst. Centers—Farragut, Bidgood. Backs—Salmon, Wilson, Howell, Jenkins, Buchanan, Tibler, B. Lount, Hemphill, Mustin, Oswalt.

Florida: Ends—Bishop, Johnson, Hawkins, Turner. Tackles—Dempsey, Sutton, Carver. Guards—Brown, Groves, Huerta, Lorenze, Cole. Centers—Hynes, Hazlewood. Backs—Belden, Hunsinger, Griffin, Parker, Montsdoaca, Beach, Cox, Godwin, Broadus, Williams, Michael.

Touchdowns for the McNeese cowboys were piled up by Cecil Doyle in the first on a 23-yard gallop, Irving Richard in the second with a 10-yard buck, Ernest Lambert from the one-foot line ,and Dee Navarre, who went over after an 11-yard dash.

Richard place kicked two extra points.

For the Wharton Pioneers, W. B. Morrow pushed over from the two in the first quarter, and again crossed the goal line in the second on a pass from Edward Lechler good for 45 yards.

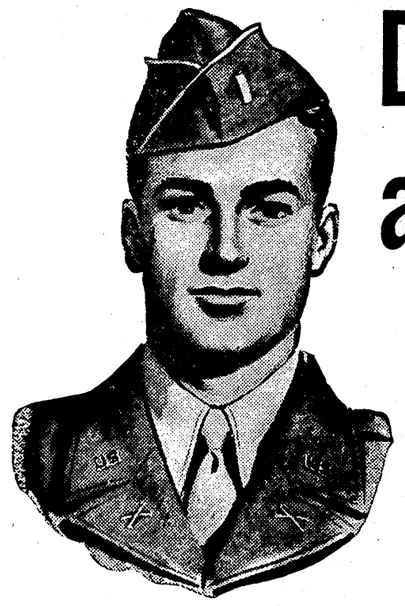
A GOOD MEN'S STORE

Since 1904



Do you want to be an OFFICER?

...OPPORTUNITY for High School Graduates, for Reserve, National Guard and AUS Officers

Because of the large numbers of men now entering the Army, there are increased opportunities for high-caliber young men who would like to become commissioned officers.

Qualified High School Graduates Can Now Enlist for Officer Candidate School

This is important news to ambitious young men between 19 and 28 years old, who have graduated from high school or can pass an equivalent examination. If you are a citizen of the United States and can meet the necessary requirements, you may enlist in the U. S. Army for the specific purpose of attending Officer Candidate School, provided, of course, that quotas are not filled.

When your application is approved, you will be enlisted in the Army in the grade of Sergeant (formerly called Staff Sergeant).

If you have not had basic training you will be given this training before entering Officer Candidate School.

Successful candidates will be commissioned 2nd Lieutenants in the Officers Reserve Corps and placed on active duty for two years. Distinguished graduates of OCS who meet requirements will be given direct commissions in the Regular Army. Other qualified OCS graduates may compete for regular commissions during their active duty tours. Unsuccessful candidates will serve out the term of their enlistments.

You can get full details about applying for a commission at your nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station.

Active Duty for Reserve, National Guard or Former AUS Officers

If you are a member of the Officers Reserve Corps, National Guard or a former AUS officer there are excellent opportunities to return to active service. AUS officers will be given reserve commissions upon their request which may be submitted along with the application for active duty.

Officers entering active duty are assured re-employment under the Selective Service Law upon relief from duty. While on duty they accrue retirement equity under the recent reserve retirement law passed by Congress. Get full details from your Reserve Unit Commander, or from the Commanding General of your Army Area.

TULANE'S WAVE UPSETS ALABAMA, 21 TO 14

ERNST'S PASSES, BREAKS OF GAME BOOST GREENIES

Fumbles Set Up Tally For Each Team; 'Bama Drives Stopped By Miscues

By Kris Kreeger

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Tulane's Green Wave upset Alabama's Crimson Tide 21-14 here today, thanks mainly to the passing of Quarterback Joe Ernst and most of the breaks of the game.

An estimated 60,000 spectators watched the old Southeastern Conference rivals open their 1948 campaigns in hot, clear weather.

Ernst, a New Orleans boy seldom used in two previous seasons on the squad, pitched for one Tulane touchdown and most of the yardage needed for the other two.

A fumble recovery set up one score for each team. A poor Alabama punt started Tulane to one touchdown. And two fumbles halted Alabama drives deep in Tulane territory.

Alabama seems sorely to miss Hurling Harry Gilmer in the first half, when Ed Salem's passes fell generally incomplete. Salem and Ed White began throwing strikes in the later stages, but by then it was too late.

Tulane scored all its points before Alabama got one.

Tulane drove 78 yards in nine plays for the opening touchdown in the second period. Boby Jones, sophomore left half from Houston, Texas, started the march with a 17-yard end run and wound it up with a seven-yard off tackle slice. Ernst's passes gained most of the intervening yardage.

A fumble recovery on the Alabama 32 gave Tulane its next chance in the third period. Ed Price circled left end for the last four yards. A few minutes later Tulane got the ball on Bama's 37 through a bad punt, and after four plays Ernst tossed 20 yards to End Dick Sheffield on the goal line.

Euel Davis, sixth string tackle, booted the Tulane extra points.

Alabama came back with a 68-yard scoring march, sparked by White's passes and climaxed by Tom Calvin's four-yard touchdown plunge through the middle. Minutes later Alabama recovered a fumble on Tulane's 25. Salem passed to Charley Davis on the nine and then went off right tackle for a touchdown.

Salem kicked Alabama's extra points.

Alabama outrushed Tulane 213 net yards to 100, and led 15 to 9 in first downs. Tulane completed six out of 18 passes for 89 yards, and Alabama made seven out of 17 good for 76 yards.

Several of Ernst's passes were dropped by receivers.

Lineups:

Irish Luck Puts Notre Dame Past Fighting Purdue

BOILERMAKERS DROP THRILLER BY 28-27 SCORE

Big Nine's Bid For Rose Bowl Triumph On Strength Of Early Power

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The luck 'o the Irish worked overtime today as desperately pressed Notre Dame outlasted Purdue's Boilermakers 28-27. It was a classic football season opener which had a record 59,343 crowd hysterical from start to finish.

The Boilermakers, boomed as the Big Nine's next Rose Bowl candidate, battled the Irish all over the turf and had the defending national champions behind 13-12, in the third period.

That was the first time Notre Dame had trailed anybody since its last defeat, 19 games ago, when the Irish lost to Great Lakes 39-7.

The Irish dissipated a 12-0 lead which they fashioned early in the second period and it took some story book antics to squelch a splendid Purdue team after that, including:

1. A bolt-out-of-the-blue 70-yard touchdown return of a punt by sturdy Johnny Panelli, Morristown, N. J., senior, in the third period when Notre Dame was trailing.

2. A 23-yard field goal from a difficult angle by Steven Oracko of Lansford, Pa.—whose place kicking name was mud up until that moment—for a 21-13 Irish lead.

3. A seven yard pay-off scamper by fighting Irishman named Al Zmijewski, an unknown reserve tackle from Newark, N. J., with an interception of a Bob DeMoss pass in the fourth quarter, after Purdue had slashed Notre Dame's lead to 21-20.

And 4. Oracko's upright splitting placement try following Zmijewski's touchdown, Bootin' Steve had missed his point tries after Notre Dame's first three touchdowns.

Score by quarters:

OLE MISS BLANKS FLORIDA 'GATORS BY 14 TO 0 SCORE

Farley Salmon, As New T-Machine General, Leads Mississippi To Victory

By F. T. MacFeely

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Mississippi pulled the curtains to reveal scrappy little Farley Salmon as a T-formation quarterback tonight and he led the Rebels to a 14-0 victory over Florida.

Salmon's generalship, his running and passing led Ole Miss to victory in its first bid to repeat as Southeastern Conference football champion.

It was the first time Florida had been blanked since the last game of the 1946 season.

Mississippi capitalized on a first-quarter Florida fumble to set up its first touchdown.

Hal Griffin bobbled on his own 42 and Hank Campbell grabbed the loose ball. Salmon ran and passed the Rebels to the Florida six, from where Fullback Red Jenkins went over. Bobby Oswalt converted with a placekick.

A Florida drive backfired to give Ole Miss its second score half a minute before the first half ended. Bobby Wilson intercepted Doug Belden's pass on the Mississippi two-yard line, picked up a crowd of blockers and went down the sidelines 98 yards for the touchdown. Oswalt again converted.

Howell, who returned the opening kickoff to midfield, broke away to the Gator 30. Florida's line stiffened and the Gators took the ball on their own 26. Griffin, who made a first down on the 38, fumbled and Ole Miss recovered on Florida's 41. A penalty set the Rebels back 15 but they got going and drove to the Gator six. On the second try Jenkins took it over. Oswalt kicked the extra point, giving Mississippi a seven point lead. The two teams exchanged punts and the quarter ended.

After sparring with punts for a few minutes, Mississippi moved to the Florida four but Wilson kicked out of danger. Brown recovered Jenkins' fumble on the Gator 37, but when the Florida passing game failed the Gators kicked to the Rebel four.

Wilson punted and Florida took over on Ole Miss 25. Belden's pass was intercepted on the two by Wilson who raced down the sidelines for a second touchdown. Oswalt again added the point. Ole Miss recovered a Florida fumble as the half ended.

Taking the half kickoff, Ole Miss with Salmon, Jenkins and Howell carrying the ball moved to the Florida 10 where the Gators held. Florida picked up two first downs. Montsdeoca punted 61 yards over the Rebel Goal and Ole Miss took over on their 20. Another Rebel drive was stopped deep in Florida territory. The Gators pushed it back to the Ole Miss 48 as the quarter ended.

The Florida drive continued to the Rebel 26. Wilson punted 69 to Griffin who fumbled and was downed on the Gator three. Florida bucked it out to the 20 where Montsdecoa kicked to the Reebl 32. An Ole Miss drive was broken up when Salmon steped out of bounds before passing and an illegal formation cost the Rebels 15. Florida took Wilson's quick kick on the Gator 46 and drove to the Mississippi 26. Michael picked up a first down on the Rebel 17 for the Gators after Groves recovered Jenkins' fumble on the Ole Miss 32. The Rebels took over and were hitting the line with time killing plays as the game ended.

The lineups:

Mississippi: Ends—B. Poole, Jo Stribling, Odom, Taylor, Fletcher, J. Poole. Tackles—Dale, Hamley, Clark, Pearson. Guards—Campbell, Crawford, Fuerst. Centers—Farragut, Bidgood. Backs—Salmon, Wilson, Howell, Jenkins, Buchanan, Tibler, B. Lount, Hemphill, Mustin, Oswalt.

Florida: Ends—Bishop, Johnson, Hawkins, Turner. Tackles—Dempsey, Sutton, Carver. Guards—Brown, Groves, Huerta, Lorenze, Cole. Centers—Hynes, Hazlewood. Backs—Belden, Hunsinger, Griffin, Parker, Montsdoaca, Beach, Cox, Godwin, Broadus, Williams, Michael.

Score by quarters:

Mississippi scoring: Touchdowns, Jenkins, Wilson. Point after touchdowns, Oswalt, 2 (placekicks).

Lou Rymkus, giant tackle of the Cleveland Browns of the All-America pro football Conference, worked the summer as an umpire in the All-American Girls Baseball League. He evicted four girls from games for disputing close decisions.

There could be plenty of "back seat driving" on the Texas Longhorns flight to the North Carolina game on September 25. A number of the Steers—Tom Landry, Peppy Blount, Lewis Holder and Bobby Lee among them—were bomber pilots during the war.

WHARTON FALLS BEFORE JOHN M'NEESE, 26 TO 12

LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—McNeese Junior College of Lake Charles tonight beat Wharton Junior College 26-12.

Touchdowns for the McNeese cowboys were piled up by Cecil Doyle in the first on a 23-yard gallop, Irving Richard in the second with a 10-yard buck, Ernest Lambert from the one-foot line and Dee Navarre, who went over after an 11-yard dash.

Richard place kicked two extra points.

For the Wharton Pioneers, W. B. Morrow pushed over from the two in the first quarter, and again crossed the goal line in the second on a pass from Edward Lechler good for 45 yards.

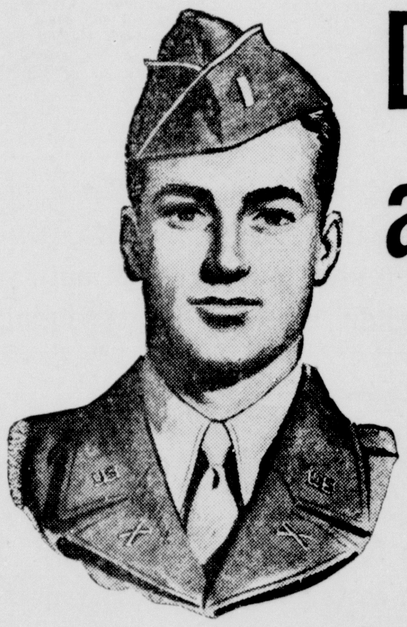
A GOOD MEN'S STORE

Since 1904



Do you want to be an OFFICER?

...OPPORTUNITY for High School Graduates, for Reserve, National Guard and AUS Officers

Because of the large numbers of men now entering the Army, there are increased opportunities for high-caliber young men who would like to become commissioned officers.

Qualified High School Graduates Can Now Enlist for Officer Candidate School

This is important news to ambitious young men between 19 and 28 years old, who have graduated from high school or can pass an equivalent examination. If you are a citizen of the United States and can meet the necessary requirements, you may enlist in the U. S. Army for the specific purpose of attending Officer Candidate School, provided, of course, that quotas are not filled.

When your application is approved, you will be enlisted in the Army in the grade of Sergeant (formerly called Staff Sergeant).

If you have not had basic training you will be given this training before entering Officer Candidate School.

Successful candidates will be commissioned 2nd Lieutenants in the Officers Reserve Corps and placed on active duty for two years. Distinguished graduates of OCS who meet requirements will be given direct commissions in the Regular Army. Other qualified OCS graduates may compete for regular commissions during their active duty tours. Unsuccessful candidates will serve out the term of their enlistments.

You can get full details about applying for a commission at your nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station.

Active Duty for Reserve, National Guard or Former AUS Officers

If you are a member of the Officers Reserve Corps, National Guard or a former AUS officer there are excellent opportunities to return to active service. AUS officers will be given reserve commissions upon their request which may be submitted along with the application for active duty.

Officers entering active duty are assured re-employment under the Selective Service Law upon relief from duty. While on duty they accrue retirement equity under the recent reserve retirement law passed by Congress. Get full details from your Reserve Unit Commander, or from the Commanding General of your Army Area.

KENTUCKY NEXT ON REBS' SLATE

Ole Miss, Already Past Florida, Looking For Trouble From Wildcat 'T'

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Sept. 25.—(Special)—Where last season Ole Miss outskirmished the Kentucky 'T' and scared up a 14-7 victory, this year the story may operate in reverse.

Last year the Wildcat 'T' mixture was in the neophite stage, at the start when they invaded Reb territory in early September. A year later the copy desk captions read, "Blanda Brightens Wildcat Backfield."

Blanda as the 'Tucky 'T' operator, is potent enough to be rated up even with Georgia's John Rauch, and Rauch has been called the best back in Dixie.

All of which means that past Florida, with a 14-0 win, the Rebels step from the proverbial fry pan into the gas jet. They tangled with the Gators in Gainesville tonight.

Ole Miss is in the same niche occupied last season by the 'Cats in that the Rebs are firing off the 'T' range. It takes time to unravel the kinks, to void allergies to the faster routine. John Vaught's traveling cast may not make the necessary deadlines in time to match Blanda & Co.

The Kentucky roster adds the names of Dopey Phelps, Carl Genito, Jim Howe, Shorty Jamerson, Bobby Brooks Norman Klein, Bill Boller and Lee Truman to back Blanda, and all rate high as scoring threats.

In two trials, Ole Miss has yet to win a game in Lexington, losing 7-27 in '44 when the series was inaugurated and 6-20 in '46. In aftermath incidents, in Memphis in '45 and on Rebel sod last season, the series was evened in 21-7 and the 14-7 games.

The Rebs may boast enough firepower to make this one an even battle. If so, it will be quite a ball game. As Ole Miss' second conference test in defense of it's '47 championship and Kentucky's first bid in S. E. C. antics, the contest is down as an important item on all counts.

JUSTICE

Villanova, 28 to 0, for the fifteenth time in 16 games; Columbia trounced Rutgers, 27 to 6, despite Frank Burns' passing and Cornell found New York University easy, 47 to 6.

To conversions gave Iowa a 14 to 12 verdict over Marquette and Nebraska levelled Iowa State, 19 to 15. Ohio State, showing unexpected power, repulsed Missouri for the seventh straight time, 21 to 7, and Illinois added another loss to Kansas State's string, 40 to 0.

North Carolina State and Duke battled up and down the field in a scoreless draw while Shorty McWilliams started his sixth year of college football by guiding his Mississippi State mate to a 21 to 6 victory over a stolid Tennessee outfit. The University of Mississippi downed the Florida 'Gators 14-0 in a night game at Gainesville, Fla.

Georgia had to sweat all the day to beat Chattanooga, 14 to 7.

It was Quarterback Joe Ernst who made Tulane's victory over Alabama possible. He passed for one touchdown and engineered the two others. George Washington upset Virginia Tech, 19 to 0, in a Southern Conference fray.

Clyde Scott and his Arkansas pals romped over East Texas State, 46 to 7, and Texas Christian grabbed three touchdowns in the second period to defeat Oklahoma A. and M., 21 to 14.

While the Aggies stayed at home for their licking, the University of Oklahoma traveled all the way to Santa Clara for a 20 to 17 pasting.

That coast victory was offset by the 19 to 0 setback administered by northwestern to U. C. L. A., a team the Big Niners were able to beat by but a single point a year ago.

Oregon, a Coast Conference title favorite, nicked Stanford, 20 to 12. Wyoming piled up one of the day's day's larger score in blasting Colorado College 61 to 7.

SOUTHWESTERN TRIPS TROY STATE TEACHERS

LAFAYETTE, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Southwestern Louisiana Institute racked up its first victory of the season tonight by defeating Troy State Teachers of Alabama 26-19.

Southwestern Right Half George Crowson highlighted the game with his 62-yard touchdown run in the first quarter. Crowson made his second pay run of the night with a run from the 15-yard line. The Bulldogs' other two touchdowns were made by Halfback Dave Fisher with runs of 25 and 26 yards. Wayne Kingery made two conversions.

Fullback Chesser scored Troy State's first touchdown with a plunge from the one yard line after a first period drive. Right Half Sonny Queen scored the visitors' other markers.

Score by quarters:

KILGORE CRUSHES BARKSDALE FIELD TO TUNE OF 53-0

Powerful Rangers Score Almost At Will In Running Up Lopsided Victory

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Scoring early and often the Kilgore Junior College Rangers completely outclassed the Barksdale Skyraiders and trounced them 53-0 on the Fair Grounds gridiron here tonight.

D. C. Chancey and Bobby Dill, hard-rudding Ranger backs, led the first half onslaught with Chancey tossing to Warren Ramsay for the first score a few minutes after the game got underway. Before the first period was ended, Chancey scored three more touchdowns and Charles Altimore kicked in three extra points.

Dill added one more touchdown on a plunge through the center of the line in the second quarter and the Rangers went to the dressing room with a 34-0 lead.

In the third quarter Dill climaxed a Ranger drive with a 13-yard sneak through center for a score with Earl Bernard and James Francis, former Centenary player, adding the last two touchdowns.

Quarterback Fred King of the Skyraiders led his team's offensive with his passing aided by Fred Gillen, Jack Skaggs and Robert McDade. For the Rangers everybody got in the action with Chancey and Dill proving themselves very classy runners. Allen Sugar, former Byrd High School player, started at quarterback for Kilgore and played a good game along with Francis and Dick Alexander.

FROLICKING SEA OTTERS PLAY TO LAND AND MARSH

Once Hunted Almost To Extinction, Animal Makes Amazing Comeback

By James D. White
(AP Newsfeatures Writer)

BIG SUR, Calif.—Every day off this lonely, rugged shore, one of the greatest shows on earth plays to an empty house.

This is the hangout of the only sizable herd of sea otters south of Alaska. Once hunted almost to extinction, this unusual animal is making a slow, protected comeback.

It still is shy. The herd of some 500 off Big Sur frolics safely out in heaving beds of kelp. In the rocking swell, the otters roll and chase each other like fat kittens playing on a cozy hearth. They are graceful, highly streamlined creatures, and grow almost five feet long.

They loaf a lot, floating on their backs with their short forepaws and flipered hind feet stuck up in the air. When the sun's glare keeps them awake, they cover their eyes with their paws and go to sleep anyway.

Extra smart otters wind themselves up in a strand of kelp so the current will not wash them away from the herd during a nap.

This animal is born in the kelp and as far as anyone knows lives and dies there. The California sub-species has not been seen ashore in a century. He can dive a hundred feet down for a juicy abalone or sea urchin, and when he brings his dinner up he lies back and enjoys it like a Roman emperor. He holds it in his "hands" and g oes at it like a stenographer biting into a drug-store sandwich.

He likes clams too, but the big ones are too tough to crack with his teeth. So he brings up a flat rock with the clam, floats on his back and places the rock on his chest, and with both paws brings the clam down hard on the rock and breaks open his dinner.

Unhappily for photographers, these antics take place beyond the range of most cameras and are best watched through powerful binoculars.

However, Miss Edna M. Fisher, zoologist at San Francisco State College has spent most of her spare time during the past decade studying the Big Sur herd. Her reports to the American Journal of Mammology are the source of most of the above details.

The sea otter always has been a charmer. For more than 200 years his quaint habits captivated the tough sea hunters of the northern Pacific. This in no way deterred them from practically wiping him out along 7,000 miles of Pacific coast in a merciless pursuit for his valuable fur. The otter's fur was among the finest in the world. A single pelt would bring as much as $100.

From Lo -- California to northern Japan, the sea otter lured adventurers. They wrote in their logs—along with their profits and shipwrecks—their amazement at the way this beast handles its food like a man, cared for its young like a woman, and behaved generally like a befurred mermaid.

More than one hunting captain, after slaying a mother otter for her pelt, tried to make a pet of her pup in a barrel of seawater. Always the pup grieved so loudly for its mother that it had to be killed or turned loose to starve. A ship's crew can take only so much wailing and mewing, noted one skipper.

NORTH CAROLINA DUMPS FAVORED LONGHORNS, 34-7

Tar Heels Stun Texas With Three Rapid-Fire Touchdowns In First Quarter

CHAPEL HILL, S. C., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Rushing favored Texas off its feet with three touchdowns the first four times it got the ball, North Carolina sent the Longhorns down to a crushing 34-7 defeat today.

Tailback Charlie Justice threw two touchdown passes and scored twice to engineer the triumph a sellout 43,500 crowd saw Carl Snavely's Tar Heels get even for last season when Texas handed them a 34-0 lacing.

With a big, fast charging line rushing the Sugar Bowl champions' Ace Passer Paul Campbell time and again, the North Carolinians simply overwhelmed the visitors.

Twice in the first five minutes they scored, piling up a 21-0 lead before Texas was able to tally late in a tremendous first period.

North Carolina was unstoppable in that first period. The Tar Heels gave one of the greatest offensive displays ever seen in Kenan Stadium.

GRANDMA MOSES UNDERWAY LATE

'Dean Of American Primitives' Started Painting At Youthful Age Of 72

EAGLE BRIDGE, N. Y.—(NEA)—Arthritis turned Grandma Moses into what competent art critics describe as the dean of contemporary American primitives.

Grandma—more formally Mrs. Anna Mary Robertson Moses, widow of the late Thomas S.— will be 88 on Sept. 7. She has been painting only since she was 76. She has been recognized as an artist only since she was about 82. Yet today her name and fame are known all over the country.

Tourists by the hundreds beat a path to her door, Because she is so old and tries so easily, her son and other relatives have had to turn themselves into a virtual palace guard to keep the crowds away.

All this because arthritis made her so lame she couldn't comfortably do housework any more.

Born on a farm in upstate New York, Grandma Moses has spent her life in hard work with few moments for recreation, amusement and private hobbies. One of a family of 10 children, she started helping her mother at an early age and, when only 14, she left home to work and care for an elderly couple.

Following her marriage at the age of 27 to Thomas S. Moses, a Virginia farmer, her days and years were spent in rearing her own family of 10 children.

After 18 years in the Old Dominion, Mrs. Moses returned to New York where she now lives on an upstate farm run by her youngest son Hugh and his wife Dorothy. Here part of the load of farm work to which she was accustomed was lifted from her shoulders. But she still kept busy sewing and cleaning, cooking and making preserves and picking berries in the summertime.

At 76, however, spells of arthritis began to make strenuous work too painful, and Grandma Moses had to give up most of her jobs around the house. It was then that she felt the need for an outlet for her unspent energy and her active imagination.

So Grandma took up painting.

What followed is an amazing success story. Only this time it is a frail old lady who, after a lifetime of humble privacy, stepped into the public limelight almost over night.

It was virtually by accident. Her pictures, which she had been either giving away or displaying in a village drugstore, were taken to New York by friends and exhibited in a one-man show. They were an almost immediate hit.

Today museums and private collections all over the country own her works and a "genuine Moses" is highly valued by collectors.

The appeal of Grandma Moses' works seems to lie in their simplicity. And this at a time when the emphasis in art is on the abstract and psychological.

Mrs. Moses' naive and forceful paintings of landscapes have gained the following of art lovers who, after trying to see the beauty and deep meaning of many a modern work of art, have said, "We do not understand."

As would be suspected from her typical landscapes and straight-forward works, Grandma Moses is not a sophisticate. She has grown old gracefully.

With her gray hair piled on top of her oval-shaped head and tied in neat knots, plain rimless glasses with straight thin ear pieces resting on her long, straight nose, which adds grace to her wrinkled face, Grandma looks the typical octogenarian.

Her wardrobe consists chiefly of ginghams and calicos, and she prefers to wear gaily flowered aprons over them. While painting she is never without her sweater-type shawl.

Watching her go about on the hillside on which her house is built, the observer feels that Grandma is a part of the nature that surrounds her. She continually stoops to pick tiny flowers or flick away a dead leaf. Then again she will stop and point out to her visitor the far-away hills she has so often painted.

For Grandma Moses, life began at 72.

The University of Santa Clara Broncos have a novel method of publicizing their football schedule. It's printed on the inside of book matches.

KENTUCKY NEXT ON REBS' SLATE

Ole Miss, Already Past Florida, Looking For Trouble From Wildcat 'T'

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Sept. 25.—(Special)—Where last season Ole Miss outskirmished the Kentucky 'T' and scared up a 14-7 victory, this year the story may operate in reverse.

Last year the Wildcat 'T' mixture was in the neophite stage, at the start when they invaded Reb territory in early September. A year later the copy desk captions read, "Blanda Brightens Wildcat Backfield."

Blanda as the 'Tucky 'T' operator, is potent enough to be rated up even with Georgia's John Rauch, and Rauch has been called the best back in Dixie.

All of which means that past Florida, with a 14-0 win, the Rebels step from the proverbial fry pan into the gas jet. They tangled with the Gators in Gainesville tonight.

Ole Miss is in the same niche occupied last season by the 'Cats in that the Rebs are firing off the 'T' range. It takes time to unravel the kinks, to void allergies to the faster routine. John Vaught's traveling cast may not make the necessary deadlines in time to match Blanda & Co.

The Kentucky roster adds the names of Dopey Phelps, Carl Genito, Jim Howe, Shorty Jamerson, Bobby Brooks Norman Klein, Bill Boller and Lee Truman to back Blanda, and all rate high as scoring threats.

In two trials, Ole Miss has yet to win a game in Lexington, losing 7-27 in '44 when the series was inaugurated and 6-20 in '46. In aftermath incidents, in Memphis in '45 and on Rebel sod last season, the series was evened in 21-7 and the 14-7 games.

The Rebs may boast enough firepower to make this one an even battle. If so, it will be quite a ball game. As Ole Miss' second conference test in defense of it's '47 championship and Kentucky's first bid in S. E. C. antics, the contest is down as an important item on all counts.

Villanova, 28 to 0, for the fifteenth time in 16 games; Columbia trounced Rutgers, 27 to 6, despite Frank Burns' passing and Cornell found New York University easy, 47 to 6.

To conversions gave Iowa a 14 to 12 verdict over Marquette and Nebraska levelled Iowa State, 19 to 15. Ohio State, showing unexpected power, repulsed Missouri for the seventh straight time, 21 to 7, and Illinois added another loss to Kansas State's string, 40 to 0.

North Carolina State and Duke battled up and down the field in a scoreless draw while Shorty McWilliams started his sixth year of college football by guiding his Mississippi State mate to a 21 to 6 victory over a stolid Tennessee outfit. The University of Mississippi downed the Florida 'Gators 14-0 in a night game at Gainesville, Fla.

Georgia had to sweat all the day to beat Chattanooga, 14 to 7.

It was Quarterback Joe Ernst who made Tulane's victory over Alabama possible. He passed for one touchdown and engineered the two others. George Washington upset Virginia Tech, 19 to 0, in a Southern Conference fray.

Clyde Scott and his Arkansas pals romped over East Texas State, 46 to 7, and Texas Christian grabbed three touchdowns in the second period to defeat Oklahoma A. and M., 21 to 14.

While the Aggies stayed at home for their licking, the University of Oklahoma traveled all the way to Santa Clara for a 20 to 17 pasting.

That coast victory was offset by the 19 to 0 setback administered by northwestern to U. C. L. A., a team the Big Niners were able to beat by but a single point a year ago.

Oregon, a Coast Conference title favorite, nicked Stanford, 20 to 12. Wyoming piled up one of the day's day's larger score in blasting Colorado College 61 to 7.

SOUTHWESTERN TRIPS TROY STATE TEACHERS

LAFAYETTE, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Southwestern Louisiana Institute racked up its first victory of the season tonight by defeating Troy State Teachers of Alabama 26-19.

Southwestern Right Half George Crowson highlighted the game with his 62-yard touchdown run in the first quarter. Crowson made his second pay run of the night with a run from the 15-yard line. The Bulldogs' other two touchdowns were made by Halfback Dave Fisher with runs of 25 and 26 yards. Wayne Kingery made two conversions.

Fullback Chesser scored Troy State's first touchdown with a plunge from the one yard line after a first period drive. Right Half Sonny Queen scored the visitors' other markers.

Score by quarters:

Troy State	7	6	0	6—12
Southwestern	14	0	6	6—26

KILGORE CRUSHES BARKSDALE FIELD TO TUNE OF 53-0

Powerful Rangers Score Almost At Will In Running Up Lopsided Victory

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Scoring early and often the Kilgore Junior College Rangers completely outclassed the Barksdale Skyraiders and trounced them 53-0 on the Fair Grounds gridiron here tonight.

D. C. Chancey and Bobby Dill, hard-rudding Ranger backs, led the first half onslaught with Chancey tossing to Warren Ramsay for the first score a few minutes after the game got underway. Before the first period was ended, Chancey scored three more touchdowns and Charles Altimore kicked in three extra points.

Dill added one more touchdown on a plunge through the center of the line in the second quarter and the Rangers went to the dressing room with a 34-0 lead.

In the third quarter Dill climaxed a Ranger drive with a 13-yard sneak through center for a score with Earl Bernard and James Francis, former Centenary player, adding the last two touchdowns.

Quarterback Fred King of the Skyraiders led his team's offensive with his passing aided by Fred Gillen, Jack Skaggs and Robert McDade. For the Rangers everybody got in the action with Chancey and Dill proving themselves very classy runners. Allen Sugar, former Byrd High School player, started at quarterback for Kilgore and played a good game along with Francis and Dick Alexander.

FROLICKING SEA OTTERS PLAY TO LAND AND MARSH

Once Hunted Almost To Extinction, Animal Makes Amazing Comeback

By James D. White
(AP Newsfeatures Writer)

BIG SUR, Calif.—Every day off this lonely, rugged shore, one of the greatest shows on earth plays to an empty house.

This is the hangout of the only sizable herd of sea otters south of Alaska. Once hunted almost to extinction, this unusual animal is making a slow, protected comeback.

It still is shy. The herd of some 500 off Big Sur frolics safely out in heaving beds of kelp. In the rocking swell, the otters roll and chase each other like fat kittens playing on a cozy hearth. They are graceful, highly streamlined creatures, and grow almost five feet long.

They loaf a lot, floating on their backs with their short forepaws and flipered hind feet stuck up in the air. When the sun's glare keeps them awake, they cover their eyes with their paws and go to sleep anyway.

Extra smart otters wind themselves up in a strand of kelp so the current will not wash them away from the herd during a nap.

This animal is born in the kelp and as far as anyone knows lives and dies there. The California sub-species has not been seen ashore in a century. He can dive a hundred feet down for a juicy abalone or sea urchin, and when he brings his dinner up he lies back and enjoys it like a Roman emperor. He holds it in his "hands" and goes at it like a stenographer biting into a drug-store sandwich.

He likes clams too, but the big ones are too tough to crack with his teeth. So he brings up a flat rock with the clam, floats on his back and places the rock on his chest, and with both paws brings the clam down hard on the rock and breaks open his dinner.

Unhappily for photographers, these antics take place beyond the range of most cameras and are best watched through powerful binoculars.

However, Miss Edna M. Fisher, zoologist at San Francisco State College has spent most of her spare time during the past decade studying the Big Sur herd. Her reports to the American Journal of Mammology are the source of most of the above details.

The sea otter always has been a charmer. For more than 200 years his quaint habits captivated the tough sea hunters of the northern Pacific. This in no way deterred them from practically wiping him out along 7,000 miles of Pacific coast in a merciless pursuit for his valuable fur. The otter's fur was among the finest in the world. A single pelt would bring as much as $100.

From Lo[illegible] California to northern Japan, the sea otter lured adventurers. They wrote in their logs—along with their profits and shipwrecks—their amazement at the way this beast handles its food like a man, cared for its young like a woman, and behaved generally like a befurred mermaid.

More than one hunting captain, after slaying a mother otter for her pelt, tried to make a pet of her pup in a barrel of seawater. Always the pup grieved so loudly for its mother that it had to be killed or turned loose to starve. A ship's crew can take only so much wailing and mewing, noted one skipper.

It was virtually by accident. Her pictures, which she had been either giving away or displaying in a village drugstore, were taken to New York by friends and exhibited in a one-man show. They were an almost immediate hit.

Today museums and private collections all over the country own her works and a "genuine Moses" is highly valued by collectors.

The appeal of Grandma Moses' works seems to lie in their simplicity. And this at a time when the emphasis in art is on the abstract and psychological.

Mrs. Moses' naive and forceful paintings of landscapes have gained the following of art lovers who, after trying to see the beauty and deep meaning of many a modern work of art, have said, "We do not understand."

As would be suspected from her typical landscapes and straight-forward works, Grandma Moses is not a sophisticate. She has grown old gracefully.

With her gray hair piled on top of her oval-shaped head and tied in neat knots, plain rimless glasses with straight thin ear pieces resting on her long, straight nose, which adds grace to her wrinkled face, Grandma looks the typical octogenarian.

Her wardrobe consists chiefly of ginghams and calicos, and she prefers to wear gaily flowered aprons over them. While painting she is never without her sweater-type shawl.

Watching her go about on the hillside on which her house is built, the observer feels that Grandma is a part of the nature that surrounds her. She continually stoops to pick tiny flowers or flick away a dead leaf. Then again she will stop and point out to her visitor the far-away hills she has so often painted.

For Grandma Moses, life began at 72.

FRANCE STAYS IN CONTINUAL CRISIS OVER NEW CABINETS

Ultimate Clash Between De Gaulle And Communists Growing Nearer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Efforts of the group of "center" parties to hold France on a middle course between the right and left have developed into an almost continual political crisis. Premier Henry Queuille, a conservative, at present is in the saddle. But he is facing growing demands for new elections which would give a new majority in the legislature. Preston Grover, chief of the Paris bureau of the Associated Press, reviews the situation in the following week-end dispatch.)

By Preston Grover

PARIS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The ultimate clash of Communists and De Gaullists draws steadily nearer in France.

A wavering coalition of centrist parties gained a reprieve by settlement this week end of their shuffle over when to hold local elections.

With this reprieve there was a new wave of optimism that the battle of the two extremes might be postponed. Some hoped it might be blocked entirely. But waves of optimism in France have grown constantly smaller in recent months as coalition after coalition of centrist parties collapsed.

In this troubled pool both Communists and De Gaullists have found good fishing.

Probably most Americans and a great many Frenchmen want the middle government to succeed because they are afraid of what might come with failure. It is for that reason that many Frenchmen have approved postponing any kind of elections.

They feel certain that two center parties, the Socialists and Catholic popular Republicans, could easily be wiped out.

Most of the voters who once supported these two groups would go to Gen. Charles de Gaulle and his followers. A few Socialists would go to the Communists. Some Communists probably would go to De Gaulle as well, but the end result would be that two parties bitterly opposed would stand France to face in the government. Perhaps neither would have a majority in the national assembly and would have to bid for support of surviving remnants of other parties.

But the great thing feared is that these two rival political groups might clash not only in the assembly but in outright civil war. That is a thing frightening not only to Frenchmen but to all western powers. France is the continental keystone of the western bloc opposed to Russia. If France should be involved in civil war it would rip up the whole fabric of the western federation.

Observers in Europe noted two significant maneuvers of the past week. In Italy, a new militancy was pronounced by the Communist party. In France, the Communist party, which has been quiet on the question of holding new elections, suddenly turned about face. Now they demand elections. In France, that is a step toward the showdown.

France was scheduled to have elections in October for flocks of local officials, one group of whom would choose a third of the upper house of the national parliament, the council of the republic. The elections themselves were not vital but members of the assembly knew that the election drift would show clearly even in these local elections.

The Socialists were most in danger and wanted them postponed until next spring when, they hope, things may be better. They got their way. They not only got their way about elections, but they got their way about wage increases. Rightist elements in the middle of the road government wanted to stop wage increases so they could work at price stabilization.

But the Socialists, in bitter contest with the Communists for the labor vote, forced a wage increase of 15 per cent. It was not enough to meet increased costs of living, and it was accompanied by increases in the fixed price of bread and a half dozen other things, such as subway fares, that hit the workman hardest.

It was on that basis of give and take that the present government of Henri Queuille managed to weather the attack until he could get the assembly to take a vacation. Even America had to step in to unfreeze some 70,000,000,000 francs of European recovery money to give the wavering center rank a shot in the arm.

How long this shaky governmental structure could survive was a big question.

While watching it, Communists and De Gaullists began looking to the future.

There is no known figure of how many "militant" Communists there are in France; that is, those ready to go into the shambles to do or die for what their leaders tell them is the good of the Communist party. Figures of 200,000 to 400,000 are heard, but they are unofficial and may not be even approximately factual.

Jules Moch, minister of the interior in charge of police, declared that the De Gaullists on the other hand had a militant group of 15,000. Most observers thought that was a very small estimate.

Nobody accuses the De Gaullists of organizing for sabotage in the way of the Communists.

De Gaulle is strictly a Frenchman, not an internationalist. But his spokesmen admitted that bodies of "militants" had been organized in all parts of France to prevent Communists or others from breaking up their political meetings.

Police sources know that the Communists have lots of arms hidden away, but nobody expects the De Gaullists to depend on hidden arms. If a civil war comes, the great expectation is that De Gaulle will have the bulk of the army on his side.

To the Editor:

Let us make our State a free state and let all who care to vote—let them all vote for the ones they care to.

If the people would all go to Church and pray, they would cast all unkindness from their hearts. Maybe some day God will cast their names from the book of Heaven, so let us do unto others as God would do unto us all. I did not vote that ticket, but I believe everyone to suit themselves.

Here is hoping God will bless us all, for we all need his blessings.

SISTERS

Floors and walls have been redecorated at considerable cost. There has been space paved for the accommodation of 40 automobiles in the parking area on Wood street.

The new laundry is a model of beauty and utility. It has been housed in a new one-story brick fireproof building which is provided with a large number of windows for light and air. Nine employes are able, with the assistance of every possible labor saving mechanical device to care for the institution's needs in laundering. These include a huge ironing machine where a sheet a minute is taken from the washer and conditioned. As there are 150 beds in the hospital and a minimum of two sheets per bed are required, it will be seen that there is a total of 300 needed, but many days this number is greatly increased by emergencies. The washing machine is of latest design, there are special drying machines, the soap used is made on the spot. Exhaust fans are utilized and all facilities of a modern laundry installed.

The floor is cement and a huge boiler supplies all needed scalding water.

In the rear, are two small rooms for colored to meet special needs.

The laundry operates daily except Sunday from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The sisters' home is a three-story brick of attractive architecture. It is fireproof with rubber tile floors, all walls plastered. Floors are hardwood in all rooms. Lighting is of the best. An elevator operates from the first to the third floor. There are on the three floors a total of 21 bedrooms, and numerous private baths. An emergency kitchen is on the first floor but will not be used extensively as meals will be taken by the sisters in the main building.

Huge window fans are placed at the end of each long hall to insure ventilation and to keep the building cool in hot summer days. The heating is provided by an automatic steam plant as is the main building.

The ground floor has a community room and an office for mother superior and several bedrooms are to be in readiness for visiting sisters.

The building contains approximately 30 rooms in all, with ten on each floor.

When opened to the public on Tuesday, only a few of the rooms will be furnished as it has not been possible to get all the needed furniture placed in the short time allowed, for it was not known until Friday that the formal opening would take place as soon as Tuesday, and it has hurried the workmen in completing final touches and also the sisters have been unusually busy in the effort to get only a part of the rooms completely furnished.

As all know, St. Francis Sanitarium has become a vast enterprise and one meeting a great need in the community. The public is cordially invited to inspect and to become better acquainted with what is being accomplished in our midst in caring for ailing humanity. The sisters, working unselfishly for the cause nearest their hearts, are now after some years of struggling to make out with crowded facilities, to now enjoy a degree of comfort such as they have long toiled for and which the public will feel is indeed heartily deserved.

Tooke also predicted that the repeal of state civil service would be held unconstitutional.

The senate meets at 3 p. m. tomorrow and is expected rapidly to pass all the special session bills, including the one to restore President Truman's name to the Louisiana ballot, and a total of more than $7,000,000 in appropriations.

Principal appropriation measure is one intended to make school lunches throughout the state completely free.

over the past two years. We didn't hear a single word favorable to the U. N."

Vishinsky called on the assembly to set up "within the framework of the security council" an international control body to carry out reduction of armaments and armed forces of the United States, Russia, Britain, France and China. This proposed one-third slash would be put into effect within one year.

Delegates immediately noted that the phrase "within the framework of the security council" would give Russia a veto on the control body's decisions. Russia previously proposed such an arrangement for an international atomic control commission and it was opposed by the other four great powers.

The nub of Vishinsky's proposals came at the very end of his speech in these three plans:

1.—The assembly recommends to the Big Five, as the first step in the reduction of armaments and armed forces, to reduce by one-third during one year all present land, sea and air forces.

2.—The assembly recommends prohibition of atomic weapons as weapons intended for the aims of aggression and not for those of defense.

3.—The assembly recommends establishment within the framework of the security council an international control body for the purpose of supervising and controlling the implementation of the measures for the reduction of armaments and armed forces and for the prohibition of atomic weapons.

Vishinsky said after months of debate U. N. efforts to control atomic energy and slash armaments have not moved one inch. He blamed this all on the western powers.

On the atomic issue, he said it was clear that the real reason for the attitude of the western powers "was that the United States deemed it necessary to retain the threat of the use of atomic weapons as a key factor in the cold war against Russia."

He said the United States plans to spend billions of dollars in the military budget in the next five years. He added sarcastically:

"This is the United States' five-year plan, gentlemen."

FRANCE

workers not to bow to the Communist compaign against his government.

Communist labor leaders pursued the opposite course.

They threatened to tie up the coal mines in an unlimited general strike Oct. 4. They said they already had 100,000 men on strike in various industries throughout the nation. In addition a 24-hour utility strike throughout the country was threatened for Oct. 1.

Scorning the 15 per cent wage increase granted by Queuille, the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor asked for 36 per cent.

The Communist leaders also issued a communique charging the government's wage increase was a screen to mask new price increases and was "a policy of cannibals."

The increased labor pressure came just after Queuille had managed to survive a bitter legislative quarrel over when to hold local elections. The national assembly voted 299 to 274 to postpone election from next month until next March, thus apparently ending the complex series of actions in which the assembly repeatedly reversed itself.

Then the assembly voted to go on vacation tomorrow for a month. That was to the liking of Queuille who thus is given a breathing spell of at least a month to consolidate his two-weeks-old government.

Non-Communist unions also were dissatisfied with Queuille's wage and price program, but they were less violent about it and were not trying to bring about the fall of the government.

The General Confederation of Labor, however, coupled its wage demands with a plea for a new government that would include Communists.

The Christian Union Federation also termed the 15 per cent wage increase insufficient to cover recent increases in food and other prices. It did not call for strike action, however.

The final discussion to defer the elections until March came on a Communist motion to schedule the elections for October. De Gaullists voted with the Communists because they believe they would win sweeping successes if elections were held now.

Louisiana which will receive an assignment of these workers and it has been the result of many weeks of negotiations between W. O. Ewing, secretary of the Madison Parish Chamber of Commerce and government agencies and a trip to Monterey. Ewing leaves by plane Saturday to complete the final arrangements.

The 1,200 Mexican Nationals assigned to Madison parish are selected agricultural workers who will come by commercial transport under 90 day contract. The fifteen planters will furnish their transportation to and from the recruiting station in Montrerey, provide adequate quarters according to the requirements of the Mexican government and will pay the prevailing wages for cotton picking. Two hundred forty men are expected Sunday and the remainder of the quota will arrive at weekly intervals.

FIRE ALARMS

Firemen of the twin cities were strictly on the move yesterday as grass fires continued to rage throughout the day. Firemen said the seasonal drying and maturing of the grass, which renders the grass more highly inflammable, is to blame for the continued flare-up of grass fires. Twin city firemen were called to a total of 15 yesterday. The fires and company or companies answering were:

Firemen of company 4 answered a call yesterday at 11:20 a. m. to the 100 block of Polignac street where they reported a grass fire.

Firemen of company 3 extinguished a grass fire on the 1300 block of Forsythe avenue at 11:27 a. m.

A grass fire at the 3600 block of Jackson street was quelled by firemen of company 4. No damage was reported.

A grass fire on Highway 80 in West Monroe was extinguished at 1:25 p. m. yesterday by firemen of companies 3 and 11.

Companies 1 and 2 were called to the 400 block of DeSiard street yesterday at 1:58 p. m. They reported a grass fire which did no damage.

At 2:07 p. m. firemen of company 5 went out on Sterlington road where another grass fire was reported but no damage was done, firemen reported.

A grass fire on the 2000 block of DeSiard street was extinguished by firemen of companies 2 and 3 yesterday at 3.55 p. m.

Another grass fire on Highway 80 in West Monroe was called in and firemen of company 11 were sent out. They reported no damage.

West Monroe firemen answered five grass fires yesterday, the first being at 10:00 a. m., when they went to 604 Cryer street.

At 11:30 a. m. West Monroe firemen went to 208 South Riverfront street where they reported a grass fire which did no damage.

Firemen of the West Monroe fire department extinguished a grass fire at 511 Cypress street yesterday at 2:22 p. m. yesterday.

A grass fire at the intersection of Cason and Browning streets, was extinguished by West Monroe firemen at 2:45 p. m.

West Monroe firemen went to the intersection of South Fifth and Stuart streets where they reported a grass fire at 3 p. m.

"Why, what is all this about?" asked the amazed physician.

"I want to ride back to Monroe with you. Nobody is sick. Your fee is smaller than that charged by taxi men," he declared, "so I choose you by preference!"

R. W. Germany was hard boiled during the days of OPA he admits, but one local veterinarian cracked the shell of the hard boiled egg, figuratively speaking.

He was approached by said veterinarian who made insistent demand for a larger allotment of gasoline.

"But you are getting as much as any physician gets," he was informed.

"That is true, but I can't set my patients down in a waiting room till I can get to attend to their cases. When a mule has a sudden case of colic, I have to get there right NOW!"

His argument won his case. He got the additional gas he sought.

Way up in Massachusetts at the university of that state located in Amherst, Ouachita parish will be represented in the eighth annual production-marketing contest. Those from this section who will enter in the competition are Modall M. Lenard and Myrle J. Kilpatrick, both of West Monroe, and Mary Lou Mechum of Downsville.

The local entrants are competing with boys and girls from 43 other states for the A and P Food Stores' six thousand dollar scholarship funds provided annually from these contests. The awards include a $500 national championship prize, four $200 regional awards, thirty-three sectional awards of $100 each and four $10 awards in each state. The awards are made at the association's annual convention—this year to be held in Detroit, December 6-9.

The program, for junior growers from 14 to 21 years of age, stresses improved and more efficient methods of production and marketing as applied to vegetables. In making the announcement, Professor G. B. Snyder, adult advisor, states that the contest has special interest in Ouachita parish which annually markets vegetable crops valued at $64,000.

and if they stay above 10,000 feet we don't care how many planes they have in the air around here."

Four-power flight rules require such planes to fly above 10,000 feet. Today's Soviet announcement did not mention at what aftitude the flights were planned.

The British said they intend to experiment with hauling fuel oil into Berlin by air. A tanker version of their Avrotudor cargo plane will make the first flight within the next two days. If it is successful other flights will be inaugurated to step up the oil supply for Berlin's heating and power installations.

The political war of words continued.

The Soviet news agency said City Councillor Waldemar Schmidt of the Communist-led Socialist Unity party (SED) had rejected a summons by the Socialist-dominated city council to discuss his refusal to register tariff treaties in his labor department.

The agency said Schmidt would be willing to do so only in the "traditional meeting house" of the city legislators. The western members refuse to meet there—in the Soviet sector—on the grounds the Russians will not provide protection against Communist rioters who disrupted previous sessions.

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Cotton futures were easy today in slow dealings under light but persistent pressure of hedging and scattered liquidation.

Traders generally remained pessimistic on the outlook for cotton textiles despite a statement by the president of the cotton textile institute in which he predicted substantially larger bookings of cotton goods in the fourth quarter, compared with the third.

There was some further evening up in nearby October, anticipating first notice day for October contracts next Tuesday. Nearby deliveries received some support through mill buying.

Futures closed ten cents a bale higher to 35 cents lower than the previous close.

STATE COURT ORDERS FREEING OF MOTHER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Illinois supreme court has ordered the freeing of a young mother who was sentenced to 50 years in prison for the shotgun slaying of her husband.

She is Mrs. Lois Willson, 24, of Fairfield, who was convicted in March, 1947 on testimony of her three year old son, Linden Lee, of murdering her husband, Leon, 29.

Mrs. Willson had told the coroner that her husband was shot by Linden Lee when a shotgun he was playing with discharged accidentally. The child had said "mommy shot daddy."

The supreme court, in reversing the Wayne County district court conviction, said the only evidence that Mrs. Willson fired the shot were statements by her son.

"We have yet to find where the testimony of a child younger than six years of age has been admitted in the courts," the supreme court said.

Tensas Parish Yielder Is Week's Top Producer

Two Old Wells Abandoned In Richland And Union Parishes; Eight New Locations Are Sited By Drillers In Four Parishes

Three new producers were brought in last week, two old wells abandoned and ten new locations staked out by drillers in Morehouse, Union and Madison parishes, according to the weekly Louisiana Department of Conservation's report revealed here yesterday.

The California Company's No. 1 in 43-9-10E of the Lake St. John field in Tensas parish, topepd the other new yielders with 311-barrel daily average. The No. 1 was brought in at 9,205 feet with an open choke.

Another producer, also owned by the California Company, their Pan American Community No. 5 in 4-9-19E of the Lake St. John field in Concordia parish, was brought in with an output of 87 barrels per day at 3,404 feet.

The only other producer, the Placid Oil Company's Tremont Lumber Company B-7 in 10-9-1E of the Zenoria field in Grant parish, yielded 48 barrels per day at 1,513 feet.

The two old wells abandoned were: The Carter Oil Company's Frost Lumber Industry No. 2 in 9-21-1W of the Ora field in Union parish, and the Murphy Sun Oil Company's J. E. Holt No. 49 of the Delhi field in Richland parish. Located in 31-17-9E, the No. 49 was abandoned at 3,638 feet.

Eight new locations were sited in four parishes. They were:

LaSalle parish, Tullos Urania field: The Arkansas Fuel Oil Company-Tremont Lumber Company No. C-30 in 2-9-1E.

Morehouse parish, The South C. C.-Ten Delta No. B-13 in 10-22-4E, and the South C. C.-Ten Delta No. B-16 in 3-22-4E.

Union parish: The United Carbon Company's Frost Lumber Industries No. D-1 and D-2, both in 8-21-3E; the Dan Lester Oil Company's M. B. Tucker No. 2 in 27-22-1W of the Ora field; the Shell Oil Company's Travis Rockett Core Hole No. 1 in 14-22-2W; the Bagley and Calhoun Company's Hudson No. 1 in 8-23-1E; the Midstates Oil Corp.'s Frost Lumber Industry No. 3 in 19-23-1E.

LA. OIL ALLOWABLE DECLINES FOR OCT.

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Louisiana's oil production allowable showed a decline for the first time in two and a half years.

Commissioner of Conservation S. L. Digby set the figure for October at 539,059 barrels, compared with the September figure of 540,791. The allowable represents the total daily production permitted for all the wells in the state.

The allowable has been increasing steadily since April, 1946, when it was 398,022 barrels. It reached the half-million mark last January.

The October allowable by districts is:

Houma 79,547; Lafayette 140,142, Lake Charles 67,581, New Orleans 115,701, Monroe 86,420 and Shreveport 49,668.

CHARGE RADIO THEFT

Ultimate Clash Between De Gaulle And Communists Growing Nearer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Efforts of the group of "center" parties to hold France on a middle course between the right and left have developed into an almost continual political crisis. Premier Henry Queuille, a conservative, at present is in the saddle. But he is facing growing demands for new elections which would give a new majority in the legislature. Preston Grover, chief of the Paris bureau of the Associated Press, reviews the situation in the following week-end dispatch.)

By Preston Grover

PARIS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The ultimate clash of Communists and De Gaullists draws steadily nearer in France.

A wavering coalition of centrist parties gained a reprieve by settlement this week end of their shuffle over when to hold local elections.

With this reprieve there was a new wave of optimism that the battle of the two extremes might be postponed. Some hoped it might be blocked entirely. But waves of optimism in France have grown constantly smaller in recent months as coalition after coalition of centrist parties collapsed.

In this troubled pool both Communists and De Gaullists have found good fishing.

Probably most Americans and a great many Frenchmen want the middle government to succeed because they are afraid of what might come with failure. It is for that reason that many Frenchmen have approved postponing any kind of elections.

They feel certain that two center parties, the Socialists and Catholic popular Republicans, could easily be wiped out.

Most of the voters who once supported these two groups would go to Gen. Charles de Gaulle and his followers. A few Socialists would go to the Communists. Some Communists probably would go to De Gaulle as well, but the end result would be that two parties bitterly opposed would stand France to face in the government. Perhaps neither would have a majority in the national assembly and would have to bid for support of surviving remnants of other parties.

But the great thing feared is that these two rival political groups might clash not only in the assembly but in outright civil war. That is a thing frightening not only to Frenchmen but to all western powers. France is the continental keystone of the western bloc opposed to Russia. If France should be involved in civil war it would rip up the whole fabric of the western federation.

Observers in Europe noted two significant maneuvers of the past week. In Italy, a new militancy was pronounced by the Communist party. In France, the Communist party, which has been quiet on the question of holding new elections, suddenly turned about face. Now they demand elections. In France, that is a step toward the showdown.

France was scheduled to have elections in October for flocks of local officials, one group of whom would choose a third of the upper house of the national parliament, the council of the republic. The elections themselves were not vital but members of the assembly knew that the election drift would show clearly even in these local elections.

The Socialists were most in danger and wanted them postponed until next spring when, they hope, things may be better. They got their way. They not only got their way about elections, but they got their way about wage increases. Rightist elements in the middle of the road government wanted to stop wage increases so they could work at price stabilization.

But the Socialists, in bitter contest with the Communists for the labor vote, forced a wage increase of 15 per cent. It was not enough to meet increased costs of living, and it was accompanied by increases in the fixed price of bread and a half dozen other things, such as subway fares, that hit the workman hardest.

It was on that basis of give and take that the present government of Henri Queuille managed to weather the attack until he could get the assembly to take a vacation. Even America had to step in to unfreeze some 70,000,000,000 francs of European recovery money to give the wavering center rank a shot in the arm.

How long this shaky governmental structure could survive was a big question.

While watching it, Communists and De Gaullists began looking to the future.

There is no known figure of how many "militant" Communists there are in France; that is, those ready to go into the shambles to do or die for what their leaders tell them is the good of the Communist party. Figures of 200,000 to 400,000 are heard, but they are unofficial and may not be even approximately factual.

Jules Moch, minister of the interior in charge of police, declared that the De Gaullists on the other hand had a militant group of 15,000. Most observers thought that was a very small estimate.

Nobody accuses the De Gaullists of organizing for sabotage in the way of the Communists.

De Gaulle is strictly a Frenchman, not an internationalist. But his spokesmen admitted that bodies of "militants" had been organized in all parts of France to prevent Communists or others from breaking up their political meetings.

Police sources know that the Communists have lots of arms hidden away, but nobody expects the De Gaullists to depend on hidden arms. If a civil war comes, the great expectation is that De Gaulle will have the bulk of the army on his side.

ASKS FREE VOTE

Monroe, La.
September 26, 1948

To the Editor:

Let us make our State a free state and let all who care to vote—let them all vote for the ones they care to.

If the people would all go to Church and pray, they would cast all unkindness from their hearts. Maybe some day God will cast their names from the book of Heaven, so let us do unto others as God would do unto us all. I did not vote that ticket, but I believe everyone to suit themselves.

Here is hoping God will bless us all, for we all need his blessings.

Floors and walls have been redecorated at considerable cost. There has been space paved for the accommodation of 40 automobiles in the parking area on Wood street.

The new laundry is a model of beauty and utility. It has been housed in a new one-story brick fireproof building which is provided with a large number of windows for light and air. Nine employes are able, with the assistance of every possible labor saving mechanical device to care for the institution's needs in laundering. These include a huge ironing machine where a sheet a minute is taken from the washer and conditioned. As there are 150 beds in the hospital and a minimum of two sheets per bed are required, it will be seen that there is a total of 300 needed, but many days this number is greatly increased by emergencies. The washing machine is of latest design, there are special drying machines, the soap used is made on the spot. Exhaust fans are utilized and all facilities of a modern laundry installed.

The floor is cement and a huge boiler supplies all needed scalding water.

In the rear, are two small rooms for colored to meet special needs.

The laundry operates daily except Sunday from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The sisters' home is a three-story brick of attractive architecture. It is fireproof with rubber tile floors, all walls plastered. Floors are hardwood in all rooms. Lighting is of the best. An elevator operates from the first to the third floor. There are on the three floors a total of 21 bedrooms, and numerous private baths. An emergency kitchen is on the first floor but will not be used extensively as meals will be taken by the sisters in the main building.

Huge window fans are placed at the end of each long hall to insure ventilation and to keep the building cool in hot summer days. The heating is provided by an automatic steam plant as is the main building.

The ground floor has a community room and an office for mother superior and several bedrooms are to be in readiness for visiting sisters.

The building contains approximately 30 rooms in all, with ten on each floor.

When opened to the public on Tuesday, only a few of the rooms will be furnished as it has not been possible to get all the needed furniture placed in the short time allowed, for it was not known until Friday that the formal opening would take place as soon as Tuesday, and it has hurried the workmen in completing final touches and also the sisters have been unusually busy in the effort to get only a part of the rooms completely furnished.

As all know, St. Francis Sanitarium has become a vast enterprise and one meeting a great need in the community. The public is cordially invited to inspect and to become better acquainted with what is being accomplished in our midst in caring for ailing humanity. The sisters, working unselfishly for the cause nearest their hearts, are now after some years of struggling to make out with crowded facilities, to now enjoy a degree of comfort such as they have long toiled for and which the public will feel is indeed heartily deserved.

the majority of a city civil service commission.

Tooke also predicted that the repeal of state civil service would be held unconstitutional.

The senate meets at 3 p. m. tomorrow and is expected rapidly to pass all the special session bills, including the one to restore President Truman's name to the Louisiana ballot, and a total of more than $7,000,000 in appropriations.

Principal appropriation measure is one intended to make school lunches throughout the state completely free.

over the past two years. We didn't hear a single word favorable to the U. N."

Vishinsky called on the assembly to set up "within the framework of the security council" an international control body to carry out reduction of armaments and armed forces of the United States, Russia, Britain, France and China. This proposed one-third slash would be put into effect within one year.

Delegates immediately noted that the phrase "within the framework of the security council" would give Russia a veto on the control body's decisions. Russia previously proposed such an arrangement for an international atomic control commission and it was opposed by the other four great powers.

The nub of Vishinsky's proposals came at the very end of his speech in these three plans:

1.—The assembly recommends to the Big Five, as the first step in the reduction of armaments and armed forces, to reduce by one-third during one year all present land, sea and air forces.

2.—The assembly recommends prohibition of atomic weapons as weapons intended for the aims of aggression and not for those of defense.

3.—The assembly recommends establishment within the framework of the security council an international control body for the purpose of supervising and controlling the implementation of the measures for the reduction of armaments and armed forces and for the prohibition of atomic weapons.

Vishinsky said after months of debate U. N. efforts to control atomic energy and slash armaments have not moved one inch. He blamed this all on the western powers.

On the atomic issue, he said it was clear that the real reason for the attitude of the western powers "was that the United States deemed it necessary to retain the threat of the use of atomic weapons as a key factor in the cold war against Russia."

He said the United States plans to spend billions of dollars in the military budget in the next five years. He added sarcastically:

FRANCE

workers not to bow to the Communist compaign against his government.

Communist labor leaders pursued the opposite course.

They threatened to tie up the coal mines in an unlimited general strike Oct. 4. They said they already had 100,000 men on strike in various industries throughout the nation. In addition a 24-hour utility strike throughout the country was threatened for Oct. 1.

Scorning the 15 per cent wage increase granted by Queuille, the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor asked for 36 per cent.

The Communist leaders also issued a communique charging the government's wage increase was a screen to mask new price increases and was "a policy of cannibals."

The increased labor pressure came just after Queuille had managed to survive a bitter legislative quarrel over when to hold local elections. The national assembly voted 299 to 274 to postpone election from next month until next March, thus apparently ending the complex series of actions in which the assembly repeatedly reversed itself.

Then the assembly voted to go on vacation tomorrow for a month. That was to the liking of Queuille who thus is given a breathing spell of at least a month to consolidate his two-weeks-old government.

Non-Communist unions also were dissatisfied with Queuille's wage and price program, but they were less violent about it and were not trying to bring about the fall of the government.

The General Confederation of Labor, however, coupled its wage demands with a plea for a new government that would include Communists.

The Christian Union Federation also termed the 15 per cent wage increase insufficient to cover recent increases in food and other prices. It did not call for strike action, however.

The final discussion to defer the elections until March came on a Communist motion to schedule the elections for October. De Gaullists voted with the Communists because they believe they would win sweeping successes if elections were held now.

Louisiana which will receive an assignment of these workers and it has been the result of many weeks of negotiations between W. O. Ewing, secretary of the Madison Parish Chamber of Commerce and government agencies and a trip to Monterrey. Ewing leaves by plane Saturday to complete the final arrangements.

The 1,200 Mexican Nationals assigned to Madison parish are selected agricultural workers who will come by commercial transport under 90 day contract. The fifteen planters will furnish their transportation to and from the recruiting station in Monterrey, provide adequate quarters according to the requirements of the Mexican government and will pay the prevailing wages for cotton picking. Two hundred forty men are expected Sunday and the remainder of the quota will arrive at weekly intervals.

FIRE ALARMS

Firemen of the twin cities were strictly on the move yesterday as grass fires continued to rage throughout the day. Firemen said the seasonal drying and maturing of the grass, which renders the grass more highly inflammable, is to blame for the continued flare-up of grass fires. Twin city firemen were called to a total of 15 yesterday. The fires and company or companies answering were:

Firemen of company 4 answered a call yesterday at 11:20 a. m. to the 100 block of Polignac street where they reported a grass fire.

Firemen of company 3 extinguished a grass fire on the 1300 block of Forsythe avenue at 11:27 a. m.

A grass fire at the 3600 block of Jackson street was quelled by firemen of company 4. No damage was reported.

A grass fire on Highway 80 in West Monroe was extinguished at 1:25 p. m. yesterday by firemen of companies 3 and 11.

Companies 1 and 2 were called to the 400 block of DeSiard street yesterday at 1:58 p. m. They reported a grass fire which did no damage.

At 2:07 p. m. firemen of company 5 went out on Sterlington road where another grass fire was reported but no damage was done, firemen reported.

A grass fire on the 2900 block of DeSiard street was extinguished by firemen of companies 2 and 3 yesterday at 3:55 p. m.

Another gras. fire on Highway 80 in West Monroe was called in and firemen of company 11 were sent out. They reported no damage.

West Monroe firemen answered five grass fires yesterday, the first being at 10:00 a. m., when they went to 604 Cryer street.

At 11:30 a. m. West Monroe firemen went to 208 South Riverfront street where they reported a grass fire which did no damage.

Firemen of the West Monroe fire department extinguished a grass fire at 511 Cypress street yesterday at 2:22 p. m. yesterday.

A grass fire at the intersection of Cason and Browning streets, was extinguished by West Monroe firemen at 2:45 p. m.

West Monroe firemen went to the intersection of South Fifth and Stuart streets where they reported a grass fire at 3 p. m.

"Why, what is all this about?" asked the amazed physician.

"I want to ride back to Monroe with you. Nobody is sick. Your fee is smaller than that charged by taxi men," he declared, "so I choose you by preference!"

R. W. Germany was hard boiled during the days of OPA he admits, but one local veterinarian cracked the shell of the hard boiled egg, figuratively speaking.

He was approached by said veterinarian who made insistent demand for a larger allotment of gasoline.

"But you are getting as much as any physician gets," he was informed.

"That is true, but I can't set my patients down in a waiting room till I can get to attend to their cases. When a mule has a sudden case of colic, I have to get there right NOW!"

His argument won his case. He got the additional gas he sought.

Way up in Massachusetts at the university of that state located in Amherst, Ouachita parish will be represented in the eighth annual production-marketing contest. Those from this section who will enter in the competition are Modall M. Lenard and Myrle J. Kilpatrick, both of West Monroe, and Mary Lou Mechum of Downsville.

The local entrants are competing with boys and girls from 43 other states for the A and P Food Stores' six thousand dollar scholarship funds provided annually from these contests. The awards include a $500 national championship prize, four $200 regional awards, thirty-three sectional awards of $100 each and four $10 awards in each state. The awards are made at the association's annual convention—this year to be held in Detroit, December 6-9.

The program, for junior growers from 14 to 21 years of age, stresses improved and more efficient methods of production and marketing as applied to vegetables. In making the announcement, Professor G. B. Snyder, adult advisor, states that the contest has special interest in Ouachita parish which annually markets vegetable crops valued at $64,000.

and if they stay above 10,000 feet we don't care how many planes they have in the air around here."

Four-power flight rules require such planes to fly above 10,000 feet. Today's Soviet announcement did not mention at what altitude the flights were planned.

The British said they intend to experiment with hauling fuel oil into Berlin by air. A tanker version of their Avrotudor cargo plane will make the first flight within the next two days. If it is successful other flights will be inaugurated to step up the oil supply for Berlin's heating and power installations.

The political war of words continued.

The Soviet news agency said City Councillor Waldemar Schmidt of the Communist-led Socialist Unity party (SED) had rejected a summons by the Socialist-dominated city council to discuss his refusal to register tariff treaties in his labor department.

The agency said Schmidt would be willing to do so only in the "traditional meeting house" of the city legislators. The western members refuse to meet there—in the Soviet sector—on the grounds the Russians will not provide protection against Communist rioters who disrupted previous sessions.

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Cotton futures declined here today under week-end long liquidations and hedge selling. Closing prices were steady ten cents to 30 cents a bale lower.

Trading was quiet through the short Saturday session.

All cotton markets will return to regular trading hours Monday morning, opening at 9 a.m., central standard time, and closing at 2 p.m. except on Saturdays when the close will be at 11 a.m.

Spot cotton remained unchanged with middling 15/16ths-inch quoted at 31.10 cents a pound. Local sales amounted to 3,000 bales.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady unchanged. Sales 3,000, low middling 25.60; middling 31.10; good middling 31.40.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets was five cents a bale lower at 31.14 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 31.99; middling 7/8ths-inch average 28.77.

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Cotton futures were easy today in slow dealings under light but persistent pressure of hedging and scattered liquidation.

Traders generally remained pessimistic on the outlook for cotton textiles despite a statement by the president of the cotton textile institute in which he predicted substantially larger bookings of cotton goods in the fourth quarter, compared with the third.

There was some further evening up in nearby October, anticipating first notice day for October contracts next Tuesday. Nearby deliveries received some support through mill buying.

Futures closed ten cents a bale higher to 35 cents lower than the previous close.

STATE COURT ORDERS FREEING OF MOTHER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Illinois supreme court has ordered the freeing of a young mother who was sentenced to 50 years in prison for the shotgun slaying of her husband.

She is Mrs. Lois Willson, 24, of Fairfield, who was convicted in March, 1947 on testimony of her three year old son, Linden Lee, of murdering her husband, Leon, 29.

Mrs. Willson had told the coroner that her husband was shot by Linden Lee when a shotgun he was playing with discharged accidentally. The child had said "mommy shot daddy."

The supreme court, in reversing the Wayne County district court conviction, said the only evidence that Mrs. Willson fired the shot were statements by her son.

"We have yet to find where the testimony of a child younger than six years of age has been admitted in the courts," the supreme court said.

Tensas Parish Yielder Is Week's Top Producer

Two Old Wells Abandoned In Richland And Union Parishes; Eight New Locations Are Sited By Drillers In Four Parishes

Three new producers were brought in last week, two old wells abandoned and ten new locations staked out by drillers in Morehouse, Union and Madison parishes, according to the weekly Louisiana Department of Conservation's report revealed here yesterday.

The California Company's No. 1 in 43-9-10E of the Lake St. John field in Tensas parish, topepd the other new yielders with 311-barrel daily average. The No. 1 was brought in at 9,205 feet with an open choke.

Another producer, also owned by the California Company, their Pan American Community No. 5 in 4-9-10E of the Lake St. John field in Concordia parish, was brought in with an output of 87 barrels per day at 3,404 feet.

The only other producer, the Placid Oil Company's Tremont Lumber Company B-7 in 10-9-1E of the Zenoria field in Grant parish, yielded 48 barrels per day at 1,513 feet.

The two old wells abandoned were: The Carter Oil Company's Frost Lumber Industry No. 2 in 9-21-1W of the Ora field in Union parish, and the Murphy Sun Oil Company's J. E. Holt No. 49 of the Delhi field in Richland parish. Located in 31-17-9E, the No. 49 was abandoned at 3,638 feet.

Eight new locations were sited in four parishes. They were:

LaSalle parish, Tullos Urania field: The Arkansas Fuel Oil Company-Tremont Lumber Company No. C-30 in 2-9-1E.

Morehouse parish, The South C. C.-Ten Delta No. B-13 in 10-22-4E, and the South C. C.-Ten Delta No. B-16 in 3-22-4E.

Union parish: The United Carbon Company's Frost Lumber Industries No. D-1 and D-2, both in 8-21-3E; the Dan Lester Oil Company's M. B. LA. OIL ALLOWABLE DECLINES FOR OCT.

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Louisiana's oil production allowable showed a decline for the first time in two and a half years.

Commissioner of Conservation S. L. Digby set the figure for October at 539,059 barrels, compared with the September figure of 540,791. The allowable represents the total daily production permitted for all the wells in the state.

The allowable has been increasing steadily since April, 1946, when it was 398,022 barrels. It reached the half-million mark last January.

The October allowable by districts is:

Houma 79,547; Lafayette 140,142, Lake Charles 67,581, New Orleans 115,701, Monroe 86,420 and Shreveport 49,668.

DR. WILLIAM HAND PASSES IN MISS.

Famous College Agriculture Scientist Dies Following Long Illness

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Sept. 25.—Dr. William Flowers Hand, 74, prominent Mississippi agriculture scientist, and vice-president of Mississippi State College, died today following a long illness.

He was born in Shubuta, Miss., Dec. 1, 1873.

His connection with the Mississippi State College began 55 years ago when he was named an instructor in chemistry. He was made professor of chemistry in 1899, the title carying with it by law the dual duties of professor and state chemist.

He was named dean of the school of science in 1916 and vice-president of Mississippi State College in 1935.

Well known in the field of chemistry, Dr. Hand had served as president of the Association of American Feed Control officials, and the south central states food, feed, drug and health officials. He is listed in Who's Who in America.

During the time he served the state, Dr. Hand prepared all regulatory feed, fertilizer, pain, food and drug and petroleum laws for Mississippi and designed laboratory equipment of great value.

The Mississippi State College chemical laboratory was designed and built under his direction and is dedicated to him.

His laboratory won the Smalley Foundation award cup many times for best work done in oil and ammonia and was awarded the American Chemical Society Herty medal and the award of distinction of the Mississippi farm bureau federation for outstanding service to agriculture.

Many of his laboratory inventions were valuable although none were patented. He built a fat extractor before there were others on the market, making possible almost complete recovery of ethyl ether and a great monetary saving.

The death of the frail little professor, who declined high honors and positions "to stay with my lab and teach my boys," was announced to the faculty and students by President Fred Mitchell.

"A great man has fallen in our midst," Dr. Mitchell said. "Dr. Hand stands alone in service to Mississippi State College and in the love and esteem of the faculty, students and alumni. Truly, we shall not look upon his like again."

Dr. Hand's body will be taken tomorrow night to the chapel in Lee Hall to rest on the spot where he faced the student body on formal occasions for more than 50 years. An honor guard of R. O. T. C. cadets will keep vigil over the flag-draped casket.

The body will lie in state on Monday from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m. Funeral exercises will start at 10:30 a. m. with Dr. John R. Countiss of Galloway Memorial Church, Jackson, in charge. Burial will be at Enterprise, Miss., at 3 p. m.

KINDERGARTEN OPENS

The Martin Temple kindergarten will open Monday morning at 9 a. m. at the Martin Temple Church. Katie Kennedy will be supervisor and Rev. E. R. Coleman, pastor.

DR. WILLIAM HAND PASSES IN MISS.

Famous College Agriculture Scientist Dies Following Long Illness

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Sept. 25.—Dr. William Flowers Hand, 74, prominent Mississippi agriculture scientist, and vice-president of Mississippi State College, died today following a long illness.

He was born in Shubuta, Miss., Dec. 1, 1873.

His connection with the Mississippi State College began 55 years ago when he was named an instructor in chemistry. He was made professor of chemistry in 1899, the title carying with it by law the dual duties of professor and state chemist.

He was named dean of the school of science in 1916 and vice-president of Mississippi State College in 1935.

Well known in the field of chemistry, Dr. Hand had served as president of the Association of American Feed Control officials, and the south central states food, feed, drug and health officials. He is listed in Who's Who in America.

During the time he served the state, Dr. Hand prepared all regulatory feed, fertilizer, pain, food and drug and petroleum laws for Mississippi and designed laboratory equipment of great value.

The Mississippi State College chemical laboratory was designed and built under his direction and is dedicated to him.

His laboratory won the Smalley Foundation award cup many times for best work done in oil and ammonia and was awarded the American Chemical Society Herty medal and the award of distinction of the Mississippi farm bureau federation for outstanding service to agriculture.

Many of his laboratory inventions were valuable although none were patented. He built a fat extractor before there were others on the market, making possible almost complete recovery of ethyl ether and a great monetary saving.

The death of the frail little professor, who declined high honors and positions "to stay with my lab and teach my boys," was announced to the faculty and students by President Fred Mitchell.

"A great man has fallen in our midst," Dr. Mitchell said. "Dr. Hand stands alone in service to Mississippi State College and in the love and esteem of the faculty, students and alumni. Truly, we shall not look upon his like again."

Dr. Hand's body will be taken tomorrow night to the chapel in Lee Hall to rest on the spot where he faced the student body on formal occasions for more than 50 years. An honor guard of R. O. T. C. cadets will keep vigil over the flag-draped casket.

The body will lie in state on Monday from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m. Funeral exercises will start at 10:30 a. m. with Dr. John R. Countiss of Galloway Memorial Church, Jackson, in charge. Burial will be at Enterprise, Miss., at 3 p. m.

KINDERGARTEN OPENS

The Martin Temple kindergarten will open Monday morning at 9 a. m. at the Martin Temple Church. Katie Kennedy will be supervisor and Rev. E. R. Coleman, pastor.

CARD OF THANKS
Words could never express our everlasting gratitude to those who so lovingly stood by us in the extended illness and homegoing of our beloved brother, Randolph, and for the many beautiful floral offerings and expressions of sympathy in any way.
We especially wish to thank Brothers Kitchenham and Acord for their consoling words and beautiful prayers, the choir for their hymns and music, the doctors and nurses of Caldwell Hospital, and the Riser Funeral Home, all of which makes our sorrow lighter to bear.
May God's richest blessings abide with each of you.

41—Money To Loan

CASH $25 to $1,000
Your way—and Fast
It's simple as A-B-C. Just do this:
A—Tell us how much you need and a few facts about your credit and job—in person or by phone if you're busy.
B—Then you sign without endorsers and get the cash. Proof: 4 out of 5 who ask us for a loan, get it!
C—Then repay in monthly installments which you select to fit your purse.
Phone or visit George Keene, Personal's YES MAN. He says "Yes" to 4 out of 5.

RUDOLPH GANZ IS SCHEDULED

Will Appear Here October 22; Has International Reputation

The Musical Coterie of Monroe and the Hewitt-Dew Music Company take pride in announcing the coming of Rudolph Ganz, world-renowned concert pianist, teacher, composer and conductor. Mr. Ganz will be presented in recital and will also conduct a master class during his visit to Monroe.

The recital will be given in the auditorium of Brown Hall, Northeast Junior College, Friday, October 22, at 8:15 p. m. The master class, two hours in length, will be held at the college on Saturday, October 23 at 9:30 a. m. Auditors, as well as performers, are welcome.

Rudolph Ganz was born in Zurich, Switzerland. Versatile even as a boy, he stepped before his first audience, not as a pianist or conductor, but as a 'cellist. That was five years before he apeared, at the age of 17, with the Municipal Orchestra in Lausanne to play Beethoven's C Minor Piano Concerto. The success of the event determined him to specialize on this instrument. After further study with noted teachers in Strasbourg, and with Busoni in Berlin, came his official debut as a pianist. His performance of three concerti with the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, one evening in December, 1899, at once established his prestige. Just four months after that event Rudolph Ganz reappeared with the Berlin Philharmonic—this time to conduct his own Symphony in E. An offer to become head of the piano department of the Chicago Musical College followed. There he taught for five years.

It was in February, 1906, that Rudolph Ganz was first heard in New York with the New York Symphony Orchestra under Felix Weingartner. He had firmly established his prestige as a brilliant pianist with American audiences when he was invited to appear as guest-conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in 1921. His immediate success brought about his engagement as permanent conductor and he remained in St. Louis until the end of his sixth season, when he resigned. A call to Chicago brought him the presidency of the Chicago Musical College, but this prominent position has not impaired his popularity as guest-conductor or pianist.

Mr. Ganz has appeared as sololst with practically every symphony orchestra in the United States during the past ten years and as guest-conductor at the Hollywood Bowl, New York Stadium, Ravinia Festival and Chicago Opera. He is now the regular conductor of the New York Philharmonic and San Francisco Symphony Young People's Concerts, and in addition this season, will conduct six pairs of young people's concerts of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. Other orchestras to play under his direction are London, Conservatoire de Paris, Toronto, Havana Philharmonic, Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles, National of Washington, D. C., and Omaha.

His symphonic "Animal Pictures" and four Symphonic Sketches have been performed in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Omaha and Washington, D. C. This season additional cities will give performances of this interesting work.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME GOES OUT AT MIDNIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The hour that disappeared last April comes back tomorrow.

Daylight saving time officially ends at 2 a. m. Sunday in the various time zones and some 53,000,000 persons can take advantage of it for an extra hour of sleep or an early start on tomorrow's activities.

They will turn the clock back one hour at 2 a. m.—or whenever they go to bed—and regain the hour they lost on April 25.

An estimated 60,000,000 persons have been affected by daylight saving time.

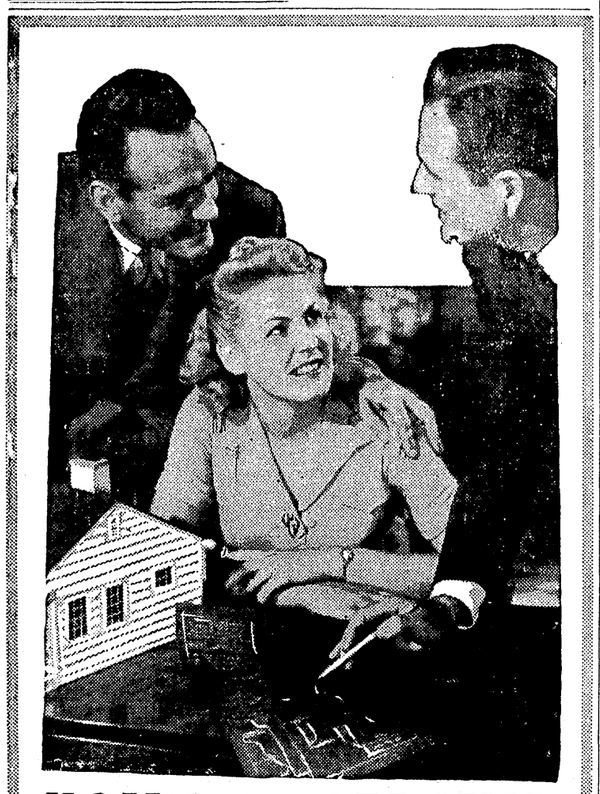
They include the populations of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New York, New Hampshire, New Jersey, and Rhode Island.

More than 600 towns and cities of other states also chose the "fast" time.

But the people of California and Nevada won't join in the clock-turning.

Because of a power shortage, they'll stay on daylight saving time.

Apple fritters make a delicious accompaniment for chicken or ham. Serve with maple syrup if desired.



HOME OWNERSHIP

Is a Good Investment At Any Time

Home ownership is a sound investment. Rent receipts have no redeemable value, but each and every payment on a home is a step toward complete ownership of an asset that has a cash value, come what may!

We, of the Hill Lumber & Supply, can help you to build, and thus own your own home. Through far-sighted planning and careful purchasing, we can furnish a complete line of first quality building materials. From framing to finish, from flooring to roofing, Hill offers quality materials, fairly priced.

Visit with us, we'll be glad to discuss home building plans with you, we'll be pleased to recommend reliable builders and to help arrange proper home financing. We'll be looking forward to seeing you!

In The Air

Over Monroe

By Margaret Gambrell

Since pilots have readily recognized the utility of planes for pleasure and in connection with business many fliers make combined use of their planes.

In the September issue of "Modern Airports" a feature story appeared on Sam Holliday, a Jonesboro well contractor who recently flew his Navion to the Arctic where he hunted bear. The story is as follows:

"The Jonesboro contractor has been flying for the past six years and says without his flying he couldn't handle as much business as he does in as many places. He asserted that he would never find time for hunting and fishing if it were not for his Navion.

"It was in 1942 that Holliday learned to fly and purchased a Luscombe. Later he bought a PT-22 from which he switched to a Navion. In the nineteen months he's been flying this ship he has logged over 500 hours which was largely business trips through Louisiana and Texas.

"Holliday's fishing and hunting trips range from far Mexico waters such as Tampico and LaPesca to New Mexico, the Dakotas, Canada and Alaska.

"On his trip to the Arctic he traveled over 10,000 miles and said he had never done so much flying on any cross-country as he did going after bear. J. E. Heinisch, of Lake Charles, accompanied him on the trip.

"Holliday remarked as follows about his trip. "It was almost as easy as it looked on the map, except that I wouldn't encourage anybody to try it unless they took along a lot of money.

"Prices are high because of transportation difficulties. Canadian airports charge landing fees and gas is 87 cents pere gallon at many places.

"Bush Pilot Joiner flew Holliday and Heinisch on most of their hunting forays. He'd see something on the ice we never would have spotted, fly right down to it and there'd be a bear or some seals or walruses or wolves. If a landing place was anywhere near, we'd open the door and start shooting, then land and go pick up the game."

Monroe Airpark News

Football fans took advantage of the planes at Monroe Airpark last week end and chartered two trips to Austin, Tex., for the Texas-L. S. U. football game.

The parties chartering the planes were piloted by Joe Joseph in a twin engine Cessna and Frank Smith, the new manager of Selman Field, who flew the Bellanca Cruisair over.

A. G. I. student at the Airpark flying school took advantage of his flying and made one of his necessary cross country flights to Austin and attended the football game.

Private licenses were issued to five students this past week. The pilots holding new tickets are E. C. Woolie, Ralph Stripling, E. M. Wilson, Raymond G. John and Carl L. Bryant.

Fred Lindsey, W. N. Williamson, Nolan Hebert, W. H. Doughtie, Meddie Davis and Joe Boyer made cross country flights during the week.

Mrs. Freddie Jean Holloway chartered a plane to Shreveport this week in order to make connections with an airliner.

W. A. Green, of Louisiana Aircraft Company, Baton Rouge, made a busines strip to Monroe and remained over night Thursday.

Pilots A. W. Ridgeway and Jessie York rented planes at the field and took advantage of good flying weather locally.

At Sunbird

The news from Sunbird is really quite "newsy" this week. Friday night was a big night for the students of this river-based flight school. Practically the whole student body, company personnel and friends gathered at Bernstein Park for a stag party. A great time was had by all and nothing was lacking which makes for a really good "Stag."

Students and friends of Sunbird were surprised to learn that Irvin Cole has resigned from the management of the company and that Ralph Bird is taking over his duties. "Doc" Cole has been with the company ever since it was organized and has been a well known figure in local aviation activities.

As yet Doc has not made known his plans for the future and has not stated whether or not he will remain in Monroe. We do know that he is considering an offer to join the music staff of a well known college.

"Doc" was one of the first instigators of this column and has been a most faithful and dependable contributor. For his cooperation the News-Star—World extends its appreciation and wishes him success in his new undertaking.

Mr. Williard W. Smith, an oil man from New Orleans, is moving to Monroe within the next two weeks. Mr. Smith was one of the first seaplane pilots in Louisiana and has been an enthusiast ever since.

The nice red Cessna seaplane seen so often at the Sunbird base is Mr. Smith's personal plane which he uses in his business. Having him in Monroe will be a "shot in the arm" to local seaplane operations.

The only activity around the local base for the past few days as far as cross country flights were concerned were the flights made by Lee Carbrey, Bert Bernheim and W. L. Willis.

Following the customary flight tests, C. A. Hill received his new private pilot's license and L. L. Rosedale obtained his seaplane rating.

Dusters In Use

Northeast Aviation dusters were pulled out of the hangars for dusting soy beans for Vernon Sawyer at Jones and H. Seligman, of Bonita. RH poison was used for dusting the beans against worms.

Dusters were also used in defoliating cotton for J. B. Newman and Bill Montgomery on their farms near Bastrop.

V. G. "Bill" Tefas flew to Baton Rouge Saturday night in his Luscombe and returned Sunday.

Service Aviation News

Two Arizona ranchers, Bob and George Hartman, stopped over in Monroe for plane servicing on their trip to Florida and again in returning.

Tom King, of Monroe, made a flying trip to New Orleans in his Taylor Craft Thursday.

A Vicksburg flier, Jim Early, stopped over night in Monroe for service and storage of his Ercoupe.

Charlie Kline Smith, an Oak Grove pilot, is having his Aeronica Champion rebuilt at the Service Aviation Company.

Home Owners

WASHINGTON—If you don't buy a house before you're 45, the odds are you never will.

So says the federal reserve board, which has just done some research on the subject. The board found that only one fourth of couples under 25 own their own homes, mortgaged or unmortgaged, but that two thirds of those over 65 do.

N. J. C. STARTING FALL ACTIVITY

Methodist Students Have Luncheon Program At Memorial Church

First semester activities of the Wesley Foundation at Northeast Junior College opened last week with a luncheon-program meeting at the Memorial Methodist Church. The affair was planned to welcome Methodist newscomers to the campus and to announce projects which the organization plans to emphasize this year.

C. O. Welch, Jr., vice-president of the organization, was in charge of the meeting. Miss Marna Hynum, sophomore student and president of the Wesley Foundation, extended greetings to the group comprising freshmen, sophomores, several members of the N. J. C. faculty and visiting ministers from local churches.

A program of varied features included musical numbers, a piano selection, "Fire Dance" by Malaguena played by James Gilmer, a vocal solo, "The Holy City," given by Miss Polly Ragland, who was accompanied by Mr. Gilmer and group singing with Miss Pat Alexander as the piano accompanist.

The project of building a Methodist Center near the campus was discussed. James W. Parkerson, faculty sponsor of the organization, explained that such a building could serve as a permanent place for students to hold their meetings and enjoy various forms of recreation. Though the plan for a center of this kind is only in the beginning stage, Mr. Parkerson said, a building for the use of Methodist students and their friends would be in keeping with religious work which is being done on many college campuses.

The luncheon feature of the meeting was made possible by the following women of the Memorial Methodist Church who prepared and served the meal: Mrs. W. W. Stevens, Mrs. Edward S. Parrish, Mrs. Harold Riggs, Mrs. H. W. Williams, Mrs. C. O. Welch, Mrs. Leon Dennis and Mrs. W. A. Cotton.

Students attending the meeting were: Misses Pat Alexander, Addie Boggs, Joan Bufkin, Marvel K. Men Who Get Up Nights Often Lose Their Pep

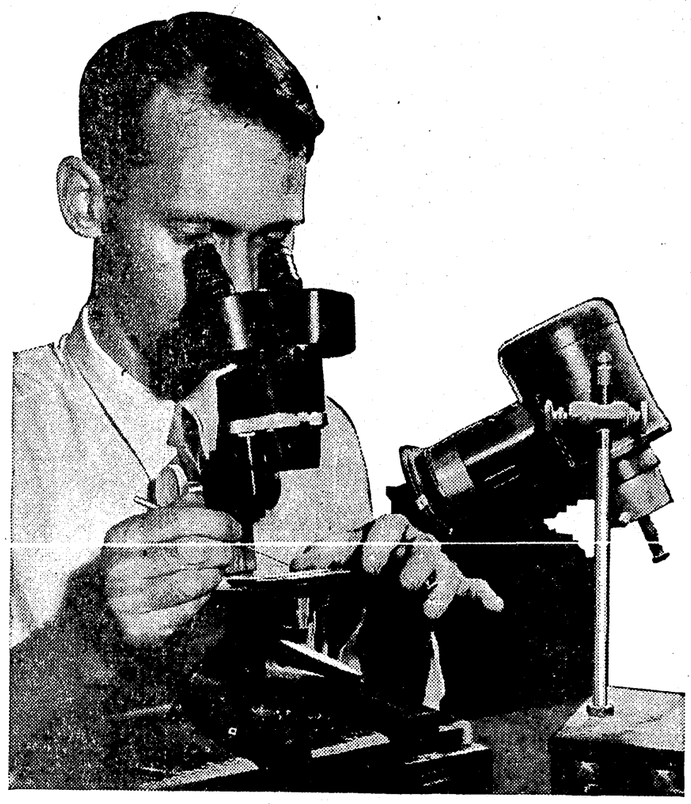
If you get up 2 or more times a night your rest is broken and you may feel tired out. So if you Get Up Nights or suffer from Bladder Irritation, Burning Passages, Backache, Strong Cloudy Urine, Pains in the Groin, Hips, or Lower Abdomen, due to temporary germ irritation in non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder Troubles, try CYSTEX.

Usually the very first dose of CYSTEX starts to work immediately to help you in 3 ways: 1. Helps nature remove certain irritating germs in acid conditions. 2. Thus helps remove a frequent cause of many aches and pains. 3. By relieving and calming irritated tissues it helps reduce frequent or smarting passages day and night. Get CYSTEX from druggist today. Money back guaranteed unless CYSTEX satisfies you.

The oil industry is trying to add ...faster than you can subtract



1. Scientists study the tiny shells and other fossils brought up by drillers from the depths of the wells which they are drilling. A close study of these fossils tells them the age of rocks in which the bit is drilling, and enables them to suggest to production men how close they are to possible oil-bearing rocks.

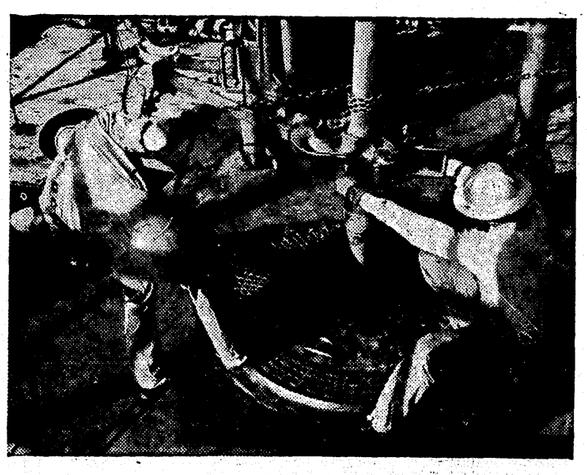
So far we've kept up with you. You're subtracting oil from available supplies at the rate of two billion barrels a year, and the industry is supplying your demand. Never before have you needed as much oil as you're asking for today—for fuel, for industry, for transportation. And never before has the oil industry supplied you with so much oil.

To continue to supply you, the oil industry probably will drill 40,000 wells in 1948. Of this number, about 7,000 will be wildcat wells, drilled in an effort to find more oil for your increasing needs. Of these wildcats, about 85% probably will be dry holes; the others will discover new sources of oil production, will add to the oil you're subtracting in larger quantities every day.

Only an efficient industry, using every possible scientific advantage, could so well meet the challenge of today's record demand for oil. The oil industry is doing everything that possibly can be done to add oil faster than you can subtract it; everything that can be done to find more oil, produce more oil, transport more oil, refine more oil.

You can help this effort by making your personal demands for petroleum products reasonable and by cooperating with programs designed to conserve oil products.

2. Physicists devised this complex apparatus. It duplicates, for scientific purposes, the conditions in the oil-bearing rocks of a developed oil field. From a study of these, the engineers can tell approximately how much oil can be produced, how rapidly it should be produced to secure the maximum amount of oil, even how close the wells should be to each other.



3. To find oil, you have to drill a well. In the first six months of 1948, Humble drilled 59 exploratory wells to discover 17 new producing areas. Even more exploratory wells will be drilled in the last half of this year, including several on submerged lands in the Gulf of Mexico.

RUDOLPH GANZ IS SCHEDULED

Will Appear Here October 22; Has International Reputation

The Musical Coterie of Monroe and the Hewitt-Dew Music Company take pride in announcing the coming of Rudolph Ganz, world-renowned concert pianist, teacher, composer and conductor. Mr. Ganz will be presented in recital and will also conduct a master class during his visit to Monroe.

The recital will be given in the auditorium of Brown Hall, Northeast Junior College, Friday, October 22, at 8:15 p. m. The master class, two hours in length, will be held at the college on Saturday, October 23 at 9:30 a. m. Auditors, as well as performers, are welcome.

Rudolph Ganz was born in Zurich, Switzerland. Versatile even as a boy, he stepped before his first audience, not as a pianist or conductor, but as a 'cellist. That was five years before he apeared, at the age of 17, with the Municipal Orchestra in Lausanne to play Beethoven's C Minor Piano Concerto. The success of the event determined him to specialize on this instrument. After further study with noted teachers in Strasbourg, and with Busoni in Berlin, came his official debut as a pianist. His performance of three concerti with the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, one evening in December, 1899, at once established his prestige. Just four months after that event Rudolph Ganz reappeared with the Berlin Philharmonic—this time to conduct his own Symphony in E. An offer to become head of the piano department of the Chicago Musical College followed. There he taught for five years.

It was in February, 1906, that Rudolph Ganz was first heard in New York with the New York Symphony Orchestra under Felix Weingartner. He had firmly established his prestige as a brilliant pianist with American audiences when he was invited to appear as guest-conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in 1921. His immediate success brought about his engagement as permanent conductor and he remained in St. Louis until the end of his sixth season, when he resigned. A call to Chicago brought him the presidency of the Chicago Musical College, but this prominent position has not impaired his popularity as guest-conductor or pianist.

Mr. Ganz has appeared as soloist with practically every symphony orchestra in the United States during the past ten years and as guest-conductor at the Hollywood Bowl, New York Stadium, Ravinia Festival and Chicago Opera. He is now the regular conductor of the New York Philharmonic and San Francisco Symphony Young People's Concerts, and in addition this season, will conduct six pairs of young people's concerts of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. Other orchestras to play under his direction are London, Conservatoire de Paris, Toronto, Havana Philharmonic, Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles, National of Washington, D. C., and Omaha.

His symphonic "Animal Pictures" and four Symphonic Sketches have been performed in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Omaha and Washington, D. C. This season additional cities will give performances of this interesting work.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME GOES OUT AT MIDNIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The hour that disappeared last April comes back tomorrow.

Daylight saving time officially ends at 2 a. m. Sunday in the various time zones and some 53,000,000 persons can take advantage of it for an extra hour of sleep or an early start on tomorrow's activities.

They will turn the clock back one hour at 2 a. m.—or whenever they go to bed—and regain the hour they lost on April 25.

An estimated 60,000,000 persons have been affected by daylight saving time.

They include the populations of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New York, New Hampshire, New Jersey, and Rhode Island.

More than 600 towns and cities of other states also chose the "fast" time.

But the people of California and Nevada won't join in the clock-turning.

Because of a power shortage, they'll stay on daylight saving time.

In The Air — Over Monroe

By Margaret Gambrell

Since pilots have readily recognized the utility of planes for pleasure and in connection with business many fliers make combined use of their planes.

In the September issue of "Modern Airports" a feature story appeared on Sam Holliday, a Jonesboro well contractor who recently flew his Navion to the Arctic where he hunted bear. The story is as follows:

"The Jonesboro contractor has been flying for the past six years and says without his flying he couldn't handle as much business as he does in as many places. He asserted that he would never find time for hunting and fishing if it were not for his Navion.

"It was in 1942 that Holliday learned to fly and purchased a Luscombe. Later he bought a PT-22 from which he switched to a Navion. In the nineteen months he's been flying this ship he has logged over 500 hours which was largely business trips through Louisiana and Texas.

"Holliday's fishing and hunting trips range from far Mexico waters such as Tampico and LaPesca to New Mexico, the Dakotas, Canada and Alaska.

"On his trip to the Arctic he traveled over 10,000 miles and said he had never done so much flying on any cross-country as he did going after bear. J. E. Heinisch, of Lake Charles, accompanied him on the trip.

"Holliday remarked as follows about his trip. "It was almost as easy as it looked on the map, except that I wouldn't encourage anybody to try it unless they took along a lot of money.

"Prices are high because of transportation difficulties. Canadian airports charge landing fees and gas is 87 cents pere gallon at many places.

"Bush Pilot Joiner flew Holliday and Heinisch on most of their hunting forays. He'd see something on the ice we never would have spotted, fly right down to it and there'd be a bear or some seals or walruses or wolves. If a landing place was anywhere near, we'd open the door and start shooting, then land and go pick up the game."

Monroe Airpark News

Football fans took advantage of the planes at Monroe Airpark last week end and chartered two trips to Austin, Tex., for the Texas-L. S. U. football game.

The parties chartering the planes were piloted by Joe Joseph in a twin engine Cessna and Frank Smith, the new manager of Selman Field, who flew the Bellanca Cruisair over.

A. G. I. student at the Airpark flying school took advantage of his flying and made one of his necessary cross country flights to Austin and attended the football game.

Private licenses were issued to five students this past week. The pilots holding new tickets are E. C. Woolie, Ralph Stripling, E. M. Wilson, Raymond G. John and Carl L. Bryant.

Fred Lindsey, W. N. Williamson, Nolan Hebert, W. H. Doughtie, Meddie Davis and Joe Boyer made cross country flights during the week.

Mrs. Freddie Jean Holloway chartered a plane to Shreveport this week in order to make connections with an airliner.

W. A. Green, of Louisiana Aircraft Company, Baton Rouge, made a busines strip to Monroe and remained over night Thursday.

Pilots A. W. Ridgeway and Jessie York rented planes at the field and took advantage of good flying weather locally.

At Sunbird

The news from Sunbird is really quite "newsy" this week. Friday night was a big night for the students of this river-based flight school. Practically the whole student body, company personnel and friends gathered at Bernstein Park for a stag party. A great time was had by all and nothing was lacking which makes for a really good "Stag."

Students and friends of Sunbird were surprised to learn that Irvin Cole has resigned from the management of the company and that Ralph Bird is taking over his duties. "Doc" Cole has been with the company ever since it was organized and has been a well known figure in local aviation activities.

As yet Doc has not made known his plans for the future and has not stated whether or not he will remain in Monroe. We do know that he is considering an offer to join the music staff of a well known college.

"Doc" was one of the first instigators of this column and has been a most faithful and dependable contributor. For his cooperation the News-Star—World extends its appreciation and wishes him success in his new undertaking.

Mr. Williard W. Smith, an oil man from New Orleans, is moving to Monroe within the next two weeks. Mr. Smith was one of the first seaplane pilots in Louisiana and has been an enthusiast ever since.

The nice red Cessna seaplane seen so often at the Sunbird base is Mr. Smith's personal plane which he uses in his business. Having him in Monroe will be a "shot in the arm" to local seaplane operations.

The only activity around the local base for the past few days as far as cross country flights were concerned were the flights made by Lee Carbrey, Bert Bernheim and W. L. Willis.

Following the customary flight tests, C. A. Hill received his new private pilot's license and L. L. Rosedale obtained his seaplane rating.

Dusters In Use

Northeast Aviation dusters were pulled out of the hangars for dusting soy beans for Vernon Sawyer at Jones and H. Seligman, of Bonita. RH poison was used for dusting the beans against worms.

Dusters were also used in defoliating cotton for J. B. Newman and Bill Montgomery on their farms near Bastrop.

V. G. "Bill" Tefas flew to Baton Rouge Saturday night in his Luscombe and returned Sunday.

Service Aviation News

Two Arizona ranchers, Bob and George Hartman, stopped over in Monroe for plane servicing on their trip to Florida and again in returning.

Tom King, of Monroe, made a flying trip to New Orleans in his Taylor Craft Thursday.

A Vicksburg flier, Jim Early, stopped over night in Monroe for service and storage of his Ercoupe.

Charlie Kline Smith, an Oak Grove pilot, is having his Aeronica Champion rebuilt at the Service Aviation Company.

Home Owners

WASHINGTON—If you don't buy a house before you're 45, the odds are you never will.

So says the federal reserve board, which has just done some research on the subject. The board found that only one fourth of couples under 25 own their own homes, mortgaged or unmortgaged, but that two thirds of those over 65 do.

N. J. C. STARTING FALL ACTIVITY

Methodist Students Have Luncheon Program At Memorial Church

First semester activities of the Wesley Foundation at Northeast Junior College opened last week with a luncheon-program meeting at the Memorial Methodist Church. The affair was planned to welcome Methodist newscomers to the campus and to announce projects which the organization plans to emphasize this year.

C. O. Welch, Jr., vice-president of the organization, was in charge of the meeting. Miss Marna Hynum, sophomore student and president of the Wesley Foundation, extended greetings to the group comprising freshmen, sophomores, several members of the N. J. C. faculty and visiting ministers from local churches.

A program of varied features included musical numbers, a piano selection, "Fire Dance" by Malaguena played by James Gilmer, a vocal solo, "The Holy City," given by Miss Polly Ragland, who was accompanied by Mr. Gilmer and group singing with Miss Pat Alexander as the piano accompanist.

The project of building a Methodist Center near the campus was discussed. James W. Parkerson, faculty sponsor of the organization, explained that such a building could serve as a permanent place for students to hold their meetings and enjoy various forms of recreation. Though the plan for a center of this kind is only in the beginning stage, Mr. Parkerson said, a building for the use of Methodist students and their friends would be in keeping with religious work which is being done on many college campuses.

The luncheon feature of the meeting was made possible by the following women of the Memorial Methodist Church who prepared and served the meal: Mrs. W. W. Stevens, Mrs. Edward S. Parrish, Mrs. Harold Riggs, Mrs. H. W. Williams, Mrs. C. O. Welch, Mrs. Leon Dennis and Mrs. W. A. Cotton.

Students attending the meeting were: Misses Pat Alexander, Addie Boggs, Joan Bufkin, Marvel K. Cheatham, LaVerne Cook, Carolyn Corley, Marilyn Corley, Joyce Ray Dickinson, Mamie Jo Drouet, Betty Cruthirds, Kathryn Gay, Ruth Hearne, Marna Hynum, Betty Jean Henry, Roberta Mayes, Beverly Martin, Polly Ragland, Agnes Jones, Joyce Hicks, Dell Drane, Kathryn Norwood, Beth Montgomery, Barbara Spier, Jackie White, Jeannine Watson, Patsy Riggs, Norma Jean Wharton, Jeannine Oakley, Violet Willbanks, Dawn Sumlin, Jeanne Sawyer, James Gilmer, James Tooke and C. O. Welch.

Ministers present included: Rev. George Pearce, Jr., pastor of the Memorial Methodist Church; Rev. A. M. Serex and Rev. Lea Joyner of the First Methodist Church, and Rev. H. W. Kamman, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church. The Northeast Junior College faculty was represented by James W. Parkerson, W. C. Honeycutt, E. C. Whatley, E. J. Upshaw and Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl.

MARINE-BUCKINGHAM WEDDING SOLEMNIZED AT ST. MATTHEW'S

The wedding of Miss Mary Louise Marine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Johnson Marine, of this city, and Francis Marion Buckingham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Buckingham, Sr., of Casa Grande, Arizona, was solemnized on Wednesday, September 22, in St. Matthew's Catholic Church, in the presence of friends and relatives. Monseigneur J. C. Marsh read the double ring vows at 5:00 p. m. before an altar decorated with pedestal baskets of white gladioli and ferns, all flanked by candelabra.

Leon Hammonds, organist, played a prelude of nuptial music and Mr. E. M. Wooten sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus." The traditional wedding march from the bridal chorus of Wagner's "Lohengrin" and the "Recessional" by Mendelssohn were used for the occasion.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white crepe with embroidered organdie bodice. Her veil of illusion was of fingertip length with beaded tiara, and she carried a white prayer book on which was placed a white orchid showered with satin ribbon streamers and white tuberoses.

Miss Nola Faye Leggett, gowned in an informal frock of Hunter's Green, was the bride's only attendant. She carried a nosegay bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Patrick St. John, cousin of the bride, served the groom as best man; Billie Hardy and Richard Laws acted as altar boys.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Marine chose a green costume with brown accessories. Mrs. Buckingham, mother of the groom, was attired in a grape-colored dress and used black accessories. Both mothers wore white corsages of tuberoses and carnations.

An informal reception followed the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Marine and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Buckingham, Sr., received with the bride and groom.

The bridal table was spread with a handsome Madeira linen cloth and the three-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom, and embossed with white roses and green leaves, was placed between streamers of white satin ribbon reaching from the seven-branched candelabara to the opposite corners of the table. Green fern and white tuberoses were interspersed along the streamers which terminated in bows of ribbon and flowers on either side of the cake. White asters and gladioli were reflected in the lovely mirror over the buffet. Miss Clarice Roan was in charge of the cake after it was cut by the bride and groom.

Punch was served throughout the evening by Mrs. Patrick St. John. Mrs. Walter B. Davis and Mrs. Walter C. Hawhecker, Sr., aunts of the bride, also assisted at the reception.

The bride and groom left for an extended southern motor trip. They will be at home, after October 2, in Casa Grande, Arizona. The bride's traveling suit was gray and black, and she used gray accessories.

The bride graduated from Ouachita Parish High School in 1941 and has been active in the Beta Sigma Phi sorority. She was employed for several years by the Ouachita Parish department of public welfare, and had schools of dancing in Winnsboro and Sicily Island.

Mr. Buckingham, a native of Phoenix, Arizona, attended the San Bernardino High School in San Bernardino, California; Arizona State College in Tempe, Arizona; and served for two years in the U. S. navy.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Buckingham, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Davis of Casa Grande, Arizona; Mr. C. E. Buckingham of Washington, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Walter C. Hawhecker, Sr., of Hot Springs National Park, Arkansas, and Mrs. Bill Magee of Winnsboro, Louisiana.

School Superintendent To Speak At Georgia Tucker

J. M. Boyet, superintendent of city schools will discuss the city school program when the Georgia Tucker Parent Teacher's Association meets next Thursday. E. L. Neville, retiring superintendent, also will be a guest at the meeting.

Neville Officers

Neville High School seniors have elected officers for the session 1948-49. Vernon Sanders, who was elected class president; Barbara Wildey, vice-president, and student council representative; Ann Bower, secretary and treasurer. The executive committee is composed of Mary Wilton McHenry, Sam Shepard, Charlene Kaplan, and the class officers.

A Cappella Choir

Fall rehearsals for the Monroe Boy's A Capella Choir, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will start Monday, September 27th.

A bigger year than ever before is planned for the choir, according to Mrs. Irvie Lee Temple, choir director. She will hold auditions at the First Methodist Church Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week after school hours, and she is interested in listening to any boys between the ages of 9 and 12 who are interested in this organization, it was pointed out.

The choir now has a trio composed of Bobby Joe Ensina, first soprano, George Fontana, second soprano, and Carl Wright, alto, which has been rehearsing throughout the summer and has worked up a repertoire.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Temple seek the cooperation of schools and parents in carrying out the program.

A Cappella Choir

Fall rehearsals for the Monroe Boy's A Capella Choir, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will start Monday, September 27th.

A bigger year than ever before is planned for the choir, according to Mrs. Irvie Lee Temple, choir director. She will hold auditions at the First Methodist Church Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week after school hours, and she is interested in listening to any boys between the ages of 9 and 12 who are interested in this organization, it was pointed out.

The choir now has a trio composed of Bobby Joe Ensina, first soprano, George Fontana, second soprano, and Carl Wright, alto, which has been rehearsing throughout the summer and has worked up a repertoire.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Temple seek the cooperation of schools and parents in carrying out the program.

Miss Gloria Tuck Weds L. M. Bennett

The marriage of Miss Gloria Elaine Tuck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Tuck, and Mr. Louis Marshall Bennett, son of Mrs. H. H. Bryant, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents Sept. 17 in the presence of relatives and close friends.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend A. M. Serex, pastor of the First Methodist Church, before an improvised altar of ivy and clematis with tall vases of white althea flanking the mantel.

Miss Billie Forque, pianist, and Mrs. C. McCoy, Jr., soloist, gave a program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony. The traditional wedding march was rendered for the processional.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Mae Luke, who wore a beige crepe dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, wore a toast brown crepe afternoon dress with matching hat.

She wore a corsage of dusty pink carnations and white tuberoses, carried a small white satin-covered Bible with cascades of narrow white ribbon.

The bride's mother wore a navy sheer frock with a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue dress with a pink corsage.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held. The lace-covered table held the wedding cake. Mrs. R. W. Edwards, Mrs. E. H. Osterman, and Mrs. F. N. Aldrich, Jr., assisted in serving refreshments.

For a short honeymoon, the bride wore a grey gabardine suit with accessories of green for traveling.

She is a graduate of Neville High School and Monroe Commercial School.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Neville High School and served two years in the United States army.

The couple will be at home after a short wedding trip at 311 Hudson Lane.

This Week in the Garden

"All they do is arrange flowers"—an old criticism of garden clubs—is no longer applicable to the Louisiana Garden Club Federation and its sixty-five member clubs, according to Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, publicity chairman of the Monroe Garden Club.

This is evidenced in the recent report on "Floriculture Research in the South for the South," by Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn, state chairman of floriculture research.

"The Louisiana Garden Club Federation is sponsoring a floriculture research program and the legislature has voted to appropriate two hundred fifty thousand dollars for this program. Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge and Southwestern Institute at Lafayette have made plans to put in departments of floriculture this fall, as soon as the money is available. They plan to do research in both ornamental horticulture and in floriculture," Miss Biedenharn stated.

"Louisiana State University has 'out stations' in every section of Louisiana and we are asking that this program be carried on in various sections of the state to give the maximum results.

"Southwestern Institute already has a certified test plot for both iris and hemerocallis and should carry on this work along with their work in camellias and azaleas.

"Knowing the great need for plants for southern gardens, this program was started about one year ago and we believe we have the people of the state and the state officials so sold on the need for the program that there will be no difficulty in carrying it to completion.

"Research done in the north means little or nothing to a state as far south as Louisiana. Our plants will have to be bred to stand our long, hot and dry summers and falls. For instance chrysanthemums developed in the north have to bloom early so that the frost will not get them; when brought south, unless the light is artificially controlled, they bloom when it is still hot and the heat ruins the blossoms.

"The large named varieties of narcissus do not stay with us year after year. They have been developed where the summers were much shorter, consequently they spend their life during the long dry falls and last only a few years with us.

"Perennial phlox, Michaelmas daisies and many other flowers are good examples of northern developed hybrids; like hybrid corn, when taken several hundred miles from their point of origin, they do not produce.

"In view of these conditions we are asking Louisiana to spend its money on research within our state. This research will mean flowers that will stay with us year after year despite our summers and the difference in the daylight hours. It will not only give the gardeners of Louisiana better flowers, but of all the south.

"We are sponsoring two or more scholarships in Louisiana with the view of these students doing research for the Louisiana Garden Club Federation. A course in gardening is being put in all vocational schools, both Negro and white. At our request a course in horticulture has been included in Southern University, our Negro university. We want to make gardening both a vocation and business instead of having to depend on the old-fashioned yardman.

"We believe if the garden clubs of Louisiana have money to donate to research, these scholarships will pay off right in our own state."

Serve Fruit On Your Menus

School days, school days . . . perhaps that means apple polishing for the youngsters, but far from it for many others. Now is the time to rack the brain for good, appetizing and nutritious food for the children. With an ever alert eye on the budget, here are two suggestions.

Rather than polishing the proverbial apple, we offer you another and perhaps more useful way of enjoying this delectable and usually plentiful fruit.

Baked Apples
(4 Servings)

4 large tart red apples. Water. 4 tablespoons sugar; 4 teaspoons Angostura aromatic bitters.

Pare upper third of each apple, remove core and place in baking pan. Put one tablespoon sugar and one teaspoon Angostura in each apple cavity. Add water to cover bottom of pan and bake in moderate over (375 degrees F) until apples are tender. Serve hot or cold.

Here's a new receipe for that good old standby, stewed prunes. It brings this dish up from that old "usual" class and gives it a place in the epicurean world.

Stewed Prunes
(4 Servings)

1/2 pound large prunes; 1/4 cup sugar; 3 cups cold water; 1 tablespoon Angostura aromatic bitters.

Wash prunes, add water. Simmer over low heat in tightly covered pan until tender. Remove from heat, add sugar and Angostura. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Cool before serving.

Should there be any left over, why not kill two birds with one stone? . . . the remainder may be used to make a prune whip with a far more tantalizing than usual flavor.

Grapefruit juice, apple or prune juice, with two teaspoons of Angostura aromatic bitters added to each four ounce glass, have a refreshing wake-up flavor extra pleasant for breakfast fruit juices.

This Week in the Garden

"All they do is arrange flowers"—an old criticism of garden clubs—is no longer applicable to the Louisiana Garden Club Federation and its sixty-five member clubs, according to Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, publicity chairman of the Monroe Garden Club.

This is evidenced in the recent report on "Floriculture Research in the South for the South," by Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn, state chairman of floriculture research.

"The Louisiana Garden Club Federation is sponsoring a floriculture research program and the legislature has voted to appropriate two hundred fifty thousand dollars for this program. COAT DRESS MAKES BIG HIT WITH FASHIONABLE WOMEN

By Epsie Kinard
(NEA Fashion Editor)

Stepping up smartly into the front ranks of fashion is the coat-dress which answers to the name of "trotter" this fall.

This versatile costume, which is neither coat nor dress but subs for either and combines the virtues of both, is an important fashion in New York designers' collections.

Adele Simpson introduces a "trotter" series in seal brown, evergreen green and gray chiffon broadcloth. All that keeps these dresses out of the coat category is the lack of a lining. Aiding and abetting the dress, right, to put its masquerade across—it's a handsome gray front-buttoned dress of broadcloth tied in with a cord belt—is a squirrel tippet which loops around the neck like a luxurious fur collar.

The coat-dress takes its style cues from the double-breasted reefer in Herbert Sondheim's collection. The outstanding style of gray tweed jersey, glinting with metallic threads, left, owes its coat look to a double-breasted closing and large hip pockets, importantly cuffed.

PERSONALS

Miss Joy Harper and Mrs. Corbett Locke left Wednesday for Center, Texas, where they will be attendants at the marriage of a Sunday afternoon Newcomb College schoolmate, Miss Jane Locke.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Milner, Jr., are parents of a son, Louis Pyron Milner, III, born at St. Francis Sanitarium on Friday. Mrs. Milner is the former Miss Pauline Breard.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Hill who have been living on Emerson avenue, Fairview, moved this week into their newly completed house on Marie Place.

Mrs. Charles H. Reid and her daughter, Miss Rozanne Reid, have returned from Houston, Texas, where they accompanied Charles Reid, Jr., a student at Rice Institute.

Col. W. H. Schwartz, of Tampa, Fla., who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Reid for several days, left Saturday for his home.

Mrs. Gerald Andrew Clark, and her son Gerold Andrew Clark, Jr., of Syracuse, N. Y., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carr.

Barker-Laymon

The Presbyterian rectory of this city was the scene of the wedding last Friday when Miss Annie Laura Barker and Mr. Hal Q. Laymon were united in marriage by the Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, in the presence of a few close friends.

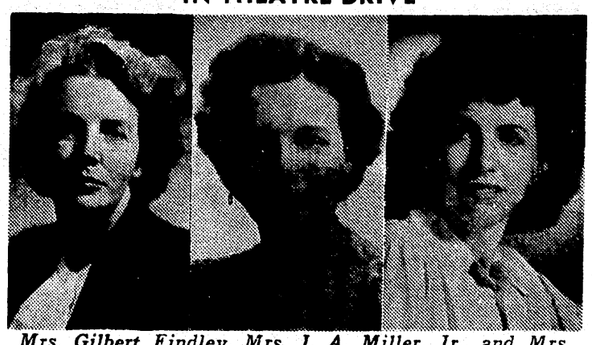
The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Morris Miller and Mr. Morris Miller served as Mr. Laymon's best man. The bride wore a black taffeta frock and her accessories were of green. She wore a corsage of white orchids. Mrs. Miller wore a brown faille suit and a corsage of yellow daisies.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Fort Barker of Camilla, Ga., and is a graduate of Bob Jones University of Greenville, S. C., from which she obtained both her A. B. and M. A. degrees.

Mr. Laymon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Laymon of St. Louis, Mo. He served two years in the air force, later attended Bob Jones University and is a graduate of the College of Mortuary Science, St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Laymon are living at 1101 Jackson street.

IN THEATRE DRIVE



Mrs. Gilbert Findley, Mrs. J. A. Miller, Jr., and Mrs. Sue Sharman Williams, who are actively engaged in the local Little Theatre membership drive. Mrs. Findley is in charge of ticket sales and Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Miller are assisting with the advertising campaign for the drive, which is being headed by the organization president, Frank Breese.

COLLINSTON

Mrs. Windsor D. Puckett entertained with two tables of bridge complimenting her house guests for the week end from Alexandria, her aunt, Mrs. L. W. Bryant, and Mrs. T. L. Witter.

Mrs. B. W. Hopgood was awarded, for high score, a china pitcher of lovely design. Mrs. Witter received a pair of wall decorations in ceramic.

Others playing were Mrs. A. J. Tarver, Mrs. W. B. Norsworthy, Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. W. T. Griffin, Miss Marie Hodges, and the hostess. Mrs. Puckett served coffee in the early hours and an ice cream course at the conclusion of the games.

Among the delightful prenuptial honors extended to Miss Virginia Pratt, before her wedding Sept. 10, was a luncheon given by Miss Natalie Bolton of Bastrop at the La Casa tea room. Also present, from Collinston, were Mrs. T. B. Pratt, Miss Dorothy Anne Norsworthy, and Miss Pat McGovern.

Mrs. Louise Jeter spent Wednesday in Monroe visiting with her sister, Mrs. Joe G. Ford.

Golden crotelaria in tall vases and attractive arrangements of other flowers of early fall and potted greenery decorated the reception suite at the A. J. Tarver home in Collinston when Mrs. Tarver entertained with a bridge party and shower complimenting Mrs. David Pipes.

Upon arrival of the guests, a chicken salad course and iced tea were served at attractively appointed bridge tables in the living room. At the conclusion of the supper, Mrs. Tarver invited her guests into the dining room for demi tasse. Mrs. J. G. Pyron presided at the coffee service. Mrs. Pipes was seated at the opposite end of the dining table and then made aware that she was honor guest by being presented with a basketful of dainty layette gifts.

Bridge was the diversion of the remaining hours. The hostess presented exquisite imported handkerchiefs for prizes. Miss Marie Hodges received high score and traveling prizes; Mrs. Windsor D. Puckett, low score prize, and Mrs. W. T. Griffin a cut prize.

Others playing were Mrs. Pipes, Mrs. Pyron, Mrs. W. B. Norsworthy, Mrs. Alton Norsworthy, Mrs. Charles A. Merryman, Mrs. John B. Caldwell, Mrs. Clarence Mason, Mrs. Jack Waldrop, Mrs. Yandell Rogers, Mrs. G. W. Dalgarn, Mrs. Guy M. Boyd, Mrs. B. W. Hopgood, and Mrs. W. H. Griffin. Also present for the shower was Mrs. Lena Puckett.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Caldwell were recent visitors in Rayville in the home of her sister, Mrs. L. L. Sanders.

Mrs. Clyde Thompson and children visited recently in Wisner with her mother, Mrs. Ben Kimball.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Fontenot have announced the birth of a daughter, Matilda Jane, on September 3.

Friends of Mr. Jace Tarver will be glad to learn that he is doing nicely following a recent emergency appendectomy.

Mrs. Guy Boyd was hostess to the Woman's Society of Christian Service when it held its September business-study meeting. Mrs. A. H. Harper, president, presided at the business session and opened the meeting by leading in the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Alton Norsworthy presented the opening chapters of Frank S. Mead's book, "On Our Own Doorsteps." This book is a graphic introduction to the problems of the hour in Alaska, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, the Canal Zone, and the Virgin Islands, sketched against the background of history and Christian concern. Hawaii and its problems was studied at this time. The author described this group of eight islands as the most beautiful group of islands in the South Pacific. Hawaii, before the late war, was exploited by the capitalistic interests and now, since the war, is under military rule. This chapter was closed with the question, "What are we going to do about Hawaii?"

Mrs. Boyd, assisted by her daughter, Ann, served her guests chicken salad sandwiches, cake and coffee. Present were Mrs. A. H. Harper, Mrs. Torris Eldridge, Mrs. John Gobble, Mrs. R. O. Richards, Mrs. E. W. Corley, Mrs. Windsor Puckett, Mrs. Alton Norsworthy, Mrs. Roy Carter and Miss Marie Hodges.

BRIDE

Mrs. Russell Lavelle Hunt, who before her recent marriage, was Miss Betty Joe George.

feminine hygiene made easy

The problem of intimate personal hygiene is solved by the NEW NORFORMS.*

1 These antiseptic suppositories are completely ready for use. There's nothing to mix or measure. You don't have to worry about "too much or too little."

2 The New NORFORMS melt at internal body temperature, releasing an antiseptic, deodorizing film that remains in prolonged contact.

3 They keep! The New NORFORMS are individually sealed in foil to keep them ready for use under all climatic conditions.

Only the GAS Refrigerator

Stays Silent...Lasts Longer

GIVES YOU TEN-YEAR GUARANTEE

So more and more Southern families prefer Servel!

Look at all makes. Only the Servel Gas Refrigerator stays permanently silent, lasts years longer. It's the South's growing favorite.

Its freezing system has no moving parts. A tiny gas flame does the work. That's why Servel is guaranteed for ten years. (And thousands of the more than 2,000,000 Gas Refrigerators are still on the job after 18 and 20 years.)

The beautiful new Servels (with every new convenience) are now on display. Come see. Quantities are limited—and more and more Southern families are asking for Gas Refrigerators. So first come, first served.

COAT DRESS MAKES BIG HIT WITH FASHIONABLE WOMEN

By Epsie Kinard
(NEA Fashion Editor)

Stepping up smartly into the front ranks of fashion is the coat-dress which answers to the name of "trotter" this fall.

This versatile costume, which is neither coat nor dress but subs for either and combines the virtues of both, is an important fashion in New York designers' collections.

Adele Simpson introduces a "trotter" series in seal brown, evergreen green and gray chiffon broadcloth. All that keeps these dresses out of the coat category is the lack of a lining. Aiding and abetting the dress, right, to put its masquerade across—it's a handsome gray front-buttoned dress of broadcloth tied in with a cord belt—is a squirrel tippet which loops around the neck like a luxurious fur collar.

The coat-dress takes its style cues from the double-breasted reefer in Herbert Sondheim's collection. The outstanding style of gray tweed jersey, glinting with metallic threads, left, owes its coat look to a double-breasted closing and large hip pockets, importantly cuffed.

PERSONALS

Miss Joy Harper and Mrs. Corbett Locke left Wednesday for Center, Texas, where they will be attendants at the marriage of a Sunday afternoon Newcomb College schoolmate, Miss Jane Locke.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Milner, Jr., are parents of a son, Louis Pyron Milner, III, born at St. Francis Sanitarium on Friday. Mrs. Milner is the former Miss Pauline Breard.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Hill who have been living on Emerson avenue, Fairview, moved this week into their newly completed house on Marie Place.

Mrs. Charles H. Reid and her daughter, Miss Rozanne Reid, have returned from Houston, Texas, where they accompanied Charles Reid, Jr., a student at Rice Institute.

Col. W. H. Schwartz, of Tampa, Fla., who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Reid for several days, left Saturday for his home.

Mrs. Gerald Andrew Clark, and her son Gerold Andrew Clark, Jr., of Syracuse, N. Y., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carr.

Barker-Laymon

The Presbyterian rectory of this city was the scene of the wedding last Friday when Miss Annie Laura Barker and Mr. Hal Q. Laymon were united in marriage by the Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, in the presence of a few close friends.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Morris Miller and Mr. Morris Miller served as Mr. Laymon's best man. The bride wore a black taffeta frock and her accessories were of green. She wore a corsage of white orchids. Mrs. Miller wore a brown faille suit and a corsage of yellow daisies.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Fort Barker of Camilla, Ga., and is a graduate of Bob Jones University of Greenville, S. C., from which she obtained both her A. B. and M. A. degrees.

Mr. Laymon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Laymon of St. Louis, Mo. He served two years in the air force, later attended Bob Jones University and is a graduate of the College of Mortuary Science, St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Laymon are living at 1101 Jackson street.

IN THEATRE DRIVE

Mrs. Gilbert Findley, Mrs. J. A. Miller, Jr., and Mrs. Sue Sharman Williams, who are actively engaged in the local Little Theatre membership drive. Mrs. Findley is in charge of ticket sales and Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Miller are assisting with the advertising campaign for the drive, which is being headed by the organization president, Frank Breese.

COLLINSTON

Mrs. Windsor D. Puckett entertained with two tables of bridge complimenting her house guests for the week end from Alexandria, her aunt, Mrs. L. W. Bryant, and Mrs. T. L. Witter.

Mrs. B. W. Hopgood was awarded, for high score, a china pitcher of lovely design. Mrs. Witter received a pair of wall decorations in ceramic.

Others playing were Mrs. A. J. Tarver, Mrs. W. B. Norsworthy, Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. W. T. Griffin, Miss Marie Hodges, and the hostess. Mrs. Puckett served coffee in the early hours and an ice cream course at the conclusion of the games.

Among the delightful prenuptial honors extended to Miss Virginia Pratt, before her wedding Sept. 10, was a luncheon given by Miss Natalie Bolton of Bastrop at the La Casa tea room. Also present, from Collinston, were Mrs. T. B. Pratt, Miss Dorothy Anne Norsworthy, and Miss Pat McGovern.

Mrs. Louise Jeter spent Wednesday in Monroe visiting with her sister, Mrs. Joe G. Ford.

Golden crotelaria in tall vases and attractive arrangements of other flowers of early fall and potted greenery decorated the reception suite at the A. J. Tarver home in Collinston when Mrs. Tarver entertained with a bridge party and shower complimenting Mrs. David Pipes.

Upon arrival of the guests, a chicken salad course and iced tea were served at attractively appointed bridge tables in the living room. At the conclusion of the supper, Mrs. Tarver invited her guests into the dining room for demi tasse. Mrs. J. G. Pyron presided at the coffee service. Mrs. Pipes was seated at the opposite end of the dining table and then made aware that she was honor guest by being presented with a basketful of dainty layette gifts.

Bridge was the diversion of the remaining hours. The hostess presented exquisite imported handkerchiefs for prizes. Miss Marie Hodges received high score and traveling prizes; Mrs. Windsor D. Puckett, low score prize, and Mrs. W. T. Griffin a cut prize.

Others playing were Mrs. Pipes, Mrs. Pyron, Mrs. W. B. Norsworthy, Mrs. Alton Norsworthy, Mrs. Charles A. Merryman, Mrs. John B. Caldwell, Mrs. Clarence Mason, Mrs. Jack Waldrop, Mrs. Yandell Rogers, Mrs. G. W. Dalgarn, Mrs. Guy M. Boyd, Mrs. B. W. Hopgood, and Mrs. W. H. Griffin. Also present for the shower was Mrs. Lena Puckett.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Caldwell were recent visitors in Rayville in the home of her sister, Mrs. L. L. Sanders.

Mrs. Clyde Thompson and children visited recently in Wisner with her mother, Mrs. Ben Kimball.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Fontenot have announced the birth of a daughter, Matilda Jane, on September 3.

Friends of Mr. Jace Tarver will be glad to learn that he is doing nicely following a recent emergency appendectomy.

Mrs. Guy Boyd was hostess to the Woman's Society of Christian Service when it held its September business-study meeting. Mrs. A. H. Harper, president, presided at the business session and opened the meeting by leading in the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Alton Norsworthy presented the opening chapters of Frank S. Mead's book, "On Our Own Doorsteps." This book is a graphic introduction to the problems of the hour in Alaska, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, the Canal Zone, and the Virgin Islands, sketched against the background of history and Christian concern. Hawaii and its problems was studied at this time. The author described this group of eight islands as the most beautiful group of islands in the South Pacific. Hawaii, before the late war, was exploited by the capitalistic interests and now, since the war, is under military rule. This chapter was closed with the question, "What are we going to do about Hawaii?"

Mrs. Boyd, assisted by her daughter, Ann, served her guests chicken salad sandwiches, cake and coffee. Present were Mrs. A. H. Harper, Mrs. Torris Eldridge, Mrs. John Gobble, Mrs. R. O. Richards, Mrs. E. W. Corley, Mrs. Windsor Puckett, Mrs. Alton Norsworthy, Mrs. Roy Carter and Miss Marie Hodges.

BRIDE

Mrs. Russell Lavelle Hunt, who before her recent marriage, was Miss Betty Joe George.

Swartz Wedding

Simplicity characterized the wedding of Miss Betty Jo George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. George of Swartz, and Mr. Russell Lavelle Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Hart of Bosco, which took place at the home of the bride's parents. Greenery mixed with white astors and chrysanthemums formed the altar before which the ceremony was performed by Reverend Horace J. Taylor, pastor of the Swartz Baptist Church.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Beth Woods played traditional wedding music. She also accompanied Mr. C. A. Burney who sang "Always" and "I Love You Truly." During the double ring ceremony she played "Maiden's Prayer".

The tapers were lighted by Miss Lila Marie Fite and Miss Glenda Hart, sister of the groom. They both wore blue and grey frocks with tiny corsages of pink rosebuds.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Miss Cornelia Sapp served as her bridesmaid, and Mr. Dempsey Allen attended the groom as best man.

The bride wore a grey crepe frock with navy blue accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and tuberoses.

Miss Sapp wore an afternoon frock of navy blue with grey accessories. Her corsage was of rosebuds and multicolored ribbon.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and is a music major at Northeast Junior College. Mr. Hart is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, served two years in the army medical crops, and attended Bish Mathis Institute.

The couple will make their home in Swartz.

LET INDOOR EXERCISE KEEP FIGURE BENEFITS GAINED DURING SUMMER

By Alicia Hart
NEA Staff Writer

When cool weather sends your golf clubs, swim suit or tennis rackets into storage, plan to carry indoors the exercise which has kept you in shape. Otherwise, you will lose the figure benefits gained from your summer sport.

Muscles tightened and toned by an outdoor sport are easy to keep that way with simple calisthenics taken indoors.

A keep-in-condition routine is less likely to become tedious, according to experts, if you will include a variety of exercises and will perform each one 10 times rather than concentrating on two or three for longer periods of time.

Best plan, of course, is to sign up for regular workouts at a local gymnasium. The variety of exercise equipment offered permits you to zip through a routine with little risk of boredom.

If there is no gym available, you can rig up what passes for an exercise bar in your own home. Hang a pole to span a doorway opening, and place it within reaching distance of upstretched hands.

When that's all set, make these two bar-exercises a regular routine. For the first, stand erect with feet together, and grip the bar with your hands. Now, raise left leg and bring the knee as close as possible to your chest. Lower that leg, and raise the other. Continue this high-stepping stationary march to a count of 10.

You swing into the second exercise from the same original position as you took for the first. For this one, however, you bend both knees and raise feet as high from the floor as you can. Now, alternately raise and lower feet to a count of 10.

Olga ("One Touch of Venus") San Juan works out on exercise bar in studio gymnasium to keep her figure trim.

LET INDOOR EXERCISE KEEP FIGURE BENEFITS GAINED DURING SUMMER

By Alicia Hart
NEA Staff Writer

When cool weather sends your golf clubs, swim suit or tennis rackets into storage, plan to carry indoors the exercise which has kept you in shape. Otherwise, you will lose the figure benefits gained from your summer sport.

Muscles tightened and toned by an outdoor sport are easy to keep that way with simple calisthenics taken indoors.

A keep-in-condition routine is less likely to become tedious, according to experts, if you will include a variety of exercises and will perform each one 10 times rather than concentrating on two or three for longer periods of time.

Best plan, of course, is to sign up for regular workouts at a local gymnasium. The variety of exercise equipment offered permits you to zip through a routine with little risk of boredom.

If there is no gym available, you can rig up what passes for an exercise bar in your own home. Hang a pole to span a doorway opening, and place it within reaching distance of upstretched hands.

When that's all set, make these two bar-exercises a regular routine. For the first, stand erect with feet together, and grip the bar with your hands. Now, raise left leg and bring the knee as close as possible to your chest. Lower that leg, and raise the other. Continue this high-stepping stationary march to a count of 10.

You swing into the second exercise from the same original position as you took for the first. For this one, however, you bend both knees and raise feet as high from the floor as you can. Now, alternately raise and lower feet to a count of 10.

Olga ("One Touch of Venus") San Juan works out on exercise bar in studio gymnasium to keep her figure trim.

Choudrant

Meeting for the first time this fall since disbanding for the summer the Choudrant Order of the Eastern Star was called to order Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock by Pauline Hammons, worthy matron, who presided in the east.

It was announced that several persons were interested in becoming members of the order and their petitions would take the due course of action.

Harlan Futrell of Coutula, Texas is a guest of his family here.

Mrs. Bobbie McCann of New Orleans is visiting her mother Mrs. A. C. Frost. Also visiting the Frosts is Jimmy Rodgers of New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Ford and family who recently were visitors here are now permanently located in Michigan.

Mrs. Ollie Hopkins of Homer was a recent visitor of the Simmons' here.

Mrs. Odessa Simmons, registrar of the selectees for induction, reports that thirty-nine men have registered to date.

Misses Sarah O'Neal and Sunshine Kidd, and Mrs. Roy Holstead were recent visitors in Athens of Mrs. Jules Bailey.

To date 575 bales of cotton have been ginned in the two cotton gins of Choudrant, it is reported.

A. J. Parnell, owner of one of the cotton gins, has announced that he has installed new gas equipment for the processing of cotton.

C. E. Vinning was a recent visitor in Port Arthur, Texas.

The Baptist Training Union adult class held their quarterly social Thursday evening at eight o'clock. Ice cream and cake were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sikes, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Hogan, Mrs. Lee Hester, Mrs. M. E. Kidd, Mrs. Eva Farmer, Miss Winnie Hammons, Mrs. L. T. Kirkland, Mrs. Kathleen Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Walker, Bernice Harvey, and Mrs. S. D. Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Shep Aulds are now occupying the home of Mrs. Annie Lee Alexander which they recently purchased.

Mr. and Mrs. David Clinton were recent visitors in Dallas, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Payne visited Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Colvin in Ruston, Sunday.

Ferriday

Miss Frances Stokes left Saturday for Northwestern College at Natchitoches, La., to resume her studies. On Friday evening before her departure, Miss Stokes entertained at a dinner party at her home.

Mrs. E. Mitchell, who has been a guest of her daughter, Mrs. John Maxwell, has returned to her home in Lake Providence.

Mrs. Don Theriot entertained members of her bridge club Friday afternoon. High score was won by Mrs. C. T. Carter and second by Mrs. A. G. Hodges.

The P.-T. A. held a meeting on Monday at the high school auditorium with a large attendance. Mrs. Pollard Coleman, president, made a very interesting talk and reported the addition of several new members to the club. Professor Hugh A. Bateman also made a short talk. A social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. Sam Johnson entertained at bridge and luncheon on Tuesday morning at her home with Mesdames Cabe Lee, Don Theriot and J. T. Jacobs as her guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul McBride, of Shreveport, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Finley Price.

Mrs. Rita Sawyer left on Tuesday for Belton, Tex., to resume her studies at Mary Hardin Baylor College.

A marriage of interest to a wide circle of friends was that of Miss Dorothy Jean Reardon, daughter of Mrs. Prentiss S. Reardon and the late Mr. Reardon, of St. Joseph, to Thomas C. Gillis, of Waterproof, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Gillis, of Waterproof, which was solemnized Saturday at 10 o'clock a.m.

The impressive double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. L. Davis, at the St. Joseph Baptist Church in the presence of a few close friends and relatives.

E. B. Gillis, Jr., brother of the groom served as best man. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, W. E. Reardon, of Tallulah. The nuptial music was played by Mrs. Sanford Wood. The bride had as her attendant, Mrs. Chellos Price, who was matron of honor.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for a bridal trip to Texas and upon their return will make their home in St. Joseph.

Murray Clayton left during the week for Covington, La., where he has entered a Catholic seminary.

Use of camels in the U. S. desert regions of the southwest was tried but abandoned in the middle of the last century, largely because horses and mules stampeded at the sight or smell of camels.

SWAMI SANTHA HAS BIRTHDAY

Big Banquet And Dance Feature First Anniversary; Other Pythian News

Swami Santha, No. 102, Nomads of Avrudaka, held a first anniversary party in the K. of P. hall with a large assemblage of all Pythian organizations as participants last Monday night. A great U-shaped table was tastefully arranged with colors of purple, gold and white predominating.

After a bountiful meal there was an interesting program given with former State Senator M. C. Redmond as speaker of the occasion. He took for his theme "Friendship." Other short talks were given and well appreciated by all attending.

A short darbar was held in the lodge room on the floor above the banquet hall. There were approximately 40 present and the second year of Swami started auspiciously, with Mrs. Truie Sink, imperial swami of Houston, Tex., the honor guest. The birthday cake was cut by Rani Montez Baur. Numerous telegrams of congratulation were received from out of town units. Swami Santha now has a membership of 90. A dance was the finale on the night's program.

Plans are being formulated for a big ceremonial in Shreveport on Saturday, October 9.

Monroe Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters, will hold their regular meeting in Castle Hall at 8 p.m. Monday. An unusually large class is to be initiated. Plans will be perfected for the open house next Thursday by Stonewall lodge. This will take the place of the regular meeting and all Knights, Dokeys, Pythian Sisters and all other Pythian groups are expected to attend.

STATE CLASSROOM TEACHERS MEETING

Mrs. C. W. Flowers, of Jena, president of the State Classroom Teachers' Association, has announced that there will be a called meeting of the state association Saturday, October 2, at the Brame School at 9:30 a.m. in Alexandria. Plans for the Louisiana State Education Association meeting in November, will be formulated. Reports from the recent school legislation will be reviewed and D. W. Griffith, of Monroe, and Miss Clara Griggs, of Shreveport, both members of the special retirement committee of the L. T. A., which carried on the state retirement survey and made recommendations to the legislature, will give reports and explain retirement provisions.

It was announced that Miss Griggs and Mr. Griffith have agreed to become candidates for the newly created positions on the board of trustees of the Louisiana teachers retirement system to be filled by election at the annual meeting at Lafayette of the Louisiana Education Association in November.

GEORGE WOMACK TO GIVE FIRST SERMON

George Womack will deliver his first message as minister Sunday night at Trinity Church.

Mr. Womack, who resides at 118 Reagan street, West Monroe, accepted the ministry last Sunday evening and will fill the pulpit at Trinity Church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. He has been one of Trinity's active members. He came into the church in 1940 as a charter member, and has served as a deacon, teacher of men's Bible class, Sunday school superintendent, and at present is president of the Brotherhood. He has been faithful in every task he has undertaken for the Lord, and the men of Trinity Church have learned to love to work with him, his pastor states.

Mr. Womack states that his plans are as soon as possible to close out his garage business at 1515 South Grand and enter Baptist Bible Seminary at New Orleans.

Seven hundred pencil erasers are made from a pound of specially-treated rubber.

SYNOD TO MEET HERE THIS WEEK

Opening Session Will Be In First Presbyterian Church Tuesday Night

The Synod of Louisiana will meet in the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. W. L. McLeod, minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Lake Charles. His subject will be: "Screaming Stones."

Immediately following the sermon there will be Communion of the Lord's Supper administered. Officiating ministers will be Rev. Dr. O. M. Anderson, Bastrop; Rev. W. G. Foster, Jr., Alexandria. The elders of the church will assist.

The inspirational speaker is to be Rev. Dr. David Stitt, president of Austin Theological Seminary, Austin, Texas. He will speak three times on Wednesday at 11:30 a. m., 3:30 p. m., and 8:20 p. m. The public is cordially invited to hear this brilliant speaker.

Dr. McLeod is a native of Broadway, N. C. He received his Ph.B. and D.D. from Elon College, B.D. from Columbia Seminary, and has taken special work in Louisville Seminary, Princeton Seminary and Union Seminary.

He has resided in Lake Charles since 1942, is a trustee of the Palmer Orphanage, chairman of the Synod's committee of religious education and chairman of home missions for the Louisiana Presbytery. He is a past president of Lake Charles' Rotary Club.

WINNSBORO TO BE HOST TO BOY SCOUT JAMBOREE

WINNSBORO, Sept. 25.—(Special)—A Boy Scout jamboree and court of honor for all Scouts and Cubs of the Midland district will be held at the baseball park in Winnsboro Thursday night at 7:30. Participating troops and packs will come from Winnsboro, Rayville, Wisner, Gilbert, Mangham, Holly Ridge, Central and Liddivillie. Several hundred Scouts and Cubs are expected to be on hand when the show begins.

Scouts will be presented recent advancement awards from the advancement committee, headed by Joe Dante.

One of the outstanding features of the show will be the final event in which two troops will build 20-foot signal towers to demonstrate Scout pioneering. Troop 53, Winnsboro, and troop 54, Wisner, under the leadership of Scoutmasters James Mays and A. J. Ensminger, will participate in the tower construction.

Other events of the jamboree include the grand entry, color ceremony, tenderfoot investiture ceremony, the second-class advancement trail, the first-class advancement trail, and higher scouting awards, including the awarding of an Eagle badge to Jack Ensminger, troop 54, Wisner.

The jamboree committee appointed by J. A. Holmes, district chairman, is made up of Rev. M. S. Robertson, the Rev. R. J. Swift, Homer E. Lowry and Roy Taylor.

The name of a Massachusetts lake—Chaugogagogmanchaugagogchaubunagungamaug—is said to mean in Indian language, "You fish on your side, I fish on my side, nobody fish in middle."

REV. DR. W. L. M'LEOD

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP)—In a democracy, where the success of the government depends upon the people, anything that helps them make intelligent decisions helps the democracy. One of the ways to help people do that is to write in language they can understand. That goes for a political speech, an economic report, or any information upon which people make up their minds.

This week the government's census bureau, after a nationwide study, said:

There are 2,800,000 Americans over 14 years of age who can neither read nor write, although that is the lowest number of illiterate people on record in this country.

Commenting on this editorially yesterday, the New York Times said:

"We need not only to wipe out illiteracy but to teach young people in our schools to read easily and understandingly. Our democracy is imperfect if they don't."

That's all right so far as it goes, but it raises two questions:

1. Read what understandingly? Those who go on through college will be able to read a great many things more understandingly than those who don't go on to college or even high school.

2. What of the adult people who are not well-educated now? The children growing up now will make this country's great decisions in the future. But the important decisions being made now and for years to come will depend upon the people who are now grown-up.

And most people in this country are not well-educated.

In 1940 the census bureau made a study showing the kind of education Americans 25 years of age or older have had. It showed this:

About 44,500,000 of them had never gone to high school, and of that number only about 25,900,000 had gone so far as the seventh or eighth grades in grammar school.

And—only about 3,400,000 had had four years of college education or better. (This was in 1940. The number of college graduates is higher now.)

The college graduates and perhaps the high school graduates may be able to plow through heavy reading—such as complicated sentences and highfalutin words—if they're not too busy with their own problems or too tired from their day's work.

But what of those 44,500,000 who had never gone to high school?

They too have their own problems and get tired from a day's work. And they lack the education that would help them plow through the kind of writing that only a college man has time or patience for.

Yet, anyone who is anxious to see this democracy work at its best—meaning, through well-informed people—must keep in mind those 44,500,000 who didn't get as far as high school.

What Americans can understand—from the things they read—depends upon their schooling and study.

If the not-so-well educated can understand what is written in the way of public information, the well-educated will have no trouble.

This doesn't mean writing down, in kindergarten English. It means writing so that most people will understand.

It means that anything written so only college graduates can understand is over the heads of the not-so-well educated majority.

This is what the census figures on education in 1940 showed, although figures for 1950 will be different:

About 44,500,000 Americans over 25 had never gone to high school and only about 3,500,000 had had four years of college or better.

No schooling—2,799,923; one to four years of grammar school—7,304,689; five and six years of grammar school—8,515,111; seven and eight years of grammar school—25,897,953.

Total of those with eight years of grammar school education or less: 44,497,676.

One to three years of high school—11,181,995; four years of high school—10,551,680; one to three years of college—4,075,184; four years of college or better—3,407,331.

Total of those with better than a grammar school education: 29,276,190.

OPTIMIST PROGRAM MAKES BIG HIT

Optimist Club members agree that the program in Hotel Frances Friday was the best held for many weeks. Jack Howard and Rawleigh Poulos held a "Truth or Consequences" show which was enjoyed by all. Jack Howard was held responsible for advertising and was fined.

Rawleigh Poulos, horse show chairman, reported that the club is now at the half way mark in the advertising program and that the outlook is bright for a first class horse show.

The club's sympathy was extended to Sylvan Masur in the death of his aunt, Mrs. Sam Kranz.

Robert Rainwater, chairman of the concessions committee at Neville High School stadium, assisted by seven other Optimists, reported success at the Homer-Neville game Friday night.

Chives, grown in a pot on a window sill, will add flavor to many dishes. Use it in Russian dressing, in an omelet, in cottage cheese mixed with sour cream, and in a mixed vegetable salad.

PROCLAMATION ISSUED HERE

Mayors Of Two Cities Urge Employment Of War's Handicapped

The following proclamation was issued Saturday by the mayors of the Twin Cities:

"Whereas, the employment of disabled veterans, physically handicapped war workers and the many other citizens of our nation who have suffered physical impairment presents a problem of sufficient and economic importance to the nation, and

"Whereas, the congress of the United States has designated the first week in October of each year as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, and

"Whereas, the president of the United States has issued a proclamation to the people of the United States to recognize and observe the first week in October of each year as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, and

"Whereas, all of the citizens of the state of Louisiana wish these splendid people to have an equal opportunity to establish economical independence and receive equitable treatment in all matters relating to employment:

"Now, therefore, we, George O. Breece and C. C. Bell, Jr., mayors of the cities of Monroe and West Monroe do set aside the week of October 3 to October 9 as

"Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, and ask the citizens of this community, and more particularly these citizens in a position to offer employment, to study and discuss the problems of the physically handicapped and personally to heed every opportunity to assist in the alleviation of their problems. We further wish to remind the good citizens of our community not to limit their period of assistance to our physically handicapped to the designated week of October 3-9, but to consider this week as a reminder period and a time concentrated study so that we shall better be able to assist our less fortunate friends the remaining 51 weeks of the year.

"In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hand and caused the seals of the cities of Monroe and West Monroe to be affixed this 25th day of September, 1948, A. D.

"GEORGE O. BREECE
"C. C. BELL, JR."

NORTH MONROE'S LIONS SEE FILM

This past week's meeting of the North Monroe Lions Club, held Tuesday night at the Hotel Frances, was highlighted by an excellent motion picture of the tobacco industry, presented by Lion Ed Hayman.

The business portion of the meeting was taken up with discussions concerning the sponsorship by this club of the Northeast Junior College-Copiah Lincoln football game to be held October 8. Advance sale tickets were distributed to the members by Ticket Chairman Joe Haddad. General Program Chairman George W. Guerriero reported that a committee composed of Lions Eugene D. Galligan, Joe Haddad and himself, had a very successful conference with Bob Dumm of radio station KNOE relative to the broadcasting of the game, and publicizing the game over this station. Chairman Guerriero stated that Mr. Dumm was anxious to aid this club with the sponsorship of the game.

Lion Galligan reported that he talked with Paul Martin, sports editor of the News-Star—World, and that the club would receive the full cooperation of these papers.

A beautiful trophy was donated to the club by Past President Fran Brennan to be presented to the member who sells the most tickets.

The "silent" whistles used to call dogs have a pitch from about 17,000 to 25,000 per second.

25 BOOTHS AT FAIR DESIRED

This Number Already Applied For; Many Others To Be Sought

Approaching the last week before the opening of the Ouachita Valley Fair, special attention is directed to the meeting of the members of the fair association, to be held at the fair grounds on Monday evening, September 27, at which time the Home Demonstration agent is calling in representatives from all the department clubs to come and draw for spaces in which their respective booths are to be located.

Already 25 applications have been received for booth space, and at this meeting, all the superintendents and different departments, and the building committee can see just where each booth will be located, and plan for their arrangement. It is planned to have some highly educational displays, and visitors will no doubt be impressed with their practical suggestions, and attractiveness.

Wednesday and Thursday, September 22 and 23, a trip will be made by Mrs. McQuiller and other members of the committee on food conservation, to view the various planned pantries, in order that all of them may be checked before they are entered for display.

The corn show, sponsored by the West Monroe Kiwanis Club, will have to shoot high to equal the show of last year, which was admitted by every test to have been the finest one in the state. Even if we did have a dry year, it is a matter of record that some of the largest and best corn crops have been produced in dry years, and it is certainly hoped that there will be enough entries in the different categories to take up the cash prizes offered, as well as other awards.

The sweet potato show, sponsored by the West Monroe Lions Club will come in for further publicity early next week, and as everyone knows, this product is one of the most outstanding and valuable raised in this area.

With the best cotton crop produced in this area in many years, the cotton show, sponsored by the Union Oil Mill, of West Monroe, should also be the biggest and best yet shown. Best stalks, bolls and staple will be considered, length of staple 1 1/32 to 1 1/16 inch.

Don't sing "Meet Me In St. Louie, Louie, Meet Me At The Fair," but "Meet Me In West Monroe, Bo, Meet Me At The Fair," October 5-9, 1948.

SINGING MEET IS PLANNED TODAY

A singing convention will be held in the Church of God, Montgomery street, Sunday, at 1:30 p.m.

A number of quartets, soloists and instrumental musicians are expected to attend.

The public is cordially invited to be present.

SWAMI SANTHA HAS BIRTHDAY

Big Banquet And Dance Feature First Anniversary; Other Pythian News

Swami Santha, No. 102, Nomads of Avrudaka, held a first anniversary party in the K. of P. hall with a large assemblage of all Pythian organizations as participants last Monday night. A great U-shaped table was tastefully arranged with colors of purple, gold and white predominating.

After a bountiful meal there was an interesting program given with former State Senator M. C. Redmond as speaker of the occasion. He took for his theme "Friendship." Other short talks were given and well appreciated by all attending.

A short darbar was held in the lodge room on the floor above the banquet hall. There were approximately 40 present and the second year of Swami started auspiciously, with Mrs. Truie Sink, imperial swami of Houston, Tex., the honor guest. The birthday cake was cut by Rani Montez Baur. Numerous telegrams of congratulation were received from out of town units. Swami Santha now has a membership of 90. A dance was the finale on the night's program.

Plans are being formulated for a big ceremonial in Shreveport on Saturday, October 9.

Monroe Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters, will hold their regular meeting in Castle Hall at 8 p.m. Monday. An unusually large class is to be initiated. Plans will be perfected for the open house next Thursday by Stonewall lodge. This will take the place of the regular meeting and all Knights, Dokeys, Pythian Sisters and all other Pythian groups are expected to attend.

STATE CLASSROOM TEACHERS MEETING

Mrs. C. W. Flowers, of Jena, president of the State Classroom Teachers' Association, has announced that there will be a called meeting of the state association Saturday, October 2, at the Brame School at 9:30 a.m. in Alexandria. Plans for the Louisiana State Education Association meeting in November, will be formulated. Reports from the recent school legislation will be reviewed and D. W. Griffith, of Monroe, and Miss Clara Griggs, of Shreveport, both members of the special retirement committee of the L. T. A., which carried on the state retirement survey and made recommendations to the legislature, will give reports and explain retirement provisions.

It was announced that Miss Griggs and Mr. Griffith have agreed to become candidates for the newly created positions on the board of trustees of the Louisiana teachers retirement system to be filled by election at the annual meeting at Lafayette of the Louisiana Education Association in November.

GEORGE WOMACK TO GIVE FIRST SERMON

George Womack will deliver his first message as minister Sunday night at Trinity Church.

Mr. Womack, who resides at 118 Reagan street, West Monroe, accepted the ministry last Sunday evening and will fill the pulpit at Trinity Church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. He has been one of Trinity's active members. He came into the church in 1940 as a charter member, and has served as a deacon, teacher of men's Bible class, Sunday school superintendent, and at present is president of the Brotherhood. He has been faithful in every task he has undertaken for the Lord, and the men of Trinity Church have learned to love to work with him, his pastor states.

Mr. Womack states that his plans are as soon as possible to close out his garage business at 1515 South Grand and enter Baptist Bible Seminary at New Orleans.

Seven hundred pencil erasers are made from a pound of specially-treated rubber.

SYNOD TO MEET HERE THIS WEEK

Opening Session Will Be In First Presbyterian Church Tuesday Night

The Synod of Louisiana will meet in the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. W. L. McLeod, minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Lake Charles. His subject will be: "Screaming Stones."

Immediately following the sermon there will be Communion of the Lord's Supper administered. Officiating ministers will be Rev. Dr. O. M. Anderson, Bastrop; Rev. W. G. Foster, Jr., Alexandria. The elders of the church will assist.

The inspirational speaker is to be Rev. Dr. David Stitt, president of Austin Theological Seminary, Austin, Texas. He will speak three times on Wednesday at 11:30 a. m., 3:30 p. m., and 8:20 p. m. The public is cordially invited to hear this brilliant speaker.

Dr. McLeod is a native of Broadway, N. C. He received his Ph.B. and D.D. from Elon College, B.D. from Columbia Seminary, and has taken special work in Louisville Seminary, Princeton Seminary and Union Seminary.

He has resided in Lake Charles since 1942, is a trustee of the Palmer Orphanage, chairman of the Synod's committee of religious education and chairman of home missions for the Louisiana Presbytery. He is a past president of Lake Charles' Rotary Club.

WINNSBORO TO BE HOST TO BOY SCOUT JAMBOREE

WINNSBORO, Sept. 25.—(Special)—A Boy Scout jamboree and court of honor for all Scouts and Cubs of the Midland district will be held at the baseball park in Winnsboro Thursday night at 7:30. Participating troops and packs will come from Winnsboro, Rayville, Wisner, Gilbert, Mangham, Holly Ridge, Central and Liddivillie. Several hundred Scouts and Cubs are expected to be on hand when the show begins.

Scouts will be presented recent advancement awards from the advancement committee, headed by Joe Dante.

One of the outstanding features of the show will be the final event in which two troops will build 20-foot signal towers to demonstrate Scout pioneering. Troop 53, Winnsboro, and troop 54, Wisner, under the leadership of Scoutmasters James Mays and A. J. Ensminger, will participate in the tower construction.

Other events of the jamboree include the grand entry, color ceremony, tenderfoot investiture ceremony, the second-class advancement trail, the first-class advancement trail, and higher scouting awards, including the awarding of an Eagle badge to Jack Ensminger, troop 54, Wisner.

The jamboree committee appointed by J. A. Holmes, district chairman, is made up of Rev. M. S. Robertson, the Rev. R. J. Swift, Homer E. Lowry and Roy Taylor.

The name of a Massachusetts lake—Chaugogagogmanchaugagogchaubunagungamaug—is said to mean in Indian language, "You fish on your side, I fish on my side, nobody fish in middle."

TO GIVE SERMON

REV. DR. W. L. M'LEOD

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP)—In a democracy, where the success of the government depends upon the people, anything that helps them make intelligent decisions helps the democracy.

One of the ways to help people do that is to write in language they can understand. That goes for a political speech, an economic report, or any information upon which people make up their minds.

This week the government's census bureau, after a nationwide study, said:

There are 2,800,000 Americans over 14 years of age who can neither read nor write, although that is the lowest number of illiterate people on record in this country.

Commenting on this editorially yesterday, the New York Times said:

"We need not only to wipe out illiteracy but to teach young people in our schools to read easily and understandingly. Our democracy is imperfect if they don't."

That's all right so far as it goes, but it raises two questions:

1. Read what understandingly? Those who go on through college will be able to read a great many things more understandingly than those who don't go on to college or even high school.

2. What of the adult people who are not well-educated now? The children growing up now will make this country's great decisions in the future. But the important decisions being made now and for years to come will depend upon the people who are now grown-up.

And most people in this country are not well-educated.

In 1940 the census bureau made a study showing the kind of education Americans 25 years of age or older have had. It showed this:

About 44,500,000 of them had never gone to high school, and of that number only about 25,900,000 had gone so far as the seventh or eighth grades in grammar school.

And—only about 3,400,000 had had four years of college education or better. (This was in 1940. The number of college graduates is higher now.)

The college graduates and perhaps the high school graduates may be able to plow through heavy reading—such as complicated sentences and highfalutin words—if they're not too busy with their own problems or too tired from their day's work.

But what of those 44,500,000 who had never gone to high school?

They too have their own problems and get tired from a day's work. And they lack the education that would help them plow through the kind of writing that only a college man has time or patience for.

Yet, anyone who is anxious to see this democracy work at its best—meaning, through well-informed people—must keep in mind those 44,500,000 who didn't get as far as high school.

What Americans can understand—from the things they read—depends upon their schooling and study.

If the not-so-well educated can understand what is written in the way of public information, the well-educated will have no trouble.

This doesn't mean writing down, in kindergarten English. It means writing so that most people will understand.

It means that anything written so only college graduates can understand is over the heads of the not-so-well educated majority.

This is what the census figures on education in 1940 showed, although figures for 1950 will be different:

About 44,500,000 Americans over 25 had never gone to high school and only about 3,500,000 had had four years of college or better.

No schooling—2,799,923; one to four years of grammar school—7,304,689; five and six years of grammar school—8,515,111; seven and eight years of grammar school—25,897,953.

Total of those with eight years of grammar school education or less: 44,497,676.

One to three years of high school—11,181,995; four years of high school—10,551,680; one to three years of college—4,075,184; four years of college or better—3,407,331.

Total of those with better than a grammar school education: 29,276,190.

OPTIMIST PROGRAM MAKES BIG HIT

Optimist Club members agree that the program in Hotel Frances Friday was the best held for many weeks. Jack Howard and Rawleigh Poulos held a "Truth or Consequences" show which was enjoyed by all. Jack Howard was held responsible for advertising and was fined.

Rawleigh Poulos, horse show chairman, reported that the club is now at the half way mark in the advertising program and that the outlook is bright for a first class horse show.

The club's sympathy was extended to Sylvan Masur in the death of his aunt, Mrs. Sam Kranz.

Robert Rainwater, chairman of the concessions committee at Neville High School stadium, assisted by seven other Optimists, reported success at the Homer-Neville game Friday night.

Chives, grown in a pot on a window sill, will add flavor to many dishes. Use it in Russian dressing, in an omelet, in cottage cheese mixed with sour cream, and in a mixed vegetable salad.

PROCLAMATION ISSUED HERE

Mayors Of Two Cities Urge Employment Of War's Handicapped

The following proclamation was issued Saturday by the mayors of the Twin Cities:

"Whereas, the employment of disabled veterans, physically handicapped war workers and the many other citizens of our nation who have suffered physical impairment presents a problem of sufficient and economic importance to the nation, and

"Whereas, the congress of the United States has designated the first week in October of each year as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, and

"Whereas, the president of the Unied States has issued a proclamation to the people of the United States to recognize and observe the first week in October of each year as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, and

"Whereas, all of the citizens of the state of Louisiana wish these splendid people to have an equal opportunity to establish economical independence and receive equitable treatment in all matters relating to employment;

"Now, therefore, we, George O. Breece and C. C. Bell, Jr., mayors of the cities of Monroe and West Monroe do set aside the week of October 3 to October 9 as

"Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, and ask the citizens of this community, and more particularly these citizens in a position to offer employment, to study and discuss the problems of the physically handicapped and personally to heed every opportunity to assist in the alleviation of their problems. We further wish to remind the good citizens of our community not to limit their period of assistance to our physically handicapped to the designated week of October 3-9, but to consider this week as a reminder period and a time concentrated study so that we shall better be able to assist our less fortunate friends the remaining 51 weeks of the year.

"In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hand and caused the seals of the cities of Monroe and West Monroe to be affixed this 25th day of September, 1948, A. D.

"GEORGE O. BREECE
"C. C. BELL, JR."

NORTH MONROE'S LIONS SEE FILM

This past week's meeting of the North Monroe Lions Club, held Tuesday night at the Hotel Frances, was highlighted by an excellent motion picture of the tobacco industry, presented by Lion Ed Hayman.

The business portion of the meeting was taken up with discussions concerning the sponsorship by this club of the Northeast Junior College-Copiah Lincoln football game to be held October 8. Advance sale tickets were distributed to the members by Ticket Chairman Joe Haddad. General Program Chairman George W. Guerriero reported that a committee composed of Lions Eugene D. Galligan, Joe Haddad and himself, had a very successful conference with Bob Dumm of radio station KNOE relative to the broadcasting of the game, and publicizing the game over this station. Chairman Guerriero stated that Mr. Dumm was anxious to aid this club with the sponsorship of the game.

Lion Galligan reported that he talked with Paul Martin, sports editor of the News-Star—World, and that the club would receive the full cooperation of these papers.

A beautiful trophy was donated to the club by Past President Fran Brennan to be presented to the member who sells the most tickets.

The "silent" whistles used to call dogs have a pitch from about 17,000 to 25,000 per second.

25 BOOTHS AT FAIR DESIRED

This Number Already Applied For; Many Others To Be Sought

Approaching the last week before the opening of the Ouachita Valley Fair, special attention is directed to the meeting of the members of the fair association, to be held at the fair grounds on Monday evening, September 27, at which time the Home Demonstration agent is calling in representatives from all the department clubs to come and draw for spaces in which their respective booths are to be located.

Already 25 applications have been received for booth space, and at this meeting, all the superintendents and different departments, and the building committee can see just where each booth will be located, and plan for their arrangement. It is planned to have some highly educational displays, and visitors will no doubt be impressed with their practical suggestions, and attractiveness.

Wednesday and Thursday, September 22 and 23, a trip will be made by Mrs. McQuiller and other members of the committee on food conservation, to view the various planned pantries, in order that all of them may be checked before they are entered for display.

The corn show, sponsored by the West Monroe Kiwanis Club, will have to shoot high to equal the show of last year, which was admitted by every test to have been the finest one in the state. Even if we did have a dry year, it is a matter of record that some of the largest and best corn crops have been produced in dry years, and it is certainly hoped that there will be enough entries in the different categories to take up the cash prizes offered, as well as other awards.

The sweet potato show, sponsored by the West Monroe Lions Club will come in for further publicity early next week, and as everyone knows, this product is one of the most outstanding and valuable raised in this area.

With the best cotton crop produced in this area in many years, the cotton show, sponsored by the Union Oil Mill, of West Monroe, should also be the biggest and best yet shown. Best stalks, bolls and staple will be considered, length of staple 1 1/32 to 1 1/16 inch.

Don't sing "Meet Me In St. Louie, Louie, Meet Me At The Fair," but "Meet Me In West Monroe, Bo, Meet Me At The Fair," October 5-9, 1948.

SINGING MEET IS PLANNED TODAY

A singing convention will be held in the Church of God, Montgomery street, Sunday, at 1:30 p.m.

A number of quartets, soloists and instrumental musicians are expected to attend.

The public is cordially invited to be present.

CUBS' MOTHERS TO TAKE STUDY

Course To Be Given At Recreation Center Tuesday Morning

Den mothers from all Cub Scout packs in the Twin Cities will begin a special den mothers' training course Tuesday morning at 9:00 o'clock, at the Monroe Recreation Center, it was announced yesterday by A. C. Lea, Cub Scout commissioner for the central district.

The course is to be conducted in four morning sessions, held on Tuesday and Thursday for the next two weeks. Each session will begin promptly at 9:00 o'clock and will close by 10:30. Cub officials in the district will be in charge while all those taking the training will participate in all of the activities scheduled on the program.

All of the latest Cub literature will be displayed, as will the Cub uniform and badges. The program will be filled with techniques and ideas which will be helpful in planning den meeting programs. Also featured in some of the meetings will be the latest Cub Scout films.

Cub handicraft, puzzles, ceremonies, songs and games will actually be practiced in the four training meetings. Program planning features will be presented and materials for program themes given those participating.

The first den mothers' meeting on Tuesday morning will include a complete explanation of the course and discussions on the responsibilities of den leaders, Cub literature, the achievement program and electives, parents' cooperation, a Cub game, and the practice of Cub ceremonies.

All den mothers in Monroe and West Monroe have been invited to attend this course and Cub leaders from the following packs are expected to be present: Pack 13, West Monroe, pack 31, pack 32 and pack 34, Monroe. Anyone interested in the Cub Scout program for boys between the ages 9 to 12 is invited to attend.

The death rate of U. S. troops in the United States in 1947 was 30 per cent lower than in 1939.

'MESSIAH' WILL BE PRESENTED

Choral Club Is In Rehearsal At Presbyterian Church Mondays

More than fifty singers from Monroe and West Monroe are making rapid progress on Handel's "The Messiah" which will be presented about December 15, according to Kit Walters, president of The Choral Club.

"Anyone who is interested in choral singing can join the group. Ability to read music is not necessary and there is no charge for admission," Mrs. Walters added. "Plenty of copies of the music are available."

Musical director of the organization is Walter Minniear, conductor of the 70-piece O. P. H. S. band. Mrs. Florence Zeigler Albritton and Mrs. Alta Faircloth are accompanists. Rehearsals are held each Monday night at 7:30 at the First Presbyterian Church.

"Inexperienced singers will be able to learn quickly in the Choral Club," Mrs. Walters stated, "because many of the members in each voice section already know 'The Messiah'." Solo numbers will be assigned to members of the club sufficiently ahead of the public performance to be learned properly, she added.

All members of the group and others who are interested in choral singing are urged to come to the First Presbyterian Church Monday night at 7:30 for rehearsal.

The crop loss from weeds in the United States each year is estimated at $5 billions.

KIWANIANS WILL ATTEND SESSION

Delegates Will Go To Gulfport To Attend Convention

The Kiwanis Club of Monroe will be represented at the 1948 convention of the Louisiana-Mississippi-West Tennessee Kiwanis district to be held October 3 to 5 at Gulfport, Miss., Club President Ben Parnell announced Saturday.

More than 60 clubs in the district, which embraces a membership of 4,000 business and professional leaders, are expected to send delegates to the three-day meeting, Parnell said.

The speaking program will feature the appearance of Dr. Charles W. Armstrong, Salisbury, N. C., immediate past president of Kiwanis International.

Dr. L. E. Chandler, Hammond, governor of the Louisiana-Mississippi-West Tennessee Kiwanis district, will preside at the convention, which will highlight committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year and election of officers.

Dr. Armstrong, who will serve as the official representative of Kiwanis International, has been active in Kiwanis administration for 27 years. He was elected to the presidency in 1947 and presided over the 33rd annual convention in Los Angeles last June. A member of the board of medical examiners for the state of North Carolina, Dr. Armstrong has served as a director of the National Tuberculosis Association and president of its affiliate in his home state.

Delegates who will represent the Kiwanis Club of Monroe at the convention include J. R. Plaisance, Ivy Jordan and Ben Parnell.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Joan Crawford, who has worked long and successfully enough in Hollywood to talk back to anyone, has this to say about movie producers:

"They're afraid to take chances.

"This is the most competitive business in the world. But when producers follow each other and are afraid to do something different, that is bad for the industry. I'm afraid that people will start staying away from the movies and will go out and buy television sets or some other form of entertainment."

The cause of this outburst is Joan's pet project, "Miss O'Brien." She's mighty hepped up on the story. She tells how it came about:

"I happened to see some school teacher statistics that were being prepared for a magazine article. I was appalled. I mentioned to a radio writer that something should be done to tell the public about it. He told a friend who wrote up a synopsis of a story about a school teacher.

"I took a manuscript to New York and read it on the way home. I got off at Chicago, telephoned Jerry Wald and told him I had to do the story."

The producer also enthused, but Warner bigwigs thumbed down. Too big a risk they said; message pictures don't make money.

Joan wheedled the studio into taking an option on the story, but the option was soon dropped. So the actress took over "Miss O'Brien."

"I've had many letters from school teachers begging me to make this film," she says. "Some of them would break your heart with the shocking conditions they describe. The low pay, the social restriction and the discrimination against teachers is a national disgrace."

Joan put a writer to work on the script and engaged Curt Berhardt as director. She'll do the film right after "Flamingo Road" and right now she is talking to four studios about sale of the package—star, script and director.

I asked why she didn't produce it herself.

"I'm not smart enough," she replied.

Is she kidding? That Crawford gal knows more about picture making than a lot of producers. Mentioning no names.

WHOLESALE GROCER MEET IS HELD HERE

The Louisiana Wholesale Grocer Association held a directors' meeting at Hotel Frances Friday.

A sales class was conducted by Ray Page, secretary of the group, and was attended by many salesmen of the Monroe area.

At 8 p. m. there was a banquet held which was attended by about 75 men.

The president of the association is Ernest Jeanmard, of Lafayette.

Modern lead pencils were not developed until the discovery in 1564 of a graphite mine in Cumberland, England.

THANKS GIVEN BOARD WORKERS

Chairman And Members Express Appreciation Of Draft Board Officers

Each member of selective service local board No. 46, and the selective service system wishes to express sincere appreciation to the ladies and the organizations of the community who assisted in registering the registrants of Ouachita parish by volunteering their services without hope of immuneration. The board appreciates this cooperation and wish to express its gratitude for without the assistance of these ladies, this registration would not have been as easily accomplished nor as successfully carried through on schedule.

G. R. Williams, former chief clerk of board No. 2, volunteered his services to help the members of the board properly set up the records and filing system. The Junior Charity League took over the task of organizing each day's schedule of workers. The following organizations were largely responsible for the great number of ladies who so graciously gave their time and services. Teachers of the Ouachita parish system, teachers of the city school system, Junior Charity League, League of Women Voters, Medical Auxiliary, Newcomers Club, Daughters of American Revolution, Red Cross, Louisiana Power and Light Company and Readers Clique.

The following volunteered their services. Henry Sandman, M. E. Nappier, Jr., Misses Louise Patterson, Sally Ann Ware, Mary Lea George, Annie Laurie Breard, Emma Jane Weil, Ina Merle Thomas, Eloise Cann, Laura C. Ballard, Carol Layton, Hazel Mitchell, Mary Lou Willey, Kiki Gatzoulas, Sue Dickard, Magdalen Amman, Marguerite Lamkin, Jackie Walker, Jane M. MILLSAPS P.-T. A. EXPRESSES THANKS

Mrs. J. R. Roark, Millsaps School P.-T.A. president, for whose benefit the baseball game between the West Monroe Lions and West Monroe Kiwanis was played recently, expresses sincere thanks to all who helped make the affair a success.

More than $100 was cleared which will make the school's P.-T. A. budget over $300 for the year. The players and the generous support by the public elicited sincere thanks from Mrs. Roark and all P.-T. A. members.

GROUP WILL ATTEND BIG ROSE FESTIVAL

Preparations for a visit to the gigantic rose festival to be held at Tyler, Tex., this week end are being made by the Ouachita Parish Home Demonstration Council, Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller, home demonstration agent, said Saturday. Reservations have been made for a party of 37.

The delegation will leave here at 3:30 Saturday morning in order to arrive in Tyler in time for the big parade at 10 a.m. The parade is being heralded as one of the spectacular events of the rose festival.

Because of the huge crowd expected to attend the festival, nearest hotel reservations that could be obtained for the Monroe group were in Mineola. Monroe delegates, therefore, will spend Saturday night in Mineola and will return to Tyler Sunday morning. They will return home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. McQuiller stated that not all the reservations have been filled and she would like to hear from anyone who would care to attend the event. The offer is open to anyone, regardless of whether he or she is connected with home demonstration work. Mrs. McQuiller may be contacted at the agriculture building in West Monroe.

Although it is officially Kearney, Neb., the town is said to have been named after Gen. Stephen Watts Kearny.

IVY JORDAN TO HEAD CAMPAIGN

Will Direct Twin City Community Chest Drive For 1948-49

Ivy Jordan has been appointed general chairman of the 1948 Twin Cities Community Chest drive, it was announced today by A. B. Patterson, Jr., president. Henry Ford, II, chairman of the Community Chests of America, on notification of Jordan's appointment, wrote to him: "I am ever so pleased to learn that you are chairman of this year's Red Feather campaign in the Twin Cities area. I congratulate your community on your selection."

Jordan on his appointment said: "The need is great in '48. We must have the cooperation of our citizens to reach our goal of $51,000.00." At the same time Jordan appointed his staff of chairmen to serve under his leadership. Vice-chairman for Monroe will be John Sherrouse, Jr. West Monroe will fall under Kenneth Lee. General publicity chairman will be Robert W. Dumm, while P. E. Massey will head the big gifts section and J. W. Keene, the general solicitation group.

The drive which opens October 10 will continue for two weeks. At a meeting of the board of directors of the Twin City Community Chest, it was decided to include the U. S. O. as one of the agencies to benefit from the 1948 drive to open October 10. This was announced by A. B. Patterson, Jr., president.

This agency, dropped from support after the war, will again be included as there are so many Twin Cities boys already called, and soon to be called to serve in the armed forces. "So many of our young men will soon be scattered widely throughout the country and the world due to the draft. Although, we have no U. S. O. activity in Monroe, our boys will be benefiting in other sections. Hence, we feel it is our duty to contribute a share toward the welfare of this organization."

By adding the U. S. O. as one of the agencies to share in the 1948 funds, the U. S. O. drive scheduled for February, 1949, will be eliminated.

The goal for the 1948 Twin City drive is $51,000.00 which will include the portion to be allocated to the U. S. O.

HANDICAPPED AID TO BE STRESSED

A 15-minute transcription will be heard over KNOE October 4 at 9:30 p.m., sponsored by the veterans' employment service of the federal security agency and the Louisiana state employment service.

The transcription to be given will be entitled "Disabled Veterans Make Good," with Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, president and general manager, Eastern Air Lines, Inc., Perry Faulker, chief of the veterans' employment service and Paul H. Griffith, past national commander of the American Legion as participants.

Timely messages from three nationally known men, with an appeal to employers of America to employ qualified disabled veterans.

The recording features a presentation of a certificate of merit to Captain Eddie Rickenbacker by the American Legion.

Each year the American Legion selects employers throughout the country who have outstanding records in the employment of physically handicapped veterans and awards them a certificate of merit. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, president and general manager of Eastern Air Lines accepted the award on behalf of his company. In his talk he outlines what his company has done about employing disabled veterans and states that "if every employer in the nation would hire only one disabled veteran, there would be no unemployed disabled veterans among us."

The 1,250,000,000 pencils used each year by Americans could draw a line 43,475,000,000 miles long.

Course To Be Given At Recreation Center Tuesday Morning

Den mothers from all Cub Scout packs in the Twin Cities will begin a special den mothers' training course Tuesday morning at 9:00 o'clock, at the Monroe Recreation Center, it was announced yesterday by A. C. Lea, Cub Scout commissioner for the central district.

The course is to be conducted in four morning sessions, held on Tuesday and Thursday for the next two weeks. Each session will begin promptly at 9:00 o'clock and will close by 10:30. Cub officials in the district will be in charge while all those taking the training will participate in all of the activities scheduled on the program.

All of the latest Cub literature will be displayed, as will the Cub uniform and badges. The program will be filled with techniques and ideas which will be helpful in planning den meeting programs. Also featured in some of the meetings will be the latest Cub Scout films.

Cub handicraft, puzzles, ceremonies, songs and games will actually be practiced in the four training meetings. Program planning features will be presented and materials for program themes given those participating.

The first den mothers' meeting on Tuesday morning will include a complete explanation of the course and discussions on the responsibilities of den leaders, Cub literature, the achievement program and electives, parents' cooperation, a Cub game, and the practice of Cub ceremonies.

All den mothers in Monroe and West Monroe have been invited to attend this course and Cub leaders from the following packs are expected to be present: Pack 13, West Monroe, pack 31, pack 32 and pack 34, Monroe. Anyone interested in the Cub Scout program for boys between the ages 9 to 12 is invited to attend.

The death rate of U. S. troops in the United States in 1947 was 30 per cent lower than in 1939.

'MESSIAH' WILL BE PRESENTED

Choral Club Is In Rehearsal At Presbyterian Church Mondays

More than fifty singers from Monroe and West Monroe are making rapid progress on Handel's "The Messiah" which will be presented about December 15, according to Kit Walters, president of The Choral Club.

"Anyone who is interested in choral singing can join the group. Ability to read music is not necessary and there is no charge for admission," Mrs. Walters added. "Plenty of copies of the music are available."

Musical director of the organization is Walter Minniear, conductor of the 70-piece O. P. H. S. band. Mrs. Florence Zeigler Albritton and Mrs. Alta Faircloth are accompanists. Rehearsals are held each Monday night at 7:30 at the First Presbyterian Church.

"Inexperienced singers will be able to learn quickly in the Choral Club," Mrs. Walters stated, "because many of the members in each voice section already know 'The Messiah'." Solo numbers will be assigned to members of the club sufficiently ahead of the public performance to be learned properly, she added.

All members of the group and others who are interested in choral singing are urged to come to the First Presbyterian Church Monday night at 7:30 for rehearsal.

The crop loss from weeds in the United States each year is estimated at $5 billions.

KIWANIANS WILL ATTEND SESSION

Delegates Will Go To Gulfport To Attend Convention

The Kiwanis Club of Monroe will be represented at the 1948 convention of the Louisiana-Mississippi-West Tennessee Kiwanis district to be held October 3 to 5 at Gulfport, Miss., Club President Ben Parnell announced Saturday.

More than 60 clubs in the district, which embraces a membership of 4,000 business and professional leaders, are expected to send delegates to the three-day meeting, Parnell said.

The speaking program will feature the appearance of Dr. Charles W. Armstrong, Salisbury, N. C., immediate past president of Kiwanis International.

Dr. L. E. Chandler, Hammond, governor of the Louisiana-Mississippi-West Tennessee Kiwanis district, will preside at the convention, which will highlight committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year and election of officers.

Dr. Armstrong, who will serve as the official representative of Kiwanis International, has been active in Kiwanis administration for 27 years. He was elected to the presidency in 1947 and presided over the 33rd annual convention in Los Angeles last June. A member of the board of medical examiners for the state of North Carolina, Dr. Armstrong has served as a director of the National Tuberculosis Association and president of its affiliate in his home state.

Delegates who will represent the Kiwanis Club of Monroe at the convention include J. R. Plaisance, Ivy Jordan and Ben Parnell.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Joan Crawford, who has worked long and successfully enough in Hollywood to talk back to anyone, has this to say about movie producers:

"They're afraid to take chances.

"This is the most competitive business in the world. But when producers follow each other and are afraid to do something different, that is bad for the industry. I'm afraid that people will start staying away from the movies and will go out and buy television sets or some other form of entertainment."

The cause of this outburst is Joan's pet project, "Miss O'Brien." She's mighty hepped up on the story. She tells how it came about:

"I happened to see some school teacher statistics that were being prepared for a magazine article. I was appalled. I mentioned to a radio writer that something should be done to tell the public about it. He told a friend who wrote up a synopsis of a story about a school teacher.

"I took a manuscript to New York and read it on the way home. I got off at Chicago, telephoned Jerry Wald and told him I had to do the story."

The producer also enthused, but Warner bigwigs thumbed down. Too big a risk they said; message pictures don't make money.

Joan wheedled the studio into taking an option on the story, but the option was soon dropped. So the actress took over "Miss O'Brien."

"I've had many letters from school teachers begging me to make this film," she says. "Some of them would break your heart with the shocking conditions they describe. The low pay, the social restriction and the discrimination against teachers is a national disgrace."

Joan put a writer to work on the script and engaged Curt Berhardt as director. She'll do the film right after "Flamingo Road" and right now she is talking to four studios about sale of the package—star, script and director.

I asked why she didn't produce it herself.

"I'm not smart enough," she replied.

Is she kidding? That Crawford gal knows more about picture making than a lot of producers. Mentioning no names.

WHOLESALE GROCER MEET IS HELD HERE

The Louisiana Wholesale Grocer Association held a directors' meeting at Hotel Frances Friday.

A sales class was conducted by Ray Page, secretary of the group, and was attended by many salesmen of the Monroe area.

At 8 p. m. there was a banquet held which was attended by about 75 men.

The president of the association is Ernest Jeanmard, of Lafayette.

Modern lead pencils were not developed until the discovery in 1564 of a graphite mine in Cumberland, England.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

by GEORGE WUNDER

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
Copyright, 1948, by News Syndicate Co. Inc.

O'HARA'S LEVELING, MISTER. THE TWO MEN FORCED US TO LAND. THE FAST MILITARY PLANE WITHOUT MARKINGS YOU SIGHTED WAS WAITING. ITS TURRET GUNS COVERED US. THE MEN SMASHED OUR CONTROLS AND RADIO, THEN TRANSFERRED TO THE OTHER SHIP — DRAGGING THE CHINESE BOY WITH THEM!

Inter-Global

MEANWHILE, THE UNIDENTIFIED PLANE HAS LANDED AT ANOTHER FIELD, SOME DISTANCE AWAY.

THIS FIELD IS CONTROLLED BY OUR SYMPATHIZERS, COMRADE. WE WAIT HERE FOR DARKNESS BEFORE MAKING THE FINAL LEG OF THE FLIGHT.

EXCELLENT! SINCE THAT TRANSPORT SIGHTED US, IT'S WELL TO BE CAUTIOUS.

VALENTINE, DO YOU SUPPOSE THEY'VE FOUND THE AIRLINER YET?

PROBABLY — BUT IT DOESN'T MATTER NOW. WE HAVE THE CHILD... IT'S ALWAYS A GREAT SATISFACTION TO CARRY OUT AS NEAT A COUP AS THIS.

WHERE IS THE CHILD, INCIDENTALLY?

HE WAS HERE A SECOND AGO...PERHAPS I'D BETTER LOOK...

YOU CLUMSY FOOL! HERE! LET ME...

OUR SHOE LACES! THEY'VE BEEN KNOTTED TOGETHER!

LIKE YOU SAID, MISTER. IT'S A GREAT SATISFACTION TO CARRY OUT AS NEAT A GAG AS THIS ONE.

DICK TRACY

by CHESTER GOULD

DIET SMITH, YOU'VE HAD A CLOSE CALL.

THE UNDERWORLD TRIED TO MURDER DIET SMITH BECAUSE HIS COMPANY IS BRINGING OUT THE GREATEST CROOK-STOPPING DEVICE IN THE WORLD.

FORTUNATELY, HE WILL RECOVER, AND HIS NEWEST INVENTION IS SAFE.

IT'S A NEW PORTABLE TELEVISION DEVICE I HAVE NAMED THE "DICK TRACY TELEGUARD." IT REQUIRES NO AERIAL!

I'VE BEEN CARRYING THE ONE AND ONLY SET OF BLUEPRINTS OF IT STRAPPED TO MY BODY FOR OVER A YEAR.

WE DELIBERATELY LEFT SOME PHONY PLANS LYING AROUND FOR THE UNDERWORLD TO STEAL. SO NOW THEY THINK THEY'VE QUEERED THIS MACHINE FOR GOOD.

BRILLIANT, HERE, PERFECTED IT, AND ACTUALLY IT IS A TELEVISION BURGLAR ALARM.

THE SENDING UNIT FOR INSTANCE COULD BE SET UP BEFORE A JEWELRY CASE, WHILE THE RECEIVER IS IN A CENTRAL POLICE STATION.

SIMILAR MACHINES COULD BE SET UP IN, SAY, A BANK, A DEPARTMENT STORE, FUR SHOP, OR A WAREHOUSE.

EACH ONE WOULD OPERATE ON ITS OWN CHANNEL, EACH HAVING ITS OWN SCREEN. ONE MAN COULD WATCH ALL THESE PLACES.

LOOK, THIS SCREEN SHOWS SOME MONEY ON MY DESK IN THE OFFICE. THIS ONE IS JEWELRY LYING IN MY FURNACE ROOM. THIS ONE, A STACK OF LETTERS IN BRILLIANT'S LABORATORY.

THE TELEVISION BURGLAR ALARM IS HERE—KNOWN OFFICIALLY AS THE "DICK TRACY TELEGUARD".

DIET SMITH, THIS COULD BE BIGGER THAN THE 2-WAY WRIST RADIO!

YES! THEY SAID THEY'D BE BACK··· AND THAT I WOULDN'T LIKE IT··· HA! MAYBE THEY WON'T LIKE IT SO MUCH EITHER, EH?

THEY WILL HAVE THEIR TOUGH GANG··· THEY WILL FIRST FIGURE TO BEAT ME UP··· THEN WRECK MY PLACE PLENTY···

DON'T WORRY! WHEN YOU SEE 'EM, JUST TOOT THAT B. A. J. G. WHISTLE!

NICE TIMIN'··· THERE THEY GO, NOW··· BRAVE GUYS! TEN OF 'EM TO TAKE ONE POOR LITTLE SHOE REPAIR GUY!

TOLD YUH WE'D BE BACK, SUCKER! WHEN WE GIT T'ROUGH WIT' YOUSE····· O. K., GIT TO WORK, GUYS!

MAYBE YOU LITTLE PUNKS PRETTY QUICK FIND OUT WHO IS SUCKER AROUND HERE···

WHEE-E-E-E!

ALL RIGHT! THEY'RE IN THERE! TEN OF 'EM··· COME ON! LET'S GO GET 'EM!

HELP!

YI! NO! NO!

HOW YOU LIKE IT, JUST YOU AND ME! NO TEN TO ONE STUFF, EH?

BAW!

HEY, STARR! WHAT'S GOIN' ON IN LOUIS'? SOUNDS LIKE A RIOT! SHOULD I CALL TH' STATION?

TAKE IT EASY, MIKE··· IT'S ONLY JUSTICE! LEAVE IT TRIUMPH, EH?

BOP! BIFF! YOW! OW! WHAM!
